The breed of the nedeful is the lyfe of the poore: he that defraudeth hym therof, is a man of bloode. Who so robbeth his neyghbour of his lyuynge, bothe as greate synne as thoug he he slewe hym to deathe. He that defraudeth the labourer of his hyre, is a bloudsheder. When one buyldeth an other downe, what profyte haue they then but labour? When one prayeth, and an other curseth, whose voyce wyll the Lorde heare? He that washeth hym selfe by cause of a deed bodye, and then toucheth the deed agayne, what bothe his washynge? So is it with a man that fasteth for his synnes, and bothe them agayne: who wyl heare his prayer? Or what bothe his fastynge helpe hym?

¶ It is well done to praye and to do sacrifyce. The prayer of the fatherlesse, and of the wydowe: and of hym that humbleth hym selfe.

CAPI. XXXV.

Who so kepeth the lawe, bringeth offrynges ynough. He that holdeth fast the commaundement, offreth the right helthofferyng. He that is thankful, and recompenseth, offreth fyne flowre. Who so is mercyful and gyueth almes, that is the ryght thankofferyng. God hath pleasure whē one departeth from synne, and forsake vnryghtousnesse, reconcileth vs with hym.

Thou shalte not appere empty before the Lorde, for all suche is boone by cause of the commaundement. The offryng of the ryghtous maketh the aulter fat, and a swete smel is it before the hyest. The offerynge of the ryghtous is acceptable vnto God, and shall neuer be forgotten. Gyue God his honoure with a cherefull eye, and hyde not backe the fyrstlynges of thy handes. In all thy gyftes shewe a mery countenaunce, and halowe thy tythes vnto God with gladnesse. Gyue vnto God, accordyng as he hath enryched and prospered the, and loke what thyne hande is able, that gyue with a cherefull eye, for the Lorde recompenseth, and gyueth the seuen tymes as moche agayne.

Gyue no vnryghtous giftes, for suche wil he not receyue. Beware of wrongous offrynges, for the Lorde is a ryghtous iudge: and regardeth no mans person. He accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed. He despyseth not the desyre of the fatherlesse, nor the wydow, when she poureth oute her prayer before hym. Doth not God se the teares that renne downe the cheks of the widow? Or heareth he be not the complaynt ouer such as make her to wepe? Who so serueth God after his pleasure shal be accepted, and his prayer reacheth vnto the cloudes. ¶ The prayer of him þ humbleth him selfe, goeth thorow the cloudes till he come nye. She wyl not be comforted, ne go her waye, tyll the hyest God haue respect vnto her, gyue true sentence, and perfourme the iudgemente. And the Lorde wyll not be slacke in commyng, ne tary long, tyl he haue smytten in sunder the backes of the vnmercyfull, and auenged him selfe of the heathen: tyl he haue taken awaye the multitude of the cruell, and broken the sceptre of the vnrighteous: tyll he gyue euery man after his workes, and rewarde them as they haue deserued: tyll he haue delyuered his people, mayntayned their cause, and reioysed them in his mercye. O howe fayre a thynge is mercye in the tyme of an anguyshe and trouble? It is lyke a cloude of rayne that commeth in the tyme of a drouthe.

¶ A prayer to God in þ person of all faythfull men with the prayse of a good woman.

CAPI. XXXVI.

HAue mercy vpō vs, o Lorde, thou God of all thynges. Haue respect vnto vs, shew vs the lyght of thy mercyes, and send thy feare among the heathen and straungers, whiche seke not after þ: that they may knowe how that there is no God but thou, & that they may shew thy wōderous workes. Lyft vp thyne hande ouer the outlandyshe heathen, that they maye lerne to knowe thy might and power. Like as thou art halowed in vs before them, so dyng to passe that thou mayst be magnifyed also in them before vs: that they may knowe the, lyke as we knowe the. For there is none other God, but onely thou, o Lorde. Renue the tokens, & chaunge the wonderous workes. Shewe thyne hande and thy rygbte arme gloryously. Rayse vp thy indignacion, and poure out thy wrathe. Take awaye the aduersarye, and smyte the enemye. Make the tyme shorte, remembre thy couenaunt, that thy wonderous workes maye be praysed. Let the wrathe of the fyre consume them that lyue so carelesse: and let them perysshe, that doo thy people hurte. Smite in sunder the heed of the princes, that be our enemyes, and saye: there is none other but we.

Gather all the trybes of Jacob togyther agayne, that they maye knowe, howe that there is none other God but only thou, that they may shew thy wonderous workes, and be thy people and heritage, lyke as from the begynnynge. O Lorde haue mercy vpon the people that hath thy name, and vpon Israel whome thou hast lyckened to a fyrst borne sonne. Be mercyfull vnto Jerusalem the citye of thy Sanctuarye the city of thy rest. Fyll Syon with thy vnspeakable vertues, and thy people with thy glory. Gyue witnes vnto thy creatures, whome thou madest from the begynnyng, and rayse vp the prophecies that haue ben shewed in thy name. Rewarde them that wayte for the, that thy prophetes maye be found faythfull. O Lorde heare the prayer of thy seruauntes accordynge to the blessynge of Aaron ouer thy people: that all they whiche dwell vpon the erth may knowe that þ art the Lorde the eternal God, which is from euerlastyng.

The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meat better then an other. Lyke as the tonge tasteth venyson, so doth an hert of vnderstandynge marke false wordes. A frowarde hert gyueth heuynes, but a man of experience lifteth him vp again. The woman receyueth euery man, yet is one doughter better then an other. A fayre wife reioyseth her husband, & a man loueth nothyng better. Yf she be louing and vertuous withal, then is not her husband lyke other men. He that hath gotten a vertuous woman, hath gotte a goodly possession: she is vnto him an helpe and piller wherevpō he resteth. Where no hedge is, there þ goodes are spoyled, and where no housewife is, there the frendles mourneth. Lyke as there is no credence gyuen to a robber that goeth from one city to an other: so is not the man believed, that hath no rest, & must turne in where he may abyde in the night.

CAPI. XXXVII.

EVery frende sayth, I will be frendly vnto hym also. But there is some frende, which is onely a frend in name. Remaynyth there not heuynesse vnto deth, when a companyon and frende, is turned to an enemy? O most wicked presumpcion: from whence art thou sprouge vp, to couer the earth with falsehed and disceyte? There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyseth with his frende: but in the tyme of trouble he taketh parte agaynst him.

There is some companion that mourneth with his frende for the helpe sake: but when trouble cōmeth, he taketh holde of the shylde. Forget not thy frend in thy mynde, & thynke vpon him in thy rychesse. Euery counsellour bringeth forthe his counsell: Howbeit there is some þ counselleth but for his owne profyt. Beware of the counsellour, and be aduised afore wherto thou wylt vse him, for he wyll counsel for hym selfe. Lest he cast the lot vpon the, and saye vnto the: Thy waye and purpose is good, & afterwarde he stande agaynste the, and loke what shall become of the.

Aske no counsell at hym that suspecteth the for an enemy, and hyde thy counsel from suche as hate the. Aske no counsell at a woman, concernyng the thinges that she longeth for: nor at a fearefull and fayne hearted body in matters of warre: or at a marchaunte, how deare he wyl chepe thy wares towarde his: or at a byer, of lesynge: or at an envyous man, of thankesgyvynge: or at the vnmercyful, of louyng kyndnesse: or at the slouthfull, of worckynge: or at an hyrelyng whiche hath no bouse, of prouyde or wealth. (An vdle body wolde not gladly heare speke of moche labour.) Take no suche folkes to counsell, but be diligent to seke counsel at a vertuous man that feareth God, suche one as thou knowest to be a keper of thy cõmaundementes, whiche hath a mynde after thyne owne mynde, and is sorye for the when thou stomblest.

C And holde thy counsell fast in thyne hert: for there is no man more faythfull to kepe it then thou thy self. For a mans mynd is sometyme more disposed to tel out, the .vij. watchmen that syt about in an hye place lokynge about them. And above al this pray the hyest that he wyl lede thy way in faithfulnes and truthe. Before all thy worckes aske counsell fyrst, and or ever thou doest any thyng, be well aduised. There be four thinges that declare a chaunged hert, wherout there springeth euil and good, deth and lyfe, and a master ful long that bableth moche. Some man is apte and wel instruct in many thinges, & yet very vnprofytable vnto him self. Some man there is that can gyve wyse and prudent counsell, and yet is he hated, and contynueth a begger: for that grace is not gyven him of God to be accepted. An other is robbed of al wisdome, yet is he wyse vnto hym selfe, and the frute of vnderstandynge is faythfull in his mouth.

D A wyse man maketh his people wyse, and the frutes of his wisdome fayle not. A wyse man shall be plenteously blessed of God, and all they that se hym shall speke good of him. The lyfe of man standeth in the nombre of the dayes, but the dayes of Israell are innumerable. A wyse man shal obteyn faythfulnes and credence amonge his people, & his name shal be perpetual. My sonne proue thy soule in thy lyfe, & yf thou se any euyll thing, gyve it not vnto her. For all thinges are not profitable for all men, neyther hath every soule pleasure in every thing. Be not gredy I every eating, and be not to hasty vpon all meates. For excesse of meates bringeth sykenesse, and glotony commeth at the last to an vnmeasurable heate: thorow glotony have many one perysshed: but he that dreadeth hym selfe temperatly, prolongeth his lyfe.

Ecclesi. vi. c and. xxxi. b

CAPI. XXXVIII.

Physicion. ¶ HOnour the Physicion: honour him because of necessitie. God hath created hi (for of the hyest commeth medicyne) and he shal receyue gyftes of the kyng. The wysdome of the Physicion dyngeth hym to great worshyp, and in the syght of the great men of this worlde, he shall be honourably taken. The Lorde hath created medicyne of the earthe, and he that is wyse wyll not abhorre it.

Was not thy bytter water made swete with a tree, that men myghte lerne to knowe the vertue therof. The Lorde hathe gyuen men wysdome and vnderstanding, that he might be honoured in his wonderous worckes. Exod. xv. Eccl. xxiiij. With suche dothe he heale men, and taketh awaye theyr payues: Of suche dothe the Apotecary make a confection, yet can no man performe all his worckes. For of the Lorde commeth prosperous wealthe ouer all the earthe.

My sonne, despyse not this in thy sycknesse, but praye vnto the Lorde, and he shall make the hole. Leaue of from synne, and order thy handes aryghte: clense thyne herte frome all wyckednesse, gyve a swete sauoured offeryng, and the fyne flourr for a token of a remembraunce: make the offeryng fatte, as one that gyueth the fyrst frutes, and gyve rowme to the Physicion. For the Lorde hathe created hym: let hym not goo frome the, for thou haste nede of hym. The houre maye come, that the sycke maye be holpen thorowe theym, when they praye vnto the Lorde, that he maye recouer, and get healthe to lyue longer. He that synneth before his maker, shall fal in to the handes of the Physicion. B Ecclesi. xxxi. a Psal. xl.

My sonne, bryng forthe thy teares ouer the dead, and begyn to mourne as yf he had dest suffred greate harme thy selfe: and then couer his bodye after a conuenyente maner, and despyse not his buryall. Enforce thy self to wepe and prouoke thy self to mourne and make lamentacion erpedietly, and that a daye or two, lest thou be cuyll spoken of: and then comforte thy selfe byecause of the heuynesse. For of heuynesse commeth deathe the heuynesse of the herte breaketh strength. Heuynesse and powertie greueth the herte in temptacion and offence. Take no heuynesse to herte, dryue it awaye, and remembre the last thyngrs. forget it not for there is no turning again. Thou shalt do him no good, but hurt thy self. Remembre his iudgement, thyne also shall be lyke wyse: vnto me yester daye, vnto the to daye. Let the remembraunce of the dead ceasse in his reste, and comforte thy selfe agayne ouer hym, seing his spirite is departed from him. C Eccl. xxxviij. Tobie. iiij. Eccl. xxxviij. Eccl. xxxviij. Eccl. xxxvi sondrye connynge thynges, and his herte ymageneth, howe he maye connynge full an ymage his diligence also and watchynge performeth the worke. The yronsmyth in lyke maner sytteth by his anuyle, and bothe his diligence to labourne the yron. The vapoure of the fyre bierneth his fleshe, and he muste fyghte with the heate of the fornace. The noyse of the hammer soundeth ouer in his eares, and his eyen loke stylle vpon the thyng that he maketh. He hath set his mynde there vpon, that he wyll make out his worke, and therfore he watcheth, howe he maye set it out, and bringe it to an ende.

So doth the potter sytte by his worke, he turneth the wheele about with his fete, he is diligent and carefull in all doynges, and his labour and worke is without numbre. He fashioneth the claye with his arme, and with his fete he tempereth it. His herte ymagineth howe he maye make it pleasaunt, and his diligence is to clense the ouen. All these hope in theyr handes, and euery one thynketh to be connynge in his worke. Without these maye not the cyties be manteyned, inhabited ne occupyed: yet come they not byther in the congregacyon: they vnderstand not the contenaunt of the lawe: they can not declare equitie and iudgement: they can not fynde out the darke sentences, but therfore them shall the creatures of the worlde be manteyned: theyr prayer concerneth only the worke and labour of connynge.

CAPI. XXXIX.

HE that apleyth his mynde to vnderstande the lawe of God, doth diligently serche out wysdome of them of the olde tyme, and exercyseth hym selfe in the Prophetes. He keepeth the sayinges of famous men, and preaseth to the vnderstandynge of darke sentences of wysdome. He sercheth out the mysteryes of secrete sayinges, and exercyseth hym self therin continually. He doth serue amonge greate men, and appeareth before the prynce. He goeth in to a straunge countrye, and tranayleth therin if he lyke what good or euyll is amõg men, he proueth it and sercheth it out. He purposeth in his hert, to reuerence early vnto the Lorde that made him, and to praye before the hyest God.

He openeth his mouth in prayer, and prayeth for his synnes. When the great Lord wyll, he shall be fylled with the spirite of vnderstãdyng, that he maye then poure out wyse sentences, and gyue thankes vnto the Lorde in his prayer. He shall order his counsyl and lerne his knowledge aryght, and gyue him vnderstandynge of secrete thynges. He shall shewe forth the science of his learnyng, and reioyce in the covenaunt of the lawe of the Lorde. Manye shall commende his wysdome, & it shall neuer be put out. The remembraunce of hym shal neuer be forgotten, and his name shall continue from one generacyon to an other. His wysdome shall be spoke of, and the hole congregacion shall openlye declare his prayse. Whyle he lyueth, he hath a greater name then a thousande beside: and after his death, the same name remayneth vnto hym. yet will I speake of me men of vnderstandynge, for I am ful as the moone.

Herken vnto me (ye holy dyscyples) and bringe fourth fruite, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the felde, and gyue ye a swete smell as Libanus. Flourysh as the rose garden, synge a songe of prayse. O gyue thãkes vnto God ouer al his workes. Gyue glory and honoure vnto the Lorde, shew his prayse with youre lyppes.

Yea euen with the song of your lyppes, with harpes & playeng, and in geuing thankes vnto hym, say after this maner: All the workes of the Lorde are exceadynge good, and all his commaundementes are mete and conuenyent in due season.

A man nede not to saye: what is this? what is that? for at tyme conuenyent they shall all be sought. At his commaundement the water was a wall, & at the worde of his mouth the waters stode styll. In his commaundemẽt is euery thynge acceptable and recorded, & his prayse can not be mynished. The workes of all flesh are before hym, there is no thynge hyd from his eyes. He seeth fro the verie begynnynge to the very endynge, and there is no thynge to wonderfull or hyghe vnto hym. A man nede not to saye what is this or that? For he hath made al thinges to do good vnto man. His blessynge shall renne ouer as the streame, and moysture the earth lyke a floude of water. Lyke as he maketh the water for drouth, so shall his wrath fall vpon the vnstedfast.

His wayes are playne and right vnto the iust, but the vngodly stomble at them. For the good are good thynges created from the begynnynge, and euil thynges for the vngodly. All thynges necessarye for the lyfe of man are created from the begynnynge: water fyre yron and salte, mele, wheat, and honye mylke and wyne, oyle and clothynge. All these thinges are created for the godly to the faythful: But to the vngodly shall all these thynges be turned to the hurt and harme. There be spirites that are created for vengeaunce and in their vengeaunce haue they fastened their tormentes. In the tyme of the ende they shal poure out their strength, & pacyfye the wrath of hym that made them. Fyre, hayle, hunger, and death: all these thynges are created for vengeaunce,

The teeth of wylde noysome beastes, the scorpions, serpentes, and the swerde are created also for vengeaunce to the destruction of the vngodly. They shal be glad to do his commaundementes: and vpon earth, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not surpasse the commaundement of the Lord.

Therfore haue I taken a good courage vn-

to me from the begynnynge, and thought to put these thynges in wrytynge, and to leaue them behynde me. All ꝑ workes of the Lorde are good, and he gyueth euery one in due season, and when nede is, so that a man nede not to saye: this is worse then that. For in due season they are all pleasaunt and good: And therfore prayse the Lorde with hole herte and mouth, and gyue thankes vnto his name.

¶ Many mysteryes lyght in a mans lyfe. All thynges passe awaye, but aryse and stable fayth remayneth. Of the blessyng of the ryghteous, and prerogatyue of the feare of God.

CAPI. XL.

A Mysteryes of lyfe.

Great trauayle is created for all men, and an heuye yocke vpon all mens chyldren, frome the daye that they go out of theyr mothers wombe, tyll they be buryed in (the earth) the mother of all thynges: namely, theyr thoughtes and ymaginacyons, feare of the herte, counsell, meditacyons, longynge and delyte, the daye of deathe from the hyghest that sytteth vpon the glorious seate, vnto the lowest and most symple vpon the earth: from hym that is gloriously arayed and weareth a crowne, vntyll hym that is but homelye and symplye clothed. There is nothynge but wrath, zele, fearfulnesse, vnquyetnesse, and feare of death, cruell enuye anger and stryfe. And in the nyght when one shoulde rest and slepe vpon his bedde, the slepe chaungeth his vnderstandyng and knowledge. Lyke as nothynge is in this rest, in the slepe as well as in the daye of labour.

B He feareth and is disquyeted in the vysyon of his herte, as one that runneth out of a battayle: and in the tyme of health he awaketh, and marueyleth that the feare was nothyng. Such thynges happen vnto all fleshe, bothe man and beest: but seuenfolde to the vngodly. Moreouer death, bloudshedynge, stryfe and swerde, oppressyon, hunger, destruction and punyshmente: these thynges are all created agaynst the vngodlye, and for theyr sakes came the floude also. All that is of the earth, shall turne to earth agayne: and all waters tende agayne in to the see. All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put awaye, but faythfullnesse & trueth shall endure for euer. The substaunce and goodes of the vngodly shalbe dryed vp, and lyke awaye as a water floude, and they shall make a sounde: lyke a greate thonder in the rayne.

Eccle.xxvii.c Gen.viii.d and xiii.a

L Lyke as the ryghteous reioyseth when he openeth his handes, so shal the transgressours be sayntes, when theyr goodes vanysshe and consume away. The chyldren of the vngodly shal not obteyne many braunches: and the vnclene rotes vpon the hye rockes, shal be rooted oute before the grasse by the water syde, and vpon the ryuer bankes.

Eccle.xli.b

Frendshyppe & lyberalytie in the increase and blessynge of God, is lyke a paradyse and garden of pleasure: such mercy also & kyndnes endureth for euer. To labour & to be content with that a man hath, is a swete pleasaum lyfe: and that is to fynde a treasure aboue all treasures. To beget chyldren and to trayne the vnthe, maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is more worth then they both. Wine and musycke reioyce the herte, but the loue of wysdome is aboue them both.

D Pypyng & harpynge make a swete noyse, but a frendly tonge goeth beyond the both. Comly eye delyteth fauoure and beauty, but a grene sede tyme rather then they bothe. A frende and companyon come togither at conuenyent tyme, but aboue them both is a wyfe that agreeth with her husband. One brother helpeth an other in the tyme of trouble, but almes shall deliuer more then they both. Golde and syluer fasten the fete, but a good counsell is more pleasaunt then they both. Temporall substaunce and strength lyft vp the mynde: but the feare of the Lorde more then they both.

The feare of the Lorde wanteth nothyng and nedeth no helpe. The feare of the Lorde is a pleasaunt garden of blessynge, and nothynge so beautyfull as it is. Wy sonne, lede not a beggers lyfe, for better it were to dye then to begge. Who so loketh to an other mans table, taketh no thought for his owne lyuynge how to vphalde his lyfe, for he fedeth hym selfe with other mens meat. But a wyse and wel nourtoured man wyl beware therof. Beggyng is swete in ꝑ mouth of the vnshamefast, but in his belye there burneth a fyre.

¶ Of the remembraunce of death. Death is not to be feared. A curse vpon them that forsake the lawe of God. Good name and fame. An exhortacion to gyue hede vnto wysdome. Of what thynges a man ought to be ashamed.

CAPII. XLI.

O Death, how bytter is the remembraunce of the, to a man that liueth rest and ryches in his substaunce and ryches, vnto the man that hath nothynge to vexe him, and that hath prosperyte in all thynges, yea vnto hym that yet is able to receyue meat? O deathe, howe acceptable and good is thy iudgement vnto the nedefull, and vnto hym whose strength fayleth, that is nowe in his age, and that in all thynges is full of care & fearfulnes: vnto hym also in dyspayre, and hath no hope ne pacience? We not thou afrayd of death: remembre them ꝑ haue bene before the: & that come after the, this is ꝑ iudgmēt of the Lord ouer al flesh. And why wouldest thou be agaynst this pleasure of the vnyuersall? Whether it be ten, an hundreth, or a thousand yeares: death asketh not how long one hath lyued.

B The chyldren of the vngodly are abhominable chyldre and so are they that kepe company with the vngodlye. The inheritaunce of vngodly chyldren shall come to nought, and theyr posterytye shall haue perpetuall shame and confusion. The childre complayne of an vngodly father: and why? for his sake they are rebuked and despysed. Wo be vnto you (O ye vngodly) which haue forsaken the lawe of the hyghest God: yf ye be borne, ye shall be borne to curseynge, yf ye dye, the curse shall be your porcyon.

All that is of the earth, shal turne to earth agayne: so go the vngodlye also out of the curse in to destruction. The sorowes of men is in theyr body: but the name of the vngodly shall be put out, for it is nothynge worth. Labour to get the a good name, for that shall contynue surer by the, then a thousande greate treasures of golde. A good lyfe hathe a nombre of dayes, but a good name endureth euer.

My children, kepe wysdome in peace, for wysdome that is hyde, and a treasure that is not sene, what profyt is in them both? A man that hydeth his foolyshnesse, is better then a man that hydeth his wysdome. Therfore be ye ashamed at my warnynge: for it is not good, in all thynges and alwaye to be ashamed. Trust hapely shall proue and measure it.

Be ashamed of horedome before father and mother: Be ashamed of lesynge before prince and men of auctoryte: Of lyenge, before the iudge and ruler: Of offence before the congregatio and people: Of vnryghtousnesse, before a companyon and frende: Of theft, before the myghbours. As for the truthe of God and his couenaunte, be not ashamed therof. Be ashamed to lye with thyne elbowes vpon the bred: Be ashamed to loke vpon harlottes: Be ashamed to turne awaye thy face from thy frende: Be ashamed to take, and not to gyue: Be ashamed also to loke vpon an other mans wyfe, and to make many treplynge wordes with her mayden, or to standе by her bed syde. Be ashamed to vpbrayde thy frende: when thou gyuest any thinge, cast him not in the teeth wythall.

¶ Secretes maye not be opened. The lawe of God must be taught. A doughter. A woman. God knoweth all thynges, yea euen the secretes of the hert.

CAPI. XLII.

REherse not a thyng twyse, and disclose not the wordes, that thou hast herde in secrete. Be shamefast and well manered in dede, so shall euery man fauour the. Of these thynges be not thou ashamed, and accept no persone to offende. Namely, of these thinges be not ashamed: Of the lawe of God, of the couenaunt, of iudgement: to bynge the vngodly frome his vngodlynesse vnto ryghtousnesse, and to make hym a good man: to deale faythfully w thy neyboure companyō: to distribute ꝑ heritage vnto ꝑ frendes: to be bilyeue to kepe true measure & weyght: to be content, whether thou getest moch or lytle: to deale truly with temporall goodes in bynge and sellynge: to bringe vp youthen with diligence: to correct an euyll seruaunt, to kepe that thyne is frome an euyll wyfe: to set a locke where many handes are: what thou betwyxte ꝑ and grauit out to be kept, to rest it and to wape it: to wyte vp all the out gatynge, and entrynge: to enstructe the vnlerned and vnwyse: Of the aged, that are iudged of the yonge. Yf thou be diligent in these thynges, truly thou shalte be learned & wise and accepted of all men.

The doughter maketh the father to watch secretely: and the carefulnes that he hath for her, taketh awaye his slepe: yea in the youth, lest she shulde ouergoon hym: And when she hath an husbande, lest she shulde be hated: lest she shulde be defyled or taupped in her virginyte, or gotten with chylde in her fathers house: Or (when she commeth to the man) lest she behaue her self not right or contynue vnfructefull. If thy doughter be wilton, kepe her straytly, lest she cause thyne enemies to laugh the to scorne, & the holdeyte to gyue the an euyll reporte, and to shame to haue of euery man, and be confounded before all the people. Beholde not euerye bodyes beautye, and haue not moch dweltynge amonge women. For lyke as the worme and moth cometh out of clothynge, so doth wyckednesse come of no men.

It is better to be with an euyll man, the with a frendlye wyfe ꝑ putteth one to shame and rebuke. I wyll remembre the workes of the Lord, and declare the thyng that I haue sene. In the wordes of the Lord are his workes The Sunne ouerlooketh al thinges with his lyght, and all his workes are full of the clearenes therof. Hath not the Lord brought to passe, that his sayntes shulde tell out all his wonderous workes, which the Almyghtye Lord hath stablysshed? All thinges endure in his glorye.

He seketh out the groundе of the depe and the herte, and he knoweth all their ymaginacion and wisdome. For the Lorde knoweth all science, and he loketh in to the token of the tyme. He declareth the thynges that are past and for to come, and discloseth thynges that are secrete. No thoughte maye escape hym, neither may any worde be hyd from hym. He hath garnysshed the bryght excellent workes of his wysdome, and he is frō euerlastynge to euerlastynge. Vnto hym may nothyng be added neither can he be minished he hath no nede also of any counsayle. O how amyable are all his workes and as a sparke to loke vpon? They lyue all, and endure for euer: and when soeuer nede is, they are all obedyent vnto hym. They are al dubble, one ageynste an other: he hath made nothynge that hath faute or blemish: He hath stablished the goodes of euerychone: and who maye be satisfyed with his glorye, when he seeth it?

CAPI. XLIII.

A THe glory of the heigth, is the fayre and clere firmament, the bewtie of the heauen in his glorious clerenesse. The sun when it appeareth, declareth the dayes in the goynge out of it, a marueilous worke of the hyghest. At noone it burneth fore earthe, and who maye abyde for the heate therof? Who so beholdeth an ouen when it is hote, that fyres more doth the Sunne burne vpon the mountaynes, when it breatheth out the fyrie beames and hyghth: with the brightnesse of it, it blyndeth the eyes. Greate is the Lord that made it, and in his commaundement he causeth it to ren hastely. Psal.18.a

Gene.1.b The Moone also is in all, and at conuenient season it sheweth the tymes, and is a token of the tyme. The token of the solemne feast is taken of the Moone, a light that mynisheth and increaseth agayne. The moneth is called after the Moone, it groweth wonderously in her chaungynge. Ecclus.43.a

B The armye of heuen also is in the heygth, in the firmament of heauen it giueth a clere and glorious shyne. This is the clerenesse of the starres, the bewtifull apparell of heuen, the apparell that the Lorde lyghteneth in ꝑ heygth. In his holy worke they continue in their order, and not one of them fayleth in his watche. Loke vpon the rayne bowe, and praise him that made it: very bewtifull is it in his shyne. He compaseth the heuen about with his clerenesse and glory, the handes of the hyghest haue bended it. Thorow his commaundement he maketh the snowe to fall, and the thonder of his iudgement to smyte hastily. Thorow his commaundment the treasures are opened, and the cloudes flye as the foules. In his power bathe he strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hayle stones. Gen.9.b

The mountaynes melt at the syght of him, the wynde bloweth accordynge to his will. The sounde of his thonder breketh the earth so body the storme of the northe: the whirle wynde also lyghteth downe as a feathered fowle, casteth oute and spreadeth the snowe abrode: and as the grashoppers that destroye all, so falleth it downe. The eye marueileth at the bewtye of the whytenesse therof, and the hert is astaied at the rayne of it. He poureth oute the frost vpon the earth, lyke salte, and when it is frosen, it is as sharpe as ꝑ pike of a thystle.

When the colde Northwynde bloweth, C and frost is congeled of the water. He lyghteth downe vpon all the gatheringes togyther of water, and putteth on the waters as a brest plat. He deuoureth the mountaynes, and burneth the wyldernesses, and soke what is grene, he putteth it oute lyke fyre. The medicyne of all thinges is, when a cloude commeth hastely: and when a dewe commeth vpon the heate, it shall be refreshed agayne.

In his worde he stylleth the wynde. In his counsell he settleth the deepe, and the Lorde Jesus planted it. They that sayle ouer the see, tell of his perylls and harmes: and when we heare it with our eares, we marueil thereat. For there be straunge wondrous workes hyd in these maner of myre beastes, and whalefisshes. Thorow him are all thinges set in good order & performed, and in his worde all thinges endure.

I speake moch, but I can not sufficyently attayne vnto it, for he him selfe onely is the perfection of all workes. We shulde praise the Lorde after al our power, for he is greate in all his workes. The Lord is to be feared: yea very greate is he, and is marueylous is he power. Praise the Lorde, and magnifye him as moche as ye maye, yet doth he farre farre excede all praise. O magnifye him with all power power, and labour earnestlye, yet are ye in no wise hable sufficiently to praise him. Who hath sene him, that he myght tell vs? Who can magnifye him so greatly as he is? For there are hyd yet greater thynges then these be: as for vs, we haue sene but few of his workes. For the Lorde hathe made all thynges, and giuen wisdom to such as feare God. D Psal.

CAPI. XLIIII.

LEt vs commend the noble famous men and the generacyon of oure fore elders & fathers. Many more glorious actes hath the Lorde done, and shewed his greate power euer sens the begynnynge. The noble famous men raygned in their kyngdomes, & bare excellent rule. In their wysdom and vnderstandynge, they folowed the counsell shewed in the prophecyes. They led the folke thorow the counsell & wysdom of the Scryptes of the people. Wyse sentences are founde in their instruction: They sought the swetnesse and melody of Musicke, and brought forthe the pleasaunte songes in Scripture. They were ryche also, and coulde comforte and perfyte those that dwelt with them. All these were very noble and honourable men in their generacions and were well reported of in their tymes. A Ezech.

These haue lefte a name behynde them so that their praise shall alwaye be spoken of. Afterwarde there were some, whose remembraunce is gone. They came to nought and perished, as though they hadde neuer bene: and became as though they hadde neuer bene borne, yea and their children also with them. Gen.5.

Neuertheles these are louynge men whose righteousnes shall neuer be forgotten, but remayne by their posterity. Their children are an holy good heritage: their seede endured fast in the couenaunt. For their sakes shall their children and their seede continue for euer, and their praise shall neuer be put downe. Their bodyes are buryed in peace, but their name liueth for euermore. The people can speake of their wysdome, and the congregacion can talke of their praise. Enoch walked right and acceptably before the Lorde: therfore was he translated B Genes.5.b

stated for an example of a mendement to the generations. Noe was a stedfast & rightous man: and in the tyme of wrath, he became a reconcylynge. Therfore was he lefte a remnaunt vnto the earth, when the floude came. An euerlastynge couenaunt was made with him, that al flesh should perysh nomore with the watre.

Abraham was a greate father of manye people, in glorye was there none lyke vnto hym. He kepte the lawe of the hyghest, and came in to a couenaunt with him. He set the couenaunt in his flesshe, and when he was tempted, he was founde faythfull. Therfore swore God vnto him with an othe, that he wolde blesse all people in his sede, that he wolde multiply and increase him as the dust of the earth, and to exalte his sede as the starres: yea and that his sede shoulde haue the possessyon and inheritaunce of the lande fro sea to sea, and from the riuer vnto the borders of the lande.

With Isaac did he stablish the same couenaunt, for Abrahā his fathers sake. Yea that gracyous blessyng and healthe of all men, and couenaunt dyd he stablysshe with Isaac, and made it to rest vpon the heed of Jacob. He knewe hym, in that he prospered hym so well and rychely, and gaue hym an heritage, and sundered his portyon vnto hym selfe, and parted it among the twelue tribes. Mercyfull men brought he out of him, which founde fauour before all flesh.

¶ The prayse of Moses, Aaron, and Phinehes.

CAPI. XLV.

MOses beloued of God and men, whose remembraunce is in blyssyng prayse: hym hath the Lorde made lyke in the glory of sayntes, and magnifyed hym, so that the enemyes stode in awe of hym, thorowe his wordes he dyd great wonders. He made him great in the syght of kynges, gaue him commaundment before his people, and shewed hym his glorious power. He stablysshed him with faythfulnesse and meknesse, and chose hym out of all men. For he herde his voyce, and led hym in the darke cloude, and there he gaue him the commaundmentes, yea the lawe of lyfe and wysdome, that he myght teache Jacob the couenaunt, and Israel his lawes.

He chose Aarō his brother also out of the tribe of Leui, exalted him and made him lyke hym. An euerlastyng couenaunt made he with him: and gaue him the preesthode in the people. He made hym glorious in bewtyfull araye, and clothed hym with the garment of honoure. He put perfecte tyre vpon hym, and gyrded hym with strengthe. He dede hym with syde clothes, and a tunycle, with an ouerbody cote also and a girdle. Round about made he him belles of golde, and that many: that when he went in, the sounde myght be herd, that they myght make a noyse in the Sanctuary, and geue the people warnynge. The holye garment was wrought & brodred with golde, yelow silke and purple. And in the brest-lap there was a goodly worke, wherin was fastened lyght and perfectnes.

Upon the same also there was a worke fastened, & set with costly precyous stones, all bound with gold: and this he brought in his ministracion. The stones were fastened for a remembraunce, after the .xii. tribes of Israel. Upon his mitre there was a plate of pure golde, a grauen ymage of holynes, a famous and noble worke, garnyshed, and pleasaunt to loke vpon. Before hym were there sene no such fayre ornamētes, & there it behoued him alway to vse: There myght none other put them on, but only his children and his childers children perpetually. Daily per fourmed he his burntofferynges two tymes. Moses fylled his handes, & annoynted hym with holy oyle.

This was nowe confyrmed hym with an euerlastynge couenaunt, and to his sede, as the dayes of heauen: namely that his children shulde alway mynyster before hym, and perfourme the office of the preesthode, and wysh the people good in his name. Before all men lyuynge chose he hym, that he shuld offre before the Lorde, and make odoures for a swete sauoure and remembraunce, that he shuld reconsyle the people of the Lord with hym agayne. He gaue hym auctoryte also in his commaundementes and in the couenaūt that he shulde teache Jacob the statutes and testymonyes, and to informe Israel in his lawe.

Therfore there stode vp certayne agaynst hym and had enuye at hym in the wyldernes: namely, they that were of Dathan, and Abirams sede, and the furyous congregacyon of Chore. This the Lorde sawe, and it dyd displeased him, and in his wrothful indygnacyon were they consumed. A greate wonder dyd he vpon them, and consumed them with the fire. Besydes this he made Aaron yet more honourable and glorious. He gaue hym an heritage, and departed the fyrste fruites vnto hym. Vnto hym specyally he appoynted the bred for sustenaunce (for the pieces ate of the offrynges of the Lorde) this gaue he vnto hym and his sede. Other heritage or portion he had none in the lād, with the people. For the Lord him self is his portion and inheritaunce.

The thirde noble and excellente man is Phinehes the sonne of Eleazer, whiche pleased the God of Israel, because he had the zele and feare of the Lorde. For when the people were turned backe, he put hym selfe for the right soone, and that with a good wyll, to pacefye the wrath of the Lorde towarde Israel. Therfore was there a couenaūt of peace made with hym, that he shulde be the prynce pal amonges the rychtous and the people that he and his p ofsprynge shuld haue the office of the preesthode for euer. Lyke as there was made a couenaunte with Dauid of the tribe of Juda, that from among his sonnes only there shuld be a kynge: and that Aaron also and his sede shulde be the heritage, to geue vs wysdome in oure herte, to ruler this

people in rightousnes: that his goodes shuld not come in to forgetfulnesse, and that their honour myght endure for ever.

¶ The prayse of Josue, Caleb, and Samuel.

CAPI. XLVI.

Josue.xiiii. Num.xxvi.d Deu.xxxiii.b Josue.i.a

A MAnly and stronge in battayle was Jesus the sonne of Naue, which in steade of Moses the prophete, was ordeyned to be captayne of the people, which accordynge vnto his name, was a great sauioure vnto ꝑ electe of God, to punysshe the enemyes that rose vp agaynst Israel, that Israel myght obtayne their inheritaunce. O how greate, noble, and excellent was he, when he lyft vp his hande, and drewe out his swerde agaynst the cyties? Who stode so manly before hym? Josue.x.c For the Lorde hym selfe brought in the enemyes. Stode not the Sunne styll at his commaundement, and one daye was as long as two? He called vpon the hyghest and most myghtye, when the enemyes preased vpon hym on euery syde: and the Lorde herde hym with hayle stones. They smote the heythen myghtely people myghtely, and in fallyng downe they slewe all the aduersaryes, so that the heathen knewe his boost, and al his defence, that the Lorde hym selfe foughte agaynst them, for he iowed vpon the myghtye men of them.

B In the tyme of Moses, also he had Caleb the sonne of Jephune, vpo a good worcke, which stode agaynst the enemyes, withholde the people frome syn, and stylled the wycked murmuryng. And of syx hundreth thousande people of fote, they two were preserued, whe they were brought in to the heritage, namely, a lande that floweth with mylke and hony. The Lorde gaue strengthe also vnto Caleb, which remayned with hym vnto his age: Josue.xiiii.c so that he wente vp in to the hyghe places of the lande, and his sede conquered the same for an heritage: that all the children of Israel myght se, how good a thyng it is, to be obedient vnto the Lorde. And the iudges of euery (euery one after his name) whose herte went not a whyrnge, ne departed frome the Lorde, and that for ever) ne the Lorde vnfaythfully, whose remembraunce hathe a good reporte: Feathers bonce slogrythe out of their place, and their name shall neuer be chaunged.

C Samuel the prophet beloued of the Lord, ordeyned a kynge, and anoynted the princes ouer the people. In the lawe of the Lord ruled he, and iudged the congregacyon, and the Lorde had respect vnto Jacob. The prophete was founde diligent in his faythfulnesse, Deu.xxxiii.c in his faythfulnes was the faythfulnes of ꝑ diuyne known. He called vpon ꝑ Lorde the myghtie, when the enemyes preased vpō him on euery syde, what tyme as he offred the sucklyng lambe. And ꝑ Lord thondred frō heauen, and made his voyce to be herde with a greate noyse. Ecclesiasticus.a He distroyed the princes of Tyre, all the rulers of the Philistynes. Before his last ende, he made protestacyon in the syght of the Lorde, and his anoynted, that he toke neither substaunce ne good of eny man, no not so moch as a shoe: & no man myght accuse hym. After this he tolde, that his ende was at hand, and shewed the the kynge also his ende and death: and from the earth lyfte he vp his voyce in the prophecye, that the vngodly people shulde perysh.

¶ The prayse of Nathan, Dauid, and Salomon

CAPI. XLVII.

AFterwarde in the tyme of kynge Dauid, there rose vp a prophet called Nathan: For lyke as the fat is taken away frome the offrynge, so was Dauid chosen out of the chyldren of Israel. He toke his pastyme with ꝑ lyons & with beares, and with beastes lyke as with lambes. Slewe he not a gyaunt when he was yet but ponge, and toke away the reproche frō his people? what tyme as he toke the stone in his hande, and smote downe proude Goliath with the slynge? For he called vpon the hyghest Lorde, whiche gaue hym strength in his ryght hande, so that he ouerthrewe the myghtye gyaunte in the battayle, that he myght set vp the horne of his people agayne. Thus brought he him to worshyp aboue al payncers, and made hym to haue a good reporte in the prayse of the Lorde, that he shulde were a crowne of glory. For he destroyed the enemyes on euery syde, rooted out the the Philistines his aduersaryes, and brake their horne in sunder lyke as it is broken yet this daye. In all his workes he praysed the hyghest and holyest, and alleyged the honour vnto hym. With his hole herte dyd he prayse and loue hym that made hym. He set syngers also before the aulter, and in their tyme he made swete songes. He ordeyned to hyge the holy dayes worshipfully, and that the solemne feastes therowe the hole yeare shulde be honourably holden, with prayseyng the name of the Lorde, and with his syngynge hymnes in the morninge in the Sanctuary.

C The Lorde toke away hys synnes, and exalted his horne for ever. He gaue hym the couenaunte of the kyngdome, and the throne of worshyp in Israel. After him there rose vp the wyse sonne called Salomon, and for his sake he drewe ꝑ enemyes awaye for of. This Salomon raygned with peace in his time, for God gaue hym rest frome his enemyes on euery syde, that he myght buylde vnto an house in his name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer: lyke as he was wel instructe in his youth and fylled with wysdome as and vnderstandinge, as it were with a water floode. He ouerred and fylled the hole lande with symylytudes and wyse prudente sentences.

His name went abrode in the Iles, because of his peace he was beloued. All landes merueyled at his songes, prouerbes, symylytudes, and at his peace, & at the name of the Lorde God, whiche is called the God of Israel. He gathered golde as tynne, and he had as moche syluer as leade. He was moued in vnordinate loue towarde women, and was ouercome in affection. He stayned his honour and worshyp: yea, his posteritie defyled he also, in bryngyng the wrath of ꝑ Lord vpon his children, and sorowe after his ioye: so ꝑ his kyngdome was deuyded, and Ephraim became an vnhappythfull and an vnconstante kyngdom. Neuertheles God forsoke not his mercy, neyther was he vtterly destroyed because of his workes, that he sholde leaue hym no posteritie.

As for the sede ꝑ came vpon him which he loued, he brought it not vtterly to noughte, but gaue yet a remnaunt vnto Jacob, and a rote vnto Dauid oute of hym. Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and oute of his sede he left behynde him a verye foolyshnesse of the people, and such one as had no vnderstandyng: namely Roboam, whiche turned away the people thorow his counsel, and Jeroboam the son of Nabat, which caused Israel to synne, and shewed Ephraim the way of vngodlynesse: In so moch that their synnes, and misdedes had the vpper hand so sore that at the last they were brurn oute of the lande for the same: Yea he soughte oute and brought vp all the wyckednesse, tyl the vengeaunce came vpon them.

CAPI. XL VIII.

Then stode vp Elias ꝑ prophet as a fire and his worde brent lyke a cresset. He brought an honger vpon them, and in his zele he made them fewe in nombre. For they myght not awaye with the commaundmentes of the Lorde. Thorow the worde of the Lorde he shut the heuen, and three tymes brought he the fire downe. Thus became Elias honourable i his wonderous dedes. Who maye make his boaste to be lyke hym? One that was dede raysed he vp from death, and in the worde of the hyest he brought him out of the graue agayne. He cast downe kynges and destroyed them, and the honourable fro their seate. Vpon the mount Syna he herde the punyshment, and vpon Horeb the iudgemut of the vengeaunce. He prophecied reconpensyng vnto kinges, and ordeyned Prophetes after him. He was taken vp in the storme of fyre in a charet of horses of the Lorde. He was ordeyned in the reprouynges in time to pacifye the wrath, to turne the hertes of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Jacob agayne. Blessed were they that sawe the, and were garnyshed in loue: for we lyue in lyfe.

Elias was couered in the storme, but Helizeus was fylled with his mouth. While he lyued, he was afrayde of no prynce, & no man myght ouercom: hym. There could no worde dissemble him, and after his deth his body prophecied. He did wonders in his life and i deth were his workes meruelous. For all this, the people amended not, neither departed they from their synnes, till they were caryed away prysoners out of the land, and were scatred abrode in al countreys, so that of them there remayned but a very lytle people, and a Prince vnto the house of Dauid. Now be it some of them dyd ryght, and some heaped vp vngodlynesse.

Ezechias made his citye strong, conueyed C water in to it, digged thorow the stony rock 4. Par. 32. c with yron, and made vp a well by the water syde. In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sente Rabsakeh, lyfte vp his hande agaynst Syon, and defyed them with greate pryde.

Then trembled their hertes and handes, so that they sorowed lyke a woman trauayling with chylde. So they called vpon the Lorde which is mercyful, and lyft vp their handes before him. Immediatly the Lorde herd them oute of the heuen, and deliuered them by the hand of Esay. He smote the host of the Assirians, and his aungell destroyed them. For Ezechias had done ꝑ thing ꝑ pleased the Lorde, and remayned stedfastly in the waye of Dauid his father. Which Esaye was great and faithful in his visions. In his time the sunne went backwarde, and he lengthened the kynges lyfe. With a right spirite prophecied he, what sholde come to passe at the last: and to suche as were sorowful in Syon, he gaue consolacyon, wherwith they myght comforte themselues for euermore. He shewed thinges that were for to come & secrete, or euer they came to passe.

er. His remembraunce shal be swete as hony in all mouthes, and as the playing of musyk by the wyne. He was appointed to turne the people agayne, and to take awaye all abhominacions of the vngodly. He directed his hertes vnto the Lorde, and in the tyme of the vngodlye he set vp the worshyp of God agayne. All kynges (excepte Dauid, Ezechias and Josiah) committed wyckednesse: for euen the kynges of Juda also forsoke the law of God. For they gaue their horne vnto other, their honoure and worshyp also vnto a straunge people.

Therfore was the elect citye of the Sanctuary brent with fyre, and the stretes therof laye desolate and waste: for they intreated Jeremy euyl, which neuertheles was a prophet ordeyned fro his mothers wombe, that he myght rote out, breke of, and destroy, and that he might buylde vp, and plante agayne. Ezechiel sawe the glorye of the Lorde in a vysion, whiche was shewed hym vpon the charet of the Cherubyns. For he thought vpon the enemyes in the rayne, to doo good vnto such as had ordred their wayes aright. And the bones of the twelue prophetes florysshe from out of their place, for they gaue comforte and consolacion vnto Jacob, and deliuered the faithfully, how shal we praise Zorobabel, whiche was as a ryngt in the ryght hande?

So was Jesus also the sonne of Josedec: these men in their tymes buylded the house, & set vp the Sanctuarye of the Lorde agayne, whiche was prepared for an euerlastynge worshyp. And Nehemiah is alwaye to be commended, which set vp for vs the walles that were broken downe, made the portes and barres agayne, & buylded oure houses of the new. But vpon the erth is there no man created lyke Enoch, for he was taken vp frō the earthe. And Joseph whiche was lorde of his brethren, and the vpholder of his people: his bones were couered and kept. Seth and Sem were in great honour amonge the people: and so was Adam about all the beastes whan he was created.

CAPI. L.

A Symon the sonne of Onias the hye preest, whiche in his lyfe sette vp the house agayne, and in his dayes made faste the temple. The heyght of the temple was founded of hym, the double buyldyng and the hye walles of ye temple. In his dayes the welles of water flowed out, and were euerdynge full as the see. He toke care for his people, and deliuered them frome destruction. He kept his citye and made it stronge, that it shulde not be besieged. He dwelte in honoure and worshyppe amonge his people, and enlarged the entraunce of the house and the courte. He grueth lyghte as the morynge sterre in the myddes of the cloudes, and as the Moone whan it is ful. He shyneth as the sunne in the temple of God, he is as bryght as the rayne-bow in the kayre cloudes, and florysheth as the floures and roses in the spryngē of the yere, and as lylyes by the ryuers of water: Lyke as the braunches vpon the mount Libanus in the tyme of sommer: as a fyre and incense that is kyndled: Lyke as an hole ornament of pure golde, set with all maner of precious stones: and as an olyue tree that is fruytfull, and as a Cypres tree whiche groweth vp on hygh.

B When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beautye: when he went to the holye aulter, to garnysshe the couerynge of the Sanctuarye: when he toke the portions out of the preestes hand, he hym selfe stode by the harth of the aulter, and his brethren rounde about in order. As the braunches of Cedre tre vpon the mount Libanus, so stode they rounde about hym. And as the braunches of the olyue tree, so stode all the sonnes of Aaron in their glorye. And that he myght sufficiently perfourme his seruyce vpon the aulter, and garnysshe the offrynge of the hyest God, he stretched oute his hande, & toke of the drynke offerynge, and poured in of the wyne: so he poured vpon ye bottome of the aulter good smell vnto the hyghest prynce.

C Then began the sonnes of Aaron to syng, and to blowe with trompettes, and to make a great noyse for a remembraūce and prayse vnto the Lorde. Then were ye people afrayd and fel downe to the earth vpon their faces, to worshyp the Lord their God, and to giue thankes to the almyghtye God. They songe goodly also with their voyces, so there was a pleasaunte noyse in the greate house of the Lorde. And ye people in their prayer besought the Lorde the hyest that he would be mercyfull tyll the honour of the Lorde were performed. Thus ended they their ministracīō and seruise. Then went he downe and stretched out his handes ouer the hole multitude of the people of Israel, that they sholde gyue prayse and thankes out of their lyppes vnto the Lorde, and to reioyce in his name. He began yet ones also to praye, that he myght openly shewe the thankesgyuynge before the hyest, namely thus: O gyue prayse and thankes (yea all) vnto the Lorde our God, which hathe euer doone noble and greate thynges: whiche hath encreased our dayes from oure mothers wombe, and dealte with vs accordyng to his mercy: that he wyll gyue vs the ioyfulnesse of herte, and peace for our time in Israel. Whiche kayethfully kepeth his mercy for vs euer more, and alwaye deliuereth vs in due season.

D There be two maner of people that I abhorre frō my herte: as for the thyrde, whom I hate, it is no people: They that sytte vpon the mountayne of Samaria, the Philistines and the foolysshe people that dwelle in Sichimis.

I Jesus the sonne of Sirach Eleazarus of Jerusalem, haue tokened vp these informacions and documentes of wysdome and vnderstanding in this boke, and poured out the wysdom of my herte. Blessed is he that exercyseth him selfe therin: and who so taketh such to herte shal be wyse. Yf he do these thynges, he shall be strong in all. For the lyght of the Lorde lyghteth him.

CAPI. LI.

I Thanke the, o Lorde and kyng, and prayse the, o God my sauiour. I wyl yelde prayse vnto thy name, for thou arte my defender and helper, and hast preserued my bodye frō destructiō, from the snare of traytorous tonges, and from the lyppes that are occupyed with lyes. Thou hast ben my helper, frome such as stode vp against me, and hast deliuered me after the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy holy names sake: thou hast deliuered me from the rorynge of them that prepared

them selues to deuour me out of the handes of suche as soughte after my lyfe: from the multitude of them that troubled me, & went about to set fyre vpon me on euery syde, so that I am not brent in the myddest of the fyre: from the depe of hel, from an vncleane tong, from lying wordes, from the wyched kyng, and frō an vnrighteous tong. My soule shall prayse the Lorde vnto death, for my life drewe nye vnto hell.

B They compassed me round about on euery side, & there was no man to helpe me. I loked about me, yf there were any man that wolde succour me, but there was none: thē thought I vpon thy mercy, o Lorde, & vpon thy actes that thou hast done euer of olde: namely, that thou deliuerest such as put their trust in the, and ridderst them out of the handes of the heathen. Thus lyfte I vp my prayer frō the erth, and prayed for deliuerance from death. I called vpon the Lord my father, & he wold not leaue me without helpe in the daye of my trouble & in the tyme of the proud. I praised thy name cōtinually, yelding honour & thanckes vnto it, & so my prayer was herd. Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the vnrighteous time. Therfore will I acknowlege and prayse the, and magnifye the name of the Lorde.

C When I was yet but yong, or euer I went astray, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer I came therfore before the temple, & sought her vnto the last. Thē florished she vnto me as a grape that is sone ripe. My hert reioyced in her, therw went my fote the ryghte way, yea frō youth vp, sought I after her: I bowed downe myne eare and receyued her. I found in me moche wisdom, and prospered greatly in her. Therfore will I ascribe the glory vnto him that giueth me wisdom: for I am addressed to werkafter. I will be gelous to cleue vnto the thyng that is good, so that I not be confounded. My soule hath wrestled in her, and I haue ben diligēt to be occupied in her. I lift vp mine hādes on hye, the was my soule lightened thorow wysdome, & I knowleged my foolyshnesse, I sought my soule after her, she and I were one hert from the beginning, and I found her in clennesse. And therfore shall I not be forsaken.

D My herte longed after her, & I got a good treasure. Therfore the Lord hath giuen me a new tong, wherwith I will prayse him. O come vnto me ye vnlerned, and dwell in the house of wysdom: withdraw not your selues from her, but talke & common of their thinges, for your soules are very thirstye. I opened my mouth and spake: O come & bye wisdom without money, bowe down your necke vnder her yoke, and your soule shall receyue wysdom. She is hard at hand, and is comēt to be founde. Beholde with your eyes, how that I haue had but lytle labour, and yet haue found moche rest. O receyue wisdome, and ye shall haue plentcousnesse of syluer & gold in possession. Let your mynd reioyce in his mercye, and be not ashamed of his prayse. Worke his worke betymes, and he shall gyue you your rewarde in due tyme.

¶ The ende of the boke of Jesus the sonne of Syrach, whiche is called in latyn Ecclesiasticus.

Jii.¶.

THE BOKE OF THE PROPHETE BARVCH.

THese are the wordes of the boke that Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasia, the son of Sedechias the sonne of Sedei, the son of Helchia wrote at Babylon, in the fifth yere, the seuenth day of the moneth, what tyme the Caldees wan Jerusalem, and brent it.

CAPI. I.

¶ Baruch redeth the boke before the kynge and all the people, whiche sende it with money to Jerusalem.

A AND Baruch dyd reade the wordes of this boke that Jechonias the sonne of Joacin kinge of Juda myghte heare: and in the presence of all the people, that were come to heare the boke: yea and before all the noble kynges sonnes, before the lordes of the counsell and elders: and before the hole people, frō the lowest vnto the highest: before all them that dweite at Babylon by the water of Sody. Whiche when they herde it, wepte, fasted, and prayed before the Lorde.

B They made a collection also of money, according vnto kynge to currye mans power, and sent it to Jerusalem vnto Joacin the sonne of Helchiah the sonne of Salon Priest, with the other Priestes, and to all the people whiche were with him at Jerusalem, what tyme as they had gotten the ornamentes of the temple of the Lorde (that were taken away out of the temple) that they myght bringe them agayne in to the lande of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth Sibam: namely, syluer vessels (whiche Sedechias the sonne of Josiah king of Juda had made. After that Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon had taken Jechonias, with all his princes, lordes, & all the people, and led them captyue from Jerusalē vnto Babylon.

And they sayde: Beholde, we haue sente you money to bye you burat offrynges and incense withall: make you vnleuended bred And offre for synne vpon the aulter of the Lorde oure God. And praye for the prosperitie of Nabuchodonosor kynge of Babylon, and of Balthasar his sonne: that their dayes maye be vpon earthe, as the dayes of heuen: that God also maye gyue vs strength and lyghten oure eyes: that we maye lyue vnder the defence of Nabuchodonosor kyng of Babylon, and vnder the protection of Balthasar his sonne, that we maye longe do them seruyce, and fynde fauoure in their syght.

Praye for vs also vnto the Lorde oure God, for we haue synned agaynst the Lorde oure God, and vnto this daye is not his wrathe tourned yet awaye from vs. And se that ye rede this boke (whiche we haue sente vnto you to be reherced in the temple of the Lorde) vpon the hye dayes, and at a tyme conuenient.

Thus shal ye say: The Lorde our God is D Dani. ix. righteous, but we are worthy of confusyon Dan. and shame: lyke as it is come to passe this daye vnto all Juda, and to currye one that dwelleth at Jerusalem: to oure kynges, Princes, priestes, Prophetes, and to oure fathers. We haue synned before the Lorde our God, we haue not put our trust in him, nor gyuen hym credence, we haue not obeyed hym, we haue not harkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in the commaundementes that he gaue vs. Sithens the daye that he brought oure fore fathers oute of the lande of Egypt vnto this present day we haue bene euer a mythyleuynge, and an vnfaythful people vnto the Lorde our God: destroyinge oure selues vtterly, and shrynkynge backe, that we shoulde not heare his voyce.

Wherfore there are come vpon vs greate plages and dyuers curses, lyke as the Lorde E bryuyled by Moses his seruaunte: whiche brought oure fore fathers oute of the lande of Egypte, to gyue vs a lande that flowety with mylke and houy, lyke as it is to se this daye. Neuertheles, we haue not harkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde oure God, Leui.xxvi. according to all the wordes of the Prophetes Deut.xi. whom he sent vnto vs, and vnto our rulers, but euery man followed his owne minde and wicked ymagination: to offre vnto straūge goddes, to do euyll in the syght of the Lorde oure God.

¶ The Iewes confesse that they suffre iustlye for their synnes. The Lorde wyll we obey vnto princes, although they be euyll. He promyseth that he wyll call agayne the people from captyuyte, and gyue them a newe and euerlastynge testament.

CAPI. II.

FOr which cause the Lorde our God hath F performed his breuyce, wherof he certified vs and our herdes that ruled in Jerusalem: yea and oure kynges, our princes, with all Israel and Juda. And suche plages hathe the Lorde brought vpon vs, as neuer came to passe vnder the heuē, like as it is fulfilled in Jerusalem, according as it is wrytten in the lawe of Moses: that a man shold eate Deut.xxviii. the flesshe of his owne sonne, and the flesshe Leui.xxvi. of his owne doughter. Moreouer he hath Thren.iiii. deliuered them in to the handes of all the kynges that are rounde about vs (to be confounded and desolate) and scatred them abrode in all G landes and nacyons. Thus are we brought hence and not about, for we haue synned agaynst the Lorde our God, and not been obedient vnto his voyce: therfore the Lorde our God is righteous, and we with oure fathers (as reason is) are brought to ope shame as it is to se this daye.

And

And as for these plages that are come vpō vs alredye, the Lorde had deuyſed them for vs: yet wolde we not praye vnto the Lorde our God, that we myght euerye man tourne from his vngodly wayes. So the Lorde hath cauſed ſuche plages to come vpon vs, for he is righteous in all his workes, which he hath cōmaunded vs, which we alſo haue not done nor harkened vnto his voyce for to walke in the commaūdements of the Lorde, that he had gyuen vnto vs.

And nowe, O Lorde God of Iſrael, thou that haſt brought thy people out of the land of Egypte with a myghtye hande, with tokens and wonders, with thy greate power and outſtretched arme: and haſt gotten thy ſelfe a name, as it is come to paſſe this daye. O Lorde oure God, we haue ſynned, we haue doone wyckedly, we haue behaued oure ſelues vngodlye in all thy ryghteouſneſſes.

Tourne thy wrathe frome vs (we beſeche the) for we are but a fewe lefte amonge the heathen, where thou haſt ſcatred vs. Heare oure prayers, o Lorde, and oure peticions, bryngе vs out of captiuitie, for thyne owne ſake: get vs fauoure in the ſyghte of them, which haue led vs away, that al landes may know that thou art the Lorde our God, and that Iſrael and his generacion calleth vpon thy name.

O Lorde, loke downe from thy holy houſe vpon vs: enclyne thyne eare, and heare vs. For the dead that be gone down to their graues, and whoſe ſoules are out of their bodies aſcribe vnto the Lorde neither prayſe nor righteouſnes: but the ſoule that is vexed for the multitude of her ſynnes, which goeth on deuyly and weykely, whoſe eyes begynne to faple: ſuch a ſoule aſcribeth prayſe and righteouſneſſe vnto the Lorde. O Lorde, we poure oute oure prayers before the, and requyre mercye in thy ſyghte, o Lorde oure God: not for anye godlyneſſe of oure fore fathers, but becauſe thou haſt ſent out thy wrath and indignacion vpon vs, according as thou bydeſt threaten vs by thy ſeruauntes the Prophetes, ſayinge:

Thus ſayth the Lorde: Bowe downe your ſhoulders & neckes, and ſerue the kyng of Babylon, ſo ſhall ye remayne ſtyll in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers. But if ye wyll not do this, nor heare the voyce of the Lorde your God, to ſerue the kynge of Babylon, I ſhall deſtroy you in the cityes of Iuda, within Ieruſalem and without. I will alſo take from you the voice of myrth, and the voice of ioy, the voyce of the bridegrome and the voyce of the bryde, and there ſhal no man dwell more in the land. But they wold not harken vnto thy voyce, to doo the kyng of Babylon ſeruice: and therfore haſte thou performed the wordes that thou ſpakeſt by thy ſeruauntes the prophetes: namely, that the bones of our kynges, and the bones of our fathers ſholde be tranſlated out of their place.

And lo now are they layde out in the heate of the ſunne, and in the colde of the nighte, and dyed in greate myſerye, with hunger, with ſwerde, with peſtilēce, & are clene caſt forth. As for the temple wherin thy name was called vpon, thou haſt laid it waſte, as it is to ſe this day: and that for the wyckednes of the houſe of Iſrael & the houſe of Iuda. O Lorde our God, thou haſt intreated vs after al thy goodneſſe, and according to all that great louing mercy of thyne, like as thou ſpakeſt by thy ſeruaunte Moſes, in the daye when thou biddeſt commaunde him to wryte thy law before the chyldren of Iſrael, ſaying: If ye wil not harken vnto my voyce, there ſhall this great multitude be turned in to a very ſmall people, for I will ſcatter the abrode. Notwithſtandyng I am ſure that this folke wyll not hear me: for it is an ſtubbornecked people. But in the lande of their captiuitie, they ſhall remembre them ſelues, and learne to know that I am the Lorde their God, when I gyue them an herte to vnderſtande, and eares to heare. Then ſhal they praiſe me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my name. Then ſhal they turne them from their hard backes and frō their vngodlyneſſe: Then ſhal they remembre the thynges, that happened vnto their fore fathers, which ſynned againſt me. So wyll I bryngе them agayne in to the lande, whiche I promyſed with an othe vnto their fathers: Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: and they ſhall be lordes of it: yea I wyll encreaſe them, and not mynyſhe them. And I wyll make an other couenaunte with them, ſuche one as ſhall endure for euer: namelye, that I wil be their God, and they ſhall be my people: and I wil no more driue my people the chyldren of Iſrael oute of the lande that I haue gyuen them.

O ye dwellers about Syon: come, and let vs call to remembraunce the captiuitye that the euerlastynge God hathe brought vpon my sonnes and my doughters. For he hath brought a people vpon them from farre, an vnkuthe people, & of a straunge language, whiche neyther regarde the olde, nor pitye the yonge.

Then

These haue caryed awaye the deare beloued of me a wydowe, leauyng me alone, both desolate and chyldelesse. But alas, what can I helpe you? Nowe he that hath broughte these plages vpō you, delyuer you also from the handes of your enemyes.

Go your waye (O my chyldren) go your waye: for I am desolate and forsaken I haue put of the clothynge of peace, & put vpon me the sacke cloth of prayer, and for my tyme I wyl call vpō the most hyest. Be of good chere O my chyldren: crye vnto the Lorde, and he shal delyuer you from the power of the princes, your enemyes.

For verely, I haue euer a good hope of your prosperous health: yea a very gladnesse is come vpon me from the holy one, because of the mercye that ye shall haue of our euerlastyng Sauyour.

P With mournynge and weepynge did I let you go from me, but with ioye and perpetual gladnesse shall the Lorde bringe you agayne vnto me. Lyke as the neyghbours of Sion sawe your captyuitye frō God: Euen so shall they also se shortly your health in God, whiche shal come on you with great honour and euerlastyng worshyp.

O my children, suffre paciently the wrath that shall come vpon you. For the enemye hath persecuted the, but shortly thou shalt se his destruction, and shalt tred vpon his neck. My derlynges haue gone rough wayes, for they are led awaye as a flocke that is scatred abrode with the enemyes. But be of good chere (O my chyldren) and crye vnto the Lorde:

Q For he that led you awaye, hath you yet in remembraunce: and like as ye haue bene minded to swarue from your God, so shal ye now conuerted seuen tymes more, to turne agayne, and to seke him. For he which hath broughte these plages vpon you, shall bringe you euerlastynge ioye agayne with your healthe. Take a good hert vnto the, O Jerusalem: for he which gaue the that name, wyl helpe the so to do.

The wyched doers that now put the to trouble, shall perish: and such as haue reioyced at thy fall, shall be punyshed. The cyties whom thy chyldren serue, and that haue caryed awaye thy sonnes, shall be corrected. For lyke as they be nowe glad of thy decaye, so shall they mourne in their owne destruction. The ioye of their multitude shall be taken awaye, and their ioye shall be turned to sorowe. For a fyre shall fall vpon them from the euerlastynge God, longe to endure: and it shall be inhabited of deuyls for a great season.

CAPI. V.

R O Jerusalem loke about the toward the east, and beholde the ioye that cometh vnto the from God. For lo, thy sonnes (whome thou hast forsaken, and that were scattered abrode) come gathered togyther frō the East and West, reioyshynge in the worde of the holye one, vnto the honoure of God.

Put of thy mournynge clothes (O Jerusalem) and thy sorowe, and decke the with the worshyp and honoure, that commeth vnto the frome God, with euerlastyng glory. God shal put the cloke of rightfulnes vpon the, and set a crowne of euerlastynge worshyp vpon thyne heade: for vpon the wyll God declare his brightnes, that is vnder the heauen: yea an euerlastyng name shall be geuen the of God, with peace of rightfulnes, and the honoure of Gods feare.

S Aryse O Jerusalem, stand vp on high: loke about the towarde the east, and beholde thy children gathered from the east, vnto the west whiche reioyse in the holye worde, beynge God in remembraunce. They departed from the on foote, and were led awaye of their enemyes: but nowe shal the Lord bryng them caryed with honoure, as children of the kyng home. For God is purposed to bringe downe all hyghe mountaynes, yea and all hygh rockes to fyll the valleyes, and so to make the euen with the grounde: that Israel maye be diligent to syue vnto the honoure of God. The woodes and all pleasaunt trees shal ouershadowe Israel, at the commaundement of God. For hyther shall God bringe Israel with ioyfull myght, and in the lyghte of his mercye: with the mercye and rightfulnes that commeth of hym selfe.

CAPI. VI.

¶ A copye of the epistle that Jeremye sent vnto the Jewes, whiche were led awaye prysoners by the kynge of Babylon: wherin he certifyeth them of the thynge that was commaunded hym of God.

B Ecause of the synnes that ye haue done agaynste God, ye shall be led awaye captyue vnto Babylon euen of Nabuchodonosor the kynge of Babylon. So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shal remayne there many yeres & for a long season: namely, vnto seuen generations: and after that wyll I bryng you awaye peaceably from thence. Now shall ye se in Babylon goddes of golde, of syluer, of wood, & of stone: borne vpō mens shoulders to cast out a fearfulnes before the heathen. But loke that ye do not as the other: be not ye afrayd, and let not the feare of them ouercome you.

T Therfore whē ye se the multytude of people worshyppynge them behynde and before saye ye in your hertes: O Lorde, it is thou, that oughtest only to be worshypped: thyne aungel also shal be with you, and I my self wyll care for your soules. As for the tounge of those goddes, the carpenter hath polyshed them: yea gylted be they, & layed ouer with syluer, yet are they but dayne thynges, & can not speke. Lyke as a wenche that loueth perauoures is trymlye decked, euen so are these made made and hanged with golde. Crownes of golde haue they? goddes vpon they? heedes: so the preestes them selues take the golde and syluer from them, and put it to they? owne vses: yea they gyue of the same vnto harlots, and trymme they? houses withall: agayne, they take it from the houses, and decke they? goddes therwith. Yet can not their goddes delyuer them selues fromte rust and mothes. When they haue couered them with clothynge of purple, they wype they? faces for the dust of the temple, wherof there is moch among them. One hath a sceptre in his hand, as though he were iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slaye suche as offende hym. An other hathe a swearde or an axe in his hande, for all that, is he neyther able to defende hym selfe fromte battayle, nor from murtherers.

Jeremye. 5.a

By this ye maye vnderstande, that they be no goddes, therfore se that ye neyther worshyp them, nor feare them. For lyke as a vessell that a man breth, is nothinge worth whē it is broken, euen so is it with they? goddes. When they be set vp in the temple, their eyes be full of dust, thorow the fete of those that come in. And lyke as the doores are shutte in, roumde about vpon hym that hath offended the kynge: Or as it were a dead body kepte behynde the graue: Euen so the preestes kepe the doores with barres and lockes, lest they? Goddes be spoyled with robbers. They set vp candels before them (yea verily and that many) wherof they can not se one, but euen as blockes, so stande they in the temple. It is sayd: that the serpentes and wormes whiche come of the earth, gnawe out they? bertes, eatynge them and they? clothes also, and yet they feele it not. They? faces are blacke, thorowe the smoke that is in the temple. The owles, swalowes, and bydes flye vpon them, yea and the cattes runne ouer they? heedes.

Settynge vp of candels before ydolles.

By this ye maye be sure, that they are not goddes, therfore feare them not. The golde that they haue, is to make them bewtyfull: and yet neuertheles, onles some body wype of they? rust, they wyll gyue no shyne: and when they were cast in to a fourme, they felt it not. They are bought for money, and haue no breth of lyfe within them. They must be borne vpon mens shoulders, as those that haue no fete: wherby they declare vnto men, that they be nothynge worth. Confounded be they then, that worshyp them. For yf they fall to the grounde, they can not ryse vp agayne of them selues. Yea though one helpe them vp and set them vpright, yet are they not able to stande alone: but must haue proppes set vnder them lyke dead men. As for ? thing that is offred vnto them, they? preestes sell it, and abuse it: yea ? preestes wyues take therof, but vnto ? syche & poore they gyue nothyng of it, the women with childe and the mēstruous laye handes of their offrynges. By this ye maye be sure, that they are no goddes, therfore be not ye afrayed of them. From whence commeth it then, that they be called goddes?

The women syt before the goddes of syluer, gold and wod, & the preestes syt in their temples, hauynge open clothes, whose heades and berdes are shaue, & haue nothynge vpon their heades: rorynge and crying vpon their goddes, as men do at the feast, when one is dead.

The preestes also take awaye the garmentes of the ymages, and decke their wyues & chyldren withal. Whether it be good or euel that any man do vnto them, they are not able to recōpence it: they can neyther set vp a kynge nor put him downe. In lyke maner they may neither gyue ryches, nor toward eyll. Thoughe a man make a vowe vnto them and kepe it not, they wyll not require it. They can not restore a blynde man to his syght, ne helpe any at his nede. They can shewe no mercy to the wydow, nor doo good to the fatherles. They? goddes of wod stone, golde and syluer, are but euen as other stones, that be hewen of the mountayne. They that worshyp them shal be confounded. Howe shulde they then be taken for goddes? yea howe dare men call them goddes? And thoughe the Caldees worshypped them not, hearynge that they were but dom and coulde not speake: Yet they them selues offre vnto Bel, and wold fayne haue him to speake: as who saye, they coulde tell, that maye not moue. But when these men come to vnderstandyng, they shall forsake the, for their goddes haue no kynge.

A greate sort of women gyrde with cordes syt in the stretes, & burne dryue dyrtes. Now yf one of them be conueyed away and eyther any such as come by: she casteth her neyghbourelle in the teeth, because she was not so worthelye reputed, nor her corde broken. What so euer is done for the, it is but bayne & lost: Howe may it then be thought or sayd that they are goddes? Carpenters and gold smythes make them, neyther be they anye other thynge, but euen what the worke men wyll make of them. Yea the goldsmithes the selues that make them, are of no longe contynuance: how shulde then the thynges that are made of them, be goddes? Mayne therfore are the thynges (yea breye shame is it) that they leaue behynde the for their posteritie. For as soone as there cōmeth any warre or plage vpon theym, the preestes ymagyne, where they maye hyde them selues with them. Howe can men thynke then they be goddes, which neither may defende them selues fromte warre nor delyuer them fro myscheefe? For seyng they be but of wod, of stone, of syluer and of golde: al people and kynges shal know here after, that they be but bayne thinges: yea it shal be openly declared, that they be no goddes: but euen the very workes of mens hādes, & that God hath nothīg to do with the. They can set no kynge in the lande nor gyue rayne vnto men. They can gyue no sentence of a matter, neither defende the lande fromte wrong: For they are not hable to do so moch as a crowe, that flyeth betweene heauen and earth.

What

When there happeneth a fyre in to the house of those goddes of wod, of syluer and of golde, the priestes wyll escape and saue the selues, but the goddes burne as the balkes therin. They can not withstande any hynge or battayle: how maye it then be thought or graunted, that they be goddes? Moreouer, these goddes of wodde, of stone, of golde and syluer, maye neither defende them selues fro theues ne robbers: yea the very wycked are stronger then they. These stryp them out of their apparell, that they be clothed withall, these take their golde and syluer from them, and so get them away: yet can they not helpe them selues. Therfore it is much better for a man to be a kynge, and to shewe his power: or els a profytable vessell in a house, wherin he that oweth it, myght haue pleasure: yea or to be a dore in a house, to kepe such thynges safe as be therin, then to be such a vayne god. The Sunne, the Moone, and all the starres when they gyue their shyne and lyght, are obedyent, and do men good: When the lyghtenynge glysteth, all is clere: The wynde bloweth in euery countrey, and when God commaundeth the cloudes to go rounde about the hole worlde, they do as they are bydden: when the fyre is sent downe from aboue and commaunded, it burneth vp hylles & woddes.

But those goddes are not lyke one of these thynges, neither in bewtye nor in strengthe. Wherfore men shall not thynke nor say that they be goddes, seynge they can neither gyue sentence in iudgement, nor do men any good. Wherfore for asmoche as ye be now aduised, that they be no goddes, se ye feare them not: for they can speake neither good ne euyll of kynges. They can shewe no tokens in heauen for the Heythen, neyther shyne as the Sunne, ne gyue light as the Moone. Yea the vnreasonable beastes are better then they, for they can get them vnder the shade, and do them selues good. So can ye be certifyed by no maner of meanes, that they be goddes: therfore feare them not. For lyke as a scarbogarde in a garden of cucumbers kepeth nothynge, euen so are their goddes of wod, of syluer & golde: and lyke as a whyte thorne in an orcharde, that euery byrde sytteth vpon: yea lyke as a dead body that is cast in ye darke: Euē so is it with those goddes of wod, syluer and golde. By the purple and skarlet whiche they haue vpō them, and soone fadeth away, ye maye vnderstande, that they be no goddes: yea they them selues shall be consumed at ye last, which shall be a great confusyon of the lande. Blessed is the godly man, that hath no ymages and worshippeth none, for he shall be far from reproue.

The songe of the thre children, whiche were put in to the hote brennynge ouen. The commen translacion readeth this songe in the.iii. chap. of Daniel.

AND they walked in the middest of ye flame, praysing God & magnyfying the Lord Azariah stode vp, & prayed on this maner. And in ye myddest of ye fyre opened he his mouth, & sayd: Blessed be thou (O Lorde God of oure fathers) ryght worthye to be prayed and honoured is that thy name, for euermore: for thou art ryghtuous in all the thynges that thou hast done to vs: yea faythfull are all thy workes thy wayes are ryght, & thy iudgmentes true. In all the thynges that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon the holye cyte of our fathers (euen Jerusalem) thou hast executed true iudgement: yea accordynge to right and equytye hast thou brought these thinges vpō vs, because of oure synnes.

For why? we haue offended, and done wyckedly, departynge from the: in all thynges haue we trespased, and not obeyed thy commaundementes, ne kept them, neither done as thou hast bidden vs, that we myght prospere. Wherfore all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and euery ye synge that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done the in true iudgement: for in deliuerynge vs into the handes of our enemyes among vngodly and wicked abhominacions, and to an vnrighteous kyng: yea the most frowarde vpon earth. And now we maye not open our mouthes, we are become a shame and reproue vnto thy seruauntes and to them that worshyp the. Yet for thy names sake (we beseeche the) cast vs not out for euer, breake not thy couenaunt, and take not away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, for thy seruaunt Isaacs sake and for thy holy Israels sake: to whom thou hast spoken, and promysed that thou wolde multyplye their sede as the starres of heuen, and as the sand that lyeth vpō the see shore. For we (O Lord) are become lesse then anye people, and be kept vnder at this daye in all the worlde, because of oure synnes: So that nowe we haue neither prince duke, prophet, burntoffreynge, sacryfice, oblacyon, incense, ne sanctuarye before the.

Neuertheles, in a contryte herte and an humble spirite lette vs be receyued that we maye obtayne thy mercye. Lyke as in sacryfyce of rammes and bullockes, and in thousandes of fat lambes: so lette our offeryng be in thy sight this daye, that it maye please the, for there is no confusion vnto the that put their trust in ye. And now we folow the with all oure herte we feare the, and seke thy face. Put vs not to shame, but dele with vs after thy louynge kyndnesse, & accordynge to the multytude of thy mercyes. Deliuer

THE HISTORYE OF SVSANNA VVHICHE IS THE .XIII. CHAP. OF DANYEL AFTER THE LATYNE.

A THere dwelte a man in Babylō, called Joachim, that tohe a wyfe whose name was Susanna, the doughter of Helchias, a verye fayre woman, and suche one as feared God. Her father and her mother also were godly people, & taught theyr doughter accordynge to the lawe of Moses. Joachim her husbande was a great ryche man, & had a fayre orcharde ioynyng vnto his house. And to hym resorted the Jewes comenly, because he was a man of reputacion amongest them. The same yere were made two iudges, suche as the Lorde speaketh of: All the wickednesse of Babylon, commeth from the elders (that is) from the iudges, whiche seme to rule the people. These came ofte to Joachims house, and all suche as had any thynge to do in the lawe, came thyther vnto them.

B Nowe when the people came agayne at after noone, Susanna wente in to her husbandes orcharde, to walke. The elders seinge this, that she went in dayly, and walked: they were enamored vpon her, yea they were almost oute of theyr wyttes, and cast downe theyr eyes, that they should not se heauen, ne remembre that God is a rightous iudge. For they were bothe wounded with the loue of her, neither durst one shew an other his grefe. And for shame they durst not tell her, theyr inordinate lust, that they wolde fayne haue had to do w̄ her. Yet they layed wayte for her earnestly from daye to daye, that they might at the leest, haue a syght of her. And the one sayd to the other: Let vs go home, for it is dinner tyme. So they wēt theyr way frō her.

When they returned agayne, they came togyther, enquiringe out & matter betweene them selues, yea the one tolde the other of his wicked lust. Then appointed they a time when they myght take Susanna alone.

C It happened also that they espyed out a conuenyent tyme, when she wente for the to walke (as her maner was) and no body with her, but two maydens, and thought to wash her self in the garden, for it was an hote season: And there was not one person there, saue the two elders, that had hyd them selues, to beholde her. So she sayd to her maydens: go fet me oyle and sope, and shut the orcharde dore, that I maye wash me. And they dyd as she bad them, & shut the orchard doze, & went oute them selues at a backe doze, to fet the thynge that she had commaunded: but Susanna knewe not, that the elders laye there hyd within. Now whē & maidens were gone forth, the two elders gat them vp: and ran vpon her, saying: now the orcharde dores are shut, that no man can se vs: we haue a lust vn to the, therfore consēt vnto vs, & lye with vs.

D If thou wylt not, we shall bynge a testymoniall agaynst the: that there was a yong felowe with the, and that thou hast sent away thy maydēs frō the for the same cause. Susanna syghed, and sayde: Alas, I am in trouble on euery side. Though I folow your mynde, it wyll be my death: and yet I consēt not vnto you, I can not escape your handes. Well, it is better for me, to fall in to youre handes without the dede doynge, then to syn in the syght of the Lorde: and with that, she cryed out with a loude voyce: the eldermaide cryed out agaynste her. Then ran there one to the orchard doze, and smote it open. Now when the seruauntes of the house herde the crye in the orcharde, they russhed in at & back doze, to se what the matter was. So whē the elders tolde them the seruauntes were greatly ashamed, for why there was neuer suche a report made of Susanna. On & morow after came the people to Joachim her husbande & the two elders came also, full of mischeuous ymaginations againste Susanna, to bringe her vnto death, and spake thus before the people: Send for Susanna the doughter of Helchias, Joachims wyfe. And immediatly they sent for her. So she came w̄ her father & mother, her children & al her kinred. Now Susanna was a tender perle, & maruelous fayre of face. Therfore the wycked men cōmaunded to take of the clothes frō her face (for she was couered) & at & least, they myght se her stuffyed w̄ her beautye: Whē her frendes, yea & al they that knew her, began to wepe.

E These two elders stode vp in the myddest of the people, and layed their handes vpon the heade of Susanna: which wept & loked vp towarde heauen, for her herte had a sure trust in the Lorde. And the elders sayde: As we were walkynge in the orcharde alone, this woman came in with her two maydens whom she sent awaye frome her, and spared the orcharde dores. With that a yong felow (whiche there was hid) came vnto her, & laye with her. As for vs, we stode in a corner of & orcharde. And when we saw this wickednes we ran to her: and perceyued, that they had medled togyther. But we coulde not holde him, for he was stronger then we: thus he opened & wyc, & gat him away. Now whē we had take this womā, we asked her, what yōg felow this was: but she wolde not tell vs. This is the matter, & we be witnesses of the same. The commen sorte beleued theym, as thoes that were the elders & iudges of & people, & so they condempned her to death. Susanna cryed out with a loude voyce, & sayd: O euerlastynge God, thou searcher of secretes, thou & knowest all thynges afore they come to pas: thou wotest, & they haue borne false wytnes againste me: and beholde, I must dye where as I neuer dyd any such thynges, as these men haue maliciously muttred againste me. And the Lorde herde her voyce. For whē she was led forth to death, the Lorde raysed vp the spyrite of a yonge chylde, whose name was Daniel, whiche cryed w̄ a loude voyce:

I am

I am cleane frō this bloud. Then al the people turned thē towarde him, and sayd: What meane these wordes, þ thou hast spoken? Daniel stode in the middest of them, & sayd: Are ye such fooles, O ye children of Israel, þ ye can not discerne? Ye haue here condēned a daughter of Israel vnto death, & know not þ trueth wherfore: Goe yet on iudgement agayne, for they haue spoken falsē wytnesse agaynst her.

Wherfore the people turned agayne in all þ haste. And the elders (that is the principall heedes) sayde vnto him: come yet downe here amonges vs, and shew vs this matter, seing God hath gyuen the as greate honour as an elder. And Daniel sayd vnto them. Put these two aſūder one from an other, and then shal I heare them. Whē they were put a sundēr one from an other, he called one of them, and sayd vnto hym: O thou olde canckered carle, that hast vsed thy wyckednesse so long: thyne vngracyous dedes, whiche thou hast done afore, are now come to lyght. For thou hast gyuen falsē iudgementes, thou hast oppressed the innocent, and letten the gylty go free, where as yet the Lorde sayth: The innocent and ryghteous se thou slaye not. Well then yf thou hast sene her, tell me vnder what tree sawest thou them talkyng togyther? He answered: Vnder a Mulberry tree. And Daniel sayd: Verye well, nowe thou lyest euen vpon thyne heed. Lo the messenger of the Lorde hathe receyued the sentence of hym, to cut the in two. Then put he hym aſyde, and called for the other, and sayd vnto hym: O thou sede of Canaan, but not of Juda: Fayrnesse hath disceyued the, and lust hathe subuerted thyne herte. Thus deaste ye afore with the doughters of Israel, and they (for feare) consented vnto you: but the doughter of Juda wolde not abyde youre wyckednesse. Nowe tell me (I vnder what tree syddest thou take them, speakynge togyther? He answered: Vnder a Pomgranate tree. Then sayde Daniel vnto hym: Verye well, nowe thou lyest also euen vpon thyne heed. The messenger of the Lorde standeth waytynge with the swerde to cut the in two, and to slaye you both.

With that, all the hole multitude gaue a great shout, and praysed God, which alwaye delyuereth them that put theyr trust in him. And they came vpon the two elders (whom Daniel had convyct vþ theyr owne mouth: for they had gyuen falsē wytnesse) & dealte with them, euen lykewyse as they wold haue done with their neyghbourelle: yea they syd accordyng to þ law of Moses, & put them to death. Thus þ innocēt bloud was saued þ same day. Then Helchias and his wyfe praysed God, for theyr doughter Susanna, vþ Joachim her husband and all the kynred: that there was no dishonestie found in her. Frō that day forth, was Daniel had in great reputacyon in the syght of the people.

The ende of the hystorye of Susanna.

The hystorye of Bel and of the Dragon, whiche is the fourtene chapter of Daniel after the Latyne.

There was at Babilō an ymage, called Bel & there were spent vpon him euery daye twelue cakes of wheate, and .vi. great pottes of wine. Hym syd the kynge worshyp hym selfe, and went dayly to honour him: but Daniel worshypped his owne God. And the kynge sayde vnto him: Why doest not thou worship Bel? He answered: Because I maye not worshyp thynges made with handes, but the lyuynge God which made heuē and earth, & hath power vpon all flesh. The kinge sayde vnto him: thinkest thou not that Bel is a lyuynge God? Or seyst thou not, how much he eateth & drynketh euery daye? Daniel smyled and sayde: O kinge disceyue not thy selfe: this is but made of claye with in, and of metall without, neither eateth he euer any thynge. Then the kyng was wroth and called for his priestes, & sayd vnto them: Ye yf ye tell me not, who is this, that eateth vp these expences, ye shall dye: but yf ye can acquyte me, that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall dye, for he hath spoken blasphemy agaynst Bel. And Daniel sayde vnto the kinge let it be, euen as thou hast sayde. The priestes of Bel were .lx. besyde their wyues and chyldren. And the kynge went with Daniel in to the temple of Bel. So Bels priestes sayde: Lo we wyll go oute and let thou the meate there (O kynge) and poure in the wyne: then shut the doze fast, & seale it with thyne owne sygnet: and to morowe when thou commest in, yf thou fyndest not, that Bel hath eaten vp all, we wyll suffer death: or els Daniel, that hath lyed vpō vs. The priestes thought thē selues sure ynough, for vnder the aulter they had made a preuy intraunce, and there went they in euer & eate vp what there was.

So when they were gone forth, the kynge set meates before Bel. Then Daniel had cōmaunded his seruauntes to bringe asshes & there he syfted thorowout all the temple, that the kynge myght se. Then went they out, and sparred the doze, sealynge it with þ kynges sygnet, and so departed. In the night came the priestes with their wyues and chyldren (as they were wont to do) and ate and dronke vp all. In the morynge be tymes at the breake of the daye, the kynge arose, and Daniel vþ hym. And the kynge sayde: Daniel are the seales hole yet? He answered: Yea O kynge, they be hole. Now as soone as he had opened the doze, the kynge loked vnto the aulter, and cryed with a loude voyce: Greate art thou O Bel, and with thee is no disceite. Then laughed Daniel, and held the kyng, that he shold not go in, and sayd: Behold the pauement, marke well, whose foote steppes are these? The kyng sayd I se ye foote steppes of men, women and chyldren. Then the king was angry, and toke the prestes, wt their wyues and chyldren, and they shewed him the preuy dores, where they came in and ate vp such thinges as were vpon the aulter. For which cause the king slew them, and deliuered Bel in to Daniels power, which destroyed him and his temple.

And in that same place was a great dragō which they of Babilon worshipped. And the kyng sayd vnto Daniel: sayest thou, this is but a God of metal also? he lyueth, he eateth and drynketh, so that thou canst not say that he is no lyuyng God, therfore worshyp him. Daniel sayd to ye kyng: I wyl worship the Lord my God, he is the true liuing God: surely this is not the God of lyfe. But gyue me leue, o kyng, and I shall destroy this dragon without swerd or staffe. The kyng said I gyue the leue. Then Daniel toke pitch, fat and heery woll, and dyd sethe them togither and made lompes therof: this he put in the dragons mouthe, and so the dragon brast in sonder: and Daniel said: lo, here is he whō ye worshipped. When they of Babylon herd that, they toke great spyte, and gathered thē togyther agaynste the kynge, sayinge: The king is become a Iewe also, he hath destroyed Bel, he hath slayn the dragon, and put the prestes to death. So they came to the kynge, & sayd: let vs haue Daniel, or we wyll surely destroy the and thyne house. When the kyng saw, that they rushed in so sore vpon hym, & that necessitie constrayned him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them, whiche cast him in to the lyons den: where he was sire dayes. In the den were seuen lyons, and there gyuen them euery day two bodyes, and two sheepe, which then were not gyuen them, to thintent they myght deuoure Daniel.

There was in Iury a Prophet called Habacuc, whiche had made potage, and broken bread in a deepe platter, and was going in to the feld, to bryng it to the mowers. But the angel of the Lord said vnto Abacuc: go carry the meat that thou hast, in to Babylon, vnto Daniel whiche is in the lyons den. And Abacuc sayd: Lord, I neuer saw Babylon: and the den I know not. Then the aungel of the Lord take him by the top, and bare hym by the heere of the heed, and (thorow a myghty wynde) set hym in Babylon vpon the denne. And Abacuc cryed, saying: O Daniel ye seruaunt of God, haue, take the breakefast that God hath sent the. And Daniel said, O God hast thou thought vpon me? wel, thou neuer fayleth them that loue the. So Daniel arose, and ate: and the aungell of the Lord set Habacuc in his owne place agayn forthwith.

Upon the seuenth daye, the kyng went to bewepe Daniel: & when he came to the den, he looked in: and beholde Daniel sate in the myddest of the lyons. Then cryed the kynge with a loude voyce, saying: Great art thou o Lord God of Daniel: and he drewe hym out of the den. Then those ye were the cause of his destruction he dyd cast in to the den, and they were strayght deuoured before his face. After this wrote the kyng vnto all people, kynredes and tunges, that dwelte in all countreys, saying: peax be multiplied with you. My cōmaundement is, in all the dominion of my realme, that men feare and stand in awe of Daniels God, for he is the lyuyng God, whiche endureth euer: his kyngdome abydeth vncorrupte, and his power is euerlastynge. He is he that can deliuer and saue: he dothe wonders and maruelous workes in heuen and in earth, for he hath saued Daniel frō the power of the Lyons.

O Lorde almyghty, God of oure fathers: Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: and of ꝑ ryghteous seed of the: whiche hast made heuen & earth with al the furniture therof, which hast ordeyned the see by the word of thy commaundement: whiche hast shutte vp the depe, and hast sealed it for thy fearfull and laudable name, whiche all men feare, and tremble before the face of thy vertue, and for the anger of thy threatenyng, whiche is importable to synners. But the mercye of thy promyse is greate and vnsercheable: for thou art the Lord God most hygh above all the erth, longe sufferyng, and of greate mercy full, and repentaunce for the malyce of men. Thou Lorde after thy goodnesse hast promysed repentaunce of the remission of synnes: and thou ꝑ art the God of the ryghteous hast not put repentaunce to ꝑ ryghteous, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, vnto them that haue not synned agaynst the: But because I haue synned above the nombre of the sandes of the see, and that myne iniquities are multiplyed, I am humbled with manye bandes of yron, and there is in me no breathyng. I haue prouoked thyne anger, & haue done euyll before the, in commyttyng abhominacions and multiplying offences. And now I bow the knees of my hert, requyryng good nesse of the, o Lorde. I haue synned Lorde, I haue synned, and knowe myne iniquitie. I desyre the by prayer. o Lorde forgyue me: forgyue me, and destroye me not with myne iniquities, neither do thou alwayes remembre myne euils to punish them, but saue me (whiche am vnworthy) after thy great mercye, & I will prayse the euerlastyngly, all the dayes of my lyfe, for all the vertue of heauen prayseth the, and vnto the belongeth glorye worlde without ende. THE FYRST BOKE OF THE MACHABEES.

¶ After the death of Alexander kynge of Macedonia, Antiochus taketh the kyngdome. Many of the chyldren of Israel make couenaunte with the Gentyles. Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Jerusalem. Jerusalem beynge burnt maketh lawes of her owne, and forbyddeth to kepe Gods lawes. Antiochus setteth vp an Idol ouer the altare of God.

CAPI. I.

AFter that Alexãder the son of Philip, kinge of Macedonia wente forth of the land of Cethim, and slew Darius kyng of ꝑ Persians and Medes: It happened ꝑ he tooke greate warres in hand, wan very many stronge cities, and slewe many kynges of the earth: goyng thorow to the endes of the worlde, and gettyng many spoyles of ꝑ people: In so moch ꝑ the worlde stode in greate awe of hym, and therfore was proude in his herte. Now when he had gathered a mygthy hoste, and subdued the landes and the people with they⁹ princes, so that they became tributaryes vnto hym: he fell sycke. And when he perceyued, that he muste nedes dye, he called for his noble estates (whiche hadde ben brought vp with hym of chyldren) & parted his kyngdome amonges them, whyle he was yet alyue. So Alexander raygned. xii. yere, and then dyed.

After his deth fell the kyngdome vnto his princes, & they obteyned it euerye one in his rowme, and caused the selues to be crowned as kinges: and so did their childrẽ after thẽ many yeres, and moch wickednes increased in the worlde. Out of these came the vngracious rote, nobie Antiochus, the son of Antiochus ꝑ king (which had bẽ a pledge at Rome) and he raygned in the. CXXXVII. yeare of the raigne of the Grekes.

In those dayes wente there oute of Israel wycked men, whiche moued moche people with they⁹ counsell, sayinge: Let vs go and make a couenaunt with the heathen that are round about vs, for sithens we departed frõ them, we haue hadde moche sorowe. So this deuyce pleased them well, and certeyn of the people toke vpon them to go vnto the kyng, which gaue them lycence to do after the ordinaũce of the heathen. Then set they vp an open scole (at Jerusalem) of the lawes of the heathen, and were no more circumcised, but forsoke the holy testamẽt, & ioyned them selues to the heathen, and were clene sold to mischiefe.

So when Antiochus began to be myghtye in his kyngdome, he wente aboute to obteyn the land of Egypt also, that he myghte haue the dominion of two realmes. Upon this entred he in to Egypte with a stronge hoste, with with charettes, elephantes, horsemen, and a great nombre of shyppes, and began to war agayust Ptolomy the kynge of Egypt. But Ptolomy was afrayd of him, and fled: and many of his people were wounded to death. Thus Antiochus won many strong cities, & toke awaye greate good oute of the lande of Egypte.

And after that Antiochus had smytten Egypt, he turned agayne in the. Cxlix. yere, & went towarde Israel, and came vp to Jerusalem wt a mighty people, and entred proudly in to the Sanctuary, and toke awaye the golden aulter, the candelstyche, & all the ornamentes therof, the table of ꝑ shewbred, the pouring vessel, the chargers, the golden spones, the vale, the crownes & golden apparell of the temple, and brake downe all. He toke also the syluer and gold, the precious iewels and the secrete treasures that he found. And when he hadde taken awaye all, he caused a greate murther of men, and so fulfylled his malicious pride, and departed in to his owu lande.

Thus arose great heuynesse and misery in all ꝑ land of Israel. The princes and elders of the people mourned, the yong men and the maydes were defyled, and the fayre beautye of women was chaunged: the bridegrome and the bryde toke them to mournynge: the lande and those that dwelte therin was moued, for all the house of Jacob was brought to nought.

After two yeres the kynge sente his chiefe treasurer vnto the cytyes of Juda, whiche came to Jerusalem with a greate multitude of people, speakynge peaceable wordes vnto them, but all was disceyte: for when they had gyuen him credence, he fel sodenly vpō the citye, and smote it sore, & destroyed moch people of Israell. And when he had spoyled the citye, he set fyre on it, castynge downe houses and walles on euery syde. The women and theyr children toke they captyue, and ledde awaye theyr catel. Then buylded they the castell of Dauid with a greate and thycke wall, and with myghty towres, and made it a stronge holde for them. Besyde all this, they set wycked people, & vngodly men to kepe it, stored it with weapons and vitayles, gathered the goodes of Jerusalem, and layd them vp there: thus became it a theuish castell.

And this was done to laye wayte for ꝑ people that went in to the Sanctuarye, and for the cruell destruction of Israel. Thus they shed innocent blond on euery syde of the sanctuary, and defiled it: In so moche that the citizins were fayne to departe, and the city became an habitacion of straungers, beinge desolate of her owne seed, for her owne nacions were fayne to leaue her. Her Sanctuary was clene wasted, her holy dayes were turned in to mournyng, her Sabothes were had in derision, & her honour brought to nought. Loke how gret her glory was afore, so gret was her confusion, and her ioye turned in to sorowe.

Antiochus also the kyng sent out a cōmission vnto all his kyngdome, that all the people shulde be one. Then they lefte euery man his lawe, and all the heathen agreed to the commaundement of kynge Antiochus: Yea, many of the Israelytes consented therunto, offring vnto ydols, & defilinge the Saboth. So the kynge Antiochus sent his messengers with his commyssyon vnto Jerusalem, and to all the cityes of Juda, that they shulde folowe the lawes of the heathen, and forbade eyther burntoffring, meatoffrynge or peaceoffrynge to be made in the temple of God, and that there shulde no Sabothe ne hye feast daye be kepte: but commaunded ꝑ the Sanctuary, and the holy people of Israel shulde be defyled.

He commaunded also there shuld be set vp other aulters, temples and ydols: to offer vp swynes flesh and other vncleue beastes, that men shulde leue theyr children vncircumcised, to defyle theyr soules with all maner of vnclennesse and abhominacions, ꝑ they might so forget the law, and chaunge al the holy ordinaunces of God: and ꝑ who so euer wold not do accordynge to the commaundemente of kyng Antiochus, shuld suffre deth: In lyke maner commaunded he throwe oute all his realme, and set rulers ouer the people, for to compell them to do these thynges, commaundynge the cityes of Juda to do sacrifyce vnto ydolles.

Then went the people vnto the heathen by heapes, forsoke the lawe of the Lord, and cōmitted moch euil in the land: yea and chased out the secrete Israelites, which had hyd the selues in corners and priuy places. The xv. daye of the moneth Casleu, in the. Cxlv. yere, set kyng Antiochus an abhominable ydoll of desolacion vpon the aulter of God, & they buylded aulters throwe out all the cytyes of Juda on euery syde, before the dores of the houses, and in the stretes, where they brent incense and did sacrifice. And the bokes of the law of God, they brent them in ꝑ fyre, and rent them in peces. What so euer he was that had a boke of the testament of the Lord founde by hym: yea who so euer endeuoured hym selfe to kepe the lawe of the Lorde, the kynges cōmaundement was, that they shuld put hym to death. And throwe his auctorite they executed these thynges euerye moneth, vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cityes.

The fyue and twenty daye of the moneth what tyme as they did sacrifice vpon the aulter (which stode in the syde of the aulter of ꝑ Lord) accordyng to the commaundement of kyng Antiochus, they put certeyn women to death, which hadde caused theyr children to be circumcised: Not only that, but they hanged vp the children by the neckes throwe out all theyr houses, and slewe the circumcisers of them.

Yet were ther many of the people of Israel whiche determined in them selues, that they wold not eat vncleue thyng, but chose rather to suffre deth, the to be defiled with vncleue meater. So bicause they wolde not breke the blessed law of God, they were cruelly slayn. And this great tyranny encreased verye sore vpon the people of Israel.

¶ The mourning of Mathathiah and his sonnes, for the destruction of the holy cyte. They refuse to do sacrifice vnto Idols. The zele of Mathathiah for the lawe of God. They are slayne and will not fyght agayne because of the Sabboth daye. Mathathiah dyinge commaundeth his sonnes to fyght by the worde of God, after the exemple of the fathers.

CAPI. II.

A IN those dayes there did stand vp one Mathathiah the sonne of Symeon the preeste (out of the kinred of Joarib) from Jerusalem, and dwelt vpon the mount of Modin, & had .v. sonnes: Jhon called Gaddis Symon called Thassi: Judas otherwyse called Machabeus: Eleazer, otherwyse called Charō: and Jonathas, whose surname was Apphus. These sawe the cuyl that was done amonge the people of Juda and Jerusalem. And Mathathiah sayd: Wo is me, alas þ euer I was borne, to se this misery of my people, and the pitious destructiō of the holy city, and thus to syt so stil, it being deliuered in to the handes of the enemies. Her Sanctuary is come in to the power of straungers, her temple is as it were a man þ hath lost his good name. Her precious ornamentes are caryed awaye captyue, her olde mē are slayne in the stretes and her yong men are fallē thorow þ sword of the enemyes.

What people is it that hath not some possession in her kyngdome? Or who hathe not gotten some of her spoyles? All her glorye is taken awaye. She was a quene, and nowe she is become an handmayde. Beholde ourre Sanctuarye, ourre beautie and honoure is wasted awaye, and defyled by the Gentyles. What helpeth it vs the to lyue? And Mathathiah rent his clothes and his lōnes, and put sackecloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

B Then came the men thyther whiche were sent of kyng Antiochus to compell suche as were fled in to the citye of Modin, for to do sacrifice and to burne incense vnto ydols, & to forsake the lawe of God. So many of the people of Israel cōsented and enclined vnto them, but Mathathiah & his sonnes remayned stedfast. Then spake the commissioners of king Antiochus, and said vnto Mathathiah: thou art a noble man of high reputacion and great in this city, hauing fayre children and brethren. Come thou therfore fyrst, and and fulfil the kynges commaundement, like as all the Heathen haue done, yea & the mē of Juda, and such as remayne at Jerusalem: so shalt þ and thy children be in the kynges fauour, and enriched with gold, siluer, & great rewardes.

Mathathiah aunswered and spake with a loude voyce: Though all nacions obeye the kynge Antiochus, and fall awaye euery man frō keping the law of their fathers: though they consente to his commaundementes, yet wyl I & my sonnes and my brethren, not fall from the law of our fathers. God forbid we shold, that were not good for vs, þ we sholde forsake the law and ordinaūces of God, and to agre vnto the commaundement of kynge Antiochus. Therfore we will do no suche sacrifice, neither breake þ statutes of our law, to go an other waye. And when he had spoke these wordes, there came one of the Jewes, which openly in the sighte of all, dyd sacrifice vnto the ydols vpon the aulter in the citye of Modyn, accordyng to the kinges commaundement.

Whē Mathathiah saw this, it greued him at the hert, so that his raynes shoke withall, C and his wrath kindled for very zele of þ law. With that he gaue a skyp forthe, and kylled the Jewe beside the aulter: yea and slew the kynges commissioner, that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the aulter at the same time, such a zele had he vnto the law of God, lyke as Phinehes dyd vnto Zambry þ sonne of Salomi. And Mathathiah cryed D with a loud voyce thorow the city, saying: Who so is feruent in the law, & will kepe the couenaunt, let him folow me. So he & his sonnes fled in to the mountaynes, and lefte all that euer they had in the city. Many other godly men also departed in to the wildernes with their children, their wyues and their catel, and remayned there, the tyranny increased so sore vpon them.

Nowe when the kynges seruauntes and D the hoste, whiche was at Jerusalem in the citye of Dauid herde that certayne men had broken the kynges commaundement, and were gone they? waye to the wyldernesse in to secrete places, and that there were many departed after them: they folowed vpō them to fyghte agaynste them in the Saboth daye, and sayd: Wyl ye yet rebell? Get you hence, and do the commaundement of kynge Antiochus, and ye shall lyue. They answered: we wyll not goo forthe, neyther wyll we doo the kynges commaundement, to defyle the Saboth daye. Then began they to fyght agaynst them, neuertheles they gaue them none other answere, neyther caste they one stone at them, nor made fast they? priuy places, but sayd: We wyl dye all in our innocency, heuen and erth shal testify with vs, that ye put vs to death wrongfully. Thus they fought against them vpon the Saboth, and slewe both men and catell, their wyues and they? children, to the nombre of a thousande people.

When Mathathiah and his frendes herde E this, they mourned for them ryghte sore, and sayd one to an other: Yf so be þ we al do as our brethre haue done, and fight not for our liues and for our lawes agaynst þ Heathen: then shall they the sooner roote vs oute of the erth. So they concluded amonges them selues at the same tyme, saying: What so euer he be that commeth to make battayle with vs is vpon the Saboth daye, we wyll fyght a-gainst him, and not dye al, as our brethren, ꝑ were murthered so heynously. Upō this cam the Synagoge of ꝑ Jewes vnto the, stronge men of Israel, all such as were feruent in the lawe. And all they that were fled for persecucion, came to helpe them, and to stande by them: In so moch that they gathered an host of men, and slewe the wycked doers in theyr gelousy, and the vngodly mē in their wrath. Some of the wyched fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

Thus Mathathias and his frendes went about, and destroyed the aulters, and circumcised the chyldrē, that had not yet receyued circumcision: as manye as they founde within the coostes of Israell: and folowed mightely vpon the chyldren of pryde, and this acte prospered in theyr handes: In so moche that they kepte the lawe agaynste the power of the Gentyles and the kynges, and gaue not ouer theyr domynyon vnto wycked doers.

After this, when the tyme drewe on fast, ꝑ Mathathias shold dye, he said vnto his sonnes: Now is pryde and persecucion increased: now is the tyme of destruction & wrathful displeasure: wherfore (o my sōnes) be ye feruent in the law, & ieopard your lyues for the testament of the fathers: call to remembraunce what actes our fathers dyd in their tyme, so shall ye receyue great honourr, and an euerlastyng name.

Remembre Abraham, was not he founde faithful in temptacion, and it was reckened vnto him for righteousnes? Joseph in time of his trouble, kepte the commaundement, and was made a lorde of Egypte. Phinches our father was so feruēt for the honour of God, that he obteyned the couenaunt of an euerlastyng priesthode. Josue for fulfyllynge the worde of God, was made the capitayne of Israel. Caleb bare recorde before the congregacion, and receyued an heritage. David also in his mercyfull kyndnesse, obteyned ꝑ trone of an euerlastynge kyngdome. Eliab beinge gelous and feruent in the law, was taken vp in to heuen. Ananias Azarias and Misael, remayned stedfast in fayth, and were deliuered oute of the fyre. In lyke maner Daniel beinge vngilty, was saued from the mouth of the lyons.

And thus ye maye consyder throughout all ages sithens the worlde began, that who so euer put their trust i God were not ouercom. Feare not ye then the wordes of an vngodly man, for his glory is but dong & wormes: to daye is he set vp, and to morowe is he gone: for he is turned in to erth, and his memorial is come to nought. Wherfore, o my sonnes, take good hertes vnto you, & quyte your selues like men in the law: for ye ye do the thinges that are commaunded you in the lawe of the Lorde your God, ye shal obteyn great honour therin.

And behold, I know that your brother Symon is a man of wisdom, se that ye giue care vnto him alway, he shalbe a father vnto you

As for Judas Machabeus, he hath ben mighty and stronge, from his youth vp: let him be your capitayn, & order the battell of ꝑ people: thus shal ye bring vnto you al those that fauour the law, & se ye auenge ꝑ wrong of your people, and recompence the heathen agayne, and apply your selues hole to the cō maundemēt of the law. So he gaue them his blessing, and was layde by his fathers: and died in the. C. & xlvi. yere at Modin, where his sōnes buried him in his fathers sepulcre, and all Israell made greate lamentacion for hym.

¶ Judas is made ruler ouer the Jewes. He hyreth Apollonius and Seron the prynce of Syria. The confydence of Judas toward God. Judas determyneth to fyght agaynst Gallias, whom Antiochus had made captayne ouer his hoost. The prayer of the abstayners.

CAPI. III.

Then stode vp Judas Machabeus in his fathers stede, and all his brethren helped him: and so dyd al they that helde with his father, & fought with cheerefulnesse for Israel. So Judas gat his people great honour: he put on a brestplate as a gyaunt, and arayed hym self with his harnesse, and defended the host with his swerde. In his actes he was lyke a lyon, & as a lyons whelp roryng at his pray. he was an enemy to the wicked, and hunted them out, and brent vp those that vexed his people: so that his enemies fled for feare of him, and all the workers of vngodlynesse were put to trouble, suche lucke and prosperitie was in his hand. This greued diuers kinges, but Jacob was greatly reioyced thorow his actes, and he gat him self a great name for euer.

Psalme. xxxvi. Eccle. xlvi.

He went thorow the cities of Juda, destroying the vngodly out of them, turning away the wrath from Israel, and receyuyng suche as were oppressed: & the fame of him went vnto the vttermost parte of the erth. Then Apollonius (a prince of Siria) gathered a migh tye great hoste of the heathen, and out of Samaria, to fyght agaynst Israel, which when Judas perceyued, he went forth to mete him, fought with him, slewe him, and a great multitude with him: the remnaunte fled, and he tooke their substaunce. Judas also toke Apollonius owne swerde, and fought with it all his lyfe longe.

Apollonius

Now when Seron (an other prince of Siria) herde saye, that Judas had gathered vnto hym the congregacion and churche of the faythful, he said: I will get me a name and a prayse thorow out the realme, for I will go fyght with Judas, and them that are with hym, as manye as haue despysed the kynges commaundement. So he made him redye, and there went with hym a greate mighty hoste of the vngodlye to stande by hym, and to be auenged of the chyldren of Israel. And when they came nye vnto Bethoron, Judas went forth agaynst them with a small company. And when his people sawe such a great hoste before theym, they sayde vnto Judas: How are we able (beinge so fewe) to fyght against so great a multitude and so stronge? seing we be so wery, and haue fasted all this daye.

1.Mcg.xiii.a But Judas sayde: It is a small mater for many to be ouercome with few: yea there is no differrence to the God of heuen, to deliuer by a great multitude or by a smal company: 2.Para.xx.b for the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strengthe commeth from heuen. Beholde, they come a- C gaynst vs with a presumptuous and proude multitude, to destroye vs, oure wyues and oure children, and to robbe vs. But we wyl fyght for our lyues, and for our lawes, and the Lorde hym selfe shall destroye them before our face: therfore be not ye afrayde of them.

As sone as he had spoken these wordes, he lept sodeynly vpon them. Thus was Heron smytten, and his hoste put to flyght. and Judas folowed vpon them beyonde Bethoron vnto the playn feld, where there were slayne eyght hundred men of them, and the residue fled in to the land of the Philistines. Then all the heathen on euery syde were afrayde for Judas and his brethren: so that the rumour of him came vnto the kinges eares, for all the Gentyles couldе tell of the warres of Judas. Heron

D So when kyng Antiochus herde these tydinges, he was angry in his mynde: wherfore he sent forth and gathered an host of his hole realme, very strong armyes, and opened his treasury and gaue his host a yeres wages in hande, commaundynge them to be redye at all tymes.

Neuertheles when he sawe that there was not money ynoughe in his treasuryes, & that thorow the discorde and persecucion, which he made in the lande (to put downe the lawes that hadde ben of olde tymes) his customes and trybutes of the lande were mynyshed: he feared that he was not able for to beare the costes and charges any longer, nor to haue suche gyftes, to gyue so lyberally as he dyd afore, more then the kinges that were before him.

1.Macha.v.a Wherfore he was heuy in his mynde, and thought to go in to Persides for to take tributes of ye land, & so to gather moch money. Lisias. He left Lysias (a noble man of the kinges bloud) to ouersee the kinges busines, from the water Euphrates, vnto ye borders of Egypt, and to kepe wel his son Antiochus, tyl he came agayne.

Moreouer he gaue hym halfe of his hoste, E and Elephantes. committed vnto him euery thyng of his mynde, concerning those which dwelt in Juda and Jerusalem, that he shulde sende out an armye agaynst them, to destroy and to rote out the power of Israel, and the remnaunte of Jerusalem: to put oute their memorial from that place, to set straungers for to inhabyte all their quarters, and to parte their lande amonges them. Thus the kyng toke the other part of the host, and departed from Antioch (a citye of his realme) ouer the water of Euphrates, in the hundred and. xl. yere, and went thorowe the hygh countreys. Joh.xi. lii.Para.

And Lysias chose vnto hym Ptolomy the sonne of Dorimus, Nicanor, and Gorgias myghty men, and the kinges frendes. These he sent with. xl. thousande fotemen, and. vii. thousande horsemen, for to go in to the land of Juda, and to destroy it, as the kyng commaunded. So they went forth with all their power, & came to Emmaus in to the playne feilde. When the marchauntes herde the rumour of them, they and their seruauntes toke very moch syluer and gold, for to bie the children of Israel to be their bondemen. There came vnto them also yet moo men of warre out of euery syde, oute of Syria, and frome the Palestines. ii.Mach.

Now when Judas and his brethren sawe F that trouble increased, & that the hoste drewe nye vnto the borders, considerynge the kynges wordes which he commaunded vnto the people: namelye, that they shulde vtterlye waste and destroye them. They sayde one to an other. Let vs redresse the decaye of oure people, let vs fight for our folke, and for our Sanctuarye. Then the congregacion were soone redye gathered to fyght, to praye, and to make supplicacion vnto God for mercy & grace.

As for Jerusalem, it laye voyde, and was as it hadde ben a wyldernesse. There went: G.Mach. no man in nor out at it, and the Sanctuarye was troden downe. The aleauntes kept the castle there was the habitacion of the heathen. The myrth of Jacob was taken away, the pype and the harpe was gone frō among them.

The Israelytes gathered them togyther, and came to Maspha before Jerusalē: for in Maspha was the place where they praied afore tyme. So they fasted that daye, and put sackeclothes vpon them, caste asshes vpon their heades, rente their clothes, and layde forthe the bokes of the lawe (wherevnto the heathen sought the lykenesse of their ymages (and brought the Priestes ornamentes the firstlinges and the tithes. They set there also the aduauncers (whiche hadde fulfylled their dayes) before God, and cryed with a loude voyce towarde heuen, sayinge: What shall we doo with these? and whyther shall we carye them awaye? for the Sanctuarye is troden downe and defyled, thy priestes H are come to heuynesse dishonoure: and beholde the heathen are come togyther for to destroye vs. Thou knowest what thynges they ymagin agaynst vs. How may we stand before them, except thou, o God, be oure helpe?

They blewe oute the trompet also with a loude voyce. Then Judas ordeyned Capytaynes ouer the people: ouer thousades, ouer hundredes, ouer fyftye, and ouer ten. But as for suche as buylded them houses, maryed wyues, planted them vyneyardes, and those that that were fearful: he commaunded them euery man to go home, accordynge to the lawe. So the hoost remoued, and pitched vpon the southside of Emmaus.

And Judas sayde: Arme your selues, be stronge (O my children) make you readye against to morow in the morning, that ye may fyght with these people, whiche are agreed togyther to destroye vs and oure sanctuarye. Better is it for vs to dye in battayle, then to se our people and our sanctuary in such a miserable case. Neuertheles, as the wyll is in heauen, so be it.

¶ Judas goeth against Gorgias, whiche lyeth in wayte. He putteth Gorgias and his hoost to flyght. Lisias inuadeth Jewrye, but Judas dryueth him out. Judas purifyeth the temple, and dedycateth the altare.

CAPI. IIII.

THen toke Gorgias fyue thousande men of fote, and a thousande of ye best horsmen: and remoued by nyght, to come nye where the Jewes hoost laye, and so to slaye them sodenly. Now the men that kepte the castell, were the conueyers of them. Then arose Judas to smyte the chyef and principal of the kynges hoost at Emmaus, for the army was not yet come togyther. In ye mene season came Gorgias by nyght in to Judas tentes: and when he founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaynes, thoughe they had bene fled away by cause of hym. But when it was daye, Judas shewed hym selfe in the felde with thre thousande men onlye, whiche hath neither harnesse ne sweardes to their mynds.

But on the other syde, they sawe that the heythen were myghtye and well harnessed, and their horsmen about them, and all these well experte in feates of warre. Then sayde Judas to the men that were with him: Feare not ye the multitude of them, be not afrayed of their byolente rummynge: remembre howe oure fathers were deliuered in the reed see, when Pharao threatened them with a great hoost. Euen so let vs also crye now towarde heauen: and the Lorde shall haue mercy vpon vs, and remembre the couenaūt of our fathers, yea and destroye this hoost before oure face this daye: And all the heythen shall knowe that it is God him selfe, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

Then the heythen lyft vp their eyes: and when they sawe that they were commynge against them, they went out of their tentes in to the battyle: and they that were with Judas, blewe vp the trompettes. So they buckled togyther, and the heythen were discomfyted, and fled ouer the playne felde: but the hynmost of theym were slayne. For they followed vpon them vnto Asseremoth, and in to the feldes of Joumea, towarde Azot and Jamnia: so that there were slayne of them vpon a thre thousande men. So Judas turned agayne with his hoost, and sayd vnto the people: Be not gredy of the spoyles, we haue yet a battayle to fyghte: for Gorgias and his hoost are here by vs in the mountaynes, but stande ye fast agaynste our enemyes, and ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.

As Judas was speakynge these wordes, there appeared one parte of them vpon the mount. But when Gorgias sawe that they of his partye were fled, and the tentes burnte vp (for by the smoke they myght understand what was done) they perceyuynge this, were very sore afrayde: and when they sawe also that Judas and his hoste were in the felde ready to stryke battayle, they fled euerychone in to the landes of the heathen.

So Judas turned agayne to spoyle the tentes, where they gat moch golde and syluer, precious stones, purple, and greate ryches. thus they went home and songe a psalme of thankesgeuynge and prayed God in heauen for he is gracyous, and his mercye endureth for euer: And so Israel had a great victorye in that daye. Psa. cxvii. Psal. cxxviii. a Nowe all the heathen that escaped, came and tolde Lisias euery thyng as it happened. Wherfore Lisias was sore afrayed and grieued in his mynde, bycause Israel had not gotten suche mysfortune as he wolde they shuld neither as the kynge commaunded. The next yere folowynge, gathered Lisias thre score thousande chosen men, of fote, & fyue thousande horsmen to fyght agaynste them. Lisias.

So they came in to Jewrye, and pitched their tentes at Bethoro, where Judas came agaynste them with ten thousande men. And when he sawe so greate myghtye an hoost, he made his prayers and sayde: Blessed be thou (O sauyoure of Israel) whiche dyddest destroye the byolent power of the gyaunte, in the hand of thy seruaunt David, and gauest the hoost of the heathen into the hand of Jonathas (the sonne of Saul) and of his weapō bearer. 1. Reg. xvii. g iiii. Re. xiiii. b

Put this hoost now into the hande of thy people of Israel, and let theym be confounded in their multytude of horsmen. Make them afrayed, and dicomfort the boldnes of their strength, that they maye be moued therowe their destruction. Cast them downe therowe the swearde of thy louers, then shall all they that knowe thy name, praise the with thankesgyuynge.

So they stroke the battayle, & there were slayne of Lisias hoost, fyue thousande men. Then Lisias seyng the discomfetynge of his men, and the manynes of the Jewes, howe they were ready, either to lyue or to dye lyke men: he went vnto Antioch and chose oute men of warre: that when they were gathered togyther, they myght come agayne in to Jewry. Then sayde Judas and his brethren: beholde oure enemyes are discomfited: Let vs nowe go vp, to clense and repayre the Sanctuarye. The Sanctuary repayred.

Upon this all the hoste gathered theym togyther, and went vp vnto mounte Syon. Nowe when they sawe the Sanctuary layd waste 1. Mac. 4 waste, the altare defyled, the dores brent vp, the shrubbes growyng in the courtes, lyke as in a wod, or vpon mountaynes, yea and that the prestes Celles were broken downe: They rent theyr clothes, made great lamentacyon, cast asshes vpon theyr heades, fell downe flat to the grounde, made a great noyse with the trompettes, and cryed towarde heauen.

Then Judas appoynted certayne men to fyght agaynst these which were in the castel, tyll they had clensed the Sanctuary. So he chose prestes that were vnblemished, such as had pleasure in the lawe of God: and they clensed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defyled stones, in to an vncleane place. And for so moche as the altare of burntoffrynges was vnhalowed, he toke aduysement, what he myght do with all: so he thought it was best to destroye it (lest it should happen to brynge any shame) for the Heathen had defyled it, and therfore they brake it downe. Yea for the stones they layed them vp vpon the mountayne, by the house in a conuenyent place: tyll there came a prophete to shewe, what should be done with them.

So they toke hole stones accordyng to the lawe, and buylded a newe altare, lyke one as was before, & made vp the Sanctuary within and without, and halowed the courtes. They made newe ornamentes, and brought the candelsticke, the altare of incense, and the table in to the temple. The incense layed they vpon the altare, and lyghted the lampes which were vpon the candelstycke, that they myght burne in the temple. They set the shewbred vpon the table, and hanged vp the vaile, and set vp the temple as it was afore. And vpon the.xxv. daye of the nynth moneth, whiche is called the moneth of Casleu, in the.cxlviii. yere: they rose vp bytymes in the morninge for to do sacrifyce (accordyng to the lawe vpō) the newe burntoffryng altare, that they had made: after the tyme and stede that the Heithen had defiled it. The same daye was it set vp agayne, with songes, pypes, harpes, and cymbales.

And at the same tyme buylded they vp the mount Syon, with hygh walles and strange towres round about: lest the Gentyles shuld

¶ Judas vanquysheth the heathen that go about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Symon and Jonathas. he ouerthroweth the cytye of Ephron, because they denyed hym passage thorow it.

CAPI. V.

IT happened also that when the heathen rounde about herde, howe that the aulter and the Sanctuary were set vp in theyr olde estate: it displeased theym verye sore wherfore they thought to destroye the generacion of Jacob that was amonges them: Insomoche that they began to slaye and to persecute certayne of the people. Then Judas fought agaynst the chyldren of Esau in Idumea, and agaynst thole which were at Arabathane (for they dwelt rounde about the Israelites) where he slewe and spoyled a great multytude of them. He thought also vpon the malyce and vnfaythfulnes of the chyldē of Beā, how they were a snare and stoppe vnto the people, an howe they layed wayte for them in the hygh waye wherfore he shut them vp in to towres, and came vnto them, condemned them, and brent vp them towres with all that were in them.

After warde went he agaynst the chyldē of Ammon, whereof he founde a myghtye power, and a greate multytude of people, with Timothy theyr captayne. So he stroke many battayles with them, whiche were destroyed before hym. And when he had slayne them, he wan Gasar the cyte, with the townes belōgyng thervnto, and so turned agayne vnto Jewry. The Heathen also in Galaad gathered them togyther, agaynst the Israelytes that were in their quarters to slay them: but they fled to the castel of Datheman, and sent letters vnto Judas and his brethren, sayinge:
The heathen are gathered agaynst vs on
every syde, to destroye vs, and now they make them for to come, and laye syege to the castell whervnto we are fled, and Timothy is the captayne of theyr hoste, come therfore and delyuer vs out of their handes: for there is a greate multytude of vs slayne al readye. Yea and our brethren that were at Tubin, are slayne and destroyed (well nygh a thousande men) and their wyues, theyr chyldren & theyr goodes haue the enemyes ledde awaye captyue.

Whyle these letters were yet a redynge, behold, there came other messengers frome Galile, with rent clothes, whiche tolde euen the same tydynges, and sayde, that they of Ptolomaus, of Tirus and of Sidon were gathered agaynst them, and that all Galyle was fylled with enemyes to destroye Israel. When Judas and the people herde this, they came togyther (a greate congregacyon) to counsyle, what they myght do for their brethren, that were in trouble and besieged of theyr enemyes mite. And Judas sayd vnto Symon his brother: chose the out certayne men, and go deliuer thy brethren in Galilee: As for me and my brother Jonathas, we wyl go in to Galaadithim. So he lefte Josephus the sonne of Zacharye, and Azarias to be Captaynes of the people, and to kepe the remnaunt of the hoost in Jewrye, and commaunded them, sayinge: Take the ouersyght of this people, & se that ye make no warre agaynst the Heythen, vntyll the tyme that we come agayne. And vnto Symon he gaue thre thousande men, for to go into Galilee, but Judas him selfe had eyght thousande in Galaadithim.

L Then wente Symon in to Galilee, and stroke bruers batayles with the heythē: who be discomfyted, and folowed vpon them vnto the porte of Ptolomais. And there were slayne of the Heythen almost thre thousande men. So he toke the spoyles of them, and caryed awaye the Israelytes, that were in Galilee and Arbatis, with theyr wyues, theyr chyldren, and all that they had, and brought them in to Jewry with greate gladnesse. Judas Machabeus also and his brother Jonathas, went ouer Jordane, and trauayled thre dayes iourney in the wylderneße: Where the Nabuthees met them, and receyued them louyngly, and tolde them euery thyng that had happened vnto theyr brethren in Galaadithim, and how that many of them were besieged in Barasa, Boser, Alimis, Casphor, Maageth & Carnaim (al these are strong walled & myghtye greate cytyes.) and that they were kept in other cytyes of Galaad also: and tomorow they are appoynted to bryng their hoost vnto these cytyes, to take them and to wynne them in one daye.

So Judas and his hoost turned in all the haste in the wylderneße towarde Boser, and wan the cytye, slewe all the males with the swearde, toke all theyr goodes, and set fyre vpon the cytye. And in the nyght they toke theyr iourneye from thence, and came to the castell. And bytymes in the morninge when they loked vp, behelde, there was an innumerable people, bearynge laders & other instrumentes of warre, to take the castell and to ouercome them.

When Judas sawe that the battayle began, and that the noyse therof wente vp and range in to the heauē, and that there was so great a cry in the cytie: He sayd vnto his hoost: fyght this day for your brethren. And so came behinde their enemyes in thre companies, and blew the trompettes, and cryed in their prayer to God.

But as soone as Timothis hoost perceyued that Machabeus was there, they fled from hym, and the other slewe them downe right fore: so that there were kylled of them that same day, almost eyght thousande men. Then departed Judas vnto Malpha, layed syege vnto it and wan it, slew al the males in it, spoyled it, and set fyre vpō it. From thence D went he & toke Casbon, Magetb, Boser, and the other cytes in Galaad.

After this gathered Tymothy an other people, which pitched their tentes before Raphon beyond the water. Judas sente to spye the hoost, and they brought hym word agayne sayinge: All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto hym, & the hoost is very great: yea they have hyred the Arabians to helpe them, and have pitched tentes beyonde the water, and are redy to come and fyght agaynst the. So Judas wente on to mete them.

And Timothy sayde vnto the captaynes of his hoost: when Judas and his hoost come nygh the ryuer: yf he go ouer fyrst, we shall not be able to withstande hym: for why, he wyll be to stronge for vs. But yf he dare not come ouer so that he pitch his tente beyonde the water: then wyll we go ouer, for we shall be stronge ynough agaynst hym. Now as soone as Judas came to the ryuer he appoynted certayne scribes of the people, and commaunded them, sayinge: se that ye leue none behind vpō this syde of ꝑ ryuer, but let euerye man come to the battayle. So he went fyrst ouer vnto them and his people after hym.

And all the heathen were discomfited before hym, and let their weapons fal, and ran in to the temple that was at Carnaim. Which Carnaim cytye Judas wan, and brent the temple with all that were in it: So was Carnaim subdued and myght not withstande Judas. Then Judas gathered al the Israelites that were in Galaadithim, frō the leest vnto the most, with their wiues and their chyldren (a very greate hoost) for to come in to the lande of Israel.

So they came vnto Ephron, whiche was E a myghtye, greate and stronge cytye and laye in their ware. For they could not goo by it, neither of the right hande ne of the left, but must go thorowe it. Neuertheles they that were in the cyty, wold not let the go thorow but walled vp the portes with stones. And Judas sent vnto them ꝑ peaceable wordes, sayinge: Let vs passe thorow youre lande, ꝑ we maye go in to oure owne countrey: there shall no hurte be ye harme, we wyll but only go thorow. But they wold not let the in.

Wherfore Judas commaunded a proclaymacion to be made thorow out the hoost, that euery man shulde kepe his ayde: and so they byd their best lyke valyaunt men.

And Judas besieged the cyty all that daye and all that nyght, and so wan it: where they slewe as manye as were males, and destroyed the cytye and spoyled it, and wente thorowe all the cytye ouer them that were slayne. Then went they ouer Jordan into the playne felde before Bethsan. And Judas helped those forwarde that came behynde, and gaue the people good exhortacion al the way thorow tyll they were come in to theyr land of Juda. Thus they went vp vnto ꝑ mounte Sion, where they offred vp myrth and thanckesgeuyng: because there were none of them slayne, but came home agayne peaceably.

they; brother of Galilee before Ptolomays: Then Iosephus the sonne of Zachary, and Azarias the captaynes, hearynge of the actes that were done, and the battayles that were stroken, sayd: Let vp get vs a name also, and go fyght against the heythen that are rounde about vs.

So they gaue they; hoost a commaundement, and wente towarde Jamnyah. Then came Gorgias and his men out of the cytie, to fyght against them: Iosephus also and Azarias were chased vnto the borders of Jewry and there were slayne that daye of the people of Israel two. C. men: so that there was a great mysery amongest the people, and all because they were not obedyent vnto Judas and his brethren, but thought they shulde quyte them selues manfully. Neuertheles, they came not of the syde of these men, by whom Israel was holped. But the men that were with Judas, were greatly commended in the syght of all Israell and all heythen, where so euer they; name was herde vpon, and the people came vnto them, byddynge them welcome.

After this wente Judas forthe with his brethren, and fought against the chyldren of Esau, in the land that lieth toward the south where he wanne the cytie of Hebron, and the townes that lie behynde it: and as for the walles and towres rounde about it, he brent them vp. Then remoued he to go in to the lande of the Philistines, and went thorow Samaria.

At the same tyme were there many prestes slayne in the battayle, which wylfully and without aduysement went out for to fyght to get them honour. And when Judas came to Azot in the Philistines lande, he brake downe their altares, brent the ymages of them Idols, spoyled the cyties, and came agayne in to the land of Juda.

CAPI. VI.

Iosephus cap. xii. lib. xii. Antiq.

NOw when kynge Antyochus trauayled thorow the hygh countreyes, he herde that Elymais in Persia was a noble and plentyous cytie in syluer and gold, and that there was in it a very ryche temple: where as were clothes, coate armoures, and shyldes of golde, whiche Alexander the sonne of Philip kynge of Macedonia had left behynde him. Wherfore he wente about to take the cytie and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the cytezyns were warned of it, & fought with hym. And so he fled and departed with great heuynesse, and came agayne in to Babylon. Yet ouer there came one whiche brought him tydynges to Persyde, that his bandes whiche were in the lande of Juda, were driuen awey, and how that Lisias went forthe fyrst with a great power, and was driuen awaye of the Jewes: howe that they had won the byttery, and gotten greate goodes out of the hoostes that perysshed: how they had broken down the abhomynation, which he set vp vpon the aultare at Jerusalem, and tented the Sanctuary with byghe walles, like as it was afore yea and Bethsura his cytye also.

1. Macha. iii. c. and. iiii.

So it chaunced, that when the kynge had herde these wordes, he was afrayde and greued very sore. Wherfore he layde hym down vpon his bed, and fell sycke for very sorowe: and all because it hadde not happened as he had deuysed. And there contynued he longe, for his grefe was euer more and more, so that he sawe he must nedes dye. Therfore he sente for his frendes: and sayd vnto them, the slepe is gone fro me myne eyes for the verye sorow and vexacion of herte that I haue. For why I consyder in my mynde the great aduersyty that I am come vnto, & the floudes of heuynes which I am come in, where as afore tyme I was so merry and so greatly set by (by reason of my power) Agayne, consyderynge the euyll that I haue done at Jerusalem, from whens I take al the vessels of golde and syluer that were in it, and sent to fetch awaye the inhabytaunces of Jewry without anye reason why: I know wel, that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause. And beholde, I must dye with great sorow in a straunge land. Then called he for one Philip a frende of his whom he made ruler of all his realme, and gaue hym the crowne, his robe and his ryng: that he shulde take his sonne Antiochus vnto hym, and bryng hym vp, tyll he myghte raygne him self. So the kyng Antiochus byed there, in the cytie yere. Whē Lysias knew that the kynge was dead, he ordeyned Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to raygne in his fathers stede, and called him Eupator. Nowe they that were in the castell (at Jerusalem) kepte in the Jewes rounde about the Sanctuarye, and sought euer tyl to do them harme, for the strengthenynge of the heathen.

Wherfore Judas thought to destroye thē, and called all the people together, that they myght laye syege vnto them. So they came together in the. C. yere, and besieged them, layinge forth their ordynaunce and instrumentes of warre. Then certayne of them that were besieged went forth (vnto whome some vngodly men of Israel ioyned them selues also) and went vnto the kyng sayinge: How longe wyll it be, or thou punysh and auenge our brethren? We haue euer bene myndeed to do thy father seruyce to walke in his statutes and to obeye his commaundementes. Therfore our people fell from vs, & whersoeuer they founde anye of vs, they slew the and they haue not only me slayne with vs, but with all oure countreyes: and beholde, this daye are they besiegynge the castell at Jerusalem, and haue made vp the stronge holde in Bethsura: And yf thou doest not preuente them ryghte soone, they wyll doo more then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

When

When the kynge herde this, he was very angry, and called all his frendes, the captaynes of his foremen and of all his horsmen together. He hyred men of warre also out of other realmes, and out of the Iles of the see, which came vnto hym. And the nombre of his hoost was an hundreth thousande foremen, & xxx. thousande horsmen, and xxxii. Elephantes well exercysed in battayle. These came thorow Idumea vnto Bethsura, and besieged it a longe season, and made dyuers instrumentes of warre agaynst it. But the Iewes came out & brent them, and fought lyke men. Then departed Iudas from the castell at Ierusalem, and remoued his hoost toward Bethzacaran ouer agaynst the kynges campe.

So the kynge arose before the daye, and brought the power of his hoost in to the waye vnto Bethzacaran, where the hoostes made them to the battayle, blowynge the trompettes. And to prouoke the Elephantes for to fyght, they shewed them the sap of red grapes, and mulberyes. And deuyded the Elephauntes amonge the hoost: so that by euery Elephaut were xxx. a thousande men well harnessed, and helmettes of stele vpō their heades: Yea vnto euery one of the Elephantes also, were ordeyned fyue hundreth horsmen of the best, which wayted of the Elephaunte, goynge where so euer he went, and departed not from him. Euery elephaut was couered w a strong tower of wod, wherein were thyrtye and two valeaunt men, with weapons to fyght, and within it was a man of Inde to rule the beast.

As for the remnaunt of the horsmen, he set them vpon bothe the sydes in two partes with trompettes, to prouoke the hoost, and to fyre vp suche as were slome in the campe. And whē the sunne shone vpon their shyldes of golde and stele, the mountaynes glistered agayne at them, and were as bryght as the carbuncles of fyre. The kynges hoost also was deuyded, one parte vpō the hye mountaynes, the other lowe beneth: so they went on ta kynge good hede, and keppynge their order. And all they that dwelt in the lande, were afeared at the noyse of their hoost, when the multitude went forth, and when the weapes smote togyther, for the hoost was both great and myghtye. Iudas also and his hoost entred in to the battayle, and slew vi. C. men of the kynges campe. Nowe when Eleasar the son of Saura dyd se one of the Elephauntes harnessed with the kynges badge, and was a more goodlye beast then the other: he thought the kynge should be vpon him, and iopardie him self to deliuer his people, and to get hym a perpetuall name.

Wherfore he ran with a corage vnto the Elephaunt in the myddest of the hoost, smytyng them downe of both the sydes, and slew many about hym. So went he to the Elephauntes fete, and gat hym vnder hym, and slewe him: then fell the Elephaunte downe vpon him, and there he dyed. Iudas also and his men stinge the power of the kynge, and the myghtye violence of his hoost, departed from them. And the kynges armye went vp against them towarde Ierusalem, & pytched their tentes in Iewrye beyde mount Sion. Moreouer, the kynge toke truce with them that were in Bethsura.

But when they came out of the cytye (because they had no vytayles within, and the lande laye vnsylled) the kynge toke Bethsura, and set men to kepe it, and turned his hoost to the place of the Sanctuary, and layd siege to it a great whyle. Where he made all maner of dynaumce: handbowes, fyre darres, ractuettes to cast stones, scorpyons to shoot arowes, and slynges. The Iewes also made ordynaunce agaynst theyre, and foughte a log season.

But in the cytye there were no vytayles, for it was the seuenth yere of the warres, & those heathen that remayned in Iewrye had eaten vp all there store. And in the Sanctuarye were fewe men lefte for the hunger came so vpon them, that they were scattered abrode euery man to his owne place.

Now when Lisias hearde that Philyppe (whom Antiochus the kynge whyle he was yet yonge, had ordeyned to bringe vp Antiochus his sonne, that he myght be kynge) was come agayne out of Perſia & Media w the kynges hoost and thought to optayne the kyngdome: he gat hym in to the kyng in al the haste, and to the captaynes of the hoost, and sayde we decrease dayly, and our vytayles are but small: Agayne, the place that we laye siege vnto is very stronge, and it were oure parte to se for the realme. Let vs agree with these men & take truce with them, and with all their people and graūte them to lyue after their lawe as they dyd afore. For they be greued & do all these thynges agaynst vs, because we haue beryed their lawe. So the kynge and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receyued it. Now when the kynge & the princes had made an oth vnto them they came oute of the castell, and the kynge went vp to mount Syon. But whē he saw that the place was well fenced, he brake the oth that he had made, & commaunded to destroye the wal rounde about. Then departed he in al the haste, & returned vnto Antioch, where he fould Philip haueynge dominion of the city. So he fought agaynst him and toke the cytye agayne into his handes.

In the .CLxxvi. yere came Demetrius the son of Seleucus frome the cyte of Rome with a small companye of men, vnto a cytye of the see coaste, and there he bare rule. And it chaunced, that when he came to Antioch the cytie of his progenitours, his hoost hoost toke Antiochus & Lisias, to bryng the vnto hym. But whē it was tolde hym, he layd: let me not se their faces. So ꝑ hoost put them to death: Nowe when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kyngdome, there came vnto him wycked and vngodly men of Israel: whose captayne was Alcimus, that wolde haue bene made hye prest: These men accused the people of Israel vnto the kynge, sayinge: Judas & his brethren haue slayne thy frendes, and dryuen vs out of our owne lande. Wher fore sende now some man (to whom thou gyuest credence): that he may go & se all the wast ruction, which he hath wrought vnto vs and to the kynges lande, and let him be punished with al his frendes and fauourers.

B Then the kynge chose Bachides a frend of his, which was a man of great power in the realme (beyonde the great water) & layethfull vnto the kynge: and sent him to se the destruction that Judas had done. And as for that wycked Alcimus, he made him hye prest, and Alcimus high prest. commaunded him to be auenged of the children of Israel. So they rode vp, and came wt a great hoost into the lande of Juda, sendynge messengers to Judas & his brethren, and speakinge vnto them with peaceable wordes: but vnder disceyte. Therfore Judas and his people beleued not their sayinge, for they sawe ꝑ they were come with a great hoost.

After this came the scribes togyther vnto Alcimus & Bachides, trustynge the best vnto them. And ꝑ Assidens requyred peace of them, sayng: Alcimus the prest is come of the sede of Aarō, how can he disceyue vs? So they gaue the louyng wordes, and swore vnto the, and sayde: we wyll do you no harme, neyther your frendes: and they beleued them. But the very same day toke they .lx. men of them, and C slew them accordyng to the wordes that are Psal. lxxix. a wryte: They haue cast ꝑ flesh of thy saynctes, and shed their bloud rounde about Jerusalem, and there was no man that wold bury them. So there came a great feare & drede among ꝑ people, sayinge: there is neyther truthe nor eyghteousnesse in them, for they haue broken the appoyntment and othe that they made. And Bachides remoued his hoost frome Jerusalem, and pitched his tente at Bethzetha: where he sent forthe, and toke many of them that had forsaken him: he slewe many of the people also, and cast them in to a greate pyt. Then committed he the land vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe hym, and Bachides him self went vnto the kynge. And thus Alcimus wrested his hye prestlode, and all suche as vexed Israel, resorted vnto him: In so moch that they obtayned the land of Juda, and dyd moche cruell vnto the Israelites.

Now when Judas sawe all the mysches that Alcimus and his company had done (yea more then the Heythen them selues) vnto ꝑ Israelites: he went forthe rounde about all the borders of Jewry, & punished those vnfaithful renagates, so that they came nomore out in the countrey. So when Alcimus saw, that Judas and his people had gotten the vpperhande, and that he was not able to abyde them: he went agayne to the kynge, & sayde all the worst of them that he could. Then the kyng sent Nicanor, one of his chefe princes (whiche bare cruell wyll vnto Israel) and commaunded hym that he shulde vtterly destroye the people.

So Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a great hoost, and sent vnto Judas and his brethren with frēdly wordes (but vnder disceyte) sayinge: there shal be no warre betwyxt me and you: I wyll come with a few men, to se how ye do, with frendshyp. Upō this he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one an other peaceably: but the enemyes were appoynted to take Judas by violence: Neuerthelesse it was tolde Judas, that he came vnto hym but vnder disceyte: wherfore he gat hym away frō him, & wold se his face nomore. Whē Nicanor perceyued that his counsel was bewrayed, he went out to fyghte agaynste Judas beside Capharsalama: where there were slayne of Nicanors hoste .v. M. men: the rest fled vnto the castel of Dauid.

After this came Nicanor vp vnto mounte Syon: and the prestes with the elders of ꝑ people went forth to salute hym peaceably and to shewe him the burntsacrifyces that were offred for the kynge. But he laughed them to scorn, mocked them, defyled their offrynges, and spake dyshaynedly yea & swore in his wroth, sayinge: If Judas and his hoost D be not deliuered nowe in to my handes, as soone as euer I come agayne (and fare well) I shall burne vp this house. With that wolde he out in a greate anger. Then the prestes came in, and stode before the aulter of the temple, weepynge and sayinge: For ye moche as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this house, that thy name myght be called vpon therin and ꝑ it shulde be an house of prayer and prayenge vnto thy people: Be auenged of this man & his hoost, & let them be slayne with the sworde: remembre the blasphemyes of them, and suffer them not to continue any longer.

When Nicanor was gone from Jerusalē he pitched his tente at Bethoron, and there an hoost met hym out of Syria. And Judas came to Adasa with .iij. men and made his prayer vnto God, sayinge: O Lord, because the messengers of kynge Senacherib blasphemed the, the angell went forth, and slew an C.lxxxv. thousande of them: Euen so destroy thou this hoost before vs to day ꝑ other people may know howe ꝑ he hath blasphemed thy Sanctuary: & punish hym, accordynge to his maliciousnes.

And so the hostes rode the felde, the .xiij. day of the moneth Adar: and Nicanors hoost was discomfyted and he hym self was fyrst slayne in the battayle. When Nicanors men of warre sawe that he was kylled, they cast away their weapons & fled: but the Jewes followed vpō them an hole dayes iourney, frō Adasa vnto Gazara, blowynge with the trompets, & makynge tokens after them. So the Jewes came forth of al the townes there about & blew out their homes vpon them, & turned turned agaynst them: thus were all slayne, and not one of them left.

Then they toke their substance for a pray and smote of Nicanors head & his right hād (which he held vp so proudly) and brought it with them, and hāged it vp afore Jerusalē. Wherfore the people were exceedingly reioyced, and passed over that daye in great gladnesse. And Judas ordeyned that the same day (namely .xiii. day of ♄ moneth Adar) shold be kept in myrth euery yere. Thus the lande of Juda was in rest a litle whyle.

CAPI. VIII.

¶ IUdas herd also ♄ fame of the Romayns that they were mighty & valeaunte men, and agreable to all thynges that are required of them, and make peare with all men whiche come vnto them, and howe they were doughty men of strength. Besides that it was told him of their battayls and noble actes which they dyd in Galacia, how they had conquered them, and brought them vnder tribute: and what great thinges they had done in Spayn, how that with their wisdom and sobre behaviour, they had won ♄ myntes of syluer and gold that are there, and obteyned all the land, with other places far from them, howe they had discomfited and slayne downe the kynges that came vpon them, frō the vttermost part of the earth, & how other people gaue them tribute euery yere. Howe they had slayne and ouercome philip & Perses kynge of Cethim, and other moo in battayle, whiche had brought they? ordinaunce agaynst them: how they discomfited greate Antiochus kyng of Asia, ♄ wold nedes fight with the, hauyng an. Cxx. Elephantes, with horsemen, charettes, and a very great hoste: how they toke him liue alyue, and ordeyned him with such as shold raygne after him, to paye them a greate tribute, yea and to fynde them good hostages and pledge: besydes all this, howe they had taken from him Judia, Media and Lidia (his best lādes) and gruen them to kyng Eumenus.

Agayne, how they persecuyng ♄ the Grekes were commyng to ver thē: sent agaynst them a capiteyn of an host, which gaue them battayle, slew many of them, led away they? wyues and chyldren captyue, spoyled them, toke possession of their land, destroyed they? stronge holdes, and subdued them to be their bondmen vnto this day. Moreouer how that as for other kyngdomes & Iles, which so euer withstode them, they destroyed them, & brought them vnder their dominiō: but helped euer their owne frendes and thoste ♄ were confederate with them, and conquered kingdomes bothe far & nye: and that who so euer herd of their renowme, was afrayd of them: for whom they wolde helpe to their kingdomes, thoste raigned: and whome it lyked not the to raygne, they put him downe. And howe they were com to great preeminence: hauing no kyng among them, nether any man clothed in purple, to be magnified ther thorow, but had ordeyned them selues a parlyament, wherin there sat thre. C. and. xx. Senatours daily vpon the counsell, to dispatche euer thing worthy of the people, and to kepe good order: And howe that euery yere they chose a Mayre, to haue the gouernaunce of all they? lande: to whom euery man was obedient, & that there was nether enyl will ne discenciō among them.

Then Judas chose Eupolemus the son of Jhon, the son of Jacob, and Jason the son of Eleazar, & sent them vnto Rome for to make frendship and a bond of loue wt the, that they might take frō them the bondage of the Grekes, for the Jewes sawe ♄ the Grekes wolde subdue the kingdom of Israel. So they went vnto Rome (a very great iourney) & came in to the parliament, & said: Judas Machabe? with his brethr & the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bōd of frendship and peax with you, and ye to note vs as your louers and frendes. And the matter pleased the Romains right wel, wherfore it was written vp: of the which the Romains made a writing in tables of latyn, and sent it to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the same peax & bond of frendship after this maner: God saue the Romains, & the people of the Jewes, both by se & by land, and kepe the swerde and enemy from the for euermore. ¶ If there come fyrst any war vpon the Romains, or any of their frendes, thorow out al their dominion, the people of ♄ Jewes shal helpe them (as the time requireth) & that with all their hertes. Also they shall nether gyue nor send vnto they? enemyes victayles, weapons, money, ne shyppes: but fulfyl this charge at the Romayns pleasure, & take nothyng from them therfore. Agayn, if the people of the Jewes happen first to haue warre, the Romayns shall stande by them with a good wyll, accordynge as the tyme wyl suffer. Nether shall they gyue vnto the Jewes enemyes, victayles, weapons, money, nor shyppes. Thus are the Romayns content to do, and shal fulfyl their charge without any discayte.

Accordynge to these articles, the Romaynes made the bonde with the Jewes. Nowe after these artycles, sayde they, if anye of the partyes wyll put to them, or take anye thynge from them: they shall do it with the consent of both: and what so euer they adde vnto them or take from them, it shall stande faste. And as touchynge the enyll that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue wryten vnto hym, sayinge: Wherfore layest thou thy heuy yoke vpon the Jewes our frendes and louers? ¶ If they make anye complaynte of the agayne vnto vs, we shall defende them, and fyght with the by se and by lande.

After the death of Nicanor Demetrius sendeth his armye agaynst Judas. Judas is slayne. Jonathas is put in the stede of his brother. The strife betwene Jonathas and Bachides. Alcimus is taken with the pestylence and dyeth. Bachides returneth agayne vnto the kynge. He commeth vpon Jonathas by the counsel of certayne wicked persons, and is ouercome. The truce of Jonathas & Bachides.

CAPI. IX.

1. Mach. vii. Iose. xii. xvii. libro. xii.

A In the meane season, when Demetrius herd that Nicanor and his host was slayne in the felde, he proceded further, & sende Bachides and Alcimus agayne in to Jury, & chose that were in the ryght wing of his host vnto them. So they went forth by the way that leadeth vnto Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Melaloth, which is in Arbellis, & wan the city, & slew moch people. In the first moneth of the. Clii. yere, they brought they? hoste to Jerusalem, and rose vp and came to Berea, with. xx. thousand fotemen, and two thousande horsemen.

Now Judas had pitched his tent at Laisa with thre. M. chosen men. And whē they saw the multitude of the other army, that it was so greate, they were sore afrayde, and conueyed them selues out of the hoste. In so moche that there abode no moo of theym but eyght hundred men. When Judas saw that his host fayled him, and that he must nedes fight, it brake his hert, that he had nō time to gather the togither: wherfore that mā was in extreme trouble. Neuertheles he said vnto them that remayned vnto him: Up, let vs go against our enemies, paduenture we shal be able to fight with them. But they wold haue stopped him saying: we shal be able, therfore let vs now saue our liues, & turne agayn to our brethren and then wil we fight against them, for we are here but fewe.

B And Judas sayde: God forbyd, that we sholde flie from them. Wherfore yf our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethrē, and let vs not slayne our honour. Then the host remoued oute of the tentes, and stode agaynst them. The horsemen were diuided in two partes: the slynge castars, and the archers wente before the hoste, and all the myghty men were formest in the feld. Bachides him self was in the right wing of the hoste, and the host drew nye in two partes, and blewe the trompettes. They of Judas syde blewe the trompettes also, & the earth shoke at the noyse of the hostes, and they stroke a felde from the morow tyll nyght. And when Judas saw that Bachides hoste was strongest of the ryght syde, he toke with hym all the hardy men, and brake the right winge of their ordre, and folowed vpō them vnto the mount Azot.

Now when they which were of the lefte wynge sawe that the ryght syde was discomfited, they persecuted Judas and them that were with him. Then was there a sore batel for many were slayne and wounded of bothe the parties: Judas also him self was kylled, and the remnaūt fled. So Jonathas and Symon toke Judas their brother, and buryed him in his fathers sepulcre, in the citye of Modin. And al & people of Israel made grete lamentacion for him, and mourned long saying: Alas that this worthy holde be slayne which delyuered the people of Israel. As for other thinges pertayning to the battayles of Judas, the noble actes that he did, and of his worthynesse: they are not written, for they were very many.

And after the death of Judas, wycked men came vp in all the costes of Israel, and there arose al such as worke vngodlynes. In those dayes was there a great derth in the land, & all the countrey gaue ouer them selues and theirs vnto Bachides. So Bachides chose wicked men, & made them lordes in the land. These sought out, and made serch for Judas frendes, and brought them vnto Bachides: which auenged him self vpon them, with great despite. And there came so greate trouble in Israel, as was not sens the time that no prophet was sene there.

C Then came all Judas frendes togyther, & said vnto Jonathas: For so moch as thy brother Judas is dead, there is none lyke hym to go forth against our enemies, against Bachides, and such as are aduersaries vnto our people. Wherfore this daye we chose the for him, to be our prince & capiteyn, to order our battel. And Jonathas toke the gouernaunce vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stede of his brother Judas. When Bachides gat knowlege therof, he sought for to slee him: But Jonathas and Simō his brother perceyuing that, fled in to & wildernes of Thecua with all their company, and pitched their tētes by the water pole of Asphar.

Ioseph. xii. libro. xii.

When whē Bachides vnderstode, he came ouer Jordan with all his host vpon the Sabboth daye. Now had Jonathas sent his brother Jhon, a capiteyn of the people to praye his frendes the Nabuthites, that they wolde lend the their ordinaūce, for they had moche. So the children of Jambry came out of Medaba, and toke Jhon, and al that he had, and went their way withall. Then came worde D vnto Jonathas and Symon his brother, that the children of Jambry made a great mariage and brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was doughter to one of & noblest princes of Canaan. Wherfore they remembred the bloude of Jhon their brother, & went vp, & hid them selues vnder the shadow of the mountayne.

So they lyft vp their eyes, and loked, and beholde there was moche ado, and great repayre, for the bridegrome came forthe, & his frendes and his brethrē met them with tympanies, instrumentes of musycke, and many weapons. Then Jonnathas and they & were with him, rose oute of their lurkinge places agaynst them, and slew many of them. As for the remnaunt, they fled in to the mountayns and they toke all they? substaunce. Thus the mariage was turned to mourninge, and the noyse of their melody in to lamentacion.

And

And so when they had auenged the blonde of they⁹ brother, they tourned agayne vnto Jor dane.

Bachides hearing this, came vnto the very borders of Jordan with a greate power vpon the Saboth daye. And Jonathas sayd to his cõpany: let vs get vp, and fight against our enemies: for it standeth not with vs to daye as in times past. Beholde, our enemies are in our way, the water of Jordane vpon the one syde of vs, with banckes, rennes and woddes of the other side, so that there is no place for vs to depart vnto. Wherfore cry now vnto heuen, that ye may be deliuered from the power of your enemies. So they stroke the batel. And Jonathas stretched out his hande to smyte Bachides, but he fled backward. Then Jonathas and they that were with him lepte
in to Jordan, and swymmed ouer Jordan vn to hym, & there were slayne of Bachides side that daye, a. M. men.

Therfore Bachides with his host turned again to Jerusalē, and buylt vp the castels & strong holdes & were I Jury, Jericho, Emaus Bethor, Bethel, Thamnata, Pharathon, Topo, with hye walles, with portes, and with lockes, and set me to kepe them, & they might vse they⁹ malice vpon Israell. He walled vp Bethsurah, Gazarah, and the castel at Jeru salē also, & pronided the with men & vitailes.
He toke also the chyefe of mens sonnes in the country for pledges, & put them in the castel
at Jerusalem to be kepte.

Afterward in the. C. lij. yere in the second moneth, Alcimus commaunded that the wal-les of the inmost sanctuary shold be destroyed, and the buildinges of the Prophetes also.
And when he began to destroy them, the thin
ges that he went about were hyndred, for he was smytten with a palsey, & his mouth shut
so & he coulde no more speke, ne commaunde
any of his house concernynge his busynesse.
Thus dyed Alcimus in great misery at the same tyme, and when Bachides saw that Al
cimus was dead, he turned again to the king and so the land was in rest two yeres. Then all the vngodly men helde a counsel, saying:
Beholde, Jonathas and his companye are at ease, and dwell without care. Wherfore let vs bring Bachides hither, & he shall take the all in one nyght.

So they went & gaue Bachides this counsell, which are for to come with a great host, & sent letters priuily to his adherentes whiche were in Jury, to take Jonathas & those that were with him: but they might not, for the other had gotten knowlege of they⁹ deuice.
And Jonathas toke. l. of the men of y countrey (whi che were y⁹ rynge leaders of them) & slew the.
Then Jonathas and Symon, & their compa ny departed vnto the city Bethbesen, which lieth in the wildernesse, and repayred the de cay therof, and made it stronge. When Bachides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, & sent worde to them that were of Jury. The same he & layd siege to Bethbesen, & fought against it a longe season, and made instru-
ther Symon in the city, and went forth hym self in the country, and came with a certein
nombre, and slew Odares and his brethren,
and the children of Phaseron in their tentes:
so that he began to be strong, and to increase in power.

As for Symon & his company, they went out of the city, and brent vp the instrumentes of warre, and fought against Bachides, and discomfited hym. And Bachides was sore vexed because his counsel and trauayle was in vayn. Wherfore he was wroth at the wic ked men (that gaue him counsel to come in to their land) and slew many of them. The pur posed he with his company to go away in to his owne country: wherof when Jonathas had knowlege, he sent embassadours vnto him for to make peace with him, and that he shold deliuer him his prisoners agayn. To y⁹ whiche Bachides consented gladly, and dyd according to his desire, yea & make an oth that he shold neuer do him harme all the dayes of his lyfe. So he restored vnto him all the prisoners that he had taken out of the land of Ju da, and then turned and went his waye in to his owne land, neither proceded he any further to com vnto y⁹ borders of Juda. Thus Is rael had no more war. And Jonathas dwelte at Machmas, and began there to gouern the people, and destroyed the vngodly men oute of Israel.

¶ Demetrius desyreth to haue peace with Jona-thas. Alexander mouyth war against Demetrius.
Demetrius is slayne. The frendship of Ptolomeus and Alexander.

CAPI. X.

IN the. C. lx. yere, came Alexander, the son A of noble Antioch*, and toke Ptolomais, Alexander.
whose citizins receiued him, and there he Joseph. capit.
raygned. When Demetrius herde therof, he 6. lib. 13. ant.
gathered an exceedyng great hoste, and went forth against hym to fyght. Wherfore Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathas wiche louynge wordes, and prayed hym greatlye.
For he saide: we will fyrste make peace with him, before he bynd him selfe with Alexander against vs, els he shal remembre the euil that we haue done against him, his brother & his people, and so he gaue Jonathas leue to gather an hoste, to make weapons, and to be cõfederate with hym, and commaunded the pledges that were in the castell to be deliue-red vnto hym.

Then came Jonathas to Jerusalem, & red
the letters, in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castel. And they sore were they sore afrayde, because they herde that the kynge had given hym leyence to gather an hoste. Thus were the pledges deliuered vnto Jonathas, whiche deliuered them to their elders. Jonathas also dwelt at B Jerusalem, and began to buylde vp and to repayre the citie, commaundyng the worke-men to wall it, and the mounte Syon round about with frest stone, to be a stronge holde,

L ii. ij. and

vnto so they did. For to the Bethen ꝑ were in ꝑ castell which Bacchides had made vp, they fled, so that every man left the place, & went in to his own countrey. Only at Bethsura remayned certeyn of the Jewes, which had forsaken the law & commaundementes of God, for Bethsura was their refuge.

Now whē kyng Alexander herd of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathas, & when it was tolde hym of the battels and noble actes, which he & his brethren had done, and of the greate trauayles ꝑ they had take, he said: where shal we fynd such a mā wyl, we will make him our frend, and be confederate with him. Vpō this he wrote a letter vnto him, with these wordes: kyng Alexander saluteth his brother Jonathas. We haue herd of the, that thou art a valeaūt mā, and mete to be our frend: wherfore this day we ordeyn the to be the hye preest of thy people, and to be called the kynges frend. (Vpō this, he sent hym a purple clothynge, and a crowne of golde) that thou mayste consydre what is for our profyte, and kepe frendshyp towarde vs.

B So in the seuenth moneth of the. C.lx. yere vpō the solemne feast day of the tabernacles Jonathas put the holye rayment vpon hym. Then gathered he an hoste, and made many weapons. Which when Demetrius herd, he was maruelous sory, & said: Alas, what haue we done, that Alexander hathe preuented vs in getteynge the frendshyp of the Jewes, for his owne defence? Yet wil I wryte louingly vnto them also, yea & promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may be of my syde. Wherupon he wrote vnto them these wordes: King Demetrius sendeth greting vnto ꝑ people of ꝑ Jewes. Where as ye haue kept your couenaunt toward vs, and continued in our frendship, not enclining to our enemyes we were glad, when we herd therof. Wherfore remayne stil and be faythfull to vs: and we shal recompence you for the thinges, that ye haue done on youre partye: we shall release you of many charges, & gyue you rewardes. And now I discharge you and all the Jewes from tributes, I forgiue you the customes of salt, and lease you of the crowne taxes, of ꝑ thirde parte of sede, and halfe of the frute of trees, which is mine own duty. These I leue for you, from this daye forthe: so that they shall not be taken of the land of Juda, nor of the thre cities which are added therunto out of Samaria and Galilee, frome this daye D forth for euermore. Jerusalem also with all thynges belongyng therto, shall be holy and free: yea the tithes and tributes shal perteyn vnto it. As for the power of the castel which is at Jerusalem, I remit and giue vnto ꝑ hye preest, that ye maye set in it suche men, as he shall chose to kepe it. I freely deliuer all the Jewes that are prysoners throwout oute all my realme: so that euery one of them shal be free frome payinge anye trybute, yea euen of their catell.

All the solemne feastes, Sabothes, newe moones, the dayes appoynted, the thre dayes before & after the feast, shal be free for all the Jewes in my realme, so that in them no man shal haue power to do any thyng, or to moue any businesse against any of them, in any maner of cause. There shall.xxx.M. also of the Jewes be written vp in the kynges host, and haue their wages payde, as all other men of warre of the kynges hoste haue, and of them shal be ordeyned certeyn to kepe the kynges strong holdes: yea and some of them shal be set ouer the kynges busines, ꝑ they may faithfully dele with ꝑ same. The Jewes also shal haue princes of their owne, & walke in their owne lawes, as the kynge hath commaunded in the land of Juda.

And the thre cities that are fallen vnto Jury from the countrey of Samaria and Galilee, shall be taken as Jury, and be vnder one: neither be subiect to any straunge lorde, but to the hye preest. As for Ptolomais & the land perteynynge therto, I gyue it vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy thinges. Moreouer I will gyue euery yere.xv. thousande sicles of syluer out of the kinges chester (which perteyneth vnto me) to the worke of the temple: yea and lose what remayneth (whiche they that had oure maters in hād in tymes past haue not payde) that same shall they giue vnto therym also. And beside s al this, fyue thousand sicles whiche they toke yerely of the rentes of the Sanctuary, shall be longe vnto the preestes ꝑ do seruyce.

Item, who so euer they be that fle vnto the temple at Jerusalem, or within the lyberties therof, whē as they are fallen in to the kinges daunger for any maner of businesse, they shal be pardoned, and all ꝑ goodes that they haue in my realme, shal be free. For the buylding also and repayring of the worke of the Sanctuary, expenses shall be gyuen out of ꝑ kynges chester: Yea and for the makyng of the walles rounde about Jerusalem, for the byldyng downe of the olde, & for the settinge vp of the stronge holdes in Jurye, shall the costes and charges be gyuen oute of the kynges chester.

But when Jonathas and the people herde these wordes, they gaue no credence vnto the, neither disceyued them: for they remembred the great wyckednesse that he had done vnto Israell, and how sore he had vexed them. Wherfore they agreed vnto Alexander, for he was a prynce that had bene frendly with them, and so they stode by hym alway. Then gathered kyng Alexander a great hoste, and brought his armye egayust Demetrius. So the two kinges strode battayle togither, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander followed after and fell vpon them. A mighty sore felde was it, contynuyng tyl the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slayne the same daye.

And Alexander sente embassadours vnto Ptolomy the kyng of Egypt with these wordes, saying: for so moch as I am come again to my realme, and am sette in the trone of my progenytours, and haue gotten the dominion minion ouer cõmed Demetrius, conquered the lande, & fleyhen a feide with hym, so that we haue discomfeted both hims and his host, and syt in the trone of his kyngdom: Let vs now make frendshyp togyther, gyue me thy doughter to wyfe: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe, and gyue the rewardes, and her greate dignytye. Ptolomy the kynge gaue answerr, sayinge: Happye be the daye wherin thou art come agayne to the land of thy progenitours, and set in the trone of their kyngdome. And now will I fulfyll thy wyrcyng: but mete me at Ptolomais, that we maye se one an other, and & I may mary my doughter vnto the accordyng to thy desyre. So Ptolomy went out of Egypt with his doughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolomais in the Cirii. yere, where kyng Alexander met hym, and he gaue Alexander his doughter Cleopatra, and maried them at Ptolomais w̃ greate worshyp, lyke as the maner of kynges is to be. Then wrote kyng Alexander vnto Jonathas, that he sholde come and mete hym. So he went honourably vnto Ptolomais, and there he met the two kynges, and gaue them great presentes of golde and syluer, & found fauour i their sight. And there came togither against Jonathas certeyn wycked men, and vngracious persons of Israel, makyng complayntes of him, but the king regarded them not. As for Jonathas the kyng commaunded to take of his garmentes, and to clothe hym in purple: and so they dyd. Then the kynge appoynted him to syt by hym, and sayd vnto his princes: Go with hym in to the myddest of the citye, and make a proclamacion, that no man complayne agaynst him of any matter, and that no mã trouble him, for any maner of cause.

So it happened that whẽ his accusers saw the worshyp which was proclaymed of hym and that he was clothed in purple, they fled euerychone. And & king made moche of him, wrote him amonge his chiefe frendes, made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion. Thus Jonathas went agayne to Jerusalem, with peace and gladnesse. In the. Clxv. yere cam Demetrius the son of Demetrius from Creta in to his fathers lande, wherof when Alexander herde tell, he was eyght sory, and returned vnto Antioche. And Demetrius chose Appolonius, whiche had & gouernaunce of Celosiria, to be his capteyn.

So he gathered a great hoste, and came vn to Jamnia, and sende worde vnto Jonathas the hye preest, sayinge: Darest thou withstande vs thy selfe alone? As for me, I am but laughed to scorne and shamed, bycause thou prouedst thy strength against vs in the mountaynes. Lowe therfore yf thou trustest in thyne owne strengthe, come downe to vs in to the playne feilde, and there let vs proue our strength togither: thou shalt fynd, that I haue valeaunt men of warre with me, and shalt knowe whome I am, and the other that stande by me,

Which saye that your fote is not able to stande before ourr face, for thy fathers haue ben twise chased in to their owne land. And nowe, howe wilte thou be able to abyde so great an host of horsmen and fotemen in the feild, where as is neither rock, stone ne place to flie vnto?

When Jonathas herde the wordes of Appolonius, he was moued in his mynde, wherfore he chose. x. thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Symon his brother mette hym, for to help him: and they pitched their tentes at Joppa, but the city kept hym forth, for Joppa was an hold of Appolonius. The Jonathas layde siege to it, and they & were in the citye for very feare let hym in: and so Jonathas wan Joppa. Appolonius hearyng of this, toke thre thousande horsmen, with a great hoste of fote, and went as though he wolde goo to Azotus, and came immediatly in to the playne feilde: bycause he had so many horsmen, and put his truste in them. So Jonathas folowed vpon hym to Azotus, and there they stroke the battayle. Now had Appolonius left a thousande horsmen behynde thẽ priuily in the tentes. And whẽ Jonathas knewe that suche wayte was layde behynde them, they went rounde about the enemyes host, and shot dartes at the people from the morynng to & euenyng. As for Jonathas people, they kepte their order as he had commaũded them, and the enemyes horses were euer labouryng.

Then brought Symon forth his host, and set them agaynst the fotemen. For the horsemen were very alredye. So he discomfeted them, and they fled. And they that were scatred in the feild, gat them to Azotus, and cam in to the temple of Dagon their ydol, & they myght there saue their liues. But Jonathas set fyre vpon Azotus, and al the cities round about it, and toke their goddes, and brent vp the temple of Dagõ with all them that were fled in to it. J

Thus were slayne and brent wel nye eight thousande men. So Jonathas remoued the hoste from thence, and brought them to Ascalon, where the men of the city came forth, and met him with great worshyp. After this wente Jonathas and his hoste agayne to Jerusalem, with greate substaunce of good. (1 Mach. 11.)

And when kyng Alexander herde their thinges, he thought to doo Jonathas more worshyp, and sent hym a coler of gold, as the vse is to be gyuen vnto suche as are of the kynges nexte bloude. He gaue hym also the citye of Accaron with the landes belongyng ther to in possession,

CAPI. XI.

1.11.16. And

Joseph. c. a. lib. 13. cap.

AND the kynge of Egypte gathered an hoost (lyke the sand that lyeth vpon the see shore) and many shyppes: and wet about therow discepte to obteyne the kyngdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne realme. Upon this he toke his iourney in to Syria, and was letten in to the cityes, and men came forth to mete him: for kynge Alexander had commaunded them so to do, bycause he was his father in lawe. Nowe when Ptolomy entred in to any city, he left men of warre to kepe it, and this he dyd thorow out all the cityes. And when he came to Azotus, they shewed hym the temple of Dagon and Azotus that was brent vp, with the other thinges which were destroyed, the ded bodyes cast abrode, and the graues that they had made by the way syde, for suche as were slayne in the felde: And tolde the kynge that Jonathas had doone all these thynges, to the intent they myghte get him cyuyll wyll. But the kyng: sayde not a worde therto. And Jonathas met the kynge with greate honour at Joppa, where they saluted one an other, and toke their rest. So when Jonathas had gone with the kyng, vnto the water that is called Eleutherus, he turned agayne to Jerusalem. Now Ptolomy had gotten the dominion of the cityes vnto Seleucia vpon the see coste, ymaginyng wycked counsels agaynst Alexander, and sente embassadours vnto Demetrius, sayinge: Come, lette vs make a bonde betwyxte vs, so shall I gyue the my doughter that Alexander hath, & thou shalt raygne in thy fathers kyngdome. I repente that I gaue Alexander my doughter, for he goeth about to slaye me. And thus he slaundred Alexander, bycause he wolde haue hadde his realme.

Thus he toke his doughter from him, gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsoke Alexander so that his malyce was openly knowen. And Ptolomy came to Antioch, where he set two crownes vpon his own head: the crowne of Egypt and of Asia. In the mean season was kyng Alexander in Cilicia, for they þ dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him. But when Alexãder herd of this, he came to war agaynste him. So kynge Ptolomy brought forth his hoste, and met him with a myghtye power, and chased him away. Then fled Alexander into Araby, there to be defended, & kyng Ptolomys honour increased. And Zabdiel the Arabian smote of Alexanders head, & sent it vnto Ptolomy. But the third day after dyed kyng Ptolomy hym selfe, and they whom he had set in the stronge holdes, were slayne of those that were within the cityes. And Demetrius raigned in þ hundred. lxvij. yere.

Alexander is slayne.

At the same tyme gathered Jonathas them that were in Jewry to lay siege vnto the castell whiche was at Jerusalem, and so they made many instrumentes of warre agaynste it. Then went there certeyn vngodly persons (whiche hated their owne people) vnto kyng Demetrius, and told hym that Jonathas besieged the castell. So when he herd it, he was angry, & immediatly came vnto Ptolomais, and wrote vnto Jonathas that he sholde not laye siege to the castell, but come and speake with hym in all the haste. Neuertheles whe Jonathas herde this, he commaunded to besiege it. He chose also certeyn of the elders & priestes of Israell, and put hym selfe in the peryll: and toke with hym golde, syluer, clothynge, and diuers presentes: and wente to Ptolomais vnto the kynge, and founde hym gracious.

And though certayne vngodly men of his owne people made complayntes vpõ him, yet the kyng intreated him, lyke as his predecessours had done before, and promoted him in the sight of all his frendes, confirmed him in the hye prestehod, with all þ worshyp þ he had afore, & made him his chief frend. Jonathas also desired the kyng that he wolde make Jury free, with the three head cityes in Samaria and the landes pertaynge therto: vpon this dyd Jonathas promyse him three. C. talentes. Wherunto the kyng consented and gaue Jonathas writing of the same, cõteyning these wordes: Kynge Demetrius sendeth greting vnto his brother Jonathas, and to the people of the Jewes. We sende you here a copy of the lettre whiche we dyd wryte vnto our elder Lasthenus, concernynge you, that ye sholde knowe it.

Kynge Demetrius sendeth gretynge vnto Lasthenus his elder. For the kyndnesse þ our frendes the people of the Jewes kepe vnto vs, and for the louynge kyndnesse whiche they beare towarde vs: we are determyned to do them good. Wherfore we ordeyne all the costes of Jewry with three cityes, Lydda and Ramatha, whiche are added vnto Jury from Samaria, and all þ landes pertayning therunto, to be freely separated for suche as do sacrifice in Jerusalem: bothe concerning the paymentes whiche the kynge toke yerely afore tyme, and the fruites also of the earthe and trees. As for other tythes and tributes þ belonged vnto vs, we discharge them therof from this tyme forthe. In lyke maner we graunt vnto them all the customes of salte & crowne cares which were brought vnto vs. And this fredom shall they haue tyme and stedfast, from this tyme forth for euermore. Therfore se that ye make a copy of these our letters, and deliuer it vnto Jonathas: that it may be kept vpon the holy mount in a conuenient place.

After this, when Demetrius the kyng saw that his lande was in reste, and that no resistaunce was made hym: he sent awaye all his hoste euerye man to his owne place, excepte an armye of straungers, whome he brought from the yles of the heathen, wher fore all his fathers hoste had euil wil at him. Now was there one Tryphon, that had ben of Alexanders parte afore, whiche when he sawe that all the hoste murmured agaynste Demetrius, he went to Emalcuel the Arabia (that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander) and lay fore vpon hym to deliuer hym this yonge Antiochus: that he myghte

raygne in his fathers stede. He tolde him also what greate cupll Demetrius had done, and his men of warre loued him not: and so remayned there a longe season.

And Jonathas sent vnto kynge Demetrius, to dryue them out whiche were in the castel at Jerusalem, in the other refuges, for they dyd Israel great harme. So Demetrius sent worde vnto Jonathas, saying: I will not only do these thinges for the and thy people, but at tyme conuenyent I wyll do bothe the and thy people great worship. But now thou shalt do me a pleasure, yf thou wylt sende me men to helpe me: for all myne armye is gone fro me. So Jonathas sent him thre M. strōg men vnto Antioche, and they came vnto the kynge, wherefore the kynge was very glad at their comynge. But they that were of the cytie (euen an. C.xx thousande men) gathered them together, and wold haue slayne ỳ kyng, whiche fled in to his courte: and the cytezyns kepte the stretes of the cytie, and beganne to fyght.

Then ỳ kyng called for the Jewes helpe, which came vnto him al together, and went abrode thorow the cytie, and slewe the same daye an. C. M. men: set fyre vpō the cytie, gat many spoyles in that daye, and deliuered the kynge. So when the cytezyns sawe that the Jewes had gotten their wyl of the cytie, and they them selues disapointed of their purpose they made their supplication vnto the kynge, saynge: Graunte vs peace, and let the Jewes cease from troublynge vs and the cytie, and vpō this they cast awaye their weapens. Thus they made peace, and the Jewes gat greate worship in the sight of the kynge, and in the sight of al that were in his realme, and were spoken of thorow out ỳ kyngdome: and so they came agayne to Jerusalē with greate goodes.

So the kynge Demetrius sat in the trone of his kyngdome, and had peace in his lande. Neuertheles he dyssembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrew him self from Jonathas, neither rewarded him according to the benefytes whiche he had done for hym, but troubled him very sore. After this came Typhon agayne with ponge Antiochus, whiche raigned and was crowned kyng. Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whō Demetrius had put awaye: these fought against Demetrius, which fled and turned his back. So Typhon take the Elephantes, and wan Antioche. And ponge Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathas, saying: I confyrme the in the priesthode, and make the ruler of foure countreyes, that thou mayst be a frend of the kinges.

Upon this he sent hym golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drynke in golde to be clothed in purple, and to were a coler of golde. He made his brother Symon also captayne, from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypte. Then Jonathas toke his iourneye, and wente thorow the cytyes beyonde the water of Jordane, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered ỳt vnto hym for to help hym. So he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the cytie receyued hym honourably: and from thence wente he vnto Gaza, but they wold not let hym in: wher for he layde siege vnto it burnynge vp and spoylyng ỳ places that were about the cytie.

And the cytezyns of Gaza submytted the selues vnto the Jonathas, which made peax with ỳt, but toke of them soones to pledge sent them to Jerusalem, and went thorowe the countery vnto Damascus. Nowe when Jonathas herde ỳ Demetrius prynces were come in to Cades (which is in Galilee) with a greate host, purposynge to put Demetrius out from medlynge in the realme: he came agaynst them, and left Symon his brother in the lande: whiche came to Bethsura, and layde siege to it a longe season and dyscomfyted the. So they desyred to haue peax with h. in whiche he graūted them and afterward put them out from thence toke the cyty, & set men to kepe it. And Jonathas with his hoost came to the water of Genesar, & bytymes in the mornynge gat them to the playne felde of Asor.

And beholde, the hostes of the heithen met them in the felde, & layed watch for them in the mountaynes: so that when Jonathas came agaynst them ỳ other which were layd to watch, rose out of their places, & fought, & they that were of Jonathas syde, fled euery man: there was not one of them left, except Mathathias the son of Absalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphi the captayne of the hoost. Then Jonathas rent his clothes, layd earth vpon his heade, made his prayer, and turned agayne to them in ỳ felde: where they fought together, and he put them to flyght. Nowe when his owne men that were fled, sawe this: they turned agayne vnto him, and helped hym to folowe vpon all their enemyes vnto their tētes at Cades. So there were slayne of ỳ heythen the same day. xx. M. men, & Jonathas turned agayne to Jerusalem, ¶ Jonathas sendeth embassadours to Rome and to the people of Sparta to renue their confederacie or frendshyp. Jonathas putteth to fyght the prynces of Demetrius. Tryphon taketh Jonathas by disceyte.

CAPI. XII.

JOnathas seinge that the tyme was mete for hym, chose certayne men and sente them vnto Rome for to stablysshe and to renue the frendshyp with them. He sent letters also vnto Sparta, and to other places in lyke maner. So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the counsell and sayde: Jonathas the hyghe prest and the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, for to renue the olde frendshyp and bond of loue. Upon this the Romayns gaue them fre passportes, that men shuld lede them home into the lād of Juda peaceably. And this is ỳ copy of ỳ letters that Jonathas wrote vnto the Spartians. 1.Mac.xii.a

Jonathas

Jonathas the hyghe preest with the elders, priestes, and the other people of the Jewes, sende greetyng vnto the Spartyans their brethren. There were letters sent long ago vnto Onias the hye preest, from Arius, whiche the rayned among you: that ye are our brethren, as the writynge made therupon specifyeth. And Onias entreated the embassadour that was sent honorably, and receyued the letters: wherin there was mencyon made of the bonde of loue and frendshyp. Wut as for vs, we nede no such writynges: for why, we haue the holy bokes of scrypture in our handes to our comforte. Neuertheles, we had rather sende vnto you, for the renuyng of the brotherhede and frendshyp: lest we would be straunge vnto you, for it is longe, sythens the tyme that ye sent wordes vnto vs. Wher fore in the sacrifices that we offre, and other ceremonyes vpon the hye solemne dayes and other, we alway remembre you without ceasynge (lyke as reason is, and as it becommeth vs to thynke vpon oure brethren) yea and are eyght glad of your prosperous honour.

And though we haue had greate troubles and warres, so that the kynges about vs haue foughten agayns vs: yet wolde we not be grenous vnto you, nor to other of our louers and frendes in their warres. For we haue had helpe from heauen, so that we are delyuered, and our enemyes subdued. Wher fore we chose Numenius the sonne of Antiochus and Antipatre the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romaynes, for to renue the olde bonde of frendshyp and loue with them. We commaunded them also to come vnto you, to salute you, and to delyuer you oure letters, concernynge the renouacyon of oure brotherhede. And nowe ye shall do eyght well, to gyue vs an answere therunto.

And this is the coppe of the writynge, which Arius the kynge of Sparta sent vnto Onias: Arius kynge of the Spartians sendeth greetyng vnto Onias the hye preest. It is fou̇nd in writynge, that the Spartians and Jewes are brethren, and come out of the generacyon of Abraham. And nowe for so moche as this is come to oure knowledge, ye shall do well, to wryte vnto vs of youre prosperitye. As for vs, we haue wryten oure mynde vnto you: Our catell and goodes are yours, and yours ours. Theise thynges haue we commaunded to be shewed vnto you.

When Jonathas herde, that Demetrius princes were come forthe to fyght agaynste him, with a greater hoost then afore, he went from Jerusalem, and met them in the lande of Hemath, for he gaue the not space to come in to his owne countrey. And he sent spyes vnto their tentes, whiche came agayne and tolde him, that they were appoynted to come vpon him in the nyght season. Wherfore whe the sunne was gone downe, Jonathas commaunded his men to watch al the nyght, and to be redye with weapons for to fyght: and set watchmen rounde about the hoost. Wut when the aduersaryes herde that Jonathas was readye with his men to the battayle, they feared, and were afrayde in their hertes and kyndled fyres in in their tentes, brake vp, and gat them away. Neuertheles Jonathas and his companye, knewe it not tyll the morynge, for they sawe the fyres burnynge.

Then Jonathas followeth vpon them, but he myght not ouertake them, for they were gone ouer the water Eleutherus. So Jonathas departed vnto the Arabias (which were called Zabadei) slewe them, and toke their goodes. He proceded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went throwout all that countrey. Wut Simon his brother toke his iourney and came to Ascalon and to the next stronge holdes: departynge vnto Joppa, and wan it. For he herde that they wolde stande of Demetrius partye: wherfore he sent men of warre in the cytye, to kepe it. After this came Jonathas home agayne, and called the elders of the people together: and deuysed with them for to buylde vp the stronge holdes in Jewry, & the walles of Jerusalem, to set vp an hye wal betwyxt the castell & the cyty, for to seperate it from the cityе, that it myght be alone, and that men shulde neyther bye nor sell in it.

Upon this they came together for to buylde vp the cyty: and for as moch as the wall vpō the broke of the west syde (called Cephethetah) was fallen down, they repayred it. And Symon set vp Adiadah in Sephelah, & made it stronge settyng poztes and lockes vpon it. Now when Tryphon purposed to raygne in Asia, to be crowned, and to slaye the kyng Antiochus: he was afrayed for Jonathas wolde not suffre him, but fyght against him. Wher fore he went about to take Jonathas & to kil him.

So he departed, and came vnto Bethsan. Then went Jonathas forth against him to the battayle wyth fourty thousande chosen men and came vnto Bethsan also. But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathas came with so greate an hoost to destroy him, he was afrayed: and therfore he receyued him honorably commended him vnto all his frendes, & gaue him rewardes, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedyent vnto him, as to him selfe.

And sayde vnto Jonathas: why hast thou caused this people to take suche trauayle, seynge there is no warre betwyxte vs? Wher fore sende them home agayne and, chose certayne men to waye vpon the, and come thou with me to Ptolomais: for I wyll gyue it with the other stronge holdes, men of warre and their officers.

As for me, I must departe, this is only the cause of my commynge. Jonathas beleued him, and dyd as he sayde, puttynge away his hoost, whiche went into the lande of Juda. He kepte but .iij. M. by him, wherof he sent .ij. M. in to Galilee, and one thousande went with him selfe.

Now as soone as Jonathas entred in to Ptolomais, the cytyzens spared the gates of the of the cytie, and fohe him, and slew all them with the swerde, ꝑ came in with hym. Then sent Tryphon an hoost of fotemen and horsemen in to Galilee, and in to the great playne fylde, to destroy all Jonathas company. But when they knew that Jonathas was taken, and al they slayne that waited vpō him: they toke counsell togyther, and came forthe redy to ꝑ battayle. So when they whiche folowed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of lyfe, they turned backe agayne. As for the other, they went in to the lande of Juda peaceably, and bewayled Jonathas, and the that were with hym vyght sore. And Israel made greate lamentacō. Then all the heathen that were round about them, thought to destroy them. For they sayde: now haue they no capitayne, nor any man to helpe them. Therfore let vs ouercome them, and rote out their name frō amonge men.

¶ After Jonathas was taken. Symon is chosen capitayne of whom Tryphon takynge his children and money for the redemptiō of Jonathas, breketh hym and his children. The graue of Jonathas. Tryphon killeth Antiochus, & possesseth the realme. Demetrius taketh truce with Symon. Symon wynneth Gaza. He possesseth the towre of Syon. He maketh his sonne Johñ Capitayne.

CAPI. XIII.

NOw when Symon herde that Tryphō gathered a great hoost, to come in to ꝑ lande of Juda, and to destroye it: and sawe that the people was in greate fearfulnesse and care: he came vp to Jerusalem, and gathered the people togyther, and gaue them exhortacyon, sayinge: Ye know what greate battayles I and my brethren and my fathers house haue stryken for the law and the Sanctuary, and what maner of troubles we haue sene: thorow occasyon wherof, al my brethre are slayne for Israels sake, & I am left alone. And now let not me spare myne owne lyfe in any maner of trouble, for I am no better then my brethren: but will auenge my people and the Sanctuary, our children and our wyues: for all the heathen are gathered togyther to destroye vs of very malyce.

At these wordes, the hertes of the people were kyndled togither, so that they cryed with a loude voyce, sayinge: Thou shalte be oure capitayne in stede of Judas and Jonathas thy brethren, ordre thou oure battayle, and whatsoeuer thou commaundest vs, we shall do it. So he gathered all the men of warre makynge haste to fynysh all the walles of Jerusalem, which he made stronge rounde about.

Then sent he Jonathas the sonne of Absolomus with a fresh hoost vnto Joppa, whiche droue them out that were in the castell, and remayned there him selfe. Tryphon also remoued from Ptolomais with a great army, to come in to the lande of Juda, & Jonathas with him towarde. And Symon pytched his tentes at Adora, before the playne fylde.

But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stode vp in stede of his brother Jonathas, & that he wolde warre agaynst hym: he sente messengers vnto hym, sayinge: Where as we haue kept Jonathas thy brother, it is for money that he is a dyng in the kynges accompt concernynge the busynes that he had in hād. Wherfore sende now an. C. talentes of syluer & his two sonnes for suerty, that when he is letten forth he shall not forsake vs: & we shall sende him agayne. Neuertheles Symon knewe, that he dyssembled in his wordes yet commaunded he the money and the children to be deliuered vnto hym: lest he shuld be the greater enemye agaynst the people of Israel, and saye: because he sent hym not the money and the children, therfore is Jonathas dead.

So Symon sent him the children and an hundreth talentes, but he dyssembled, and wolde not let Jonathas go. Afterward came Tryphon in to the lande, to destroye it, & went rounde about by the waye that leadeth vnto Adora. But when he cam thyther went Symon and his hoost also. Now they ꝑ were in ꝑ castell sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he shulde make hast to come by ꝑ wyldernes and to sende the vyttayles: And Tryphon made ready al his hoostmen to come that same nyght. Neuertheles it was a very greate snowe, so that he came not in Galaadith'm. And when he drewe nygh Baschama, he slewe Jonathas and his sonnes there and then turned for to goo home in to his owne lande.

Jonathas & his sonnes are slayne.

Then sent Symon for to fet his brothers bed corse, and buryed it in Modin his fathers cytye. So all Israel bewayled hym in greate lamentacyon, and mourned for hym very longe. And Symon made vpon the sepulcre of his father and his brethren a buylding hygh to lohe vnto of fre stone behynde and before: and set vp seuen pylers ouer agaynst an other, for his father, his mother & foure brethren, and set great pylers rounde about, with armes vpon them for a perpetual memory, and carued shippes beside the armes: that they myghte be sene of al sayling in the see. This sepulcre whiche he made at Modin standeth yet vnto this daye.

D Tryphon. Joseph. cap. 18. libr. xiii.

Now as Tryphon went forth to walke ꝑ ꝑ royal kynge Antiochus, he slewe him trayterously, and raygned in his stede, crowned hym self kyng of Asia, and dyd much euell in the lande. Symon also buylt vp the castels in Jewry, makynge them strong with hygh towres, greate walles, portes and lockes, & layd vp vyttayles in the strong holdes. And Symon chose certayne men and sent them to kynge Demetrius: to desyre hym, that he wolde discharge the land from all bondage, for Tryphon had spoyled it very sore. Where vpon Demetrius the kynge answered hym, and wrote vnto hym after this maner.

Demetrius the kynge sendeth greetynge vnto Symon the hygh preste his frend with the elders & people of the Jewes. The golde crowne and preyous stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receyued: and are ready to make a stedfaste peace with you, yea and to wryte vnto oure officers, for to release you, concernynge the thynges wherin we made you free: and the appoyntmente that we make with you, shall be fyrme and stable. The stronge holdes which ye haue buylded, shall be youre owne. As for any oure fygbte or faute committed vnto this daye, we forgyue it, and the crowne tax that ye ought vs also. And where as was ayre other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall nowe be no tribute: and loke who are mete amonge you to be in our courte, let the be wryten vp, that there maye be peace betwyxte vs.

Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken ℭ frō Israel, in the hundreth thyrtie seuen yere. And the people of the Jewes began to wryte in theyr letters and actes on this maner. In the fyrst yere of Symon the hye prest, and prynce of the Jewes.

In those dayes went Symon vnto Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp ordinaunce of warre. And wan a towre which he toke. So they that gat in to the towre leapte in the cytie, whiche was in a greate feare: In so moche that the people of the cytie rente theyr clothes, and clymed vp vpon the walles with theyr wyues and chyldren, beseechynge Symon to be at one with them: saynge.

℟ Oh warde vs not after oure wyckednesse, but be gracious vnto vs, and we shall do the semper. Then Symon for very pyte, wolde fyght no more agaynste them, but put them out of the cytie, and caused the houses (wherin the Images were) to be clensed: and so entred the cytie with Psalmes of prayse, gyuynge thankes vnto the Lorde. So when he had cast all abhominacyons oute of the cytie, he set such men in it as kepte the lawe of God and made the cytie stronge, and buylded a dwellynge place for hym selfe.

Now when they in the castell of Jerusalem were kepte so straytlye, that they coulde not come forth ne in to the countrey, & might neither bye ne sell: they were verye hungrye, and many of them famyshed to death: In so moche that they besought Symō to be at one with them, whiche he graunted them. So he put them out from thence, and clensed the castell from fylthynesse. And vpon the .xxiii. day of the seconde moneth in the hundreth. lxxi. yeare, they entred into it with thankes gyuynge and braunches of palme trees, with harpes, cymbales, and lutes singing Psalmes, and songes of prayse vnto God, for that the great enemy of Israel was ouercome.

And Symon ordeyned that the same daye shoulde be kepte euerye yere in gladnesse, and made stronge the hyl of the temple that was beside the castell, where he dwelte him selfe with his company. Symon also perceyuinge that John his sonne was a mygbtye man of armes, made him capitayne of all the hoste, and caused him to dwell at Gaza.

℄ Demetrius is ouer come of Arsaces. Symon to ℄ ge capitayne there is a great ruyne in Israel. The couenaunt of frendshyp with the Romaynes & with the people of Sparta is renued.

CAPI. XIIII.

IN the .cxl. yere gathered kynge Demetrius his hoost, and departed vnto Cyrria to get hym helpe for to fyght agaynst Tryphon. Now when Arsaces the kyng of Persia & Media herd, that Demetrius was entred within his borders: he sent one of his princes to take hym alyue, and to bryng hym vnto hym. So he wente and slewe Demetrius hoost, toke hym selfe, brought him to Arsaces whiche kepte hym inwarde. And all the land of Juda was in rest, so long as Symon lyued for he sought the welth of his people, therfore were they glad to haue hym for theyr ruler and to do hym worshyp alwaye. Dem. is take Symon wan the cytie of Joppa also for an hauen towne, and made it an entraunce in to the Iles of the see. He enlarged the borders of his people, and conquered them more lande: he gathered vp many of theyr people that were prysoners he had the dominion of Gaza, Bethsura and the castell, which he cleansed from fylthynes, and there was no man resysted hym: So that euerye man tylled his grounde in peax, the lande of Juda and the trees gaue theyr fruite and increace. The elders sat all in iudgement, and toke there ℬ wyse for the weithe of the lande: the yonge men put on worshyp and harnes vpon them. He prouyded vyttayles for the cities & made goodly stronge holdes of them: so that the fame of his worshyp was spoke of vnto the ende of the worlde. For he made peax throw oute the lande, and Israel was full of myrth and ioye.

Euery man sat vnder his vyne & fygtrees and there was no man to fray them awaye. There was none in the land to fight against them, for then the kinges were ouercome. He helpid those that were in aduersytye amonges his people he was vyrgēt to se the law kept: as for such as were vngodly & wycked he toke the away. He set vp the Sanctuarye and increased the holy vessels of the temple.

Whē the Romaynes and Spartyans had gotten word that Jonathas was dede, they were sygbte sory. But when they herde that Symon his brother was made hygh prest in his stede, and howe he had won the lande ageyne with the cytyes in it: they wrote vnto hym in tables of latyne, to renue the frendshyp and bonde of loue, which they had made afore with Judas and Jonathas his brethre. Whiche wrytynges were red before the congregacyon at Jerusalem.

And this is the copye of the letters, that the Spartyans sent: The Senatours and cytyzyns of Sparta sende gretynge vnto Symō & ℄ greate prest & the elders, prestes, & other people of the Jewes their brethren: Whē your embassadoures that were sent vnto oure people, certified vs of your worshyp, honour

ꝓsperous wealth: we were glad of their cõmyng, and have written the errande which they spake before the counsell of the people:
namelye, that Numenius the sonne of An-tiochus, and Antipater ꝑ sonne of Jason, the Jewes embassadours are come vnto vs, for to renue the olde frendshyp with vs. Upon this the people consented, that the men should be honorably intreated, and that ꝑ copy of their errande should be wrytten in the speciall bokes of the people, for a perpetuall memorye vnto the Spartianoures and that we should sende a copy of the same vnto Symon ꝑ great preest.

D After this dyd Symon sende Numenius
vnto Rome, with a golden shylde of a thousande pounde weight to confyrme the frend-shyp with them: which when the Romaynes vnderstode, they sayd: what thankes shall we recompence agayne vnto Symõ and his chil-dre? For he hath stablyshed his brethren, and ouercome the enemyes of Israel. Wherefore they graũted him to be free. And al this wrote the Jewes in tables of latyne, and nayled it vnto the pyllers vpon the mount Syon. The copy of the wrytynge is this.

The .xviii. daye of the moneth Elul in the
.clxxii. yere, in the thyrde yere of Symon the hye preest, in the great congregacyõ of the prestes, rulers of the people, and elders of ꝑ coũtrey at Asarame, were these wordes openly declared.

E For so moch as there was moch warre in our lande, therfore Symon the sonne of Ma-thathias (come of the chyldren of Jarib) and his brethren, put them selues in preyll, and resysted the enemyes of their people: ꝑ their sanctuarye and lawe myght be maynteyned, and dyd their people great worshyp. Jona-thas in lyke maner, after that he had gouerned his people and bene their hye preest: died,
and lyeth buryed beside his elders.

After that wold their enemyes haue treed-den their holy thynges vnder fote, destroyed their lande, and vtterlye wasted their Sanc-tuarye. Then Symon withstode them, and fought for his people, spet moch of his owne money, wapened the valeaunte men of his people, gaue them wages, made stronge the cyties of Juda, with Bethsurah, that lyeth vpon the borders of Jewrye (where the ooynesmet of their enemyes laye somtyme) and set Jewes there for to kepe it.

F He made fast Joppa also, which lyeth vpõ
the see, and Gaza that bordereth vpon Azotus (where the enemyes dwelte afore) and there he set Jewes to kepe it: & what so euer was mete for the subduynge of the aduersaryes, that layed he therin. Nowe when the people sawe the noble actes of Symon, and what worshyp he purposed to do for them, his godly behauioure, and faythfulnesse whiche he kepte vnto them, and howe he sought by all wayes the wealthe of his people, because he dyd all this, therfore they chose hym to be their prynce and hye preest. And in his tyme they prospered well by hym, so that the heathen were taken out of their lande and they also whiche were in the cytye of Dauid at Jerusalem in the castell (where they went out and defyled all thynges that were about ꝑ Sanctuary) and dyd great harme vnto clenynes, and Symon put men of the Jewes in it for the defence of the lande and the cytye, & set vp the walles of Jerusalem.

And kynge Demetrius confyrmed hym in G his hye preesthode, made hym his frende, and dyd hym greate worshyp. For he herde that the Romaynes called the Jewes their frend bres louers & brethren: how honorably they receyued Symons embassadours: how ꝑ Je wes and preestes consented that he shulde be their prynce & hygh preest perpetualye (tyll God rayse vp the true prophet) and that he shulde be their captayne, to care for the San ctuary, and to set officers vpon the workes therof, ouer the land, ouer the wepons, ouer
the houses of defence, to make prouysion for the holy thynges and to be obeyed of euery man, & all the wrytynges of the lande to be made in his name: that he shulde be clothed in purple and golde, & that it shulde be lau-full for none of the people nor preestes to bre-
ake any of these thynges, to withstand his wor
des, ne to call any congregacyon in the land without hym: that he shulde be clothed in purple, & weare a coler of gold. And yf there were any whiche disobeyed or brake eyes ordynaunce that he shulde be punyshed.

So all the people consented to alow Symon, and to do accordynge to these wordes.
Symon also him selfe toke vpon hym, and was content to be the hye preest, the captayne and prynce of the Jewes and preestes, and to governe them all. And they commaunded to make this wrytynge in tables of latyn, and sasten it vnto the compasse of the Sanctuary in an open place: and to laye vp a copy of the same in the treasury, that Symon and his po steryte myght haue it.

¶ Antiochus maketh a cournaunte of frendshyppe with Symon, and Tryphon is persecuted. The Ro maynes wryte letters vnto kynges and nations in the defence of the Jewes. Antiochus requyreth the helpe that Symon sente hym, breaketh his couenaunte.

CAPI. XV.

M Oreouer, kynge Antiochus the sonne of H
Demetrius sent letters from the Iles of the see, vnto Symon the hygh preest and prynce of the Jewes, and to all the people, conteynynge these wordes: Antiochus the kynge sendeth gretynge vnto Simon the hygh preest and to the people of the Jewes. For so moch as certayne wycked men haue gotten the kyngdome of our progenytours, I am purposed to chalenge the realm again and to restore it to the olde estate.

Wherfore I haue gathered a greate hoost and made shyppes of warre: that I maye go thorow the the countrey, & be auenged of the whiche haue destroyed oure lande, and wa-

ded many cytes in my realme. And therfore now I make the fre alle from all the tybutes, wherof all kynges my progenytours haue discharged the, and from their customes (wherefrom they haue released the) what so euer they be: Yea I gyue the leue to coyne moneye of thyne owne within thy lande. As for Ierusalem, I will that it be holye and free: and all the weapons and houses of defence whiche thou hast buylded and kepest in thyne handes, shall be thyne. Where as any 20 thynge is or shall be owyng vnto the kynge. I forgyue it the, frome this tyme forthe for euermore. And when we haue obtayned oure kyngdome, we shall do the, thy people, and the temple greate worshyp, so that youre honoure shall be knowen thorow out the hole worlde.

In the .xvi. yere went Antiochus in to his fathers lande, and all the men of warre came together vnto hym, so that fewe were left with Tryphon. So the kynge Antiochus folowed vpon hym, but he fled vnto Doza, which lyeth by the see syde: for he sawe that there was myschefe commyng vnto hym, and that his hoost had forsaken hym. Then came Antiochus vnto Doza with an hundreth and twentye thousande men of armes vpon fote, and eyght thousande horsmen. So he compased the cytie rounde about, and the shyppes came by the see. Thus they vexed the cytie by lande and by water, in so moch that they inffred no man to go in nor out.

In the meane season came Numenius (and they that had bene with hym) from the cytie of Rome, hauynge letters wrytten vnto the kynges and prouynces, wherin were conteined these wordes: Lucius the Mayre of L Rome sendeth greetynge vnto Ptolomye the kynge. The embassadours of the Iewes, our frendes beynge sent from Symon the hyghe prest and from the people of the Iewes, came vnto vs, for to renue the olde frendshyp, and bonde of loue, and broughte a shylde of golde weyenge a thousande pounde, whiche were content to receyue of them. Wherfore we thought it good to wryte vnto the kynges and prouynces, to do them no harme, nor to take parte agaynst them, their cytes ne countreys neither to mayntaine their enemyes agaynst them. If there be any wycked persons therfore fled frome their countrey vnto you, delyuer them vnto Symon the hye prest, that he may punish them accordyng to their owne lawe.

The same wordes wrote the Romaynes also vnto Demetrius the kynge, to Attalus, Ariaba, Arsaces, and to all regions: as Hamsames, to them of Sparta, Delo, Mindo, Sycion, Caria, Samos, Pamphilia, Licia, Halicarnassum, and to the Rhodes, to Phaselis Cos, Syde, Arado, Gortina, Gnidum, to Cipres and to Cyren. And of euerye letter they
P sent a copy to Symon the hyghe prest and to the people of the Iewes. So Antiochus the kynge besieged his hoste vnto Doza the seconde tyme, to take it: where he made diuers ordinaunce of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he shoulde not come forth. Then sent Symon Antiochus two thousand chosen men to help hym with gold, syluer and other precious gere: Neuertheles he wolde not receyue theym but brake all the couenaunte whiche he made with Symon afore, & withdrewe hym self from him.

He sente Athenobius also a frende of his vnto Symon, for to reason with hym sayinge: Ye withholde fro me Joppa & Gaza (with the castell that is at Ierusalem) which are cytyes of my realme, whose borders ye haue destroyed and done greate euyll in the lande, hauynge the dominacyon in manye other places of my kyngedome. Wherfore delyuer now the R cytyes whiche ye haue taken with the tybutes of the places that ye haue rule vpon without the borders of Iewrye: Or elles gyue me .v. hundreth talentes of syluer, yea and for the harme that ye haue done in the cytyes and for the tybutes of the same, other .v. C. talentes. If no, we shal come and fyght agaynst you.

So Athenobius the kynges frende came to Ierusalem, and when he sawe the greate worshyp and honoure of Symon in gold, syluer, and so greate plenty of ornamentes: he marueyled, and told Symon as the kynge commaunded hym. Then answered Symon and sayde vnto hym: As for vs, we haue not Jnia ther taken other mens lande, ne withholden them, but onely oure fathers heritage, whiche our enemies had vnrighteously in possessyon a certayne tyme.

This heritage, of our father haue we chalenged in processe of tyme. And where as the complaynt concernynge Joppa and Gaza, they dyd greate harme to oure people and in our lande yet will we gyue an hundreth talentes for them.

Neuertheles Athenobius answered hym
S not one worde, but cursed agayns worshypfully vnto the kynge, and told hym all these wordes, and the greate dygnyte of Symon with all that he had sene, and the kyng was very angrye. In the meane tyme fled Tryphō by shyp vnto Orthosiada. Then the kynge made Cendebeus captayne of the see coste & gaue hym an hoost of fotemen and horsemen cōmaundyng hym to remoue the hoost towarde Jewrye, and to buylde vp the cyty of Cedrō, to make vp the portes, and to warre agaynst the people of the Iewes. As for the kyng him self, he folowed vpon Tryphon. So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to vexe the people to trade downe Jewrye, to take the people prysoners, to slay the and to build vp Cedron: where he set horsemen & other men of warre, that they myght come forth & go thorow the stretes of Jewry, lyke as the kynge had commaunded hym.

¶ Cendebeus the captayne of Antiochus hoost is put to flyght of the sonnes of Symon Ptolomeus the sonne of Abubus kylleth Simon and his .ii. sonnes at a banchet. Johan kylleth them that lye in wayte for his lyfe.

CAP. I.

CAPL. XVI.

A Then came Jhon vp from Gaza, & tolde Symon his father what Cedebeus had done amonge their people. Upon this called Symon two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and Jhon, and laid vnto them: I & my brethren and my fathers house, haue euer fro our youth vp vnto this daye, foughten agaynste the enemyes of Israell, and God gaue vs good fortune to deliuer Israell ofte tymes. And now for so moche as I am olde, be ye in stede of me and my brother, go forth and fyght for our people, and the help of God be with you. So he chose twenty. M. fyghtyng men of the countrey, & horsemen also which went forth agaynst Cendebeus and rested at Modyn.

In the morning they arose and went in to the playn feld: and beholde, a mighty great host came agaynst them, both of foremē and horsemen. Now was there a water broke betwixt them, and Jhon remoued the hoste towarde them. And when he saw that ꝑ people was afrayd to go ouer ꝑ water broke he wēt ouer fyrst him selfe: and the men seinge this folowed him.

B Then Jhon set his horsemen & foremen in order the one by the other, for their enemyes horsemen were verye many. But when they blew vp & the prestes trompets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, wherof many were slayn and the remnaunte gat them to their stronge hold. Judas also Jhons brother was wounded at the same time. And Jhon folowed fyrst vpon the ennemies, til he came to Cedrō whi che he builded. The enemies fled also vnto ꝑ towres that was in the feldes of Azotus, and thofe dyd Jhon burne vp. Thus there were slayn two thousand men of them, & Jhon turned agayn peaceably to Jury.

And in the feld of Jericho was Ptolomy ꝑ C sonne of Abobus made capiteyn, which because he had abundance of syluer and golde (for he had maryed the dougter of Symon the hye prest) waxed proude in his mynde, & thought to conquere the land, ymagining falsehed against Symon and his sonnes, to destroy thē. Now as Symon was going about thorowe the cities that were in the countrey of Jury, and caring for thē, he came down to Jericho with Mathathias & Judas his sonnes, in the C.lxxvii. yere. in ꝑ. xi. moneth called Sabat. Then Ptolomy the son of Abobus receyued thē (but with deceyte) in to a strong house of his called Doch, which he had builded, wher he made them a banket.

So when Simon & his sonnes were merye and had dronken well, Ptolomy stode vp & his men (whom he had hyd there) & toke their weapons, entred in to ꝑ banket house, & slew Symon & his two sōnes, and certeyn of his seruauntes. Suche great vnfaythfulnes hyd Ptolomy in Israel, & recompensed euyll for good. Thē wrote this Ptolomy the same vn to king Antiochus, requiryng him ꝑ he shold send him an host to helpe him, and so shold he deliuer him the land, with the cities and tributes of the same. He sent other men also vn to Gaza, for to take Jhon: and wrote vnto the capitaynes to come to hym, and he sholde gyue them syluer, golde, and rewardes. And to Jerusalem he sent other to take it and the Sanctuary. Symon is slayne.

Then ran there one before, & told Jhon in D Gaza, ꝑ his father & his brethren were slayn, and how that Ptolomy had sent to slē him also. When Jhon herde this, he was sore abashed, & layde handes of them that were come to destroye him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kil him.

As for other thinges concerning Jhon: of his warres, of his noble actes (wherin he behaued him selfe manfully) of the buylding of walles which he made, and other of his dedes: they are wrytten in the cronicles of his prestehode, fro the tyme forth ꝑ he was made hye prest after his father.

THE II. BOOKE OF THE MACHABEES.

¶ An Epistle of the Jewes that dwelt at Jerusalē sent vnto them which dwelte in Egypt, wherin they exhorte them to geue thankes for the deathe of Antiochus. Of the fyre that was hyd in the pyt. The prayer of Nehemias.

CAPI. I.

THe brethren of the Jewes which be at Jerusalem, & in the lād of Jurye, wish vnto those brethrē of the Jewes þ are throwout Egipt: good fortune peith and peare.

God þ Lorde be gracious vnto you, & thynke vpon his couenaūt þ he made w Abrahā, Isaac & Jacob his faithful seruantes, and gyue you al such an herte, that ye may loue & serue him: yea & performe his wil with an hole hert & a willing minde: be open your hertes in his law, and in his cōmaundementes, sende you peare: heare youre prayers, be at one with you, & neuer forsake you I time of trouble. This is here our prayer for you.

What time as Demetrius raigned in the Cxlix. yere, we Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violēce þ came vnto vs. In those yeres after that Jason departed oute of the holy lande and kyngdome, they brent vp the portes, & shed innocent bloude. Then made we oure prayer vnto the Lorde, and were herd: we offred and lighted the candels, setteyng forth cakes and breed, and now com ye vnto the feast of tabernacles in the moneth Casleu.

In the. Cxxxviii. yere the people that was at Jerusalem and in Jurye, the counsell and Judas him selfe, sent this holsome salutacīō vnto Aristobolus kynge Ptolomys master, which came of the generacion of the annoynted prestes, and to the Jewes that were in Egypte: In so moche as God hathe deliuered vs frome greate perils, we thanke him highly, in that we resisted so myghty a king. And whyle he brought men out of Perlis by heapes to fyght agaynst vs and the holy cyte. For as he was in Perlis (namely the capitayne with the great hoste) he perysshed in the temple of Nanea, being disceyued thorow the deuice of Naneas prestes. For as he was purposed to haue dwelte, there Antiochus and his frēdes came thyther to receyue moche money for a dowrye. So when Naneas prestes hadde layde forthe the money, he entred with a small companye in to the compasse of the temple, and so they shut the temple.

Now whē Antiochus entred by opening þ priuy entraunce of the temple, the prestes moued the capitern to deth, hewed the in peces that were with him, smote of theyr heedes, and threwe them out in all thynges. God be praysed, which hath deliuered the wicked in to our handes.

Where as we now are purposed to kepe þ purification of the tēple vpon the. xxv. daye of the moneth Casleu, we thought necessarye to certifye you therof, þ ye also might kepe the tabernacles feast day, and the day of the fire which was giuen vs when Nehemiah offred after þ he had set vp the temple and the aulter. For what tyme as our fathers were led away vnto Perlis, þ prestes which thē soughte the honour of God, toke the fyre priuely frō the aulter, & hyd it in a valey, where as was a depe dry pyt, and therin they hepte it, bycause the place was vnknowen to euery mā. Now after many yeres whē it pleased God that Nehemiah sholde be sent from the kyng of Perlia, he sente the children children of those prestes (which had hyd the fyre) to seke it. And as they tolde vs they founde no fyre, but thycke water. Then commaunded he them to drawe it vp, and to bryng it hym, & the offerynges with all. Nowe when the sacrifices were layde on and ordred, the preest Nehemiah commaunded to sprynckle them and the wod with the water. Whē this was done, and þ tyme come that the sunne shone whiche afore was hyd in the cloude: there was a great fyre kyndled. In so moche that euery man merueyled. Nowe all the prestes prayed whyle the sacrifyce was a makynge. Jonathas prayed fyrste, and the other gaue answere.

And Nehemias prayer was after this maner: O Lorde God, maker of all thinges, þ fearful and strong, thou ryghtous and mercyfull, thou that art only a gracious kynge, onely lyberal, onely iust, almighty and euerlastyng, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, thou that hast chose the fathers and halowed them: receyuyng the offerynge for the hole people of Israel, preserue thyne owne porciō, and halow it. Gather thyse togither that are scatred abrode from vs: deliuer thē that are vnder the heathens bondage, loke vpon them which are despised and abhorred that the heathen may know and se, how that thou art our God: Punish thē that oppresse, and proudlye put vs to dishonoure. Set thy people agayne in thy holy place, like as Moses hath spoken.

And the prestes song Psalmes of thankesgyuynge, so longe as the sacrifice endured.

Now when the sacrifice was brent, Nehemiah cōmaunded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water. Whiche whē it was done, there was kyndled a flame of them also: but it was consumed throwe the lyghte that shyned frome the aulter. So when this mater was knowen, it was tolde the kynge of Perlia, that in the place where the prestes which were led awaye, had hyd fyre, there appered water in stede of fire, and that Nehemias & his company had purified the sacrifices withall. Then the kyng con-

syderynge and ponderynge the mater dylygently, made him a temple to proue the thing ꝓ was done. And when he found it so in dede, he gaue the prestes many gyftes, and dyuers rewardes, yea he toke the with his own hand and gaue them. And Nehemias called ꝓ same place Nephthar, which is as moch is say, as a clensyng: but many men cal it Nephi.

Of howe Jeremye hyd the tabernacle, the Arche, and the aultar in the hyll. Of the fyue bokes of Jason conteyned in one.

CAPI. II.

IT is found also in the wrytinges of Jeremy the prophet, that he commaunded the which were caryed away to take fyre, as it is sayd afore. He commaunded them also, that they sholde not forget the law and commaundementes of the Lorde, and that they shold not erre in their myndes, when they se ymages of syluer and golde with their ornamentes. These and suche other thynges commaunded he them, and exhorted them, ꝓ they shold not let the law of God go out of theyr hertes.

It is wrytten also, how the prophet (at the commaundement of God) charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke with them: and he went forth vnto ꝓ mountayne, where Moses clymed vp, and sawe the heritage of God. And when Jeremy came there, he founde an open caue, wherin he layd the tabernacle, the arke, and the aulter of incense, & so stopped the hole. Then came certayne men together also folowynge hym, to marche the place, but they coulde not fynde it. Whiche when Jeremye perceyued, he reproued them sayinge: As for that place it shall be vnknowen, vntyl the time that God gather his people together agayne, and receyue them vnto mercy. Then shal God shew them these thinges, and the maiestie of the Lord shal appere and the cloud also, lyke as it was shewed vnto Moses, and lyke as when Salomon desyred that the place might be sanctified, and it was shewed hym.

For he being a wyse man, handled honourably and wysely offrynge vnto God in ꝓ halowing of the temple when it was fynished. And like as whē Moses prayed vnto ꝓ Lord the fyre came downe from heuen and consumed the burnt offring: Euen so prayed Salomon also, and the fyre came downe from heuen, and consumed the burntofferyng. And Moses said: bicause the synofring was not eaten, therfore it is consumed. In like maner Salomon kept the dedicacion, or halowing, eyght dayes.

In the annotacions and wrytinges of ꝓ Jeremye were these thynges put also: & how he made a lybrary, and how he gathered out of all countreys the bokes of the prophetes, of Dauid, the epistles of the kinges, & of the presentes. Euen so Judas also, lyke what he lerned by experience of war, & suche thinges as hath happened vnto vs, he gathered thē al together, and so we haue thē by vs. If ye now desyre to haue the same, sende some body to fetche them vnto you. Where as we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you. Therfore ye shal do well yf ye kepe the same dayes. We hope also that the God (which deliuered his people, & gaue them al the heritage, kyngdome priesthode & Sanctuary that he promised the in the law) Deute. xvi. 6 shal shortly haue mercy vpō vs, & gather vs togither frō vnder the heuen in to his holye place: for he hath saued vs frō great perils, and hath clensed the place.

As cōcernyng Judes Machabeus and his brethren, the purificacion of the great temple, D

from heuen vpon those, which manfully defended the Jewes. For though they were but few, yet defended they the hole land, droue away the enemies hoste, recouered agayne the temple ꝓ was spoken of thorow out all the worlde, deliuered the city, doing their best ꝓ the law of the Lorde which was put downe might vp all tranquillitie be restored agayne vnto the Lorde that was so mercyfull vnto them. As touchyng Jason also of Cyren, we haue vndertaken compendiously to bryng in to one boke, the thinges that were comprehended of him in fyue. For we considerynge the multitude of the bokes, & how hard it sholde be for them that wolde medle with storyes & actes (and that bicause of so dyuers maters) haue vndertaken so to cōprehend the storyes that such as are disposed to rede, might haue pleasure and pastyme therin: and that they which are diligēt in such thinges, might the better thynke vpon them: yea & that who so euer rede them, might haue profit therby.

with this matter for the shortenynge of it, haue taken no small labour, but great dylygence, watchinges & trauayle. Lyke as they that make a feast wolde fayne do other men pleasure: Euen so we also, for many mens sakes, are very well content to take the labour, where as we may shortly comprehend the thynges that other men haue truly wryten.

For he that buyldeth an house anew, must prouyde for many thynges to the hole buylding: but he ꝓ payneth it afterward, seketh but only what is comly, mete, and cōuenient to garnysh it withall. Euen so do we also in lyke maner. And why? he that begynneth to wryte a story for the fyrst, must with his vnderstandynge gather the mater togyther, set his wordes in order, and diligently se to out of euery parte: But he that afterwarde wil shorten it, vseth fewe wordes, and toucheth not the mater at the largest. Let this be sufficient for a prologe, now we wyll we begyn to shew the mater: for it is but a folysh thynge to make a long prologe, and to be shorte in ꝓ storye it selfe.

Num. 4. Cor

¶ Of the honour done vnto the temple by the kynges of the Gentyles. Symon wyttereth what treasure is in the temple. Heliodorus is sent to take them away. He is stryken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

CAPI. III.

¶ What tyme as the holy city was inhabited in al peace and welth, and when the lawes were yet verye well kepte, (for so was it ordeyned by Onias the hye preest, & other godly men that were enemies to wyckednesse.) It came therto that euen the kynges and prynces theym selues dyd the place great worshyp, and garnished the temple wt great gyftes: In so moche þ Seleucus kyng of Asia, of his own rentes bare all the costes belongynge to the seruyce of the offerynges. Then Symon of the tryde of Benjamin, a ruler of the temple, laboured to worke some myschiefe in the cutye: but the hye preest resysted hym.

Neuertheles whē he might not ouercome Onias, he gat him to Appolonius the son of Therta which then was chiefe lorde in Celosyria and Phenices) and told him that the treasury in Jerusalem was ful of innumerable money, & how that the commons gooddes, which belōged not vnto the offrynges, were exceadynge great also: yea, and how it were possible that all these myght come vnder the kynges power.

Now when Appolonius hadde shewed the kyng of the money, as it was tolde him: the kyng called for Heliodorus his stewarde, and sent hym with a commaundement to bynge him the same money. Immediatly Heliodorus toke his iourney, but vnder a colour, as though he wolde goo thorow Celosyria and Phenices to visyt the cityes, but his purpose was to fulfyl the kynges pleasure. So whē he came to Jerusalem, and was louyngly receyued of the hye preest in to the city, he tolde what was determyned concerninge the money, and shewed the cause of his commynge: he asked also if it were so in dede. Then the hye preest tolde hym that there was such money layd vp for the vpholdyng of wydowes and fatherlesse children, and how that a certayne of it belōged vnto Hyrcanus Tobias a noble man: and that of al the money (whiche that wycked Symon hadde bewrayed) there were foure hundred talentes of syluer, and two hundred of golde: yea, and that it were vnpossible for those mens meaninge to be disceyued, that had layde vp their money in the place and temple, which is had in worshyp thorowe the hole worlde, for the maynteynaunce and honoure of the same. Wherunto Heliodorus answered, that þ kyng had commaunded him in any wyse to bryng hym the money.

So at the daye appoynted, Heliodorus entred in to the temple to order this matter. But there was no smal fear thorowout the hole city. The preestes fel downe before the aulter in their vestimentes, and called vnto heuen vpon hym, whiche had made a lawe concernyng suche gyuen to kepe, that they shold be safely preserued for suche as commyt the vnto keppynge. Then who so had loked the hye preest in the face, it wold have grieued his herte: for his countenaunce and the chaungynge of his colour, declared the inwarde sorow of his mynde. The man was al in heuynesse, and his body in feare: whereby they that loked vpon him, might perceyue þ greefe of his herte. The other people also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was lyke to come in to confusion. The women came togyther thorow the stretes with heery clothes about their breastes.

The virgyns also that were kepte in, ran to Onias, some to the walles, other some loked oute of the wyndowes: yea, they all helde vp their handes towarde heuen, and prayed. A mysserable thynge was it to loke vpon the common people, and the hye preest beinge in suche trouble. But they besoughte almyghty God, that the goodes which were commytted vnto them, myghte be kepte hole for those that had deliuered them vnto their keppynge. Neuertheles the thynge that Heliodorus was determined to do, that perfourmed he in the same place, he hym selfe personally beinge about the treasurye with his men of warre. But the spirite of almighty God shewed hym self openly, so that al they whiche presumed to obeye Heliodorus, fell thorow the power of God in to a great fear fulnesse and drede. For there appeared vnto them an horse, with a terrible man sytteynge vpon him, dect in goodly aray, and the horse smote at Heliodorus with his fore fete. Now he that sate vpon the horse hadde harnesse of golde vpon hym.

Moreouer there appered two fayre & beautyful yong men in goodly aray, which stode by him, scourged hym of bothe the sydes, and gaue hym many stripes thout ceasing. With that fel Heliodorus sodeynly vnto þ ground. So they toke him vp, being compassed about with great darknes, and bare him out vpō a beare. Thus he þ came with so many rūners and men of warre in to the sayde treasurye was borne out, where as no man myght help hym: and so the power of God was manyfest and knowen. He laye styll domme also by the power of God, destitute of all hope & lyfe. And they prayed the Lorde that he had shewed his power vpon his place and temple whiche a lytle afore was full of feare & trouble: and that thorowe the reuelacion of the almyghty Lord, it was fylled with ioy and gladnesse.

The certeyn of Heliodorus frēdes prayed Onias, that in all haste he wolde call vpon God, to graunt hym his lyfe, which was gyuynge vp the ghost. So the hye preest considered the matter, and lest the kyng shulde suspecte that the Jewes had doone Heliodorus some euyll, he offred an heliteoffeynge for hym. Now when the hye preest had obteyned his peticion, the same yonge men in the same clothyng clothinge appeared and rode beside Heliodorus, saying: Thanke Onias the hie preest, for, for his sake hath the Lorde graunted the thy life: therefore seing that God hath scourged the, giue him prayse and thankes, & shewe euery man his myght and power. And when they had spoken these wordes, they appeared no more.

So Heliodorus offered vnto God, made great vowes vnto him which had graunted him his lyfe, thanked Onias, toke his host, & went againe to the kynge. Then testified he vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had sene with his eyes. And when the kyng asked Heliodorus who were mete to be sent yet ones againe to Jerusalem, he said: yf thou hast any enemy or aduersarye vnto thy realme, send him thither, and thou shalt haue him punished, yf he escape with his lyfe: for in that place, no doubt, there is a special power and working of God. For he þ dwelleth in heuen, visiteth and defendeth that place: & al that come to hurt it harme, he punisheth and and plageth thē. This is now the mater concerninge Heliodorus, and the keppynge of the treasury at Jerusalem.

Symon reporteth euyll of Onias. Jason desyrynge the office of the hye preest, corrupteth the kyng with rewardes. The wycked meanes of Jason.

CAPI. IIII.

This Symon now, of whom we spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money, & of his owne naturall countrey, reported the worst of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and as though he had ben a bringer vp of euyl. Thus was he not ashamed to cal him an enemy of þ realme that was so faythfull an ouerseer and defender of the citye and of his people: yea, and so feruent in the lawe of God. But when the malice of Symon increased so far, that throw his frendes there were certeyn mā slaughters commyted: Onias considered the perill þ might come throw this strife, and how that Appolonius (namely the chiefe lorde in Celosiria and Phenices) was al set vpon tyranny, & Simons malice encreased the same: he gat him to the kyng, not as an accuser of the citezins, but as one that by him self intended the commō welth of the hole multitude. For he saw it was not possible to liue in peace, neither Simon to leaue of frō his folishnesse except the kinge did loke therto. But after þ death of Seleucus, when Antiochus (which is called the noble) toke the kyngdome: Jason þ brother of Onias laboured to be hye preest: For he came vnto the kynge, and promysed hym thre hundred and. ix. talentes of syluer, and of the other rentes. xxx. talentes. Besides this, he promysed hym yet an. C. and. l. if he myght haue the scole of the children, and that he myght call them of Jerusalem Antiochians. Which when the kyng had graunted and he had gotten the superioritie, he began incontinently to draw his kinsmē to the custom of the heathen, put downe the ordynges that the Jewes had set vp of loue, by John the father of Eupolemius, which was sent embassadour vnto Rome, for to make the bonde of frendshyp & loue. He put downe al the Jewes and Libertyes of the Jewes, and set vp the wycked statutes. He durste make a fyghtyng scole vnder the castel, & set fayre yonge men to learne the maners of hoores and bis beastes.

This was now the beginninge of the heathenish and straunge conuersacion, brought in throw the vngracious and vnhered wyckednes of Jason, which shold not be called a preest but an vngodly person. In so moche þ the preestes were nowe no more occupied about the seruice of þ aulter, but despised the temple, regarded not the offringes: yea gaue their diligence to lerne to fight, to wrastle to leape, to daunce, and to put at the stone: not settynge by the honour of the fathers, but liked the glory of the Grekes best of all: for the which they stroue perlously, & were ready to folow their statutes: yea their lust was in all thinges to be lyke them, whiche afore were their enemis and destroyers. How be it to do wickedly against the lawe of God, shal not escape vnpunished: but of this we shal speke hereafter.

What tyme as the Olympiades sportes were playeb at Tyrus (the kinge him self being present) this vngracious Jason sent wicked men, bearinge from them of Jerusalem, which now were called Antiochians, three. C. drachmes of syluer for an offring to Hercules. These had they that caryed them desired vnder suche a facion, as though they shulde not haue be offred, but bestowed to other vses. Neuertheles he that sent them, sent thē to the intent that they shulde be offred vnto Hercules. But because of those that were present, they were gyuen as to the maintenynge of shippes. And Appolonius the son of Menestheus was sent in to Egypte, because of the nobleme of kynge Ptolomy Philometor. Nowe when Antiochus perceyued that he was put out from medlynge in the realme, he sought his owne profyte, departed from thence, came to Joppa, and then to Jerusalem: where he was honourably receyued of Jason, and the citye, and was brought in with torche light & with great prayse, and so he turned his hoste vnto Phenices.

After thre yere Jason sent Menelaus, the forsaid Simōs brother, to beare the money vnto the kyng, and to bringe hym answere of other necessarye maters. But he (when he was praysed of the kyng for magnifying of his power) tourned the preesthode vnto hym selfe, layinge vp thre hundred talentes of syluer for Jason. So when he had gotten commaundementes frō the kinge, he came hauynge nothing that becommeth a preest, but bearing the stomache of a cruel tyraunt, & the wrath of a wylde beest. Then Jason, whiche had disceyued his owne brother, seinge that he him selfe was beguyled also, was fayne to flee into the land of the Ammonites, and Menelaus gat the dominion. But as for the money that he had promised vnto the kyng, he dyd nothing therin, when Sostratus ꝑ ruler of the castell required it of him. For Sostratus was the man that gathered the customes: wherfore they were both called before the kyng: Thus was Menelaus put oute of the preesthod, & Lysimachus his brother cam in his stede. Sostratus also was made lorde of the Cyprians.

¶ It happened in the meane season, that the Tharsians and Mallocians made insurrection, bycause they were gyuen for a present vnto kynge Antiochus concubyne. Then came the kynge in all the haste to stylle them agayne, and to pacifye the mater, leauynge Andronicꝰ ther to be his deputie as one mete therfore. Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a ryghte conuenient tyme, stole certayne vessells of golde oute of the temple, and gaue them to Andronicus for a present: and some he sold at Tyrus, and in the cities therby.

Which when Onias knewe of a surety, he reproued hym, but he kepte him in a Sanctuary beside Daphnis that lyeth by Antioche. Wherfore Menelaus gat hym to Andronicus, and prayed him ꝑ he wolde slee Onias. So when he came to Onias, he counseyled him craftely to come out of the Sanctuary, gyuyng him his hande with an othe (how be it he suspecte hym) and then he slewe Onias, without any regarde of rightousnesse. For the whiche cause not onely the Jewes, but other nacions also toke indignacion, and were displeased for the vnryghteous deathe of so godly a man.

¶ And when the kyng was come again from Cilicia, the Jewes and certein of the Grekes went vnto him, complayning for the vnrighteous deth of Onias. Yea Antiochus him self was sory in his mynde for Onias, so that it pitied him, and he wept, remembryng his sobernesse & mannerly behauiour. Wherfore he was so kyndled in his mynde, that he cõmaũded Andronicus to be stripped out of his purple clothyng, and so to be led thorow out all the cite: yea and the vngracious man to be slain in the same place where he cõmitted his wickednesse vpõ Onias. Thus the Lorde rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued. Now when Lysimachus had wrought many wicked dedes in the temple, thorow the counsell of Menelaus, and the voyce came abrode: the multitude gathered the togither agaynst Lysimachus, for he hadde caried oute nowe moche golde.

So when the people arose and were full of displeasure, Lysimachus armed thre. M. vnthriftes to defend hym, a certeyn tyraunt beginge their capitayne, whiche was growen both in age and wodnesse. But when the people vnderstode the purpose of Lysimachus, some gat stones, some good strong clubbes, & some caste asshes vpon Lysimachus. Thus there were many of the wounded, some being slayne, and al the other chased away. But as for the wycked churche robber him self, they killed hym beside the treasury. Of these matters therfore there was kept a court against Menelaus. Now when the kyng came to Tyrus, they made a complaint vnto him of Menelaus concernynge this busynesse, and the embassadours were there. But Menelaus went & promised Ptolomy to giue him moch money, yf he wold persuade ꝑ kyng. So Ptolomy went to the kyng into a coure where as he was set to coole hym) & brought him oute of that mynde. In so moche that he discharged Menelaus frõ the accusacions, that not withstandyng was cause of al mischief: and those poore men, which if they had told their cause: yea before the Scithians they sholde haue ben iudged innocent, them he condemned to deth.

Thus were they sone punished, which folowed vpõ the mater for the city, for the people, and for the holy vessell. Wherfore they of Tyrus toke indignacion, and buryed the honourably. And so thorow the courtousnes of them ꝑ were in power, Menelaus remayned stylle in auctoritie, increasyng in malyce to the hurt of the citezyns.

¶ Of the synnes and tokens seue in Jerusalem. Of the ende and offence of Jason. The pursute of Antiochus agaynst the Jewes. The spoylynge of the temple.

CAPL. V.

¶ AT the same time Antiochus made him redye to goo agayne in to Egypte.

Then were there seue at Jerusalem forty dayes long, horsemen runnyng to and fro in the ayre, which had rayment of golde and speres. There were seue also bolde hostes of men, weaponed, and horses rennynge in an order, how they came togyther, how they held forth their shyldes, how they harnessed men drewe out their swerdes and shet their dartes.

The shine of the golde wepons was seue, and of al maner of armure. Wherfore euery man prayed that those tokens myght tourne to good. Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had ben dead: Jason toke a. M. men, and came sodenly vpon the city. The citezins ran vnto the walles, at the last was the citye taken, & Menelaus fled in to the castel.

As for Jason he spared not his owne citezyns in the slaughter, neither consydered he what great euyll it were to destroye the prosperitie of his own kynsmen, but did as one that had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his frendes. For all this gate he not the superioritie, but at the laste receyued confusion for his malyce, and fled agayne lyke a vacabounde, in to the land of the Ammonites.

Finally, for a reward of their wickednesse he was accused before Aretha the kynge of ꝑ Arabians: In so moche that he was layne to flie from citye to citye, beynge despysed of euery euery man as a forsaker of the lawes, and an abominable persone. And at the last (as an open enemye of his owne naturall countrie and of the citezens) he was dryuen in to Egypt.

Thus he that afore put many out of theyr owne natyue land, perished from home him self. He went to Lacedemon, thynkyng there to haue gotten succoure by reason of kynred. And he that afore had caused manye one oute vnburied, was throwen out him self, no man mournynge for hym, ne puttynge hym in his graue: so that he neither enioyed the burial of a straunger, neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulcre.

E Now when this was done, the kynge suspect that the Jewes wolde haue fallen from hym: wherfore he came in a great displeasure out of Egypt, and toke the cytie by violence. He commaunded his men of warre also, that they shoulde kyll not spare, but slaye whome such as withstode them, & clymed vp vpō the houses.

Thus was there a great slaughter of yong men, olde men, women, children and virgyns. In the dayes were there slayne. lxxx M. foure thousand put in prison, and no lesse solde. Yet was he not content with this, but durst go in to the most holy temple (Menelaus that traytour to the lawes and to his owne naturall countrey, beynge his gyde) and with his wycked handes toke the vessell, which other kynges and cyties had gyuen thether for the garnyshyng and honoure of the place: them toke he in his handes vnworthely, and defyled them.

D So mad was Antiochus, that he considered not, howe that God was a lytell wroth for the synnes of them that dwelt in the cite, for the which, such confusiō came vpō that place. And why? yf it had not happened che to haue bene lapped in many synnes (this Antiochus as soone as he had come) had sodeynly bene pumysshed, and shot oute for his presumption, lyke as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the kynge sent to robbe the treasury. Nevertheless, God hath not chosen the people for the places sake, but the place for the peoples sake: and therfore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterwarde shall it enioye the wealth of them. And lyke as it is now forsaken in the wrath of almighty God, so when the greate God is reconcyled, it shall be set vp in brode worshyp agayne.

So when Antiochus had taken a. M. and viii. C. talentes out of the temple, he gat him to Antioche in all the haste, thynkynge in his pryde, that he myght make me sayle vpon the drye land, and to go vpon the see, such an hye mynde had he. He left deputyes there to vexe the people: At Jerusalē left he Philip a Phrygian, in maners more cruel then him self that set him there: At Garyzim he left Andronicus and Menelaus, which were more grenous to the cytezens che other. Now as he was thus set in malyce agaynst the Jewes, he sent Apollonius an hated prynce, with. xxii. M. cōmaundynge him to slaye al those that were of perfect age, and to sell the women, maidens, and children. When he came now to Jerusalem, he layned peace, and kepte hym styl vntyl the Sabboth daye. And then he cōmaunded his men to take them to their weapons (for the Jewes kepte holy daye) and so he slewe all them that were gone forth to the open play, runnynge here and there throwe the cyte with his men weaponed, and murthered a great nombre. But Judas Machabeus whether was the fourth, fled into the wyldernesse, led his lyfe there with his compayne among the wylde beastes and vpon the mountaynes dwelling there, and eatynge grasse, lest they shold be partakers of the pitchynes.

¶ The Jewes are compelled to leaue the lawe of God. The temple is defyled. The traders are monyshed that they shall not abhorre the abhorrynge wherwith the Lorde alfasheth them. The grenous payne of Eleazarus.

CAPI. VI.

NOt longe after this, sente the kynge a E messenger of Antioche, for to compell the Jewes to alter the ordynaunces of the fathers and the lawe of God, to defyle the temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the temple of Jupiter Olimpius: and that they shulde be in Gezarim, as those which dwell at the place of Jupiter the hebetoune. This wycked sedicion of the vngodlye was drue vpon all the people: for the temple was full of voluptuousnes, bibbynge and bowlyng of the heathen, of cythandes and harlots togyther. The women wente in to the holye place, and bare in that was not lawfull. The alter also was ful of vnlawful thynges wherwith the lawe forbyddeth to laye vpon it. The Sabbothes were not kept, the other solēne feastes of the land were not regarded. To be playne, there durst no man be acknowen yf he was a Jewe. In the daye of the kynges birth they were compelled perforce to offer: & when the feaste of Bachus was kept, they were constrayned to were garlandes of yuye and so to go about for the honoure of Bachus.

Moreouer there: owt of ptolomy, there went out a cōmaundement in to neyghbour cytyes of the heathen, that they shuld intreat the Jewes in lyke maner: namely to compell them for to be sacrifyce after the lawes of the Gentiles: & who so wold not, to put the to death. A pitteous thyng was it to se. There were. ii. women accused to haue circūcised their sonnes, whome when they had led rounde about the cyty (the babes hāgyng at their brestes) they cast them down headlynges ouer the walles. Some that were crept in to the caues and kepte the Sabboth, were accused vnto Philip, & brent in the fyre: because that for the feare of God they kepte the cōmaundment so strytly & wold not defend the selues. Now I desyre al those which rede this boke, that they refuse it not for these sclaūders of aduersyte: & iudge that thinges (that are happened) for no destruction, but for a chastysynge of our

of our people. And why? Whē God suffereth not sinners long to folow their owne minde, but shortly punysheth them, it is a token of his greate louynge kyndnesse. For this grace haue we of God more then other people, that he suffereth not vs longe to synne vnpunished lyke other nacyons, that whan the daye of iudgement commeth, he maye punysshe them in the fulnesse of their synnes. If we syn, he correcteth vs, but he neuer withdrawyth his mercy frō vs: and though he punysshe with aduersytie, yet wyll he neuer forsake his people. But let this that we haue spoken nowe with few wordes, be for a warnynge and exhortacion of the heathē. Now wyll we come to the declarynge of the matter. Eleazar one of the princypall Scribes, an aged man and of a welfauoured countenaunce, was constrayned to gape wyde open mouth, and to eate swynes flesh. But he desyrynge rather to dye glorious dye then to lyue with shame, offred hym selfe wyllynge dye to the martyrdome. Nowe when he came that he must nedes go to it, he toke it pacyently: for he was at a poynt with him selfe, that he wold consent to no vnlawfull thing for any pleasure of lyfe. They that stode by being moued with pytie (but not aryght) for the olde frendshyp of the man, toke him aparte priuely, and prayed him that he wolde let such flesh be brought him as were lawful to eate, and then to make a countenaunce as though he had eaten of the flesh of the sacrifyce lyke as the kynge commaunded, for so he might be delyuered from death: and so for the olde frendshyp of the man, they shewed hym this kyndnesse. But he beganne to consyder his discrete and honorable age, his noble and worshyppfull flocke, and howe that from his youth vp he had bene of an honest and good conuersacyon yea and how constantly he had kept the ordynaunces and lawes cōmaunded by God, wherfore he gaue the this answere, and sayde: Yet had I rather tyll be layed in my graue. For it becōmeth not myne age (sayd he) in any wyse to dissemble, whereby manye yonge persons myghte thynke, that Eleazer being .lxxx. yere olde, were gone to a straunge lyfe: and so thorow myne yprocrisy (for a lytle tyme of a transitory lyfe) they myght be deceyued: by this meanes also shoulde I defyle myne age, and make it abhominable. For though I were now delyuered from the tormentes of men, yet shoulde I not escape the hand of almyghty God, neither alyue ne dead. Wherfore I wyll dye manfully, and do as it becommeth myne age: Wherby I maye peraduenture leaue an example of stedfastnesse for suche as be yong, yf I with a redy mynde and manfullye dye an honest deathe, for the most worthy and holy lawes.

When he had sayd these wordes, immediatlye he was drawen to the tormente. Nowe they that led him and were myne a litle afore began to take displeasure because of the wordes that he sayde: for they thought he had spoken them of an yll mynde. But whē he was in his martyrdom, he mourned & sayd: Thou O Lorde, whiche hast the holye knowledge, knowest openly: that where as I myghte be delyuered from death, I suffre these sore paynes of my body: but in my mynde I am well content to suffre them, because I feare the. Thus this man dyed, leuynge the memoryall of his death for an example not onelye vnto yong men, but vnto all the people, to be stedfast and manly.

CAPI. VII.

IT happened also that there were seuen brethren (with their mother) taken & compelled by the kynge agaynst the law to eate swynes flesh, namelye with scourges & lethren wyppes. And one of them which was the chiefe, sayde: What seekest thou, and what requyrest thou of vs? As for vs, we are ready rather to suffre death, then to offende the lawes of God & the fathers. Then was the kynge angry, and bad heate cauldrons & brasen potters. Whiche when they were made hote, immedyatly he commaunded the tong of hym that spake fyrste to be cut out, to pull the skyn ouer his heade to pare of the edges of his hādes and fete ryght & that in the sight of his mother and the other of his brethren. Now when he was cleane mayned, he commaūded a fyre to be made, & so (whyle there was any breath in hym) to be fryed in the cauldrō In the which when he had bene longe payned, the other brethren with their mother exhorted hym to dye manfullye, sayinge: The Lorde God shall regarde the truth, and comforte vs, lyke as Moses testifyeth and declareth in his songe, sayinge: and he wyll haue compassion on his seruauntes.

So when the fyrste was deed after this maner, they brought the seconde to haue him in derision, pulled the skynne with the heer ouer his heed, and asked hym, yf he wold eat swynes flesh, or he were payned in the other membres also thorow out his bodye. But he answered boldly, and sayde: I wyll not do it. And so was he tormented lyke as the fyrst & when he was euen at the gruynge vp the ghost he sayde: Thou moost vngracyous person puttest vs now to death, but the kyng of the worlde shall rayse vs vp (which dye for his lawes) in the resurrection of euerlastynge lyfe.

After hym, was the thyrde had in derysyon: and when he was requyred, he put oute his tonge, and that ryght soone, & holdynge forth his handes manfullye, and spake with a stedfast sayeth: These haue I of heuen, but now for the lawe of God I despyse them, for my trust is, that I shall receyue them of him again. In so much that the kyng & they whiche were with him, marueled at the yōg mans boldnes, that he nothyng regarded the paynes.

Now when he was deed also, they vexed the fourth with tormentes in lyke maner. So when he was nowe at his death, he sayd: It is better that we beynge put to death of men haue our hope and trust in God, for he shall rayse rayse vs vp agayne. As for ȝ, thou shalt haue no resurrection to lyfe.

And when they had spoken to the fyrst, they tormented him. Then lokid he vnto the kyng, and sayd: thou hast power among men, for thou arte a mortall man also thy selfe, to do what thou wilt, but thynk not, that God hath forsake our generacyon. Abyde the, tary styll a whyle, and thou shalt se the great power of God, how he wyll punish the and thy sede. After him they brought the fyrth, which beyng at the poynt of death, sayd: Be not deceyued (O kynge) for this we suffre for oure owne sakes, because we haue offended oure God, and therfore merueilous thinges are wrought vpon vs. But thynke not thou, whiche takest in hande to stryue agaynst God, that thou shalt escape vnpunyshed.

This excellent mother (worthye to be well reported of, and had in remembraunce) sawe her seuen sonnes dye in one daye, and suffred it paciently, because of the hope that she had in God: yea she exhorted euery one of them in especyal, and that boldly and stedfastly with parfyte wysdome, wakynge vp her wymysshe thought with a manlye stomacke, and sayde vnto them: I can not tell how ye came in my wõbe, for I neither gaue you breth ne soule, no nor lyfe. It is not I that ioyned the membres of your bodyes together, but the maker of the worlde, whiche fashioned the byrth of man, and began all thynges. Euen he also of his owne mercy shall gyue you breth and lyfe agayne, lyke as ye nowe regarde not youre owne selues for his sake.

Now thought Antiochus that he had despysed him, therfore he let her go with her reprowes, and began to exhorte the yongest son (which yet was lefte) not only with wordes, but sware vnto hym with an oothe, that he should make hym a ryche and welthye man yf he wolde forsake the lawes of his fathers: yea and that he shold gyue hym: what soeuer were necessary for him. But when the yonge man wold not be moued for al these thinges, he called his mother, and counsiled her to saue her sonnes lyfe. And whē he had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she wolde speake vnto her son. So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyraūt to scorne: and spake in a dolfe voyce: O my sonne, haue pytie vpon me that bare the. ix. monethes in my wombe, that gaue the sucke, norished the and brought the vp vnto this age.

I beseche the (my sonne) loke vpon heauen and earth and all that is therin, and cõsydre, that God made them and mans generacyon of nought: so shalt thou not feare this hangman, but suffre death stedfastlye, lyke as thy brethre haue wone: that I maye receyue the agayn in the same mercy with thy brethren.

Whyle she was yet speaking these wordes the yong mā sayd: Whom loke ye for? Wherfore do ye tary? I wyll not obeye the kynges cõmaundement, but the law that God gaue vs by Moyse. As for the that ymagynest all myschefe agaynst the Iewes, thou shalte not escape the handes of God, for we suffre these thynges, because of our synnes.

And though God be angry with vs a lytle whyle (for our chastenynge and reformacyon) yet shall he be at one agayne with his seruauntes. But thou, O shameful and most abhominable person. Pryde not thy selfe thorow vayne hope, in beynge so malycyous vpon the seruauntes of God: for thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of the God whiche is almyghtye and seeth all thynges. Oure brethren that haue suffred a lytle payne are now vnder the couenaunt of euerlastyng lyfe: but thorowe the iudgemente of God, thou shalte be punyshed ryghteously for thy pryde.

As for me, lyke as my brethren haue done, I offre my soule and my body for the lawes of our fathers, callynge vpon God, that he wyll soone be mercyfull vnto our people yea and with payne and punyshment to make the graunt, that he only is God. In me now and in my brethren the wrath of almyghtye God is at an ende, whiche ryghteously is fallen vpon all our people. 1. Macha. 12

Then the kynge beynge kyndled in angre was more cruel vpon hym then vpon all the other, and toke it dignacion, that he was so lyghtly regarded. So this yonge man dyed vnoffred, and put his trust styll in the Lorde. Laste of al after the sonnes, was the mother put to death also. Let this now be ynough spoken cõcernyng the offrynges, and extreme cruelnes.

¶ Judas gathereth togyther his hoste. Nycanor is sente agaynste Judas. Judas exhorteth his soudyers to constaūnes. Nicanor is ouerthrowe. The Iewes gyue thankes after they haue put their ennemyes to flyght, deuydynge the spoyles vnto the fatherles and vnto the wydowes. Nicanor sleyth himself. 2. Macha. 8

CAPI. VIII.

THen Judas Machabeus and they that were wt him, went pryuelye in to the townes called them kynsfolkes and frendes togyther, toke vnto them al such as continued yet in the fayth and law of ȝ Iewes & brought forth. vi. thousande men.

So they called vpon the Lorde, that he wolde haue an eye vnto his people: whiche was troden downe of euery man: to be gracyous vnto the temple, that was defyled of the vngodlye to haue compassyon vpon the destruction of the cytye whiche was shortlye lyke to be layde waste: to heare the voyce of the bloude that cryed vnto hym: to remembre the moste vnryghteous deathes of yonge innocent chyldre & the blasphemyes also done vnto his name, and to punysh them.

Nowe when Machabeus hadde gathered this multytude togyther, he was to myghty for the heathen, for the wrath of the Lorde was turned into mercye, he fell vpon ȝ townes and cityes at vnwares, brente them tokt the moste commodious places, and slewe many of the ennemyes. But specyally he made such chases by nyght in so moche that 1. Macha. 9

his manlinesse was spoken of euery where.

W Ho when Philip saw that the man increased by lytell and lytell, and that the matter prospered with hym for the moost parte: he wrote vnto Ptolomy (which was a captayne in Celosyria and Phenices) to helpe hym in the kynges busynesse. Then sent he Nicanor Patrocly (a specyall frende of his) to all the haste, and gaue him the common sorte of the Heathen no lesse then xx. M. harnessed men, to rote out the hole generacyō of the Jewes, hauyng to helpe him one Gorgias a man of warre, whiche in matters concernynge battayles had greate experience. Nycanor ordeyned also the tribute (which the Romaynes shuld haue had) to be gyuen vnto ℣ kyng, out of the captiuytie of the Jewes, namely, iij. M. talētes. And immediatly he sent to the cytyes of the see coost, requyryng them for to bye Jewes to be they? seruaunters and bonde men, promysyng to sell them. lxxx. for one talente, but he consydered not the wrath of almyghtye God, that was come vpon him.

When Judas knew of this, he tolde the L Jewes that were with him of Nicanors cōmyng. Nowe were there some of them fearefull, not trustynge vnto the ryghtousnesse of God and fled they? wayes.

But the other that remayned, came togyther and besought the Lord, to deliuer them from that wycked Nicanor, which had solde them or euer he come nye them: and thought he wolde not do it for they? sakes, yet for the couenaunt that he made with they? fathers, and bycause they called vpon his holye and glorious name. And so Machabeus called his men togyther, namely aboute fyue thousande, exhortyng them not to agree vnto their enemyes, neyther to be afrayed for the multitude of their aduersaryes comming agaynst them vnryghtously: but to fyght manlye, consyderynge the iniurie that they had done vnto the holy place without cause, how they had defyled and oppressed the cytie, yea and destroyed the lawes of the fathers. For they sayde he, trust in they? weapons and boldenesse, but oure confydence is in the almyghtye Lorde, which in the twynklyng of an eye maye bothe destroye them that come agaynst vs, and all the worlde.

He exhorted them also to call to remembraunce, the helpe that God shewed vnto they? fathers: as when there perished an hundreth foure score and fyue thousande of Sennacheribs people: And of ℣ battayle that they had in Babylō agaynst the Galatyans: how that all the Macedonyans that came to helpe them, stode in feare: and how they beyng but only fyue. M. slewe an hundreth and twenty thousand, thorow the helpe that was gyuen them from heauen, wherby they also had receyued many benefytes.

Thorow these wordes, the men toke good hertes vnto them, ready to dye for the lawe and the countrey. So he set vpon euery company a captayne, one of his owne brethren: Symon, Joseph and Jonathas: gyuyng eche fyftene hundreth men. He caused Esdras also to reade the holy boke vnto them, & to gyue them a token of the helpe of God.

Then he hym self beyng captayne in ℣ foreI. Mach.
front of the battayle, buckled with Nicanor. And God was their helpe, in so moche that they slew about. ix. M. men, & compryled the more part of Nicanors host to flee, they were II
so wounded and sicke. Thus they toke the money from those that came to bye them, & followed vpon them on euery syde. But whē the tyme came vpon them they returned, for it was the Sabboth, and therfore they folowed nomore vpon them. So they toke their weapons and spoyles and kept the Sabboth gyuynge thankes vnto the Lorde which had holpen them that daye, and shewed them his mercye. After the Sabboth they deuyded the spoyles to the syche, to the fatherlesse and to wydowes, and the residue had they they selues with them. Whē this was done and they al had made a general prayer: they besought the mercyfull Lorde to be at one with his seruaunts. Numer.xxxi. & Deut.xx.

Of those also that were with Timotheus and Bachides, which fought agaynste them they slew. xx. M. wanne byrds and strong holdes, and deuyded moo spoyles: euen gyuyng an equal porcyon vnto ℣ syche, to ℣ fatherles to wydowes and to aged persons. And whē they had dyligently gathered their weapōs togyther, they layde them all in conuenient places, & the remnaunt of ℣ spoyles brought they to Jerusalem. They slewe Philarches that wicked persone, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed many Jewes. And when they helde the thankesgeuynge at Jerusalem for the victory, they brent those that had set fyre on ℣ portes of ℣ temple: namely Calisthenes, whiche was fled in to an house and so they gat a worthye rewarde for their wyckednes. As for that moost vngracyous Nicanor, whiche had brought a thousande marchaunts, to by the Jewes, he was thorowe the helpe of the Lorde brought downe euen of them whom he regarded not: in so moche that he put of his glorious rayment fled by lye and came alone to Antioch, with greate shame and dyshonoure, which he gat thorow the destruction of his hoost. Thus he that promysed the Romaynes to pay them their tribute, when he toke Jerusalem: began now to say playnely, that God was the defender of the Jewes, and therfore not possyble to wounde them because they folowed the lawes whiche God had made. CAPI. IX.

A T the same tyme came Antiochus a- I gayne with dyshonour out of Persis. I.Mach.vi For when he came to Persepolis, and vndertoke to rob the temple & to subdue the

cyte

cytye, the people ran togyther and defended them selues, in so moch that he and his were fayne to fle with shame. And so after ꝑ tyght, it happened, that Antiochus came agayne wᵗ dyshonour. But whē he came to Egbathana, he gat knowlege what was happened vnto Nycanor and Tymotheus. Nowe as he was auaunceyng him self in his wrath, he thought he was able to auenge the iniury that was done to them vpon the Jewes: and therfore commaunded to make ready his charret, hastynge on his iourney without ceasynge, the iudgement of God prouokynge hym, because he had spoken so proudly, that he wold come to Jerusalem, and make it a graue of the Je-wes. But ꝑ Lorde God of Israel, that stryk
all thynges, smote him wᵗ an vnsyghtly plage, which no man coulde heale.

For as soone as he had spoken these wor-des, there came vpon hym an horyble payne of his bowels, & a sore grefe of the charmes.
And that was but ryght: for he had martyred other mens bowels with dyuers and straūge tormentes, howe be it, he wolde in no wyse cease from his malyce. Yea he was yet the prouder and more malicyous agaynst the Je-wes: But whyle he was commaundynge to make haste in the matter, it happened that he fell howne vyolentlye frome the charret, so that it brosed his body, and dyd him great payne.

And so he that thought he myght commaunde the floudes of the see (so proude was he beyonde the condicyon of man) and to wey
the hyghe mountaynes in a payre of scales, was now brought howne to the ground, and carred vpon an horsfetter, knowledgynge the manyfest power of God vpon hym: so that the wycked body of his was full of wormes,
which in his payne fell quyck out of his flesh:
In so moche that his hoost was greued with the smell and stynke of hym. Thus he that a lytle afore thought he myght reache to the starres of heauen, hym myght no man nowe abyde ne beare, for the vehemence of stynche.

Therfore he beynge brought frō his great pryde, began for to come to the knowledge of hym self: for the punyshment of God warned hym, and his payne increased euer more and more. And when he him self myght not abyde his owne stynke, he sayd these wordes: It is reason to be obedyent vnto God, and that a man desyre not to be lyke vnto hym. This wycked person prayed also vnto the Lorde, of whome he shoulde haue obtayned no mercy.
And as for the cytie that he came vnto so hastely, to bynge it howne to the grounde, and to make it a graue for dead men: now he desireth to deliuer it free.

And as touchyng the Jewes whom he had iudged not worthye to be buryed, but wolde haue caste theym oute to be deuoured of the foules and wild beastes, sayeng: that he wold haue destroyed both the olde and yonge: Now
he promyseth, to make them lyke the cytezins of Athens. And where as he had spoyled the holy temple afore, nowe he maketh promyse to garnysh it with greate gyftes, to increase the holy ornamentes, and of his owne rentes
to beare the costes, and charges belonge-yng to the sacrynges: yea and that he wold
also become a Jewe hym self, to go thorow euery place of the worlde and to preach the power of God.

But when his paynes wolde not ceasse, (for the ryghteous iudgement of God was cum vpon hym) out of a verye despayre he wrote vnto the Jewes a lette of intercessiō conteynynge these wordes: The kynge and prynce Antiochus wysheth vnto ꝑ vertuous cytezyns of the Jewes, moche health & good prosperytye.

If ye and youre chyldren fare well, and
yf all thynges go after your mynde: we gyue greate thankes. In my sickenesse also be ye re membre you louyngly: for as I came oute
of Persia, and was taken with sore dysease:
I thought it necessary to care for the comen wealth. Neither despayre I in my self, but haue a good hope to escape this sickenes.

But consyderynge that my father sed in hooste samtyme in the hyghe places, and he whō who shulde raygne after hym, that (yf
there happened any thyng vnlouely, or any hard thynge were declared) they in the lād myght knowe they: chiefe lo; de, that there shuld be no insurrection: Agayne, when I pondre by my self, how that all the myghtye men and neyghbours rounde about, are laying wayt
and lokyng but for opportunytye to do harme:
I haue ordeyned that my sonne Antiochus
shal raygne after me whom I oft commended to many of you, when I was in the hyghe kyngdomes, and haue written vnto hym as it followeth hereafter. Therfore I praye you and requyre you, to remembre the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally and in especyall. For I hope that he shal be of lowe and louynge behauyour, and if he folow my deuyce, he shall be indyfferent vnto you.

Thus that murtherer and blasphemer of God was sore smytten: and like as he had intreated other men, so he dyed a myserable death in a straunge countrey vpon a mountayne. And his bodye dyd Philyp (that went with hym) carye awaye: which fearynge the sonne of Antiochus, went in to Egypte to Ptolemy Philometor.

CAPI. X.

MAchabeus now and his company (the lowe the helpe of the Lorde) won the

ed the aulters and chapelles that the Heathen hadde buylded thorowe the stretes: clē-

set forth the incense, the lyghtes and the weydred. When that was done, they fell downe flat vpō the grounde, and besought the Lord that they might come nomore in to such trouble: but yf they synned any more agaynst hym, he hym selfe to chasten them with mercy, and not to come in the handes of those blasphemous and blasphemous men.

Now vpon the same daye that the straun-gers polluted the temple, it happened that on the verye same daye it was clensed agayne:
namely, the two and twenty day of the mo-neth called Casleu. They kepte eyght dayes
1. Mach. iii. ¶ in gladnesse, lyke as in the feast of the tabernacles: remembrynge that not longe afore,
they helde the feaste of the tabernacles vpon
the mountaynes and in dennes lyke beastes.
And to the same token they bare grene bowes, braunches and palmes before hym that had gyuen them good fortune to clense his place. They agreed also together, and made a statute, that euery yere those dayes shulde be solemnly kepte of all the people of the Je-wes.

Now Antiochus then (that was called the noble) dyed, it is sufficiently tolde. Now wyll
we speake of Nicanor the son of that wicked Antiochus, how it happened with hym: and so with fewe wordes to comprehende the ad-uersytie that chaunsed in the warres. When he had taken in the kyngdome, he made one Lysias (which had bene capitayne of the hoste in Phenices and Syria) ruler ouer the matters of ꝯ realme. For Ptolomy that was called Macron, being a ruler for the Jewes, and specyally, to syt in iudgement for such wrong
as was done vnto them, vndertoke to deale peaceably with them. For the which cause he was accused of the frendes before Eupator:
and when he was suspecte to be a traytour (because he had lefte Cypres, that Philometor had committed vnto hym: and bycause
he departed from noble Antiochus, that he was come vnto (he poysoned hym selfe, and dyed.

Nowe when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he take straungers and vnder
take ofte tymes to warre with the Jewes.
Moreouer the Idumeans that helde ꝯ strong
1. Mach. v. a holdes, receyued those that were dryue from Jerusalem, and take in hande to warre also.
But they that were with Machabeus, besought and prayed vnto the Lorde, that he wolde be their helper: and so they fell in to ꝯ stronge holde of the Idumeans, and wonne
many places by strength: suche as came a-gaynst them they slew, and kylled no lesse (of all together) then twenty thousande. Ouerye selfe some, no lesse then nyne thousande, were fled in to two stronge towers, hauynge
all maner of ordynaunce to withstande them.

Then Machabeus leauynge Symon, Josephus, Zacheus and those that were with them (which were very many) wet to besege them, and to fyght where nede was. Nowe they that were with Symon beyng led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money, tho-row treasure of those that lay in the towres:
take .lxx. M. Drachmas, and let some of the escape. But when it was tolde Machabeus what had happened, he called the capitaynes of the people together accusynge those personnes, that they had solde the brethren for money, and let their enemyes go. So he slew those traytoures, and immedyatlye wente in hād with two. ij. towers. And when they had ordred them selues manly with their weapons ꝯ handes, they slewe in the two castels more then twenty. M.

Now Tymotheus whom the Jewes had ouercome afore, gathered a multytude of straunge people, brought an hoste also of horsemen of the Asians, to wynne Jewry by strength. But when he drewe nyghe, Machabeus ꝯ they that were with hym fell to their prayer, sprynkled ashes vpon their heades, beinge gyrded with heery cloth aboute their loynes, fell downe before the aulter and besought the Lorde that he wolde be mercifull
to them, but an enemye vnto their enemyes,
and to take parte agaynst their aduersaryes accordynge as it is prouyded in the lawe. So after the prayer they went on further from ꝯ cytye: and when they came nye the enemyes
they prepared them selues agaynst them.

And by tyme in the morninge at ꝯ breake
of the day, both the hostes buckled together.
The one parte hadde the Lorde for their refuge which is ꝯ gruet of prosperyty strength and victory. The other had a manly stomach which is a captayne of war.

The battayle now beynge greate there appeared vnto the enemyes frome heauen .v.
men vpon horsebackes with bridels of golde
ledynge the Jewes, ꝯ two of them hauynge Machabeus betwyxte them that kepte him safe on euery syde with their weapons but shot dartes and lyghtenynges vpon the ene-myes: wherethorow they were confounded with blyndnes and so sore afrayed, that they fell downe. There were slayne of footemen twenty thousand and fyue hundreth, and .lx.
hundreth horsemen. As for Tymotheus hym selfe, he fled vnto Gazar a very stronge holde wherin Cereas was captayne. But Machabeus and his company layd syege to it cheerfully .iiij. dayes.

Now they that were within trusteynge
to the strength of the place, cursed and banned cruelyngly, and made greate crakynge with wycked wordes. Neuertheles vpon the fifth day in the morninge .xx. yonge men of Machabeus company being set on fyre in their mynd
because of the blasphemy: came manfully vnto the wall, ꝯ with bolde stomaches they and their companyons clymed vp vpon the towres, vndertakynge to set fyre vpon the poeple ꝯ to burne those blasphemous persons quick. Two dayes were they destroying ꝯ castell whiche when they founde Timotheus (that was crepte in to a corner) they kylled him, ꝯ slewe Cereas his brother in lyke maner with Apollophanes. When this was done they songe Psalmes, with prayses and thankesgeuynges vnto the Lorde: which had done so greate thynges for Israel, and gruen

CAPI. XI.

NOt long after this Lysias the kynges ferwarde and a kynsman of his, which had the gouernaūce of his matters, tooke sore displeasure, for the thinges that had happened: & when he had gathered. lxxx. M men of fote with all the horse of the horsemen, he came agaynst the Jewes thynking to wynne the city to make it an habitacion for the gentyles, and the temple wolde he haue to be an house of lucre, lyke as the other goddes houses of the heathen are, and to sell the prestes office euery yere: Not consyderynge the power of God, but was wylde in his mynde, trustynge in the multitude of footemen, in thousandes of horsemē, and in his foure score Elephantes.

So he came in to Jury and then to Bethsura (a castel of defence lying in a narow place fyue furlonges from Jerusalem) and wan it. Howe when Machabeus and his compayny knew þ the stronge holdes were taken, they fell to their prayers with weepyng and teares before the Lorde, and al þ people in lyke maner besought him, y he wolde send a good aungell to deliuer Israell. Machabeus hym selfe was the fyrst that made him redy to the batell, exhortinge the other that were with hym, to ieoparde them selues, y to helpe their brethren. And whē they were goyng forth of Jerusalem togither with a redy and willing mynd, there appered before them vpon horsebacke a man in whyte clothynge, with harnesse of golde, shakyng his spere. Then they prayed the Lorde all to gether, whiche had shewed them mercye, and were comforted in their myndes, in so moche that they were redy, not only to fyght with men, but with the most cruel beastes: yea, and to run thorowe walles of yron.

Thus they went on willyngly hauyng an helper from heuen, and the Lorde mercyfull vnto them. They fel mightely vpon their enemies like lyons, brought vnder. xi. M. fote men, sixtene C. horsemen put all the other to flight, many of them being wounded, & some gat awaye naked. Yea Lysias him selfe was layne to lie shamefully, and so to escape. Nertheles the man was not without vnderstanding, but considered by him selfe that his power was minished, and pondred how the Jewes, being defended by the help of almighty God were not able to be ouercom: wherfore he sent them worde, and promysed that he wolde consent to all thynges which were reasonable, and to make the kyng their frend. to the whiche prayer of Lysias, Machabeus agreed, forthynge in all thynges the common welth: and what so euer Machabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Jewes, the kyng graunted it. For there were letters wrytten vnto the Jewes frome Lysias conteynynge these wordes.

Lysias sendeth greetynge to the people of the Jewes. Jhon and Abialon whiche were sent from you, deliuered me wrytinges, and requyred me to fulfyl the thynges, concernynge they errande. Therfore loke what myght be graunted, I certyfyed the kynge therof: and what so euer was conuenyent: I agreed therto: If ye now wyl be fayt ful in the matters, I shall endeuer my selfe hereafter also to do you good. As concernynge other thynges by euery article therof: I haue commytted them to your messengers, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to comen with you of the same, fare ye well: In the hundred and. xxviii. yere, the. xxiiii. daye of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

Nowe the kynges letter conteyned these wordes: kynge Antiochus sendeth greetynge vnto his brother Lisias. For so moch as our father is nowe dead, oure wyll is, that they whiche are in our realme, lyue without any insurrection, and euery man to be dyligente in his owne matters. We vnderstande also, that the Jewes wolde not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the customs of þ Gentyles, but stykly to kepe their owne statutes: for the which cause they requyre of vs also, to let them remayne still by their owne lawes.

Wherfore our mynde is, that this people shalbe in rest: we haue concluded and determined also, to restore them their temple agayne: that they maye lyue accordyng to the vse and custome of their fore fathers: Thou shalt do vs a pleasure therfore, yf thou sende vnto them and agree with them: that when they are certified of our mynde, they may be of good chere, and loke to their own welth.

And this was the letter that þ kyng wrote vnto the Jewes: kynge Antiochus sendeth greetyng vnto the counsell and the other people of the Jewes. If ye fare wel, we haue our desyres for vs, we are in good health. Menelaus came and told vs, how that your desyre was to come downe to youre people, which are with vs.

Wherfore those that wyll come, we gyue them free lyberte, vnto the thyrtye daye of the moneth of Aprill, that they maye vse the meates of the Jewes and their owne lawes, lyke as afore: and none of them by any maner of wayes to haue harme, for thynges done in ignorāunce. Menelaus whome we haue sent vnto you, shall commen with you at large, fare ye well. In the hundred fortye and eyght yere, the fyftene daye of the moneth of Aprill.

The Romaynes also sēt a letter, conteynyng these wordes: Quintus Memius & Titus Manilius embassadours of þ Romayns, send greetyng vnto the people of the Jewes. Loke what Lisias þ kynges kynsman hathe graunted you, we graunt you the same also. But as concernyng the thinges which he referred vnto the king, send hyther some with spede: & ponder the matter diligently among your selues, that we may cast ꝑ best to youre profyte, for we must depart now vnto Antioche, and therfore wryte shortly agayne, ꝑ we maye knowe your mynde: Farewell. In the hundred. xlviii. yere, the fyftene daye of the moneth of Apryl.

¶ Tymotheus troubleth the Jewes. The wycked dede of the Jeppyres agaynst the Jewes. Judas is auenged of them. He letteth fyre on the ꝑte of Jāpnia. The pursuyte of the Jewes agaynst Tymothy. Tymothye is taken and let go vnhurt. Judas pursueth Gorgias. Judas offryng sacrifyce for the dede teweth the hope of the reserrection.

CAPI. XII.

When these couenaūtes were made, Lysias went vnto the king, and the Jewes eylled theyr grounde. But Timotheus Appolonius the sonne of Gemei, Jerome and Demophon the prouost, Nicanor the capitein of Cypers, and they that laye in those places wold not let the iewe in rest & peax. They of Joppa also did euē such a shamful dede: they prayed the Jewes that dwelt amonges them to go with their wiues and childre in to the shyppes which they had prepared, and did vē them, as though they had ought them no euill wyll. For so moche then as there was goone forth a generall proclamacion throwe the city bycause of peax, they consented therto, & suspect nothynge: but when they were gone forth in to the depe, they drowned no lesse then two. C. of them.

When Judas knew of this cruelty shewed vnto his people, he cōmaunded those ꝑ were with him to make them redy, exhortyng thē to call vpon God the righteous iudge: went forthe agaynste those murtherers of his brethre, set fyre in the hauē by night, brent vp ꝑ shyppes, and those that escaped from ꝑ fyre, he slew wt the swerde. And when he had done this, he departed as though he wold come agayne, and rote out all them of Joppa. But when he had goten worde that the Jamnites were minded to do in lyke maner vnto ꝑ Jewes which dwelt among them, he came vpō the Jamnites by night, & set fyre in the hauen with the shyppes, so that the light of the fyre was sene at Jrusalem vpon a two. C. and xl. furlonges.

Now when they were gone frō thence. ix. furlonges in their iourney towarde Timotheus fyue. M. men of fote, and fiue. C. horsmen of the Arabians fought wt him. So whē the battayle was cruell, and prospered with Judas thorow the helpe of God: the residue of the Arabians being ouercome, besoughte Judas to be at one with them, and promysed to gyue hym certeyn pastures, and to do him good in other thynges. Judas thinkyng that they shulde in dede be profitable concerning many thynges, promysed them peax: wherupon they shoke handes, and so they departed to their tentes. Judas went also vnto a cite, which was very fast kepte with bridges seuered round about with walles and dyuers kyndes of people dwellynge therin, called Caspin.

They that were within, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in their store of victayles, that they were the slacker I their doinges, cursing and reuilyng Judas wt blasphemies, and speking such wordes as it becōmeth not. But Machabeus calling vpon the great prince of the worlde (which without any batelrammes or ordinaunce of war, did cast downe the walles of Jericho in the time of Josue) fel manfully vpon the walles, toke the city, and (thorow the helpe of the Lorde) made an exceding gret slaughter: in so moch that a lake of two furlonges brode, which laye therby, semed to flowe with the bloude of the slayne.

Then departed they from thence. vii. C. & fifty furlonges, and came to Taraca vnto ꝑ Jewes that are called Tubieni. But as for Timotheus, they coulde not get him there: for (not one matter dispatched) he was departed from thence, and had lefte certayne men in a very strong hold. But Dositheus & Sosipater, which were capiteyns with Machabeus, slew those that Timotheus had lefte in the house of defence, euen. x. M. mē. And Machabeus prepared him with the. xxx. M. men that were about him, set them in ordre by cōpanyes, and went forthe agaynst Timotheus, which had with hym an hundred and. xx. M. men of fote, two thousande and fyue. C. horsemen.

Whē Timotheus had knowlege of Judas commyng, he sent the women, children & the other baggage vnto a castell called Carnid. (for it could not be won, and was harde to come vnto, the wayes of ꝑ same places were so narow) and when Judas companye came first in sight, the enemies were smitte wt fear thorow the presence of God, whiche seeth all thynges: In so moche that they fleinge one here, an other there, were rather discomfeted of their owne people, and wounded with the strokes of their owne swerdes. Judas also was very cruell in folowing vpon them, punyshyng those vngodly, and slewe. xxx. M. men of them. Timotheus also him selfe fell in to the hādes of Dositheus and Sosipatre whom he besought with many prayers, to let hym go with his lyfe: bycause he had manye of the Jewes fathers and brethren in prysone which, yf they put hym to deth, might be disappoynted. So when he had promised fayethfully to deliuer them agayne according to ꝑ condicion made, they let him go vnhurt forthe helth of the brethre. And when Judas had slayne. xxv. thousande, he went frō Carnion.

Now after ꝑ he had chased away & slayne his enemyes, he remoued the hoste towarde Ephron a stronge city, wherin dwelt many dyuers people of the heathen, and the strong yong

yong men kepte the walles, defendyng them mightily. In this cyty was moch ordinaunce and prouision of dartes. But when Judas & his company had called vpō almighty God, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemyes, they won the cyty and slewe xvi. M. of them & were within. From thence went they to the cyty of the Scithias, which lieth fyue hundred furlonges from Jerusalē. But when the Jewes which were in the cyty certifyed, that the cityzyns dealte louyngly with them: yea and intreated the kyndly in the tyme of their aduersitie, Judas & his company gaue them thankes, deliuryng them to be frendly styl vnto them: and so they came to Jerusalem the fyue feest of the wekes being at hande. And after the feast they went forth agaynst Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea, with three thousand men of fote, and four. C. horsemen. Whiche when they met togyther, it chaunced a fewe of the Jewes to be slayne. And Dositheus one of & Bacenors, a migh tye horseman tooke holde of Gorgias, & wold haue taken hym quycke. But an horseman of Thracia fell vpon hym, & smote of his arme so & Gorgias escaped and fled into Marisa. When they now that were of Gorgias syde, had foughten longe and were werye, Judas called vpon the Lorde that he wold be their helper, and capitayne of the felde: and with that he began with a manly voice to take vp a songe of prayse, and a crye: In so moche that he made the enemyes afraide, and Gorgias men of warre take their flyght. So Judas gathered his hoste, and came in to the cyty of Odolla. And whē the seuenth day came vpon them, they clensed them selues (as the custome was) and kepte the Sabboth in the same place. And vpon the daye folowynge Judas and his company came to take vp the bodyes of them that were slayne, and to burye them in the fathers graues. Howe vnder the cootes of certayne Jewes whiche were slayne they founde iewels that they had taken out of the temple & frome the Idolles of the Jamnyters, whiche thynge is forbydden the Jewes by the lawe. Then euery man saw that this was the cause wherfore they were slayne.

And so euerye man gaue thankes vnto the Lorde for his ryghtous iudgement, whiche had opened the thynge that was hyd. They fell downe also vnto their prayers, and besought God, that the fawte which was made myght be put out of remembraunce. Besides that, Judas exhorted the people earnestly to kepe them selues frō suche syn: for so moche as they saw before their eyes, that these men were slayne for the same offence. So he gathered of euery one a certen, in so moch that he brought togyther two. M. drachmes of syluer, which he sent vnto Jerusalem, & there might a sacrifice be offered for the mysdede. In the which place he dyd wel and right, for he had some consideracion and pondryng of the lyfe that is after this time. For yf he had not thought that they which were slayne did yet lyue, it had ben superfluous and vayne, to make any vowe or sacrifyce for them that were dead. But for so moche as he saw that they whiche dye in the fauoure and byfelde of God, are in good rest and ioye, he thought it to be good and honourable for a reconcylynge, to do the same for those whiche were slayne, that the offence myght be forgyuen.

¶ The commynge of Eupator in to Jewry. The death of Menelaus. Machabeus goyng to fyght against Eupator, moueth his soulduars vnto prayer. He slayeth .xxvii. thousande men in the tentes of Antiochus. Rhodocus the betrayer of the Jewes is taken. Antiochus retaynyth frendship with & Jewes.

CAPL. XIII.

IN the .Clxix. yere gat Judas knowlege, that Antiochus Eupator was commyng with a great power in to Jury, and Lysias the stewarde & ruler of his matters with hym, hauynge an hundred and ten thousande men of fote, fyue thousande horsemen. xxii. Elephauntes, and three hundred charettes. Menelaus also ioyned hym selfe with them, (but with great discrete) and spake fayre to the kynge, not for anye good of the countrey but bycause he thought to haue bene made some greate man of auctoritie. But the kinge of kynges moued Antiochus myndе against this vngodlye person, and Lysias informed the kynge, that this Menelaus was the cause of all myschefe: so that the kyng commaunded to take hym, and (as the maner of them is) to put hym vnto death in the same place.

Menelaus is put to death.

There was also in the same place a towre of fyftye cubytes hyghe, heaped with asshes: but aboue it was so made, that men myght looke downe on euerye syde. Whervnto the kynge commaunded that shamefull persone to be cast among the asshes, as one that was cause of all vngracyousnesse. And reason it was that the vnthryfte shoulde dye suche a death, and not to be buryed: for he had done moch myschief vnto & aulter of God (whose fyre and asshes were holye) therfore was it right, that he him selfe also shold be destroied with asshes.

But the kyng was wod in his mynde, and came to shewe him selfe more cruell vnto the Jewes then his father was: which when Judas perceyued, he commaundrd the people to cal vpon the Lord night & day, that he wold now helpe them also, lyke as he had done alwaye: for they were afrayd to be put from their law, from their naturall countrey, and from the holye temple: and not to suffre the people (which a lytle whyle afore began to recouer) to be subdued agayn of the blasphemous nacions.

So when they had done this togither, & besought the Lord for mercy & weppynge and fasting thre dayes long, flat vpon & ground: Judas exhorted them to make them selues

Fun. 6. redy

ferdy. But he and the elders togither deuised to go forth first with their people, afore the kyng brought his host in to Jurye, and afore he besieged the city, and so to commit the matter vnto God.

Wherfore he ascribed ℣ power of al thinges vnto God the maker of the worlde, exhorting his people to fyght manfully (yea euen vnto deth) for the lawes, the temple, the city, their owne natyue countrey, and to defende the citezins, and set his hoste before Modin.

1. Mach. vi. f He gaue them also ℣ were with him a token of the victory of God, chosing out the mayest yong men, went by nyght in to the kinges pauilion, slew of the host. xiiii. M. men, and the greatest elephantes, with those that sat vpō them.

D Thus when they hadde brought a great feare and rumour amonge the tentes of their enemyes, and all thinges went prosperously with them, they departed in the breake of the daye, God beyng their helper and defender. Now when the kynge perceyued the manlynesse of the Jewes, he wente about to take the stronge places by crafte, and remoued his host vnto Bethsura, whiche was a well kepte house of defence of the Jewes: but they were chased awaye, hurte and discomfited.

5. Mach. xiii And Judas frute vnto them that were in it, suche thynges as were necessarye. In the Jewes hoste also there was one Eleobocus, which tolde the enemyes their secretes: but they sought him out, and when they had goten him, they put hym in prison. After this did the kyng commē with them that were in Bethsura, toke truce with them, departed, & stroke a battayle with Judas, whiche ourtame hym.

E But when he vnderstode, that Phillip (whome he hadde lefte to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antioche) began to rebell agaynst him, he was astonyed in his minde, so that he prided him self to the Jewes, & made them an oth to do what so euer was thought ryght.

Now when he was reconciled with them, he offred, made moch of the tēple, gaue great giftes vnto it, embraced Machabeus making him capitayn & gouernour from Ptolomais vnto the Gerrenes.

Neuertheles, when he came to Ptolomays, the people of the citye were not content with that bonde of frendshyp: for they were afrayde that he wolde breke the couenaunt. Then wente Lysias vp in to the seat and enfourmed the people, shewed them the cause why, and pacifyed theym. So he came agayne to Antioche. This is notyce the matter concernynge the kynges iourneye, and his returne.

¶ By the mocyon of the Lorde, Demetrius sendeth Nicanor to hyt the Jewes. Nicanor maketh a compact with the Jewes, which he yet breaketh thorow ℣ mocyon of the kyng. Nicanor commaundeth Mazia to be taken. The boldnesse of Mazia.

After thye yeres was Judas informed how that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and shyppes, thorow the hauen of Tripolis, to take certayne commodyous places and countreys, agaynste Antiochus and his capitayne Lysias. Nowe Alcimus (whiche had ben hye preest, and wilfully defyled him selfe in the tyme of the myxtynge) seyng that by no meanes he coulde be helped, nor haue any more entraūce to the aulter: he came to kynge Demetrius in the hundred and one & fyftye yere, presentyng vnto hym a crowne of golde, a palme and an olyue tree: which, as men thought, belonged to the temple, and that daye he helde his tonge. But when he had gotten opportunitie for his madnesse, Demetrius called hym to counsell, and asked hym what thynges or counsailes the Jewes leaned vnto? he answered: the Jewes that be called Assidei, whose capitayne is Judas Machabeus, maynteyne warres, make insurrections, and wyll not lette the realme be in peace.

B For I, beyng depryued of my fathers honour (I meane the hye preesthode) am come hyther, partly because I was faythfull vnto the kynge, and partly because I sought the profyte of the cytezyns. And why? all oure people thorowe the wyckednesse of them are not a lytle troubled. Wherfore I beseche the O kynge consyder all these thynges diligently, and then make some prouysyon for the lande and the people, accordynge to the kyndnesse that thou hast offred vnto them. For as longe as Judas bathe the vpperhande, it is not possyble that men can lyue in peace.

When he had spoken these wordes, other frendes also hauynge euyll wyll at Judas, sette the kynge Demetryus on fyre agaynste him. Whiche immediatly sent Nicanor (ruler of the elephauntes) a capitayne, in to Jurye: commaundynge him to take Judas him selfe alyue, but to slee theym that were with hym, and to make Alcimus hye preest of the temple.

C Then the heathen which fled oute of Jurye frome Judas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thynkynge the harme and decaye of the Jewes to be their welfare. Now whē the Jewes herde of Nicanors commynge, and the gatherynge togither of the heathē, they sprinkled them selues with earthe, and besought him whiche made them his people, and euer defended his owne porcion with euident tokens that he wolde preserue theym styll. So at the commaundement of the capitayn, they remoued from thence, and came to a towne called Dethaman. And Simon Judas brother fell in hande with Nicanor, but thorow the sodayne commynge of the enemyes, he was afrayde.

Neuertheles Nicanor hearynge the manlynesse of them that were with Judas, and ℣ bolde stomaches that they had to fyghte for their they: naturall countrey, durst not prouoke the matter with bloudshedynge. Wherfore he sent Apollonius, Theodocius and Mathias before, to graue and take peace. So when they had taken longe aduysement therupon, and the capitayne shewed it vnto the multitude: they were agreed in one mynde to haue peace. And they appoynted a daye to syt vpon these matters quyetly among them selues, the holes also were brought and set forthe. Neuertheles Judas commaunded certayne men of armes to wayte in conuenyente places, lest there shoulde sodeynly aryse any euyll vpon the enemyes. And so they commoned reasonably together.

Nicanor, whyle he abode at Jerusalem, ordred nothynge vnreasonably, but sent away the people that were gathered together. He loued Judas euer with his herte, and fauoured him. He prayed him also to take a wife and to brynge forth children. So he maryed, lyued in rest, and they led a comen lyfe. But Alcimus perceyuynge the loue that was betwyxte them, and how they were agreed together, came to Demetrius, and tolde hym that Nicanor had taken straunge matters in hande, and ordeyned Judas (an enemye of the realme) to be the kynges successour. Whe the kynge was sore displeased, and chefely the wycked accusacyons which Alcimus made of Nicanor. he was so prouoked, that he wrote vnto Nicanor, sayinge: that he was very angry for the frendshyp and agreement, which he had made with Machabeus. Neuertheles he commaunded him in al the haste, that he shulde take Machabeus prisoner, and sende hym to Antioche.

Which letters when Nicanor had seene, he was at his wyttes ende, and sore grieued that he shold breake the thynges wherin they had agreed: specyally, sayinge Machabeus was the man that neuer dyd him harme. But because he myght not withstande the kynge, he sought opportunitie to fulfyl his commaundement. Notwithstandynge when Machabeus sawe that Nicanor began to be churlysh vnto hym, and that he intreated him more roughly then he was wonte, he perceyued that suche vnkyndnesse came not of good, and therfore he gathered a few of his men, and withdrew him self fro Nicanor. Which when he knewe that Machabeus had manfully preuented him, he came in to the greate and moost holy temple: and commaunded the preestes (whiche were doyng their vsuall offrynges) to deliuer him the man. And when they sware that they coulde not tell where the man was whome he sought, he stretched out his hãde, and made an othe, saying: If ye will not deliuer me Judas captyue, I shall remoue this temple of God into the playne feld, I shal breake the wyne the aultare, and consecrate this temple vnto Bachus. After these wordes he departed.

Then the preestes lyfte vp their handes towarde heauen, and besought hym that was euer the defender of their people, saynge: Thou O Lorde of all, which hast nede of no thyng, wolest that the temple of thy habytacle shulde be amonges vs. Therfore now O most holy Lorde, kepe this house euer vndefyled whiche lately was clensed. Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, one Razis an Alderman of Jerusalem, a louer of the holy cytye, and a man of good reporte: whyche for the kyndenesse that he bare vnto the people, was called a father of the Jewes. This man oft tymes when the Jewes were myndes to kepe them selues vndefyled, defended and defyaunced them bryngе constant stedfastly to spende his body and his lyfe for his people.

So Nicanor wyllynge to declare the hate that he bare to the Jewes sent fyue hundreth men to take hym: for he thought, yf he gat hym, he shulde bryngе the Jewes in great decaye. Now when the people began to rushe in at his house, to breake the doore, and to set fyre on it: he beynge nowe taken, would haue defended hym self with his swerde: chosing rather to dye manfully, then to yelde hym self to those wycked doers: by reason of his noble stocke, he had rather haue ben put to extreme cruelte. Notwithstandynge what tyme as he myssed of his stroke for haste, & the multytude fel in hyplesly betwyxte the doores: he ranne boldly to the wall, & cast hym self down manfully amonge the heape of the, whiche gaue soone place to his fal, so that he fel vpon the bely. Neuertheles whyle there was yet breth within him, he was kyndled in his mynde: and whyle his bloude gushed out extreadynglye) for he was very sore wounded (he ranne thorow the myddest of the people, and gat him vp to the toppe of a roche. So when his bloude was nowe gone he tooke out his owne bowels with both his handes & threwe them vpõ the people callyng vpon the Lorde of lyfe and spyryte, to rewarde him this agayne and so he dyed.

¶ Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Judas on the Sabboth daye. The blasphemye of Nicanor. Machabeus expoundynge vnto the Jewes the vysion, boldeneth their hertes. The prayer of Machabeus. After the death of Nicanor is comen ouer, Machabeus commaundeth his heade and his hande to be cut of, & to be geuen vnto Nicanor.

CAPI. XV.

NOwe when Nicanor knewe that Judas was in the countrye of Samaria, he thought with al his power to fyght a felde with hym vpon a Sabboth day. Neuertheles the Jewes that were compelled to goo with hym, sayde: O doo not so cruelye and vnkyndelye, but honowe the Sabboth daye, and worshyppe hym that seeth all thynges. For all this, yet sayde the vngracyous, persoune: Is there a myghtye one in heuen, that commaunded the Sabboth daye to be kepte. And when they sayde: yea, the lyuynge God, the myghtye Lorde in heuen commaunded the seuenth daye to be kept. He sayde: And I am myghty vpon earth to commaunde them for to arme them selues and to perfourme the kynges busynesse. Not-withstandyng he myght not haue his purpose.

Nicanor had bewryed with greate payne to ouercome Judas, and to bringe awaye the spoyle. But Machabeus had euer a full confidence and a parfecte hope in God that he wold helpe him, and exhorted his people, not to be afrayed at the cõmyng of the heathen: but alwaye to remembre the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, yea & to be sure now also, þ almyghtye God wold geue them the victorye. He spake vnto them out of the lawe and prophetes, putting them in remembraunce of the battayles, that they had stryken afore, and made them to be of a good courage.

So when they harte were pricke vp, he shewed them also the vnfaythfulnesse of the heathen, and how they wolde kepe no couenaunt nor othe. Thus he weaponed the not with the armoure of myght & spears, but with holsome wordes and exhortacõs. He shewed them a dreame also, wherof fore we be made them all glad, whiche was this: he thought that he sawe Onias (which had ben hye preest a vertuous and louynge man, sad and of honest conuersacyon, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in godlynesse from a chylde) holdyng vp his handes towarde heauen, and prayeng for the people. After this there appeared vnto him an other man, with was aged, honorable and glorious. And Onias sayde: This is a louer of the brethre, and of the people of Israell. This is he that prayeth moche for the people, and for all the holy cytie: Jeremy the prophete of God. He thought also þ Jeremye helde out his ryght hande, and gaue vnto him (namely vnto Judas) a swerde of golde, sayinge: Take this holy swerde, a gyfte from God, wherewith thou shalt smyte downe the enemyes of the people of Israel.

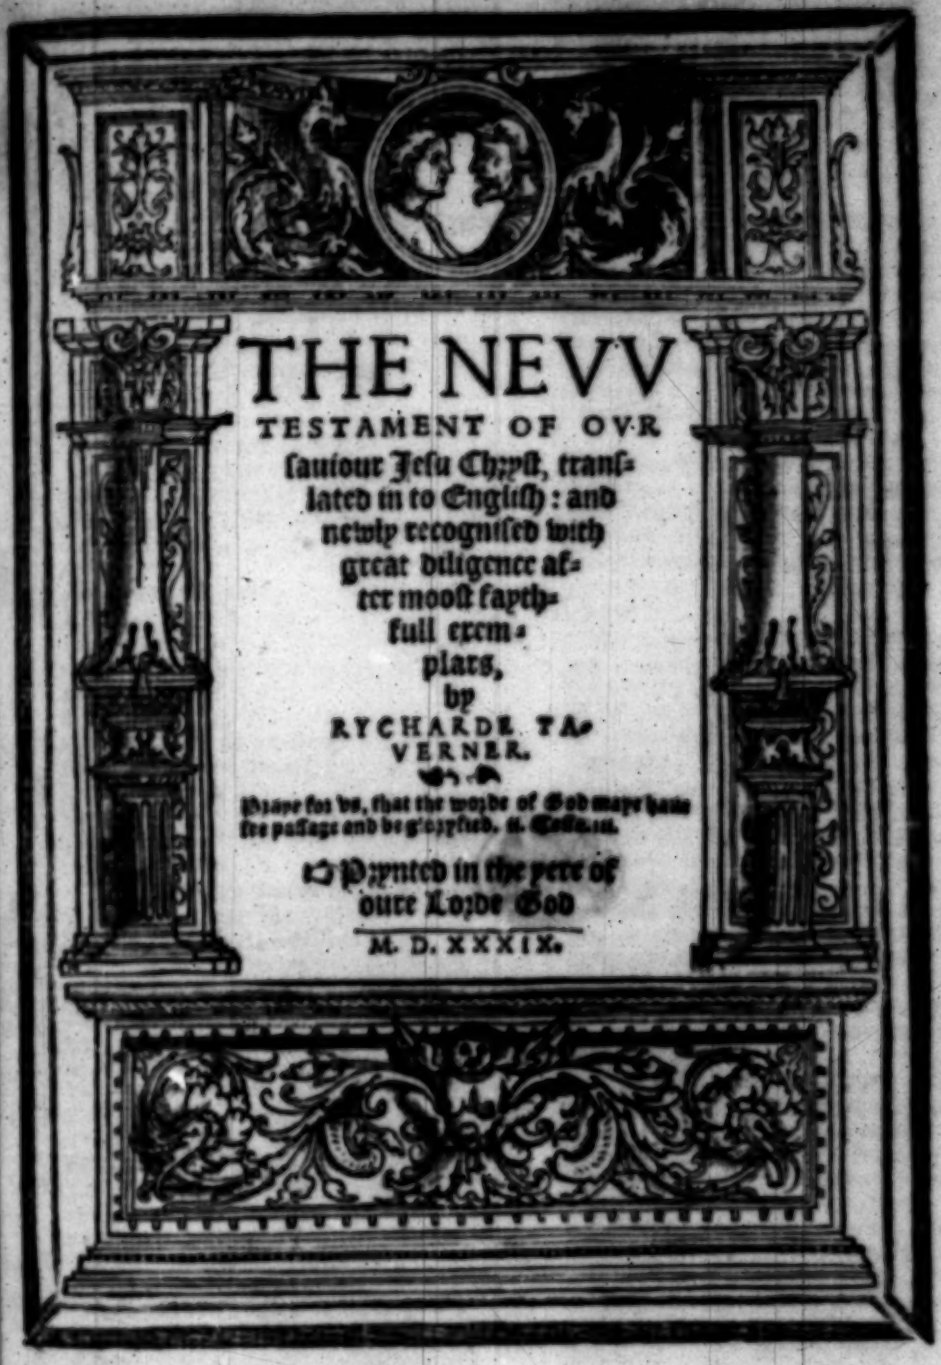
And so they were well comforted therfore the wordes of Judas, and toke corage vnto them, so that the yong men were kyndled in their myndes to fight, and hye lyfte at it: In so moch that in the thynges whiche they toke in hande, there boldnesse shewed þ same, because the holy cytie and the temple were in perill: for the which they toke more care then for their wyues, children, brethren, and kynsfolkes. Agayne, they that were in the cytie, were moost careful for those which were to fight. Now whe they were al in a hope þ the iudgement of the matter was at hande, and the enemyes drew nye, the hoost beynge set in a raye, the Elephauntes and horsemen ruryy one flaryng in his place: Machabeus cõsydered the commynge of the multytude, the abundaunce of diuerse weapõs, the cruelnesse of the beastes, and held vp his handes towarde heauen callynge vpon the Lorde that doth wonder whiche gyueth not the victorye after the multytude of weapons and power of the hoost (but to them that preache hym) accordynge to his owne wyll. Therfore in his prayer he sayde these wordes.

O Lorde, thou that dyddest sende thyne Angel in the tyme of Ezechias kynge of Juda, and the hoost of Senacherib slewest an C. lxxv. M. sende nowe also thy good angel before vs, O Lorde of heuens, in the fearfulnes and drede of thy myghty arme, that they whiche come agaynst thy holy people to blaspheme them may be afrayde. And so he made an ende of his wordes. Then Nicanor & they that were with hym, drew nye w trumpes and songes: but Judas & his company with prayer and callynge vpon God. With their hãdes they smote, but with their hertes they prayed vnto the Lord & slew no lesse the xxxv. M. men: For thorow the present help of God they were gloriously comforted.



Now when they left of, and were turning agayne with ioye, they vnderstode that Nicanor hym selfe was slayne with the other.

Then they gaue a greate showte and a cry prayinge the almyghty Lord with a lowde voyce. And Judas (which was euer ready to spende his body and lyfe for his cytezyns) commaunded to smyte of Nicanors heade, with his arme and hande, & to be brought to Jerusalē. When he came there, he called al the people, & the preistes at the aulter with those that were in the castel, and shewed them Nicanors heed, & his wycked hād, which he had presumptuously holden vp agaynst the temple of God. He caused the tonge also of that vngodly Nicanor to be cut in lytle peces, & to be cast to the fowles, & the cruel mans hande to be hanged vp before the temple.

So euery man gaue thankes vnto þ Lord saying: blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefyled. And Nicanors heade, he hanged vpon the hyghe castell for a playne token of the help of God. And so they agreed together to kepe that daye holy, namely the. xiii. daye of the moneth Adar, whiche in the Syrians language is called the next daye before Marthochens day, thus was Nicanor slaine, and from that tyme forth þ Jewes had the cittye in possessiõ.

And here I wyll now make an ende.

All this was doone to fulfyll that which was spoken of the Lorde by the prophete, sayenge: Beholde a mayde shall be with chylde, and shall bringe forth a sonne / and they shall call his name Emanuel, which is by interpretacion, God with vs. ✠

And Joseph as sone as he awoke out of slepe dyd as the aungell of the Lorde had hym / and toke his wyfe vnto him / and knew her not tyll at last she brought forth ♁ her fyrst borne son, and called his name Jesus.

WHen Jesus was borne at Bethleem in Jury, in the tyme of Herode the kynge. Beholde there came ♁ wyse men from the East to Jerusalem, sayenge: Where is he that is borne kynge of Iewes? We haue seen his sterre in the East, and are come to wor-shyp hym.

When Herode the kynge had herde this, he was troubled & all Jerusalem with hym / and he gathered all the chefe prestes and scribes of the people / and asked of them where Christ shulde be borne. And they sayd vnto hym: at Bethleem in Jewry. For thus it is wrytten By the prophet * And thou Bethleem in the lande of Jewry arte not the leest amonges the princes of Juda. For out of the shall come vn-to me the capteyne that shall ♁ gouerne my people Israel.

Then Herode preuely called the wyse men and diligently serued of them the tyme of the sterre that appeared / and sente them to Beth-leem sayenge: Go and searche narowly for the chylde. And when ye haue founde hym, bringe me worde, that I may come and wor-shyp hym also.

✠ When they had herde the kyng, they departed: and lo, the sterre whyche they sawe in the East went before them, tyll it came and stode ouer the place where the chylde was. When they sawe the sterre, they were meruaylously glad: and went in to the house, and founde the chylde with Marye his mother / and kneled downe and worshypped him, and opened their treasures / and offered vnto hym gyftes / golde frankencense and myrre. And after they were warned of God in a dreame that they shulde not go agayne to Herode, they returned in to their owne contrey an other waye. ✠

When they were departed: beholde the aungell of the Lorde appeared to Joseph in a dreame sayenge: aryse and take the chylde and his mother & flee in to Egypte, and abyde there tyll I bring the worde. For Herode will seke the chylde to destroye hym. Then he arose and toke the chylde and his mother by nyghte and

Then was fulfylled that which was spoken by the prophete Jeremye sayenge: ✠ On the hylles was a voyce herde, mournyng/ wepyng and greate lamentacion: Rachel bewaylynge her chyldren/ and wolde not be comforted, because they ✠ were not. ✠

Then he arose vp, and toke the chyld and his mother, and came in to the lande of Israel. But when he herde that Archelaus dyd reygne in Jewry, in the rowme of his father Herode, he was afrayde to go thyther. Not withstandyng after he was warned of god in a dreame he turned aside in to the parties of Galile, and went and dwelt in a cyty called Nazareth, to fulfyll that whiche was spoken by the prophetes: he shall be called a Nazarete.

¶ The baptyme / preachynge and office of Johñ/ and how Christ was baptysed of hym in Jordane.

Mar.i.a. Luke.iii.a

IN those dayes Johñ the Baptyst came and preached in the wyldernes of Jewry, sayenge: Repent, for the kyngdome of heuen is at hande. This is he of whome it is spoken by the prophete Esaye, whiche sayth: A voyce of a crier in wyldernes / prepare the Lordes waye, and make his pathes streyght. This Johñ had his garment of camels heere / and a gyrdell of skynne about his loynes. His meate was ✠ locustes and wylde hony. Then went out to hym Jerusalem and all Jury, and all the countrey rounde about Jordane/ and were baptysed of hym in Jordane/ confessynge their synnes. ✠

✠ When he sawe many of the pharysees and the Sadducees come vnto his baptyme/ he sayd vnto them: O progenye of ✠ vypers, who hathe taught you to flee from the vengeaunce to come? Do therfore frutes worthy repentaunce. And thynke not to saye in your selues, we haue Abraham to our fathers. For I tell you, God is able of these stones to rayse vp chyldren vnto Abraham. Nowe is the axe put to the rote of the trees: euery tree therfore which bryngeth not forth good frute is hewen downe and cast in to the fyre.

I baptyse you in water in token of repentaunce: but he that cometh after me is myghtyer than I, whose shoes I am not worthy to beare. He shall baptyse you with the holy ghost and with fyre, whose fan is in his hande, and he shall scoure his floure / and gather the wheate in to his garner but the chaffe he shall burne with vnquencheable fyre. ✠

✠ Then came Jesus from Galile to Jordane vnto Johñ to be baptysed of hym. But Johñ forbade hym, sayenge: I oughte to be baptysed of the: and comest thou to me? Jesus answered and sayde to hym. Let be nowe. For thus it becometh vs to fulfyl all rightoulnes. Then he suffred hym. And Jesus as sone as he was baptysed came streyght out of the water. And lo, heuen was open ouer hym: and Johñ sawe the spirite of God descende lyke a doue and lyght vpon him. And lo there came a voyce from heuen sayenge: This is that my beloued sonne in whome is my delyte. ✠

He answered and sayd: it is written, ✠ man shal not lyue by breed onely, but by euery worde that cometh out of the mouth of God.

Then the deuyl toke hym vp in to the holy cyte, & set him on the pinacle of the temple, and sayd vnto him: If thou be ✠ sonne of god, cast thy selfe downe. For it is written: ✠ he shall gyue his aungelles charge ouer the, and with their handes they shal bere the vp, that thou dashe not thy foote agaynste a stone. But I tell you, who so euer is angry with his brother, shall be in daunger of iudgement. Who so euer sayeth to his brother ✠ Racha, shalbe in daunger of a counsell. Ye haue herde it sayde to them of olde tyme Thou shalt not do aduoutry. But I tell you, who so euer loketh on a wyfe, lustynge after her, hath done aduoutrye with her alredy in his hert.

Praye for them which do you wronge, and persue you, that ye maye be the children of youre father that is in heauen: for he maketh his sunne to aryse on the euyll, and on the good, and sendeth his rayne on the iust and vniuste. For yf ye loue them, which loue you: what rewarde shall ye haue? Do not the Publicans the same? And yf ye imbrace youre brethren onely: what synguler thynge do ye? Do not the Publicās lykewyse? ye shall therfore be perfecte, as youre father which is in heauen, is perfecte.

1 TAke heede to youre almes, that ye doo it not in the syght of men, to the intent ye wolde be sene of them. Or els ye get no rewarde of your father in heauen. When so euer therfore thou geuest thyne almes / thou shalt not make a trompet to be blowen before the, as the hypocrites do, in assembles and in the streates, for to be prayed of men. Verely I saye vnto you, they haue their rewarde. But when thou doest thyne almes / let not thy lyft hande knowe / what thy ryghte hande dothe, that thyne almes maye be secrete: and thy father which seyth in secret, shall rewarde the openly. ✝

5 And when thou prayest, thou shalte not be as the hypocrytes are. For they loue to stande and pray in the synagoges, and in the corners of the streetes, because they wolde be sene of men. Verely I saye vnto you, they haue their rewarde. But when thou prayest, entre into thy chaumber, and shut thy dore to the, and praye thy father which is in secrete: and thy father which seyth in secret, shall rewarde the openly.

7 And when ye praye, babble not moche, as ✻ hethen do: for they thynke they shalbe herde, for their moche babblynge. Be ye not lyke therfore. For your father knoweth wherof ye haue nede, before ye aske of hym. After this maner therfore praye ye.

Our father which art in heauen, halowed be thy name. ✻ Let thy kyngdome come. Thy will be done, as well in earthe, as in heauen. Geue vs to daye our daily bred. And forgeue vs oure dettes, euen as we forgeue oure detters. And leade vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs from euyll. For thyne is the kingdome and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen. For yf ye shall forgeue other men their trespales, youre heuenly father shall also forgeue you. But yf ye will not forgeue men their trespales, no more shall youre father forgeue you youre trespales.

✝ Moreouer when ye faste, ✻ be not sad as the hypocrites are. For they disfigure their faces, that they mygh̄e be sene of men howe they faste. Verely I saye vnto you, they haue their rewarde. But thou, when thou fastest, anoynte thyne heed, and washe thy face, that it appere not vnto men how that thou fastest: but vnto thy father which is in secrete: & thy father which seyth in secrete, shall rewarde the openly.

Gather not vp treasure vnto you on the erth where rust and moulthes corrupte, and where theues breake through and steale. But gather ye treasures vp in heauen where neyther rust nor moulthes corrupte, & where theues breake not vp, nor yet steale. For where your treasure is, there will your hert be also. ✝

The lyght of the body is the eye. Wherfore yf thyn eye be syngle, al thy body shalbe lightsome. But yf thyne eye be wycked, all thy body shalbe full of darcknesse. Wherfore yf the lyght that is in the, be darckenes: how great is that darckenes.

✝ No man can serue two maisters. For eyther he shall hate the one and loue the other: or els leane to the one and despyse the other: ye can not serue God and Mammon. Therfore I saye vnto you, be not carefull for youre lyfe what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke, nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the lyfe more worth then meat, and the body more of value then rayment? Beholde the foules of the ayer: for they sowe not, neyther reepe, nor cary into the barnes: and your heuenly father feedeth them. Are ye not moche better then they?

Which of you (by takynge thought) can put one cubit vnto his stature? And why care ye then for rayment? Consyder the Lylies of the felde, howe they growe. They labour not neyther spynne. And yet I tell you, that Salomon in all his royaltie was not arayed lyke vnto one of these. Wherfore yf God so clothe the grasse, which is to daye in the felde, and to morowe shalbe caste into the fournayce / shall he not moche more do the same vnto you, O ye of lytle faith?

Therfore take no thought, sayenge: what shal we eate, or what shal we drinke, or wherwith shall we be clothed? After all these thinges seke the hethen. For your heuenly father knoweth that ye haue nede of all these thinges. But seke ye first the kyngdome of heauen and the ryghtwyslnes therof, and all these thinges shalbe vnto you. ✝

Care not then for the morowe, but let the morowe care for it selfe: for the daye present hath euer ynoughe of his owne trauayle.

Gyue not that * is holy to dogges, neither caste ye youre pearles before swyne / lest they treade them vnder their feete, and the other turne agayne and all to rent you.

Aske and it shal be gyuen you. Seche and ye shall fynde. Knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you. For who so euer asketh, receyueth / and he that seketh findeth / and to him that knocketh it shal be opened. Is there any man among you whiche yf his son asketh hym breed, will offre hym a stone? Or if he asketh fysshe, will he proffer hym a serpent? Yf ye then whiche are euyll can gyue youre children good gyftes, how moche rather shall youre father in heuen gyue good thynges yf ye aske hym?

Therfore what so euer ye will that men sholde do to you, euen so do ye to them. This is the lawe and the prophetes.

Enter in at the strayte gate: for wyde is the gate, and brode is the waye that leadeth to destruction, & many there be whiche go in therat. For strayte is the gate, and narow is the way whith leadeth vnto lyfe, and few there be that fynde it. ✣ Beware of false prophetes, which come to you in shepes clothynge, but inwardly are rauenynge wolues. Ye shall knowe them by their frutes. Do men gather grapes of thornes? or figges of brpers? So euery good tree bryngeth forth good frute. But a bad tree bryngeth forth euyl frute. A good tre can not bryng forth bad frute: nor a bad tree can bryng forth good frute. Euery tree that bryngeth not forth good frute, is hewen downe and caste in to the fyre. Wherfore by their frutes ye shall knowe them.

Not all that saye vnto me, Lorde, Lorde, shall enter in to the kyngdom of heuen: but he that dothe my fathers will whiche is in heuen. ✣ * Many shall saye to me in that daye: Lorde Lorde, haue we not in thy name prophesied? And in thy name haue cast out deuyls? And in thy name haue we many myracles? And then shall I confesse vnto them, I neuer knewe you. * Departe fro me ye workers of wickednes.

Who so euer therfore heareth of me these sayinges, and dothe them, I will lyken hym vnto a wyse man, whiche bylt his house on a rocke / and the rayne descended, and the floodes came, and the wyndes blewe & bet vpon that house, and it fell not, because it was grounded on the rocke. And who so euer heareth of me these sayinges and dothe them not, shall be lykened vnto a folysshe man whiche bylt his house vpon the sande: and the rayne descended and the floudes came / and the wyndes blewe, and bet vpon that house / and it fell / and great was the fall of it.

And it came to passe, when Jesus had ended these sayinges, * the people were astonyed at his doctryne. For he taught them as one hauyng power, and not as the scribes.

The Centurion answered and sayd: Syr I am not worthy that thou sholdest come vnder my roffe, but speake the worde onely, and my seruaunt shall be healed. For I also my selfe am a man vnder the power of an other, and haue soudyers vnder me, and I say to one go, and he goeth / and to an other come, and he cometh / and to my seruaunt, do this, & he doth it. When Jesus herde that, he merueyled, and said to them that folowed hym: Verely I say vnto you, I haue not founde so great fayth, no, not in Israel. * I say therfore vnto you, that many shall come from the est and west, and shal sit with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, in the kyngdome of heuen: but the chyldren of the kyngdome shall be cast out in to vtter darknes: there shall be weping and gnasshyng of teeth. And Jesus sayde vnto them: Can the weddynge cyvildren mourne as longe as the bridegrome is with them? The tyme will come when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast. No man peceth an olde garment with a pece of newe clothe. For then taketh he awaye the pece agayne from the garment, and the rente is made greater. Neyther do men put newe wyne in to old vessels, for then the vessels breake, and the wyne runneth out, and the vessels perysshe. ¶ Chriſte tendreth out his.xij. apoſtles to preache in Iurye, giueth them charge, teacheth and ſtrengthneth them againſt perſecucion and trouble.

CAPI. X.

AND he called his.xij. diſciples vnto hym and gaue them power ouer vncleane ſpirytes, to caſt them out, and to heale all ſyckneſſes and diſeaſes.

The names of the.xij. Apoſtles are theſe: The firſt. Symon called Peter, and Andrew his brother. James the ſonne of Zebede, and Johñ his brother. Philip & Bartylmew. Thomas and Mathew the publican. James the ſone of Alphe, and Lebeus ſurnamed Thadeus. Symon the Cananyte, and Judas Iſcariot, which alſo betrayed hym.

Theſe.xij. dyd Jeſus ſende, and commaunded them, ſayinge: Go not in to the ways that lede to gentyles, and in the cytyes of the Samaritans entre ye not. But go rather to the loſte ſhepe of the houſe of Iſrael. Go and preache, ſayenge: the kyngdome of heuen is at hande. Heale the ſyche, cleanſe the lepers, rayſe the dede, caſt out the deuyls. Freely ye haue receyued, freely gyue. Poſſeſſe not golde ne ſyluer, nor money in youre gyrdels, nor yet a ſcrip towarde youre iourney: neither two cotes, neither ſhoes, nor yet a ſtaffe. For the workeman is worthye his meate. In to what ſo euer cytye or towne ye ſhal come enquyre who is worthy in it, and there abyde tyll ye departe. And when ye come in to an houſe, grete it. And yf the houſe be worthye, youre peace ſhall come vpon it. But yf it be not worthye, youre peace ſhall returne to you agayne.

And who ſo euer ſhall not receyue you, nor heare youre preaching: when ye departe out of that houſe or that cytye, ſhake of the duſte of youre fete. Truly I ſay vnto you: it ſhall be eaſyer for the lande of Sodom & Gomorre in the daye of iudgement, then for that cyty.

Beholde I ſende you forth as ſhepe amonge wolues. Be ye therfore wyſe as ſerpentes, and innocent as doues. Beware of the men, for they ſhall betraye you vp to the councels, and ſhall ſcourge you in theyr aſſemblies. And ye ſhall be brought to the rulers and kynges for my ſake, in wytnes to them and to the gentyles.

But when they betraye you vp, take no thought how or what ye ſhall ſpeke, for it ſhal be gyuen you in that ſame houre what ye ſhall ſaye. For it is not ye that ſpeke, but the ſpiryte of your father which ſpeaketh in you. The brother ſhall betraye the brother to deth, and the father the ſonne. And the chyldren ſhall ryſe againſt their fathers and mothers, and ſhall put them to deth: and ye ſhall be hated of all for my name, but he that endureth to the ende, ſhall be ſaued.

When they perſue you in one cytye, flee in to the other. I tell you for a truthe, ye ſhall not fynyſhe all the cytyes of Iſrael tyll the ſonne of man be come. The diſcyple is not aboue his maſter: nor the ſeruaunt aboue his lorde. It is ynoughe for the diſcyple to be as his maſter is, and the ſeruaunt as his Lorde is. Yf they haue called the maiſter of the houſe Beelzebub, how much more ſhal they call them of his houſhold ſo? Feare them not therfore. There is nothyng ſo cloſe, that ſhall not be opened, and nothyng ſo hyd, that ſhall not be knowen.

What I tell you in darkneſs, that ſpeake ye in lyght. And what ye heare in the eare, that preache ye on the houſe toppes.

And feare ye not them which kyll the body and be not able to kyll the ſoule. But rather feare him which is able to deſtroy both ſoule and body in hell: Are not two ſparowes ſolde for a farthynge? And none of them forthe fall on the grounde without youre father. Yea all the heares of youre heed are nombred. Feare ye not therfore ye are of more value then many ſparowes. Feare. Sparowes.

Who ſo euer then ſhall confeſſe me before men, him wyll I confeſſe alſo before my father which is in heuen. But who ſo euer ſhall denye me before men, him wyll I alſo deny before my father whiche is in heuen. Confeſſe. Deny.

Thynke not I am come to ſende peace in to the erth. I came not to ſende peace, but a ſwerde. For I am come to ſet man at variaūce againſt his father, & the doughter againſt her mother, and the doughter in lawe againſt her mother in lawe. And a mans foes ſhall be they of his owne houſholde. D. & ſwerde.

He that loueth his father, or mother aboue me, is not mete for me. And he that loueth his ſonne or doughter aboue me, is not mete for me. And he that taketh not his croſſe and folowerth me, is not mete for me. He that & fyndeth his lyfe, ſhal loſe it: and he that loſeth his lyfe for my ſake, ſhall fynde it. & To fynde lyfe is to ſatyſfye the luſtes of the herte. Receyue.

He that receyueth you, receyueth me: and he that receyueth me receyueth him that ſent me. He that receyueth a prophete in the name of a prophete, ſhall receyue a prophetes rewarde. And he that receyueth a ryghteous man in name of a ryghteous man, ſhall receyue the rewarde of a ryghteous man. ✣ And who ſo euer ſhall gyue vnto one of theſe lytle ones to drynke, a cuppe of colde water onely in name of a diſcyple: truly I tell you he ſhall not loſe his rewarde. CAPI. XII. ✣

AT that tyme Jesus wente on the Sabboth dayes through the corne, and his disciples were an hongred, and began to pluche the eares of corne / and to eate. When the pharysees sawe that, they sayd vnto hym: Beholde, thy disciples do that whiche is not lawfull to do vpon the Sabboth daye. He sayd vnto them. Haue ye not red what Dauid dyd whe he was an hõgred, & they also which were with hym? How he entred in to the house of God, and ate the shewbreed whiche were not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with hym, but onely for the preestes. Or haue ye not red in the lawe, how the preestes in the temple breake the Sabboth daye, and yet are blamelesse? But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the temple. Wherfore yf ye had wyst what this sayenge meaneth: I will mercy and not sacrifice: ye wold not haue condemned the giltles. For the sonne of man is Lorde euen of the Sabboth daye.

And he departed thence, and went in to their synagoge: and beholde there was a mã which had his hande dryed vp. And they asked hym sayeng: Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabboth dayes? because they might accuse hym. And he sayd vnto them: which of you, yf he shall haue a shepe fallen in to a pytte on the Sabboth day wolde not take hym and lyfte hym out? And how moche is man better then a shepe? Wherfore it is lefull to do a good dede on the Sabboth daye. Then sayd he to the man: stretch forthe thy hande. And he stretched it forth. And it was made hole agayne lyke vnto the other.

✣ ✣ Then the pharysees went out, and helde a counsell agaynst hym, how they myght destroy hym. When Jesus knewe that, he departed thence / ꝓ moche people folowed hym / and he healed them all / and charged them they shulde not make hym knowen: to fulfyll that was spoken by Esay the prophet, which sayth: ✣ Beholde my chylde, whome I haue chosen my beloued, in whome my soule delyteth. upll nacyon.

Whyle he yet talked to the people: ✣ be-holde, his mother and his brethre stode without, desyringe to speake with hym. Then one sayde vnto hym: beholde thy mother and thy brethren stande without, desyringe to speake with the.

He answered and sayde to hym that tolde hym: Who is my mother? or who are my brethren? And he stretched forth his hand ouer his disciples and sayde: beholde my mother and my brethren. For whosoeuer doeth my fathers wyll which is in heuen, the same is my brother, syster and mother. ✣

¶ The parable of the seed, of the tares, of the mu-starde seed, of the lewen, of the treasure hyd in the felde, of the the perles, and of the net.

CAPI. XIII.

A Marck.iii. a Luke.viii.a

The same day went Jesus oute of the house, and sat by the see syde, and moch people assembled vnto hym, so greatlye that he went, and sat in a shyp, & all the people stode on the shore. And he spake many thinges to them in parables, saying: Beholde
the sower went forth to sowe. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayes syde, & the foules came and deuoured them vp. Some fell vpō stony ground where they had not moch erth and anone they sprange vp, because they had no depth of erth: and when ye sunne was vp,
they caught heate, and for lacke of rotynge, wythered awaye. Some fell among thornes and the thornes sprange vp and choked the.
Parte fell in good grounde, & brought forth good frute: some an hundreth fold, some six tye folde some thyrtye fold. Whosoeuer hath eares to heare let hym heare.

And the disciples came and sayde to hym: B Why speakest thou to them in parables? He answered and sayde vnto them, vnto you is it gyuen to knowe the secretes of the kyngdome of heauen, but to them it is not gyuen.
For whosoeuer hath, to hym shall be gyuen:
and he shall haue aboundaunce. But whosoeuer hath not: from hym shal be taken away euen that he hath. Therfore speake I to the in parables: for though they se, they se not,
and heryng they heare not: neither vnderstande. And in them is fulfylled the prophe-cye of Esay, which sayth: with the eares ye Esa.vi.c
shall heare and shall not vnderstande, and w
the eyes ye shall se, & shall not perceyue. For this peoples herte is waxed grosse, & theyr eares are dull of heryng, and theyr eyes haue they closed, lest they shuld se with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and shulde vnderstande with their hertes, & shuld turne
that I myghte heale them.

But blessed are youre eyes, for they se: and C youre eares, for they heare. Verely I saye vnto you, that many prophetes, and prestes wt
haue desyred to se those thynges which ye se, & haue not seene the: & to heare those thinges which ye heare, & haue not herd them. Heare ye therfore the parable of the sower. Whosoeuer heareth the worde of the kyngdome & vnderstandeth it not, there commeth the wicked & catcheth away ꝑ which was sowen
in his hert. And this is he which was sowen by the way syde. But he that was sowen in the stony grounde, is he whiche heareth the worde of God, and anone with ioye receyueth it, yet hath he no rote in him selfe, and therefore endureth but a season: for assoone as tri-bulacyon or persecucyon ariseth because of the worde, forthwith he is offended. He whiche is sowen amonge thornes, is he that heareth the worde and vnderstandeth it:

which also beareth frute and bringeth forth,
some an hundred folde, some sixtye folde, and some thirtye folde.

Another parable he propounded vnto them, saynge: ✣ The kyngdome of heauen is lyke
vnto a man which sowed good seed in his felde.
But whyle the men slepte, there came his ennemye and sowed tares amonge the wheate, and went his way. Whe the blade was sprong vp and had brought forthe frute, then appeared the tares also. Then came the seruauntes to the housholder, and sayde vnto him: Syr, so-wedest not thou good seed in thy grounde, frō whence then hath it tares? He sayd to them:
the enemye hath done this. The the seruauntes sayde vnto hym: wylt thou then that we go and wede them out? But he sayd: nay, lest whyle ye go about to wede out the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate by the roten: let bothe growe together tyll harueste come, and in tyme of harueste, I wil say to the reapers, gather ye fyrste the tares, and bynde them in sheaues to be burnte: but gather the wheate in to my barne. ✣

Marck.iiii.b Another parable he put forth vnto them saying: The kyngdome of heauen is lyke vnto a mustarde seed that a man taketh and soweth in his felde, which is the leest of all see-des. But when it is growen, it is the greatest a monge herbes, and it is a tree: so that the byrdes of the ayer come and builde in the braunches of it.

Another symylitude sayd he to them. The kingdom of heauen is lyke vnto leuen, which a woman taketh and hydeth in thre pecks of mele, tyll all be leuended.

Marck.iiii.c All these thynges spake Jesus vnto the people by similitudes, and without similitudes spake he nothyng to them, to fulfyl that Psal.lxxvii.a was spoken by the Prophete, saynge: ✣ I wyll open my mouth in parables, and wyll speake forth thynges which haue bene hyd secrete, from the begynnyng of the worlde. ✣

✣ Then sent Jesus the people awaye, and came home. And his disciples came vnto him, saying: declare vnto vs the parable of the ta-res of the felde. Then answered he, and sayd Tares are ex-pounded. vnto them: He that soweth the good seed is the sonne of man. And the felde is the worlde.
And the chyldren of the kyngdome, they are the good seed. And the tares are the chyldren of the wycked. And the enemye that soweth them, is the deuyll. The harueste is the ende of the worlde. And the reapers be the Angels.
For euen as the tares are gathered and brent in the fyre; so shall it be in the ende of this worlde. ✣ The sonne of man shall send forth Apoca. x his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kyngdome all greffes, and them whiche doo wickednes, and shall cast them in to a furnes of fyre. There shalbe waylyng and gnashyng of teeth. ✣ Then shal the rygh teous men shine Daniel as bryght as the sonne in the kyngdome of their father. Who soeuer hath eares to heare let him heare. ✣

✣ Agayne the kyngdom of heauen is lyke vnto treasure hydde in the felde, whiche a man fyndeth and hydeth: and for ioye therof goth and selleth all that he hath, and byeth that felde.

Agayne the kyngdome of heuen is lyke to a marchaunt that seketh fayre perles, which when he had fo unde one precyous perle, went and solde all that he had, and bought it.

Agayne the kyngdom of heuen is lyke vnto a net cast in to the see, that gathereth of all kyndes of fyshes: which when it is ful, men draw to land, and syt & gather the good in to vessels, and cast the bad away. So shall G it be at ỹ ende of the worlde. The angels shal come out and seuer the bad from the good, & shall caste them in to a furnes of fyre: there shall be waylynge and gnashynge of teeth.

Jesus sayde vnto them. Vnderstand ye all these thynges? They sayd: yea Lorde. Then sayde he vnto them. Therfore euery Scribe whiche is taught vnto the kyngdom of heauen is lyke an housholder, which bryngeth forth of his treasur, thinges both newe and olde. ✣

And it came to passe when Jesus had ended these symylitudes, he departed thence and came into his owne countrey, and taught them in their synagoges: in so moch that they were astonyed and sayd: whence commeth al this wysdome and power vnto hym? Is not this the Carpenters sonne? Is not his mother called Marye? and his brethren be called James & Joses and Symon and Judas?
And are not his systers al here w vs? Whēce hath he all these thynges. And they were offended by hym. Then Jesus sayde to them, a Prophete is not without honour, saue in his owne country, and amonge his owne kyn.
And he did not many myracles there, because of their vnbeliefe.

¶ Johñ is taken and beheaded. Christ feedeth fiue thousande men with .v. loues and two fisshes, and appeareth by night vnto his disciples vpon the see.

CAPI. XIIII.

AT that tyme Herode the Tetrarche H
hearde of the fame of Jesu and sayde vnto his seruauntes: this is Johñ the Baptist. He is risen agayne from death and therfore are such myracles wrought by hym.
For Herode had taken Johñ, and bound him and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wyfe. For Johñ sayde vnto hym it is not lawfull for the to haue her.
And when he wolde haue put hym to death,
he feared the people because they helde hym
as a Prophete.

But

But when Herodes birth daye was come, the doughter of Herodias daunced before them, and pleased Herode. Wherfore he promysed with an othe, that he wolde geue her what so euer she wolde aske. And she beynge informed of her mother before, sayde: geue me here Johñ Baptistes heed in a platter. And the kynge was sory. Neuertheles bicause of his othes, and them also whiche sate at the table, he commaunded it to be geuen her, and sent and beheeded Johñ in the prison, and his heed was brought in a platter, and geuen to the damsell, and she brought it to her mother. And his disciples came and toke vp his bodye and buryed it, and went and tolde Jesus.

When Jesus herde that, he departed thence by shyp in to a wyldern place out of the waye. And when the people had herde therof, they folowed hym a foote out of their cytyes. And Jesus went forth and sawe moche people, and his hert had melte vpon them, and he healed of them those that were sycke. Now when euen was come, his disciples came to hym sayinge: this is a desert place, and the daye is spente, let the people departe, that they maye go in to the townes and bye them victayles. But Jesus sayd to them: They haue no nede to go awaye. Geue ye them to eate. Then sayde they vnto hym: we haue here but fyue loues and two fyshes. And he sayde: bringe them hyther. And he commaunded the people to sytte downe on the graile, and toke the .v. loues and the two fyshes, & loked vp to heuen and ✠ blessed, and brake and gaue the loues to his disciples, and the disciples gaue them to the people. And they all eate and were satisfyed. And they gathered vp of the gobets that remayned .xii. basketes full. And they that ate, were in nombre about fyue thousande men besyde women and chyldren.

✠ And streyght waye Jesus made his disciples entre in to a shyp, and to go ouer before hym, whyle he sent the people awaye. And as sone as he had sent the people awaye, he went vp in to a mountayne alone to praye. And when nyght was come, he was there him self alone. And the shyppe was nowe in the myddes of the see, and was tost with wawes, for it was a contrary wynde. ✠ And in the fourth watche of the nyght Jesus came vnto them walkynge on the see. And when his disciples sawe hym walkynge on the see, they were troubled, sayinge: it is some spirite, and cried out for feare. And forthwith Jesus spake vnto them sayinge: be of good chere, it is I, be not afrayde.

Peter answered hym, and sayd: master, yf thou be he, bydde me come vnto the on the water. And he sayd, come. And when Peter was come downe out of the shyppe, he walked on the water to go to Jesus. But when he sawe a mighty wynde, he was afrayde. And as he beganne to synke, he cryed sayinge: Master saue me. And forthwith Jesus stretched forth his hande and caught hym, and sayd to hym: O litle faythful, wherfore didest thou doubt? And as sone as they were come in to the shyp, the wynde ceased. So they in the shyp, came and worshypped hym, sayinge: Certaynly thou arte the sonne of God. And when they were come ouer, they wente in to the lande of Genazareth. And the men of that place hauynge knowlege of hym, sente out in to all that countrey rounde about, and brought vnto hym all that were sycke, and besought hym that they might but touche the hemme of his garmente. And as many as touched, were made safe.

¶ Christe reuyleth his disciples / and rebuketh the scribes and Pharises. The thynge that goeth in to the mouth defyleth not. He delyuereth the woman of Canannes doughter / healeth the multitude / and with .vii. loaues and a fewe lytle fyshes feedeth iiii. M. men.

CAP I. XV. ✠

Then came to Jesus scribes and pharysees frome Jerusalem sayinge: Why do thy disciples breake the tradicyon of the elders, for they washe not their handes when they eate breed. He answered and sayd vnto them: Why do ye also breake the commaundement of God thorow your tradicyon? For God commaunded, sayinge: ✠ Honour thy father and mother, and he that curseth father or mother shall suffre deth. But ye saye, euery man shall saye to his father or mother: that whiche thou desyrest of me to helpe the with: is giuē God: and so shal he not honour his father or his mother. And thus haue ye voyded the commaundement of God thrugh your tradicion. Hypocrites, well prophecyed of you Esaie sayinge. This people draweth vnto me with their mouthes, and honoureth me with their lippes, but their hertes are farre frome me: in vayne they worshippe me, teachynge doctrynes, the precептes of men.

And he called the people vnto hym and sayd to them: heare and vnderstande. That whych goeth in to the mouthe defyleth not the man, but that whiche commeth out of the mouthe defyleth the man.

Then came his disciples and sayde vnto hym: Perceyuest thou not howe the pharysees are offended in hearynge thy sayinge? He answered and sayd: all plauntynge whiche my heuenly father hath not planted, shall be plucked vp by the rootes. Let them alone, they be the blynde leaders of the blynde. Yf the blynde leade the blynde, both shall fall in to the dyche.

Then answered Peter and sayd to hym, declare vnto vs this parable. Then sayd Jesus: are ye yet without vnderstandynge? perceyue ye not, that what so euer goeth in at the mouth descendeth wyne in to the bely, and is cast out in to the draught? But those thynges which come forth of the mouth, come from the herte, and they defyle the man. For out of the herte come euyll thoughtes, murders, aduoutryes, whordome, theftes, false wytnesse, blasphemy: These are the thynges which defyle a man. But to eate with vnwasshen handes, defyleth not a man. ✠

✠ And

✣ And Jesus went thence, and departed in to the coostes of Tyre and Sydon. And beholde, a woman of Cane came out of the same coostes, and cryed vnto hym, sayinge: Haue mercy on me Lorde, thou sonne of Dauid, my doughter is sore vexed with a deuyll. And he gaue her neuer a worde to answere. Then came to hym his disciples and besought hym sayinge: Sende her awaye for she folowith vs cryinge. He answered and sayde, I am not sente, but vnto the lost shepe of the house of Israel. Then she came and worshipped hym, saying: master helpe me. He answered & sayd: it is not good to take the childrens breed and cast it to ꝑ dogges. She answered and sayde: trouth Lord, neuerthelesse the dogges eate of the crommes whiche fall from their masters table. Then Jesus answered & sayd vnto her. O woman great is thy fayth, be it to the as thou desyrest. And her doughter was made hole at that same houre. ✣

D Then Jesus went away from thence, and came nye vnto the see of Galile, and went vp in to a mountayne, and sat downe there. And moche people came vnto hym, hauynge with them, halt, blynde, domme, maymed, and other many, and cast them downe at Jesus fete. And he healed them, in so moche that the people wondred to se the domme speke, the maymed hole, the halt go, and the blynde se. And they glorifyed the god of Israel.

Then Jesus called his disciples to hym, and said: I haue compassion on the people because they haue continued with me now .iij. dayes, and haue nought to eate, and I wyll not let them go fastyng, lest they perysshe in the way. And his disciples said vnto hym: whence shulde we get so moche breed in the wyldernes to fill so great a multitude? And Jesus sayde vnto them: how many loues haue ye? They sayde seuen, & a fewe lytle fyshes. And he cōmaunded the people to sytt downe on the grounde, and takynge the seuen loues, and the fyshes, gaue thākes, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples gaue them to the people. And they dyd all eate, and were fylled. And they toke vp of the fragmētes that were lefte seuen baskets full. And yet they that ate were foure .M. men, beside women & children. And he sent awaye the people, and toke shyp and came in to the partyes of Magdala.

He answered and sayde vnto them. ✣ At euen ye saye, we shall haue fayre wedder, for the skye is redde. And in the morynge ye saye, to daye shall be foule wedder, for the skye is cloudye and redde. O ye hypocrytes, ye can discerne the countenaunce of the skye: and can ye not discerne the sygnes of seasons? B And when his disciples were come to the other syde of the water, they had forgotten to take breed with them. Then Jesus sayd vnto them: Take hede and beware of the leuen of the Pharisees and of the Sadducees. But they thoughte in themselues sayinge: we haue brought no breed with vs. When Jesus vnderstode that, he sayde vnto them. O ye of lytle fayth, why are your myndes cumbred because ye haue brought no breed? Do ye not yet perceyue neyther remembre those .v. loues when there were fyue thousande men, and how many baskets toke ye vp? Neyther the .vij. loues when there were .iiij. thousande, and how many baskets toke ye vp? Why perceyue ye not then, that I spake not vnto you of breed, whē I sayd, beware of the leuen of the Pharysees and of the Sadducees? Then vnderstode they that he bade not them beware of the leuen of breed, but of the doctryne of the Pharisees, and of the Sadducees.

From that tyme forth Jesus began to shewe vnto his disciples that he muste go vnto Jerusalem, and suffre many thynges of the elders, and of the hyghe preestes, and Scribes, and muste be kylled, and ryse agayne the thyrde daye. Jesus then said to his disciples, If any man wyl folowe me, let hym deny hym self, and take vp his crosse, and folowe me. For who so euer wyll saue his lyfe shal lose it. AND after syx dayes Jesus toke Peter and James and John his brother, and brought them vp in to an hygh mountayne out of the wayy, and was transfygured before them: & his face did shyne as the sonne, and his clothes were as wyte as the lyght. And beholde there appeared vnto them Moses and Helyas talkynge with hym. Then answered Peter, and sayd to Jesus: master here is good being for vs. If thou wilt, let vs make here .iij. tabernacles, one for the, & one for Moses, and one for Helyas. And when the disciples herde that they fell on their faces and were sore afrayde. And Jesus came and touched them, and sayd: aryse and be not afrayde. And when they lyfted vp, they sawe no man saue Jesus onely.

And as they came downe from the mountayne, Jesus charged them sayenge: Se ye shewe the vysyon to no man, vntyll the sonne of man be ryssen agayne from dethe. ✣ And his disciples asked hym sayenge: Why then saye the Scribes that Helyas must fyrst come? Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: Helyas shall fyrst come, and restore all thynges. And I say vnto you that Helyas is come already, and they knewe hym not, but haue done vnto him what soeuer they lysted. In lykewyse shal also the sonne of man suffre of them. Then the disciples perceiued that he spake vnto them of Johñ Baptyst. And when they were come to the people, there came to hym a certayne man and kneled downe to hym, and sayde. ✣ Master haue mercye on my sonne, for he is lunatycke, and is sore vexed. And the chylde was healed euen that same houre. ✣

Then came the disciples to Jesus secretly, and sayde: Why could not we cast hym out? Jesus sayd vnto them: Because of your vnbelefe. Then came Peter to hym, and sayd: master how oft shal I forgyue my brother if he synne agaynste me, seuen tymes? Jesus sayde vnto hym: I saye not vnto the. vii. tymes, but seuenty tymes. vii. tymes. ✠ ✠ Therfore is the kyngdom of heuē lykened vnto a certeyn kyng which wold take accomptes of his seruauntes. And when he had begon to reken, one was brought vnto hym, which ought hym x. thousande talentes: whom bycause he had nott wherto pay, his master cōmaunded him to be sold and his wyfe, and his children and all that he had, & payment to be made. The seruaunt fell downe and besought hym sayinge: Sir, gyue me respyte, and I wil pay it euery whit. Then had the Lorde pitye on that seruaunt, and losed hym, and forgaue hym the dette.

And the sayd seruaunt went out and found one of his felowes whiche ought hym an hundred pence, and layd handes on hym, and toke him by the throte, sayinge: pay me that thou owest. And his felow fell downe and besought hym saying: haue pacience with me, & I will pay the all. But he wolde not, but went & cast hym in to prison, tyll he sholde pay the det. When his other felowes saw what was done they were very sory, and came and tolde their Lord all that had happened. Then his Lorde called hym, and sayd vnto him. O cursi seruaunt I forgaue the all that det, bycause thou prayedst me: was it not mete also that thou sholdest haue had compassion on thy felowe, euen as I had pity on the? And his Lorde was wroth and deliuered him to the tormētors, tyll he sholde pay all that was due to him: So * likewyse shall my heuenly father do vnto you, except ye forgyue with your hertes eche one to his brother their trespaces. ✠

He answered and sayde vnto them: Haue ye not redde, how he * which made man at the begynnyng, made them man and woman, and sayd: * for this thyng shall man leaue father and mother, and cleue vnto his wyfe, and they twayne shal be one flesshe. Wherfore now are they not twayne, but one flesshe. Let not man therfore put a sonder that God hath coupled. Then sayde they to hym: why dyd Moses cōmaunde to gyue a testimoniall of diuorsement, and to put her awaye? He sayd to them: Moses bycause of ✠ hardnes of your hertes, suffered you to put awaye your wyues: but from the begynnyng it was not so. I saye therfore vnto you, who so euer putteth awaye his wyfe, except it be for aduoutry and marryeth an other, commytteth aduoutry. And who so euer marryeth her which is diuorsed doth commyt aduoutrye.

Then sayd his disciples to hym: yf the matter be so betwene man and wyfe, it is not good to marye. He sayd vnto them, all men can not awaye with that sayinge, saue they to whom it is gruen. For there are some geloed, whiche were so borne out of their mothers belly. And there are geloed, whiche be made of men. And there be geloed, whiche haue geloed them selues for the kyngdome of heuen. He that can take, let hym take. Then were brought to hym yonge children, that he sholde put his handes on them and praye. And the disciples rebuked them. But Jesus sayde: suffre the children, and forbyd them not to come to me, for of suche is the kyngdome of heauen. And when he had put his handes on them, he departed thence,

And beholde one came and sayd vnto hym: Good master, what good thynge shall I do, that I may haue euerlastynge lyfe? He sayde vnto hym: why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, and that is God. But & thou wylt enter in to lyfe, kepe the cōmaundementes. The other sayd to hym: Which? And Jesus sayd: thou shalt not kil, thou shalt not cō, myt aduoutry, thou shalt not steale, thou shalt not bere false witnes, honour father and mother, & thou shalte loue thy neyghbour as thy selfe. And the yong man sayd vnto him, I haue obserued all these thyngs from my youth, what lacke I yet? And Jesus sayd vnto him, * if thou wylt be perfecte, go sell that thou hast, & gyue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heuen, and come folowe me. When the yonge man herde that sayinge, he went away mournynge. For he had great possessions.

Then Jesus sayd vnto his disciples: Verely I saye vnto you, it is harde for a ryche man to enter in to the kyngdome of heuen. And moreouer I saye vnto you: it is easyer for a camell to go through the eye of a nedle, then for a ryche man to enter into the kyngdom of God. When his disciples herde that, they were exceedyngly amased, sayinge: who then can be saued? Jesus beheld them, and sayde vnto them: with men it is impossible, but with God all thynges are possyble.

✠ Then

✠ Then answered Peter, and sayde vnto him: Beholde, we haue forsaken all and followed the, what shall we haue? Iesus sayde vnto them: Verely I saye vnto you: when the sonne of man shall sit in the seate of his maiestie, ye which followe me in the newe byrth, shall sytte also vpon the twelue seates and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel. And whosoeuer forsaketh housis, or brethren, or systers, or father or mother, or wife or children, or landes for my name, shall receyue an hundred folde, and shall inherite euerlastynge lyfe. ✠ But many that are fyrst shall be last, and the laste shall be fyrste.

CAPI. XX.

FOr the kyngdome of heuen is lyke vnto an housholder, which went oute early in the mornynge to hyre labourers into his vyneyarde. And he agreed with the labourers for a peny a daye and sent them into his vyneyarde. And he went out about the thyrde houre, and sawe other standynge ydell in the market place, and said vnto them, go ye also in to my vyneyarde: and what so euer is ryght, I wyll geue you. And they went theyr waye. Agayne he went out about the syxte and nynth houre / and dyd lykewyse. And he went out about the eleuenth houre, and founde other standynge ydle, and sayde vnto them: Why stande ye here all the daye ydle? They sayde vnto hym: because no man hath hyred vs. He sayde to them: go ye also in to my vyneyarde / and what so euer is ryght, that shall ye receyue.

When euen was come, the Lorde of the vyneyarde sayde vnto his stewarde: call the labourers, and geue them theyr hyre / begynnynge at the laste, tyll thou come to the fyrst. And they which were hyred about the eleuenth houre came and receyued euery man a penye. Then came the fyrst, supposynge that they sholde receyue more / and they lykewyse receyued euery man a penye. And when they had receyued it, they murmured agaynste the goodman of the house, sayinge: These laste haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs which haue borne the burthen and heate of the daye. He answered to one of them, sayinge: frende I do the no wronge: bydest thou not agree with me for a penye? Take that is thy dutye and go thy waye, I wyll geue this laste as moche as the. Is it not lawfull for me to do as me lysteth with myne owne? Is thyne eye cupyll because I am good? ✠ So the laste shall be fyrst, and the fyrst laste. For many are called and fewe be chosen. ✠

✠ And Iesus ascended to Ierusalem, and toke the .xii. disciples aparte in the waye / and sayd to them. ✠ Beholde we go vp to Ierusalem, and the sonne of man shal be betrayed vnto the chefe prestes, and vnto the scribes, and they shall condemne hym to dethe, and shall delyuer hym to the Gentyles to be mocked, and scourged, and to be crucified, & the thyrde daye he shall ryse agayne.

✠ Then came to hym the mother of Zebedes children, with her sonnes ✠ worshyppynge hym, and desyrynge a certayne thynge of hym. And he sayde vnto her: what wylte thou haue? She sayde vnto hym: Graunte that these my two sonnes maye sytte, one on thy ryght hande, and the other on the lefte hande in thy kyngdome. Marc.10.c

Iesus answered and sayde: Ye wote not what ye aske. Are ye able to drynke of the cuppe that I shall drynke of, and to be baptysed with the baptysme that I shall be baptysed with. They answered to hym, that we are. And he sayde vnto them: Ye shall drynke of my cuppe, and shall be baptysed with the baptysme that I shall be baptysed with. But to syt on my ryght hande and on my lefte hande is not myne to geue, but to them for whome it is prepared of my father. ✠ D

✠ And when the ten herde this, they disdayned at the two brethren: But Iesus called them vnto hym and sayde: ✠ Ye knowe that the rulers of the Gentyles haue dompnation ouer them. And they that are greate exercyse power ouer them. It shall not be so amonge you. But who so euer wyll be great amonge you, let him be your minister / and who so euer wyll be chefe, let hym be your seruaunt / euen as the sonne of man came not to be ministred vnto, but to minister, and to geue his lyfe for the redemption of many. ✠ Marc.10.f Luke.22.d Marc.9.g

And as they departed from Hiericho, moche people followed hym. ✠ And beholde, two blynde men sytteynge by the waye syde, when they herde Iesus passe by, cryed sayinge: Thou Lorde the sonne of Dauid haue mercy on vs. And the people rebuked them, because they sholde holde their peace / but they cryed the more sayinge: haue mercye on vs thou Lorde whiche arte the sonne of Dauid. Then Iesus stode styll and called them, and sayde: What wyll ye I sholde do to you? They sayde to hym: Lorde, that our eyes maye be opened. Iesus had compassion on them, and touched their eyes, and forthwith their eyes receaued syght. And they followed hym. ✠ Marc.8.b Luke.18.d Marc.8.g

And anone the tygge tree wydered awaye. And when his disciples sawe that, they meruayled sayinge. How sone is the tygge tree wydered awaye? Iesus answered and sayd vnto them: Verely I saye vnto you, if ye shall haue fayth and shal not doubte, ye shall not onely do that which I haue done to the tygge tree, but also yf ye shall saye vnto this mountayne, take thy self away and cast thy selfe in to the see, it shall be done. And what so euer ye shall aske in prayer (yf ye beleue) ye shall receyue it.

✠ And when he was come in to the temple, the chefe priestes and the elders of the people, came vnto hym as he was teachynge, and sayd: by what auctorite doest thou these thynges? and who gaue the this power? Whether of them twayne dyd the will of the father? And they sayde vnto hym: the fyrst. Iesus sayd vnto them: verily I saye vnto you that the publicans & the harlottes shall come in the kyngdome of God before you. For Iohn came vnto you in the way of ryghtwysnes, and ye beleued hym not. ✠ Herken an other parable. * There was a certayne housholder whiche planted a vyneyarde, and hedged it rounde aboute and made a wynepresse in it, and bylte a toure, and let it out to husbandmen, and went in to a straūge countrey. And when the tyme of the frute drewe neare, he sent his seruauntes to the husbandmen to receaue the frutes of it. And the husbandmen caught his seruauntes, and beat one, killed an other, and stoned an other. Agayne he sent other seruauntes, mo then the fyrst, and they serued them lykewyse. But last of all, he sent vnto them his owne sonne, sayynge: they will feare my sonne. But when the husbandmen sawe the sonne, they sayd amonge them selues. * This is the heyre, come let vs kyll hym, and let vs take his inheritaunce to our selues. And they caught hym, and thrust hym out of the vyneyarde, & slewe hym. When the Lorde of the vyneyarde commeth, what will he do with those husbandmen? They sayd vnto hym: he wyl cruelly destroye those cuyll persons, and will let out his vyneyarde vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer hym the frute at tymes conuenient. Iesus sayd vnto them: dyd ye neuer rede in the scriptures: The stone whiche the buylders refused, the same is set in the principall parte of the corner: this was the Lordes doynge, and it is meruelous in our eyes. Therfore saye I vnto you, the kyngdome of God shall be taken frome you, and shall be gyuen to the Gentyles, whiche shall bynge forthe the frutes of it. And who soeuer shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken / but on who soeuer it shall fall vpon, it will grynde hym to powder. And when the chefe priestes and Pharyses herde his parables, they perceaued he spake of them. * And they wente about to laye handes on hym, but they feared the people, because they toke hym as a Prophete. ✠

CAPI. XXII.

And

A ND Jesus aunswered, and spake vnto them agayne, in parables, sayenge.
✣ The kyngdome of heauen is lyke vnto a man beynge a kynge, whiche mayed his sonne, and sent forthe his seruaunntes, to call them that were byd to the weddynge, & they wolde not come. Agayne he sente forthe other seruaunntes, sayenge. Tell them whiche are bydden: beholde I haue prepared my dynner, myne oxen and my fatlynges are killed, & all thynges are redy, come vnto the mariage. But they regarded not, and wet their wayes: one to his house in the countrey, another about his marchaundyse, the remnaunt toke his seruaunntes, and intreated them foulye, and slew them. When the kynge hearde that, he was wrothe, and send forthy his warryers, and destroyed those murtherers, and brent vp their cytye.

Then sayde he to his seruaunntes: the weddynge is prepared. But they which were bydden, were not worthy. Go ye therfore out into the hyghe wayes, and as many as ye fynde byd them to the mariage. The seruauntes wet out into the hyghe wayes, and gathered together as many as they coulde fynde, both good and bad, and the weddynge was furnyshed with geastes. Then the kynge came in, to beset the geastes, and spyed there a man whiche had not on a ✣ weddynge garment, and sayde vnto hym: Frende, how forteuned it that thou camest in hyther, and hast not on a weddynge garment? But he had neuer a worde to saye. Then sayde the kynge to his mynysters: take and bynde hym hande and fote, and caste hym into vtter darckenes, there shall be wepynge, and gnashynge of teeth. For many are called but fewe be chosen. ✣

✣ Then went the Pharises and toke counsell how they might trappe him in his wordes. And they sent vnto him their disciples, with Herodes officers, sayeng: ✣ Master, we know thou art true, and teachest the waye of God truly, neyther carest for any man, for thou cõsyderest not mens estate. Tell vs therfore: how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to geue tribute vnto Cesar or not? Jesus perceyued their wickednes, and sayde: Why tempte ye me, ye hypocrites? Let me se the coyne of the tribute money. And they toke hym ✣ a penye. And he sayde vnto them: Whose is this Image and superscription? They sayd vnto him: Cesars. Then sayde he vnto them: Geue therfore to Cesar, that whiche is Cesars: and geue vnto God, that which is Gods. ✣ Whe they herd that, they marueled, and lefte him, and went their waye.

The same daye the Sadducees came to hym (which saye that there is no resurrection) and asked him sayenge: Master, Moses bade, yf a man dye hauyng no childzen, that the brother mary his wyfe, and rayse vp seed vnto his brother. There were with vs seuen brethren and the first maryed and deceased without yssue & left his wyfe vnto his brother. Lykewyse the second and the thirde euen vnyll the seuenth. Last of all the woman dyed also. Now in the resurrection whose wyfe shall she be of the seuen? For all had her. Jesus answered & sayde vnto them ✣ ye are deceyued and vnderstand not the scriptures, nor yet the power of God. For in the resurrection they neyther mary nor be gyue in mariage: but are as angels in heuẽ

As touchynge the resurrection of the dead: haue ye not red what is sayd vnto you of god which sayth: ✣ I am Abrahams God, and Isaacs God, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead: but of the lyuynge. And when the people herde that, they were astonyed at his doctryne.

✣ When the Pharises had herde, howe he hadde stopped the Sadducees mouthes, they drewe togither, and one of them a lerned of lawe, asked him a question, temptynge hym, & sayenge: Master which is the chefe cõmaundement in the law? Jesus sayde to hym: Thou shalt loue the Lorde thy God with all thyne herte, with all thy soule, & with all thy mynd. This is the first and the chefe commaundemẽt. And the seconde lyke vnto this. Thou shalt loue thy neyghboure as thy selfe. In these. ii. commaundementes hange all the lawe & the Prophetes.

Whyle the Pharises were gathered togyther, Jesus asked them sayeng: What thinke ye of Christ? Whose sonne is he? They sayde vnto hym, The sonne of David. He sayd vnto them: How then doth David in spirite, call hym Lorde, sayenge: The Lorde sayd to my Lorde, syt on my right hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole. If David cal him Lorde: howe is he then his sonne? And none coulde answere him agayne one worde: neyther durst any frome that daye forth, aske him any mo questions. ✣

CAPI. XXIII.

THen spake Jesus to the people, and to his disciples, sayeng: The Scribes and Pharises ✣ syt in Moses chayre. All therfore whatsoeuer they byd you kepe, that kepe and do: but after their workes do not: for they saye, and do not. For they bynde heuy burdes and greuous to be borne, and laye them on mennes shoulders: but they them selues will not moue them with their fynger. All their workes they do, to be sene of men. They let abrode their philacteries, and make large borders on their garmentes, and loue to syt vppermoste at feastes, and to haue the chefe seates in the assemblies, & gretynges in the marketes, and to be called of men Rabbi.

But ye shall not suffre youre selues to be called Rabbi. For one is youre master, that is to wyt Christ, and all ye are brethren. And call no man youre father vpon the earthe, for there is but one youre father, and he is in heauen. Be not called masters, for there is but one youre master, and he is Christ. ✣ To syt in Moses chair, is to teache, not their own dremes, but the lawe of god, promulgate by Moses.

Then he whiche had receyued the one talente, came and sayde: Master, I knewe thee that thou arte an harde man, reapynge where thou sowedst not, and gatherynge where thou strawedst not, and was therefore afrayde, and wente and hyd thy talente in the earthe: Beholde, thou haste thyne owne. His master answered and sayde vnto hym: thou euyll seruaunte, and slowethfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not: thou oughtest therfore to haue put my money to the exchaungers, and then at my comynge, I shulde haue receyued myne owne, with gaynes. Take therfore the talent from hym and geue it vnto hym which hath ten talentes. For vnto euery one that hath it, shalbe geuen, and he shall haue aboundance, and from hym that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath. And caste that vnprofytable seruaunte, into vtter derckenesse: There shall be weppynge, and gnashynge of teeth.

+ When the sonne of man commeth in his glorye, and all the holy angels with hym, the shall he sytte vpon the seate of his glorye, and before hym shalbe gathered all nacyons. And he shall parte them one from another, as a shepeherde diuydeth the shepe from the gootes. And he shall set the shepe on his ryghte hande, and the gootes on the lyft. Then shall the kynge saye to them on his ryghte hande: Come ye blessed children of my father, inherete the kyngdome prepared for you, from the begynnynge of the worlde. For I hongred, and ye gaue me meate. I thursted, and ye gaue me drynke. I was a straunger, and ye lodged me I was naked and ye clothed me. I was sicke and ye vysyted me. I was in prison, and ye came vnto me. Then shall the ryghteous answere hym, sayenge: Lorde, when sawe we the an hongred, and fed the? or a thurst, and gaue the drynke? When sawe we the a straunger, and lodged the? Or naked, and clothed the? Or when sawe we the sycke, or in prison and came vnto the? And the kynge shall answere and saye vnto them: Verely I saye vnto you: in as moche as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

Then shall the kynge saye vnto them on his lyfte hande: departe from me ye cursed, into euerlastynge fyre: whiche is prepared for the deuyll and his aungels. For I hongred, and ye gaue me no meate. I thursted, and ye gaue me no drynke. I was a straunger, and ye lodged me not. I was naked, and ye clothed me not. I was sycke, and in prison, and ye vysyted me not.

Then shall they also answere him, sayenge: Lorde, When sawe we the an hungred, or a thurst, or a straunger, or naked, or sicke, or in prison, and dyd not minister vnto the? Then shall he answere them, and saye: Verely I saye vnto you, in as moche as ye dyd it not to one of the least of these, ye dyd it not to me. And these shall go into euerlastynge payne: & the ryghteous into lyfe euerlastynge. ✠

Then assembled the chefe prestes and the scribes, and the elders of the people to the palace of the hyghe preste, called Caiphas, & toke counsell, howe they myghte take Jesus by gyle, and kyll hym. But they sayde, not on the festiuall daye, least any arowre aryse in the people.

When * Jesus was in Bethanye, in the house of Simon the leper, there came vnto hym a woman, whiche had an alabaster bote of precyous oyntement, and powred it on his heade, as he sate at the boorde. When his disciples sawe that, they disdayned, sayenge: What neded this waste? This oyntement myght haue bene sold for moch money, & gyue to the poore. When Jesus vnderstode that, he sayde vnto them: Why trouble ye the woman? She hath wrought a good worke vpon me. For ye haue poore folke alwayes with you but me haue ye not alwayes. For where as this woman hathe caste this oyntement on my body, she dyd it to burye me with. Verely I saye vnto you, Where so euer this Gospell shalbe preached throughout the hole worlde, there shall also this that she hath done be told for a remembraunce of her.

Then one of the twelue, called Judas Iscariot, went vnto the chefe prestes & sayde: What will ye geue me, * and I shall deliuer hym vnto you? And they appointed vnto him thirty peces of syluer. And from that tyme he sought opportunite to betraye hym.

* The first daye of swete breed, the disciples came to Jesus, sayenge vnto him: where wilt thou we prepare for ✠ to eat the passouer? And he sayde: go into the cytie, to such a man and saye to him, the master sayeth my tyme is at hande, I will kepe myne Easter at thy house with my disciples. And the disciples did as Jesus had appointed them, and made redy the Easterlambe.

* When the euen was come he sate downe with the. xii. And as they dyd eate, he sayde: Verely I saye vnto you, one of you shall betraye me. And they were very sorowfull, and began euery one of them to saye vnto hym: is it I master? He answered and sayde: he that hath dypped his hande with me in the dysshe, the same shall betraye me. * The sonne of man goeth as it is wrytten of hym: but wo be to that man, by whome the sonne of man is betrayed. It hadde bene good for that man, yf he hadde neuer bene borne. Then Judas whiche betrayed hym, answered and sayde: is it I master? He sayde vnto hym: Thou haste sayde. Whyle they dyd eate, Jesus toke bred and and when he hadde geuen thankes, brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and sayde: ✠ Take eate, this is my body. And he toke the cup, & thanked, and gaue it them, sayenge: Drynke of it euery one. For this is my bloude of the newe couenaunt shedde for many, to the forgyuenesse of synnes. I saye vnto you: I shall not drynk hence forth of this frute of the vyne tyll that daye, when I shall drynke it new wt you in my fathers kyngdome.

And when they hadde geuen prayses, they went oute into mounte Oliuete. Then sayd Jesus vnto them: all ye shall be offended by me this nyght. For it writen: ✠ I will smyte the shepherde, and the shepe of the flocke shal be scattered abrode. But after I am risen agayne, I will go before you into Galile. Peter answered, and sayde vnto hym: thoughe all men shulde be offended by the, yet wolde I neuer be offended. Jesus sayde vnto hym: Verely I saye vnto the, that this same nyght before the cocke crow, thou shalt deny me thryse. Peter sayde vnto hym: ✠ If I shulde dye with the, yet wolde I not denye the. Lykewyse also sayde all the disciples.

Then wente Jesus with them into a place called Gethsemane, and sayde vnto his disciples, sit ye here, whyle I go and praye yonder. And he toke with him Peter and the two sonnes of Zebede, and began to wexe sorouthull, and to be in an agonye. Then sayde Jesus vnto them: ✠ my soule is heuy euen vnto the deth. Tary ye here: and watche with me. And he went a lytell forth, and fell flat on his face, and prayed, sayenge: My father, yf it be possible, ✠ let this cuppe passe frome me: neuertheles, not as I will, but as thou wylte. And he came vnto the disciples, and founde them a slepe, and sayde to Peter: What, myghte ye not watche with me one houre: Watche: and praye that ye fall not into temptacion. The spirite is prompte, but the flesshe is weake.

He wente forthe ones agayne, and prayed, sayenge: My father, yf this cup can not passe awaye frome me, but that I drynke of it, thy will be done. And he came, and founde them a slepe agayne. For their eyes were heuy. And he left them and went agayne, and prayed ỹ thirde tyme, sayenge the same wordes. Then came he to his disciples, and sayde vnto them: Slepe henceforth, and take your rest. Behold the houre is at hande, and the sonne of man is betrayed into the handes of synners. Ryse, let vs be goyng: beholde, he is at hande that betrayeth me. Whyle he yet spake: Lo, Judas one of the xii. came, and with him a great multitude with swerdes and staues, sent from the chefe prestes, and elders of the people. And he that betrayed him, hadde geuen a token, sayenge: Whosoeuer I kysse, that same is he, laye handes on him: and forthwith he came to Jesus, and sayde, hayle Master: and kyssed him. And Jesus sayde vnto him: frend wherfore arte thou come. Then came they, & layde handes on Jesus, and toke him.

And beholde, one of them which were with Jesus, stretched oute his hande, and drue his swerde, and stroke a seruaunt of the hyghe preste, and smote of his eare. Then sayde Jesus vnto him: Put vp thy swerde into his place. ✠ For all that take the swerde, shal perysshe with the swerde. Esther thynkest thou that I can not nowe praye to my father, and he shall geue me mo then. xii. Legions of angels? But howe then shulde the scriptures be fulfylled: that so it oughte to be. The same tyme sayde Jesus to the multitude: ye be come out as vnto a theefe, with swerdes and staues for to take me. I sate dayely teachynge in the temple amonge you, and ye toke me not. All this was done that the scriptures of the prophetes myghte be fulfilled. ✠ Then all the disciples forsoke him and fled. And they toke Jesus and led him to Cayphas the chiefe Prieste, where the Scribes and elders were assembled. Peter folowed him a farre of, vnto the hyghe prestes palace: and went in, and sate with the seruauntes to se the ende.

The chiefe prestes and elders, and all the concile, sought false witnesse against Jesus, to put him to death, but founde none: in so moch that when many false wytnesses came, yet founde they none. At last came two false wytnesses, and sayde: This man sayde: I can destroy the temple of God, and buylde it agayn in thre dayes. And the chefe Prieste arose, and sayde to him: answerest thou nothinge? How is it that these beare witnesse against the. But Jesus held his tongue. And the chefe preste answered, and sayde to him: I conjure the in the name of the lyuyng God, that thou tell vs, whether thou be Christ the sonne of God. Jesus sayde to him: thou hast sayde. Neuertheles I say vnto you ✠ hereafter shal ye se the sonne of man syttynge on the ryght hande of power, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.

✠ Then the chefe preste rent his clothes, sayenge: he hath blasphemed: what nede we any mo wytnesses? Beholde, nowe ye haue herde his blasphemy: what thinke ye? They answered and sayde: he is gyltie of deathe. Then spat they in his face and buffeted him with fystes. And other smote him with the palme of their handes on the face, sayenge: Prophecye vnto vs thou Christ, who is he ỹ smote the?

Peter sate without in the palace. And a damsell came to him, sayenge: Thou also wert wt Jesus of Galile: but he denyed before them al sayenge: I wote not what thou sayst. When he was gone oute into the porche, an other wenche sawe him, and sayde vnto them that were there. This felowe was also with Jesus of Nazareth. And agayne he denyed with an othe, I knowe not the man. And after a whyle came vnto him they that stode by and sayde vnto Peter: ✠ Surely thou arte one of them, for thy speache bewrayeth the. Then began he to curse and to sweare, that he knew not the man. And by and by the cocke crewe. And Peter remembred the wordes of Jesus, which sayde vnto him: before the cocke crow, thou shalt denye me thryse: and went out at the dores and wept bytterly.

CAPI. XXVII.

Mat.26.a Luke.xxii.a

a When the morninge was come, * all the chiefe prestes, and the elders of the people helde a counsayle agaynste Jesus, to put hym to deathe, and broughte hym bounde, and deliuered hym vnto Pontius Pylate the deputie.

Then when Judas whiche betrayed hym, sawe that he was condempned, he repented hym selfe, and broughte agayne the.xxx. plates of syluer to the chiefe Prestes and elders, sayenge: I haue synned betrayenge the giltles bloude. And they sayde: what is that to vs? See thou to that. And he caste downe the syluer plates in the temple, and departed, and went and hounge hym selfe.

And the chiefe prestes take the syluer plates and sayde: It is not lawfull to put them into the treasure, because it is the price of bloude. And they take counsell, and boughte with them a potters felde, to bury straungers in. Wherefore that felde is called the felde of bloud, vnto this daye. Then was fulfylled, that was spoken by Jeremye the Prophete, sayenge. And they take thirty syluer plates, the price of hym that was valued, whō they bought of the children of Israel, and they gaue them for the potters felde, as the Lorde appointed me. * Jesus stode before the deputye: and the deputye asked hym, sayenge: Arte thou the kynge of the Iues: Jesus sayde vnto hym. Thou sayest. And when he was accused of the chiefe Prestes, and elders, he aunswered nothynge. Then sayde Pilate vnto hym: Herest thou not, howe many thynges they laye againste the? And he answered hym to neuer a worde: in so moche that the deputie meruayled greatly.

Mat.26.a Luke.xxii.a John.xviii.c

At that feast, the deputie was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prysoner, whom they wolde desyre. He had then a notable prysoner called Barrabas. And when they were gathered together, Pilate sayde vnto them: * Whether wyll ye that I geue loosse vnto you Barrabas or Jesus whiche is called Christe? For he knewe well, that for enuye they hadde deliuered hym.

Mat.27.a John.xviii.g

When he was set vpone to geue iugement his wyfe sent to hym, sayeng: Haue thou nothinge to do with that iuste man. For I haue suffered many thynges this daye in a dreame, aboute hym. But the chiefe prestes and elders hadde persuaded the people, that they shulde aske Barrabas, and shulde destroye Jesus. Then the deputie aunswered and sayde vnto them: whether of the twayne will ye that I let loosse vnto you? And they sayde, Barrabas. Pilate sayde vnto them: what shall I do then with Jesus, whiche is called Christe? They all sayde to hym: let hym be crucifyed. Then sayde the deputie: What euyll hath he done? And they cryed the more, sayenge: Let hym be crucifyed. When Pilate sawe that he preuayled nothynge, but that more busynesse was made, he toke water, and washed his handes before the people, sayenge: I am innocent of the bloude of this * iuste person, ayenst you. Then answered all the people, and sayde: his bloude be on vs, and on ours children. Then let he Barrabas loosse vnto them and skourged Jesus, and deliuered hym to be crucifyed.

Then the soudiours of the deputie toke Jesus vnto the comune hall, and gathered vnto hym all the companye. And they stripped hym and put on hym a purpyl robe, and platted a crowne of thornes and put vpon his hed and a reede in his ryghte hande: and bowed their knees before hym, and mocked hym, sayenge: Hayle kynge of Jewes: and spytted vpon hym, and toke the reede, and smote hym on the hed.

b And when they hadde mocked hym, they toke the robe of hym agayne, & put his owne rayment on hym, and led hym awaye to crucifye hym. And as they came out, they founde a man of Cyren, named Simon: hym they compelled to beare his crosse. And when they came vnto the place, called Golgotha (that is to saye, a place of dead mens skulles) they gaue hym vynegre to drynke, mengled with gall. And when he had tasted therof, he wold not drynke.

When they hadde crucifyed hym, they parted his garmentes, and dyd cast lottes: to fulfill that was spoken by the Prophet. * They deuyded my garmentes amonge them: and vpon my vesture dyd caste lottes. And they sate and watched hym there, and they set vp ouer his hed the cause of his deathe wryten. This is Jesus the kynge of the Iewes. * And there were two theues crucifyed with hym, c one on the ryghte hande, and an other on the lyfte.

They that passed by, cruyed hym, waggynge their heddes, and sayenge: Thou that destroyest the temple of God, and buyldest it in thre dayes, saue thy selfe. If thou be the sonne of God, come downe from the crosse. Lykewyse also the hyghe Prestes mockynge hym, with the Scribes and elders, sayde: He saued other, hym selfe he can not saue. If he be the kynge of Israel: let hym nowe come downe from the crosse, and we wyll beleue hym. He trusted in God, let hym deliuer hym nowe, yf he wyll haue hym: for he sayde, I am the sonne of God. That same also the theues, whiche were crucifyed with hym, cast in his teeth.

Mat.27.a Mar.xv.a Luke.xxiii.a

From the syxte houre was there derckenes ouer all the lande vnto the nynth houre. And aboute the nynthe houre, Jesus cryed with a f loude voyce, sayenge: Eli Eli lama asdathani. That is to say: * my God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Some of them that stode there, when they herde that, sayde, this man calleth for Heli. And forthwith one of them ran and toke a sponge, and filled it full of vynegre, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drynke. Other sayde, let be: let vs se whether Helyas wyll come, and deliuer hym. Jesus cryed cryed agayne with a loude voyce and yelded vp the ghoste.

And beholde the * vayle of the temple vyd rent in twayne, frome the vyghelle to the lowelle, and the earthe vyd quake, and the stones vyd rent, and graues vyd open: and the bodyes of many sayntes whiche slepte, arose, and came oute of the graues after his reserrection, and came into the holy cytie, and appeared vnto many. * When the Centurion, and they that were with hym watchynge Jesus, sawe the earthe quake, and those thynges whiche happened, they feared greately, sayenge. Truely this was the sonne of God.

* And many women were there, beholding hym a farre of, whiche folowed Jesus frome Galile, mynistringe vnto hym. Amonge whyche was Mary Magdalen, and Mary the mother of James and Joses, and the mother of Zebedes children.

* When the euen was come, there came a ryche man of Aramathia named Joseph, whyche man also was Jesus disciple. He went to Pilate and craued the bodye of Jesus. Then Pilate commaunded the body to be wyuered. And Joseph toke the body, and wrapped it in a clene lynnen clothe, and put it in his newe tombe, whiche he hadde hewen oute, euen in the rocke, and rolled a greate stone to the dore of the sepulcre, and departed. And there was * Mary Magdalene, & the other Mary, syttynge ouer against the sepulcre. The nexte daye, that folowed the daye of preparing the Sabboth, the hyghe prestes and Pharises gat them selues to Pilate, and sayde: Syr, we remembre, that this deceyuer sayde whyle he was yet alyue. After thre dayes, I shall ryse agayne. Commaunde therfore that the sepulcre be made sure tyll the thirde daye, lest his disciples come and steale hym away, and saye vnto the people, he is risen frome deathe and the laste errour be worse then the fyrste. Pylate sayde vnto them. Ye haue a watche: Go, and make it as sure as ye can. And they went and made the sepulcre sure with watche men, and sealed the stone. ❧

¶ The reserrection of Christe. The hye prestes geue the soudiers money to saye that Christe was stollen out of his graue. Christe appeareth to his disciples, and sendeth them to preache and to baptyse.

CAPI. XXVIII.

IN the euenynge of the Sabboth dayes, which dawneth vnto one of the Sabothes Mary Magdalene and the other Mary, came to se the sepulchre.

And beholde there was a great erth quake. For an aungell of the Lorde descended frome heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone frome the dore, and sate vpon it. His countenaunce was lyke lyghtenynge, and his rayment whyte as snowe. And for feare of hym the keepers were astonyed, and were as dede.

* The aungell answered and sayde to the women, feare ye not. I know that ye seke Jesus whiche was crucyfyed: he is not here: he is rysen as he sayde. Come, and se the place where the Lorde was put: and goo quickly, and tell his disciples, that he is risen frome deathe. And beholde, he goeth before you into Galile, there ye shall se hym. Lo I haue tolde you. ❧

✣ And they departed quickly frome the sepulcre with feare and greate ioye: and ran to tell his disciples. And as they went to tell his disciples: beholde Jesus met them, sayenge: All hayle. And they came and helde hym by the fete, and worshypped hym. Then sayde Jesus vnto them: Be not afrayde. Go and tell my brethren, that they go into Galile, and there shall they se me. When they were gone: Beholde, some of the keepers came into the cite, and shewed vnto the hyghe Prestes, all the thinges that were happened. And they gathered them togethir with the elders, and toke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the soudiours, sayenge: Say that his disciples came by nyght, and stole hym away whyle ye slept. And yf this come to the rulers eares, we will appease hym, and saue you harmeles. And they toke the money, and dyd as they were taughte. And this sayenge is noysed amonge the Jewes vnto this daye. ❧

✣ Then the. xi. disciples went awaye into Galile, vnto a mountayne, where Jesus had appointed them. And when they sawe hym, they * worshypped hym: But some of them doubted. And Jesus came and spake vnto them sayenge. All power is gyuen vnto me in heauen, and in earth. Go therfore and teache all nacyons, Baptysynge them, in the name of the father, and the sonne, and the holy ghost: Teachynge them to obserue all thinges, what so euer I commaunded you. And lo, I am with you alwaye, euen vnto the ende of the worlde. ❧

Here endeth the Gospell after S. Mathew.

The Gospell after S. Marche.

¶ The offyce of John Baptist. The baptisme of Christe. His fastinge preachynge and the callynge of Peter. Andrew. James and John. Christe healeth the man with the vncleane spirite. helpeth Peters mother in lawe and clenseth the leper.

CAPI. I. +

A The begynnynge of the Gospell of Jesu Christe, the sonne of God, as it is written in the prophetes. * Beholde, I sende my messenger before thy face, whiche shall prepare thy wayes before the. The voyce of a cryer in the wildernesse: + prepare ye the waye of the Lorde, make his pathes streyght. John dyd baptyse in the wildernesse, & preache the baptisme of repentaunce, for the remyssion of synnes. And all that lande of Jurie and they of Jerusalem, went out vnto hym, and were all baptised of hym in the ryuer Jordan, confessynge their synnes.

John was clothed with camels heare, and with a gyrdell of a skynne about his loynes. And he dyd eate locustes and wylde honye, and preached sayenge: There cometh one mightyer then I commeth after me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe and vnlose. I haue baptised you with water: but he shall baptyse you with the holy ghost.

And it came to passe in those dayes, that Jesus came from Nazareth, a citie of Galile: & was baptised of John in Jordan. And assone as he was come out of the water: he sawe heauen open, and the holy ghost descendinge vpon him, lyke a dowe. And there came a voyce from heauen. Thou arte my dere sonne in whom I delyte.

And forthwith the spirite draue him into wyldernesse: and he was there in the wyldernesse. xl. dayes, and was tempted of Satan, & was with wylde beastes. And the angels ministred vnto hym. After John was taken, Jesus came into Galile, preachynge the good tydynges of the kyngdome of God, sayenge: the tyme is come, and the kyngdome of God is at hande, repente and beleue the Gospell.

As he walked by the see of Galile, he sawe Symon and Andrew his brother, castinge nettes into the see, for they were fyshers. And Jesus sayde vnto them: folowe me, and I wil make you fyshers of men. And forthwith, they forsoke their nettes, and folowed hym. And when he had gone a lytell further thence, he sawe James the sonne of Zebede, and John his brother, whiche also in the shyp were mendynge their nettes. And anone he called them And they lefte their father Zebede in the shyp with his hyred seruauntes, and wente their waye after hym.

C And they go to Capernaum: and forthwith on the Sabboth dayes, he entred into the Synagoge and taught, and they merueled at his learninge. For he taughte them as one that had power, and not as the Scribes.

And there was in their Synagoge a man vexed with an vncleane spirite, that cryed sayenge: Ah, what haue we a do with the, Jesu of Nazareth? Arte thou come to destroye vs? I knowe what thou art, that holy of God. And Jesus rebuked hym sayenge: be styll and come out of the man. And the vncleane spirite tare him, and cryed with a loude voyce, & came out of hym. And they were all amased, in so much that they demaunded one of an other amonge them selues sayenge: What thinge is this? & What newe doctrine is this? For he commaundeth the foule spirites with power, and they obey hym. And immediatly his fame spred abrode throughout all the region rounde aboute in Galile.

And forthwith, assone as they were come oute of the Synagoge, they entred into the house of Symon and Andrew, with James & John. And Symons mother in lawe lay sicke of a feuer. And anone they tolde hym of her. And he came and toke her by the hande, & lyft her vp: and the feuer forsoke her by and by: and she mynystred vnto them. And at euen when the sonne was downe, they brought to hym all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with diuels. And all the cyte gathered together at the dore, and he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases. * And he cast out many diuels, and suffred not the diuels to speake, because they knew him.

And in the morynge very early, Jesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed. And Symon and they that were with him folowed after hym. And when they had founde him, they sayde vnto hym: all men seke for the. And he sayde vnto them: let vs go in to the next tounes, that I maye preache there also: for truely I came out for that purpose. And he preached in their Synagoges throughout all Galile, and cast the diuels out.

* And there came a leper to hym, beseching hym, and kneled downe vnto hym, and sayde vnto hym: If thou wilte, thou canste make me cleane. And Jesus had compassion on hym, & put forth his hande, touched hym, and sayd to hym: I will, be thou cleane. And assone as he had spoken, immediatly the lepry departed from hym, and sent hym awaye forthwith, & sayde vnto hym: See thou saye nothinge to any man: but get the hence, and shewe thy selfe to the Preste, and offer for thy clensynge, those thinges which Moses commaunded, for a witnesse vnto them. But he (assone as he was departed) began to tell many thinges, & to publysshe the fact: in so moche that Jesus could no more openly enter into the citie, but was without in desolate places. And they came to hym from euery quarter.

¶ He healeth the man of the palsye / calleth Leui the custumer / eateth with open synners / and excuseth his disciples.

CAPI. II.

A After a fewe dayes, he entred into Capernaum agayne, and it was noysed that he was in a house. And anone many gathered together, in so moche & now there was

was no rowme to receyue them, no not so moche as about the dore. And he preached the worde vnto them. And there came vnto hym, that brought one sicke of the palsie, borne of foure men. And because they could not come nyghe vnto hym for preasse, they vncouered the rofe of the house, where he was. And when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed wherin the sicke of the palsye laye. When Jesus sawe their faythe, he sayde to the sycke of the palsye, ✠ Sonne, thy synnes are forgyuen the.

And there were certayne of the Scribes sittynge there, and reasonynge in their hertes: How weth this felowe so blaspheme? Who can forgyue synnes, but God onely? And immediatly when Jesus perceyued in his spirite, that they so reasoned in them selues, he sayde vnto them: Why thynke ye suche thinges in your hertes? Whether is it easyer to saye to the sycke of the palsye, thy synnes are forgyue the: or to saye, aryse and take thy bedde, and walke? ✠ That ye maye know that the sonne of man hath power in erth to forgyue synnes, he spake vnto the sycke of the palsy: I say vnto the, aryse and take vp thy bed, and go to thyne owne house. And by and by he arose, and toke vp the bed, and went forth before them all: in so moch that they were all amased, and glorified God, sayenge: we neuer sawe it on this fashyon.

And he wente agayne vnto the see, and all the people resorted vnto hym, and he taught them. And as Jesus passed by, he sawe Leui ꝑ sonne of Alphey syt at the receyte of custome, and sayde vnto hym: folowe me. And he arose and folowed hym. ✠ And it came to passe, as Jesus sate at meate in his house, many publicans and synners sate at meate also with Jesus and his disciples. For there were manye that folowed hym. And when the Scribes & Phārises sawe hym eate with publicans and synners, they sayde vnto his disciples: How is it, that he eateth and drynketh with publicans and synners? When Jesus herde that, he sayde vnto them. ✠ The hole haue no neade of the physicion, but the sycke. I came not to call the ryghteous, but the synners to repentaunce.

And the disciples of Johñ and the Phārises vsed faste: and they come and say vnto hym. Why do the disciples of Johñ & of the Phārises fast, and thy disciples fast not. And Jesus sayde vnto them: Can the children of a weddynge fast, whyles the brydegrome is with them? As longe as they haue the brydegrome with them, they cannot fast. But the dayes shall come when the brydegrome shalbe taken from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

Also no man sowyth a pece of newe cloothe vnto an old garment, for then taketh he away the new pece from the olde, and so is the rent worse. In lyke wyse, no man powreth newe wyne into olde bottels: for yf he do, the newe wyne breaketh the bottels, and the wyne runneth out, and the bottels perysshe. But newe wyne, must be powred into newe bottels.

And it chaunced that he went thorow the corne fieldes, on the Sabboth daye: and his disciples as they went in their waye, began to pluche the eares of corne. And the Phārises sayde vnto hym: beholde, why do they on the Sabboth dayes, that whyche is not lawfull? And he sayd to them: haue ye neuer red what Dauid dyd, when he had nede, and was an hongred, bothe he / and they that were with hym? Howe he wente into the house of God in the dayes of Abiathar the hyghe preest, and dyd eate the halowed loues, whyche is not lawfull to eate, but for the preestes onely: and gaue also to them whyche were with hym? And he sayde to them the Sabboth was made for man, and not man for the Sabboth. Wherfore the sonne of man is Lorde also of the Saboth daye.

1. Reg. 21. b.

¶ He helpeth the man with the dryed hand, chuseth his Apostles, and casteth out the vncleane spirite: whyche the Phārises ascribe vnto the deuyll. The brother, sister and mother of Christ.

CAPI. III.

And he entered agayn into the Synagoge, and there was a man whych had a ✠ wythered hand. And they watched hym to se, whether he wolde heale hym on the Sabboth daye, that they myght accuse hym. And he sayde vnto the man wyche had the wythered hande: aryse, and stande in the myddes. And he sayde to them: whether is it lawfull to do a good dede on the Sabboth dayes, or an euyll? to saue lyfe or kyll: but they helde their peace. And he lokyd rounde about on them angerly mournynge on the blyndnes of their hertes, and sayde to the man, ✠ stretche forth thyne hande. And he stretched it oute. And his hande was restored, euen as hole as the other. ꝑ

Mark. iii. a

Mark. iii. b Luke. vi. c

And the Phārises departed, and forthwith gathered a counsell, with them that belonged to Herode, against hym, to destroye him. And Jesus auoyded with his disciples to the see. And a great multitude folowed hym from Galile and from Jurie, and from Jerusalem, and from Idumea, and from beyonde Jordane, ✠ and they that dwelled about Tyre and Sidō a great multitude: which when they had herd what thinges he dyd, came vnto hym.

Mark. iii. b Luke. vi. c Joh. vi. a

And he commaunded his disciples, that a shyppe shoulde waite on hym, because of the people, lest they shoulde thronge hym. For he had healed many, in so moche that they preased vpon hym, for to touche hym as many as had plages. And whē the vncleane spirites sawe hym, they fell downe before hym, and cryed, sayenge: thou arte the sonne of God. And he straytly charged them that they shuld not vtter hym.

✠ And he went vp into a mountayne, and called vnto hym whome he wolde, and they came vnto hym. And he ordeyned .xii. that they shulde be with hym, and that he myght sende them to preache: and ꝑ they myght haue power to heale sicknesses, and to caste oute deuyls. And he gaue Symon to name Peter.

Mark. iii. a Luke. vi. c

And he called Iames the sonne of Zebede and Iohn Iames brother, and gaue them Bonarges to name, whiche is to saye, the sonnes of thoundre. And Andrew, and Philip, & Bartlemew, and Mathewe, and Thomas, & Iames the sonne of Alpher, and Thadeus, and Symon of Cane, and Iudas Iscariot, whiche also betrayed hym.

And they came vnto house, and the people assembled together agayne, so greately that they had not leysur so moche as to eate bred. And when they that longed vnto hym herde of it, they went out to laye handes on him. For they thought he had bene beside hym selfe. ✱ And the Scribes which came from Ierusalē, sayde: He hath Beelzebub, and by the power of the chefe deuyll, casteth oute deuyls. And he called them vnto hym, and sayde vnto the in similitudes.

✱ Matthew and Luke xi.

How can Satan dryue out Satan? For yf a realme be deuided against it selfe, that realme can not endure. Or yf a house be deuyded against it selfe, that house can not continue: So yf Satan ryseth against hym selfe and be deuided, he can not continue but is at an ende No man can entre into a stronge mans house and take awaye his goodes, excepte he fyrste bynde that stronge man, and then spoyle his house. Verely I saye vnto you, all synnes shal be forgyuen vnto mens children and blasphemy wherewith they blaspheme. But he that ✱ blaspheameth the holy goost, shall neuer haue forgyuenes: but is in daunger of eternall damnation: because they sayde he had an vncleane spirite. Then came his mother and his brethre and stode without, and sent vnto hym & called hym. And the people sate about hym, and sayde vnto hym: Behold thy mother and thy ✱ brethren seke for the without. And he answered them sayenge: Who is my mother & my brethren? And he loked rounde aboute on his disciples, whiche sate in compasse aboute him and sayde: Behold my mother & my brethren. For who so euer doeth the will of God, he is my brother, my sister and mother.

✱ Matthew xii. Luke viii.

¶ The parable of the sower. Christ stilleth the tempest of the see, which obeyed him.

CAPI. IIII.

AND he began agayne to teach by the see syde. And there gathered together vnto hym moch people, so greatly that he entred into a ship, and sate in the see, and all the people was by the see syde on the shore. And he taught them many thinges in parables, and sayde vnto them in his doctrine. Herken: beholde, there went out a sower to sowe. And it fortuned as he sowed, some fell by the waye syde, and the fowles of the ayre came and deuoured it vp. Some fel on the stony grounde, where it had not moche erth: and by and by sprange vp, because it had not depth of earthe: but as sone as the sonne was vp, it caught hete, and because it had not rotynge, wythered awaye.

And some fell amonge the thornes, and the thornes grewe vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruite. And some fell vpon good grounde and dyd yelde fruite that spronge and grewe, & brought forthe: some thirty folde, some sixtye folde, and some an hundred folde. And he sayd vnto them: he that hathe eares to heare, let him heare.

And when he was alone, they that were aboute hym with the twelue, asked him of the parable. And he sayde vnto them. To you is it graūted to knowe the mysteryes of the kyngdome of God. But vnto them that are without, shall all thinges be done in parables: that when they se, they shall se, and not discerne: and when they heare, they shal heare, and not vnderstande: leaste at any tyme they should tourne, and their synnes should be forgyuen them. And he sayde vnto them: Perceyue ye not this parable? and how ye shal vnderstand all other parables.

The sower soweth the worde. And they that are by the wayes syde, where the worde is sowen, are they to whome allone as they haue herde it, Satan commeth immediately, and taketh awaye the worde that was sowen in their hertes. And lykewyse they that are sowen on the stonye grounde, are they: whiche when they haue herde the worde, forthwith receyue it with gladnes, yet haue no rotes in them selues, and so endure but a tyme: and anon as trouble and persecucion ariseth for the wordes sake, they fall immediatly. And they that are sowen amonge the thornes, are suche as heare the worde, and the care of this worlde and the deceytfulnes of ryches, and the lustes of other thinges entre in & choke the worde, and it is made vnfruitful. And those that were sowed in good grounde, are they that heare the worde and receyue it, and bringe forthe fruite, some thirty folde, some sixtye folde, some an hundred folde.

And he sayd vnto them: is the candell lyghted to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not rather to be put on a candlestyche? For there is nothinge so preuye that shall not be opened, neyther so secrete, but that it shall come abrode. If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare. And he sayde vnto them: take hede what ye heare. With what measure ye mete, with the same shall it be measured vnto you again. And vnto you that heare, shal more be graūted. For ✱ vnto him that hath, shall it be graūted, and from him that hath not, shal be taken awaye, euen that he hath. ✱ Matthew

And he sayde: so is the kyngdome of God, as yf a man should sowe seed in the grounde, and should slepe, and ryse vp nyght and day: and the seede should springe and growe vp, he not ware. For the earthe bringeth forth fruite of her selfe: first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares. And as sone as the fruite is brought forth, anone he putteth to the sykell, because the haruest is come.

And he sayde: Where vnto shall we lyken the kyngdome of God? or with what parable shall we compare it? It is lyke a graynе of mustardseed, whiche when it is sowen in the erth, is the leest of all seedes that be in the erth:

but after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes: and beareth greate braunches, so that the fowles of the ayre may dwell vnder the shawde of it.

And with many suche similitudes he preached the word vnto them, after as they might heare it. And without similitude spake he nothing vnto them. But when they were a part he expounded all thinges to his disciples. And the same daye when euen was come, he sayde vnto them: Let vs passe ouer vnto the other syde. And they lefte the people, and toke hym euen as he was in the shyppe. And there were also with hym other shyppes.

And there arose a great storme of wynde, & dassshed the wawes into the shyppe, so that it was full. And he was in the sterne a slepe on a pyllowe. And they awoke him, and sayde to him: Master, carest thou not that we perysh? And he rose vp, and rebuked the wynde, and sayd vnto the see: peace be still. And the wynde ceased, and there followed a great calme. And he sayde vnto them: Why are ye so fearfull? Howe is it that ye haue no fayth? And they feared exceadyngly, and sayde one to another what maner of one is this? For both wynde and see obaye hym.

CAPI. V.

AND they came ouer to the other syde of the see, into the countrey of the Gadarenites. And when he was come out of the shyppe, there met him out of the graues a man possessed of an vncleane spirite, whiche had his abydinge amonge the graues. And no man coulde bynde him: no not with cheynes, because that when he was often bounde with fetters and cheynes, he plucked the cheynes a sunder, and brake the fetters in peces. Neither coulde any man tame him. And alwayes both nyght and daye he cryed in the mountaynes, and in the graues, and bet him self with stones. When he had spyed Jesus a farre of, he ran and worshypped hym, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayde: What haue I to do with the Jesus the sonne of the moste hyghest God? I requyre the in the name of God that thou torment me not. For he had sayde vnto him: Come out of the man thou foule spirite. And he asked him: What is thy name? and he answered sayenge: My name is Legion, for we are many. And he prayed him instauntely, that he wolde not sende them awaye, oute of the countrey.

And there was nygh vnto the mountaynes a great herde of swyne feedinge, and al the deuels besought him sayenge: Sende vs into the herde of swyne, that we maye enter into the. And anone Jesus gaue theym leaue. And the vncleane spirites went out and entred into the swyne. And the herde starteled, and ran hedlinge in to the see. They were about. ij. M. swyne, and they were drowned in the see. And the swyne herdes fled, and tolde it in the citie and in the countrey. And they came oute for to se what had happened: and came to Jesus and sawe hym that was vexed with the feende and had the Legion, syt, both clothed, and in his right mynde, and were afrayed. And they that sawe it tolde them, howe it had happened to hym that was possessed with the deuel and also of the swyne. ✠ And they beganne to praye hym, that he wolde departe frome their costes. ✠ And when he was come into the shyp, he that had the deuyll, prayed hym that he myght be with him. Howbeit Jesus wold not suffre hym, but sayde vnto hym: go home to thyne house, and to thy frendes, and shew them what greate thynges the Lorde hathe done vnto the, and howe he hadde compassion on the. And he departed, and began to publysshe in the ten cyties, what greate thinges Jesus hadde done vnto hym, and all men did meruayle.

Matth. viii. c. Luke. viii. b.

And when Jesus was come ouer agayne by shyp vnto the other syde, moche people gathered to him, and he was nyghe vnto the see. ✠ And beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagoge, whose name was Jairus: and when he sawe him, he fell downe at his fete, & besought him greatly sayenge: my daughter lyeth at poynt of deathe, I wolde thou wolddest come, and laye thy handes on her, that she myght be safe, and lyue. And he went with hym, and moch people followed hym, & thronged hym.

Mark. v. Luke. viii. d Jairus.

And there was a certayne woman, whiche was diseased of an yssue of bloude. xij. yeres, and had suffred many thinges of many physicions, and had spent all she had, and felt none amendement at al, but waxed worse & worse. When she had herde of Jesus: she came into the preace behynde hym, and touched his garment. For she thought: yf I may but touche his clothes I shall be hole. And forthwith her fountayne of bloude was dryed vp, & she felte in her body, that she was healed of the plage.

And Jesus immediatly felt in him self, the vertue that went out of hym, and turned him rounde about in the preace, and sayde: who touched my clothes? And his disciples sayde vnto hym: seyst thou the people thrust the, and yet askest, who hyd touche me? And he loked rounde about, to se her that hadde done that thinge. The woman feared and trembled (for she knewe what was done in her,) & she came and fell downe before hym, and tolde hym the hole trouthe. And he sayde to her: Daughter, thy faith hath made the hole: go in peace, and be hole of thy plage.

Matth. ix. f Luke. viii. g.

✠ Whyle he yet spake, there came frome ỳ rular of the Synagoges house, certayne whiche sayde: thy doughter is dead: Why dyscasest thou the Master any further? Assone as Jesus herde that worde spoken, he sayde vnto the ruler of the Synagoge: be not afrayed, onely beleue. And he suffred no man to folowe hym, more then Peter and James, and John the brother of James. ✠ And he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagoge, and sawe the wondrynge: and them that wept & wayled greatly, and went in, and sayd vnto them Why make ye this a do, & wepe? The mayde is not ded, but slepeth. And they laughe him to skorne. Then he put them all out, and toke the father and the mother of the mayde, and the that were with him, and entred in where the mayde laye, & toke the mayde by the hande and sayde vnto her: Talitha, cumi: which is by interpretation: mayde, I saye vnto the, arise. And streyghte the mayde arose, and went on her ieete. For she was of the age of twelue yeres. And they were astonyed at it out of measure. And he charged them straytely that no man shulde knowe of it, and commaunded to gyue her meate.

¶ Christe sendeth his Apostles to heale them that were diseased. Of Iohn and Herode. Of the .v. loaues and .ii. fishes. And of the walkinge on the see.

CAPI. VI.

Matth. xiii. & Luce iiii. a

AND he departed thence, and came into his owne countrey, and his disciples folowed him. And when the Sabboth daye was come, he began to teache in the Synagoge. And many that herde him were astonyed, and sayde: From whence hathe he all these thinges? and what wysdome is this that is gyuen vnto him? and such vertues that are wrought by his handes? Is not this that carpenter, Maryes sonne & the brother of James and Ioses and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his sisters here with vs? And they were offended by him. And Iesus sayde vnto them: a Prophete is not despysed, but in his owne countrey, and amonge his owne kynne, and amonge them that are of the same houshelde. And he coulde there worke no myracles, but layde his handes vpon a few sicke folkes, and healed them, and he merueyled at their vnbeleife. ✠

The Iewes offende at Christ, for he was a carpenters sonne.

And he went about by the townes that lay on euery syde, teachyng. And he called the .xii. and began to sende them, two and two, and gaue them power ouer vncleane spirites. And commaunded them, that they shulde take nothinge vnto their iourney, saue a a rodde only: neyther scrippe, neyther bred, neyther money in their pouches, but shulde be shood with sandals. And that they shoulde not put on two cootes. And he sayde vnto them: Where so euer ye entre into an house, there abyde tyll ye departe thence. And whosoeuer shall not receyue you, nor heare you, when ye departe thence, shake of the duste that is vnder youre feete, for a wytnesse vnto them. I saye verely vnto you, it shalbe easyer for Sodome & Gomorre at the daye of iudgement, then for that cytie. And they went oute and preached, that they shuld repent: and they cast out many deuels. And they annoynted many that were sycke, with oyle, and healed them.

a Some add rodde. Although in Matthew & Luke it. c. the Apostles seme to forbyde them a rodde / yet the text meaneth not so in dede / but forbydeth rather the resting vpon a rodde / as a figure / to the entent only that they shuld vtterly put from them all confidence of any such provision.

And kynge Herode herde of him (for his name was spred abrode) & sayde: Iohn Baptiste is risen agayne from deathe, and therfore myracles are wrought by him. Other sayd it is Helyas: and some sayd: it is a Prophete, or as one of the Prophetes. But when Herode herde of him, he sayde: it is Iohn whō I beheaded, he is risen from deathe agayne.

✠ For Herode him selfe had sent forth, & had taken Iohn, and bounde him, and cast him into prison for Herodias sake, whiche was his brother Philippes wyfe. For he had maryed her. For Iohn sayde vnto Herode: It is not lawfull for the to haue thy brothers wyfe. Herodias layd wayte for him, and wold haue killed him, but she coulde not. For Herode feared Iohn, knowynge that he was a iuste man and an holy: and gaue him reuerence: & hearynge him, he dyd many thinges, & herde him gladly.

But when a conuenient daye was come, Herode on his birth daye made a supper to his lordes, captaynes, and heades of Galile. And the daughter of Herodias came in and daunced, and pleased Herode, and them that sate at bourde also. Then the kynge sayd vnto the mayde: aske of me what thou wilt, and I will gyue it the. And he sware vnto her, what soeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will gyue it the, euen vnto the one halfe of my kyngdome. And she went forth and sayde to her mother: what shall I aske? And she sayde: Iohn Baptistes hed. And she came in streyght waye with haste vnto the kynge, and asked, sayenge: I will: thou gyue me forthwith in a charger the hed of Iohn Baptiste. And the kynge was sory: how be it because of his othe, and them whiche sate at supper also, he wolde not put her beside her purpose. And immediatly the kynge sent the hangman, and commaunded his hed to be brought in. And he went and beheded him in the prison, and brought his hed in a charger, and gaue it to the mayde, & the mayde gaue it to her mother. And when his disciples herde of it, they came and toke vp his body, & put it in a graue. ✠

And the Apostles gathered them selues together to Iesus, & tolde him all thinges, both what they had done, & what they had taught. And he sayd vnto them ✠ come apart into the wildernes, and rest a while. For there were many commers and goers, that they had no leasure to eate as much as to eat. And he went by ship out of the waye into a desert place. But the people spyed them when they departed: and many knew him, and ran afote thyther out of all cities, and preuented them, & came together vnto him. And Iesus went out & sawe moche people, & had compassion on the, because they were lyke sheepe which had no shepherde. And he began to teache them many thinges.

✠ And when the daye was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, sayenge: This is a desert place, and nowe the daye is farre passed, let them departe, that they may go into the countrey rounde about, and into the townes, and bye them bread: for they haue nothinge to eate. He answered, and sayde vnto them: gyue ye them to eate. And they sayde vnto him: Shall we go and bye .ii. C. pens worth of bred, & gyue them to eate? He sayde vnto them: how many loues haue ye, go and loke. And when they had serched, they sayde v. & two fishes. And he commaunded them to make them all sit downe by companies vpō the grene grasse. And they sate downe here a rowe

and there a rowe, by hundredes and by fyftyes. And he toke the fyue loues and the two fyshes, and loked vp to heuen + and blessed, and brake the loues, and gaue them to his disciples to put before them: and the two fyshes he deuyded amonge them all, and they all dyd eate, and were fylled. And they toke vp twelue baskets full of the fragmentes and of the fyshes. And they that ate were aboute .v. thousande men.

And streyght way he caused his disciples to go in to the shyp, and to go ouer the water before vnto Bethsaida, whyle he sent away the people. + And as sone as he had sent them away, he departed in to a mountayne to pray. + And when euen was come, the shyp was in the myddes of the see, & he alone on the lande, and he sawe them troubled in rowyng, for the wynde was contrarye vnto them. And aboute the fourth watche of the nyght, he came vnto them walkynge vpon the see, and wolde haue passed by them. When they sawe him walking vpon the see, they supposed it had ben a spirite and cryed out: for they all sawe hym, & were afrayde. And anone he talked with them & sayd vnto them: be of good chere, it is I, be not afrayde. + And he went vp vnto them in to the shyp, and the wynde ceased, & they were sore amased in them selues beyonde measure, and maruayled. For they remembred not of the loues, because their hertes were blynded.

And they came ouer, & went in to the lande of Genazareth, and arryued in to the hauen. And as soone as they were come out of the shyppe, anone they knewe hym, and ranne throughout all the region rounde about, and began to cary aboute in beddes all that were sycke, to the place where they herde tell that he was. And whyther so euer he entred in to townes, cityes, or villages, they layde their sycke in the stretes, and prayed hym they myght touche, and it were but the edge of his garment. And as many as touched hym, were safe. ℣

¶ The disciples eate with vnwaschen handes. The commaundement of God is transgressed by mans tradicions. Of the woman the Syrophenissa. Of the deafe.

CAPI. VII.

AND the Pharysees came together vnto hym, and dyuers of the Scribes which came from Ierusalem. And when they sawe certayne of his disciples eate breed with common handes (that is to saye, with vnwaschen handes) they complayned. For the Pharysees and all the Iewes, onelesse they washe their handes ofte, eate not, obseruyng the tradicions of the elders. And when they come fro the market, except they washe, they eate not. And many other thynges there be which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washyng of cuppes and cruses, and of brasen vessels, and of tables.

Then asked hym the Pharysees & Scribes why walke not thy disciples accordyng to the tradicions of the elders, but eate breade with vnwaschen handes? He answered and sayd vnto them: wel prophecied Esaie of you hypocrites as it is wryten: + This people honoureth me with their lyppes, but their hert is farre from me: In vayne they worshyp me, teachyng doctrynes the commaundementes of men. For the commaundement of God layde aside, ye obserue the tradicions of men, as the washynge of cruses and of cuppes, and many other suche like thynges ye do.

And he sayd vnto them, well, ye cast aside the commaundement of god to kepe your owne tradicions. + For Moses sayd: honour thy father and thy mother, & who so euer curseth father or mother, let hym dye the death. But ye say ye mā that say to father or mother Corban, which is, that thou receyuest of me to helpe the with, is gyuen to God. And so ye suffre him no more to do ought for his father or his mother, makyng the worde of God of none effect, through your tradicions which ye haue ordeyned. And many suche thynges do ye.

And he called all the people vnto hym, & sayd vnto them: herken vnto me euery one of you and vnderstande. + There is nothyng without a mā that can defyle him when it entreth in to him, but those thynges which procede out of him are those which defyle the mā. If any mā haue eares to heare, let him heare. And whe he came to the house apart frō the people, his disciples asked hym of the symilitude. And he sayd vnto them: Are ye so without vnderstandyng? Do ye not yet perceyue, that what so euer thynge from without entreth in to a man, it can not defyle him, because it entreth not in to his hert but in to the belly, and goeth out in to the draught, purgynge all meates?

And he sayd, that defyleth a man whiche commeth out of a man. For from within, euen out of the hert of mē proceede euyll thoughtes, aduoutery, fornication, murther, theffte, couetousnes, wyckednes, deceyte, vnclennes, and wycked eye, blasphemye, pryde, foolyshnes: all these euyll thynges come from within, and defyle man. + And from thence he rose and went in to the borders of Tyre and Sydon, and entred in to an house, and wolde that no man shulde haue knowen. But he coulde not be hyd. For a certayne woman whose doughter had a foule spirite herd of hym, and came and fell at his fete. The woman was a Greke out of Syrophenicia, and she besought hym that he wolde cast out the deuyll out of her doughter. And Iesus sayd vnto her: let the chyldren fyrst be fedde. For it is not mete to take the chyldrens breed, and to cast it vnto whelpes. She answered and sayde vnto hym: euen so master, + neuertheles, the whelpes also eate vnder the table of the chyldrens crommes. And he sayd vnto her: for this saying, go thy way, the deuyll is gone out of thy doughter. And when she was come home to her house, she founde the deuyll departed, and her doughter lyenge on the bed.

+ And he departed agayn from the coostes of Tyre & Sydon, and came vnto the see of Galile, thorow the myddes of the coostes of the .x. cityes. And they brought vnto hym one that was deff and stambred in his speche, & prayde hym

hym to put his hande vpon hym. And he toke hym aside from the people, and put his fyngers in his eares, and dyd spytte and touched his tonge, and loked vp to heuen, and sighed and sayd vnto hym: Ephatha, that is to saye be opened. And anone his eares were opened, and the strynge of his tonge was loosed, and he spake playne. And he commaunded them they shold tell no man. But the more he forbad them, the more a great deale they publyshed it, and were beyonde measure astonyed, saying: + He hath done all thynges well, and hathe made bothe the deafe to heare, and the dommie to speake.

¶ The miracle of the seuen loues. The Pharisees aske a sygne. The leuen of the Pharisees. The blynde receyueth his sight.

CAPI. VIII. +

IN those dayes when ther was a very great company, and had nothynge to eate, Iesus called his disciples vnto hym, and sayd vnto them: I haue pitye on this people, because they haue now ben with me thre dayes, and haue nothynge to eate: and yf I shalde sende them awaye fastynge to their houses, they shalde faynte by the waye. For diuers of them came from farre. And his disciples answered hym: where shalde a man haue breed here in the wyldernes to satisfye these? And he asked them, how many loues haue ye? They sayde seuen. And he commaunded the people to syt downe on the grounde. And he toke the seuen loues, gaue thankes, brake, and gaue to his disciples, to set before them. And they did set them before the people. And they had a fewe small fyshes. And he blessed them and commaunded them also to be set before them. And they ate and were full. And they toke vp of the broken meate that was lefte seuen basshettes full. And they that ate were in nomber aboute foure thoulande. And he sente them awaye. +

Matth.xv.a

And anone he entred in to a shyp with his disciples, and came in to the partyes of Dalmanutha. + And the Pharysees came forthe and began to dispute with hym, askyng of hym a sygne from heuen, and temptynge hym. And he sighed in his spirite and sayd: why dothe this generacion seke a sygne. Truly I tell you there shall no sygne be gyuen to this generacion. And he left them and went in to the shyp agayne, and departed ouer the water.

And they had forgotten to take breed with them, neyther had they in the shyp with them moze then one lofe. And he charged them sayynge. + Take hede and beware of the leuen of the Pharysees, and of the leuen of Herode. And they reasoned amonge them selues, saying: we haue no breed. And whē Iesus knewe that, he said vnto them: why take ye thought because ye haue no breed? perceyue ye not yet neyther vnderstand? Haue ye your hertes yet blynded. Haue ye eyes and se not? and haue ye eares and heare not? Do ye not remembre? when I brake .v. loues amonge .v. thousande, how many basketes of fragmētes toke ye vp? They sayd vnto hym, twelue. When I brake seuen amonge foure thoulande: how many basketes of fragmentes toke ye vp? They said seuen. And he sayd vnto them: how is it that ye vnderstande not?

+ And he came to Bethsaida, & they brought a blynde man vnto hym, and desyred hym to touche hym. And he caught the blynde by the hande, and led him out of the towne, and spat in his eyes, and put his handes vpon him, and asked hym whether he sawe ought. And he loked vp, and said: I se men, for I se them walke as they were trees. After that he put his handes agayne vpon his eyes, and made hym se. And he was restored to his syght, & saw cleerly and clerely. And he sent him home to his house sayynge: neyther go in to the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne. +

And Iesus went out and his disciples in to the townes that longe to the cyte called Cesarea Philippi. And by the waye he asked his disciples, sayynge: whom do men saye I am? And they answered: some saye thou art Iohn Baptist, some saye Hely, and some one of the prophetes. And he said vnto them: but whom saye ye I am? + Peter answered and said vnto hym, thou art euen Christ. And he charged them they shulde tell no man of hym. And he began to teache them that the sonne of man must suffre many thinges, and shulde be reproued of the elders and of the hyghe preestes and Scribes, and be kylled, and after thre dayes ryse agayn. And he spake that saying openly. And Peter toke him aside, and began to chyde him. Then he turned about, and loked on his disciples, and rebuked Peter saying. Go after me Sathan, for thou fauourest not the thynges of God, but the thynges of men.

Matth.xvi.a Luke.ix.a

+ And he called the people vnto hym, with his disciples also, and sayd vnto them. Who so euer wyll folowe me, let him deny him selfe and take his crosse and folow me. For who so euer wyll saue his lyfe, shall lose it. But who so euer shall lose his lyfe for my sake and the gospels, shall saue it. What shall it profyte a man, yf he shulde wyn all the worlde, and lose his owne soule? or els what shal a man gyue to redeme his soule agayne? Who so euer therefore shall be ashamed of me, and of my wordes amonge this aduoutrous and synfull generacion, of hym shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he commeth in the glory of his father with the holy aungels. And he sayd vnto them: Verely I say vnto you, there be some of them that stande here, which shall not taste of deth, tyll they haue sene the kyngdome of God come with power.

CAPI. IX.

AND after fyue dayes Iesus toke Peter, Iames and Iohn, and led them vp in to an hygh mountayne out of the way alone, and he was transfygured before them. And his rayment did shyne and was made very whyte, euen as snowe, so whyte as no fuller can make vpon the erth. And there appered vnto them Hely with Moses: & they talked with Jesu. And Peter answered and sayde to Jesu: Master here is good beynge for vs, let vs make thre tabernacles, one for the, one for Moses, and one for Helias. For he wyst not what he sayd: for they were afrayde. And there was a cloude that shadowed them. And a voyce came out of the cloude sayinge: * This is my derre sonne, heare hym. And sodenly they lokked rounde about them, & sawe no man more then Jesus onely with them.

And as they came downe from the hyll, he charged them, that they sholde tell no man what they had sene, til the sonne of man were risen fro the deathe agayne. And they kepte that sayinge with them, and demaunded one of an other what the risynge fro the deathe agayne sholde meane? And they asked hym, sayinge: Why then saye the Scribes, that Helyas muste fyrste come? He answered and sayd vnto them: * Helyas verely shall fyrste come and restore all thynges. And also the son of man as it is wrytten, that suffer many thinges, and shall be set at nought. Wherfore, I saye vnto you that Helyas is come, and they have done vnto hym what so euer pleased the, as it is wrytten of hym.

And he came to his disciples, & sawe moche people about them, and the Scribes questioning with them. And anone al ye people when they beheld hym, were amased and ranne to hym, and gretted hym. And he sayde vnto the Scribes: What questyons ye with them? * And one of the company answered and sayd: Master, I have brought my sonne vnto the, which hath a domme spirete. And when so euer he taketh hym, he teareth hym, and he foameth & gnasheth with his teth, and pyneth alwaye. And I spake to thy disciples that they sholde cast hym out, and they coulde not.

He answered hym and sayd: O vnbeleuynge generacion, how longe shall I be with you? How longe shall I suffre you? Bringe hym vnto me. And they brought him vnto hym. And as sone as the spirete sawe hym, he tare hym. And he fell downe on the grounde walowyng and foming. And he asked his father, how long is it ago, sythens this hath happened hym? He sayd, of a chylde: and ofte tymes casteth hym in to the fyre, and also in to the water to destroye hym. But yf thou canste do any thynge have mercye on vs, and helpe vs. And Jesus sayde vnto hym: Yf thou couldest beleue, all thynges are possyble to hym that beleueth. And forthwith the father of the chylde cryed with teares: sayinge: Lorde I beleue, helpe myne vnbelefe.

When Jesus sawe that the people came runnynge togyther vnto hym, he rebuked the foule spirete, sayinge vnto hym: Thou domme and deafe spirete, I charge the, come out of hym, and entre no more in to hym. And the spirete cryed, and rent hym sore, and came out: and he was as dead, in so moch that many said he is dead. But Jesus caught his hande, and lyfte hym vp, and he arose. And when he was come in to the house, his disciples asked hym secretly, why coulde not we caste hym out? And he sayde vnto them: This kynde can by none other meanes come forth, but by prayer and fastynge. ¶

+ And they departed thence, and toke their iourneye thorowe Galile, and he wolde not that any man sholde haue knowen it. For he taught his disciples and sayd vnto them: * the sonne of man shall be betrayed in to the handes of men, and they shall kyll hym, and after that he is kylled, he shall aryse agayn the third daye. But they wyste not what that sayinge meant, and were afrayde to aske hym. And he came to Capernaum. And when he was come to house, he asked them, what was it that ye reasoned betwene you by the way? And they helde their peace: for by the waye they reasoned amonge them selues, who sholde be the chefest. * And he sate downe and called the xii. vnto hym, and said to them: yf any man desyre to be fyrst, the same shal be last of all, & seruant vnto all. And he toke a chylde, and set hym in the myddes of them, & toke him in his armes and sayde vnto them: who so euer receyueth one of such children in my name, receyueth me. And who so euer receyueth me, receyueth not me, but hym that sent me. ¶

Johan answered hym, sayinge: + Master, we sawe one castynge out deuyls in thy name, whiche followeth not vs, and we forbad hym because he followeth vs not. But Jesus sayde, forbyd hym not. For there is no man that shall do a myracle in my name, that can lightly speake euyll of me. Who so euer is not agaynste vs, is on our parte. And who so euer shall gyue you a cup of water to drinke for my names sake, because ye belonge to Christe, verely I saye vnto you he shall not loose his rewarde. And who so euer shall offende one of these lytelones that beleue in me, it were better for hym that a mylstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast in to the see. Wherfore yf thy hande offende the, cut hym of. It is better for the to entre in to lyfe maymed, then haynge two handes go in to hell in to fyre vnquenchable, where their worme dyeth not, and the fyre neuer goeth out. Lykewyse yf thy foote let the, cut hym of. For it is better for the to go halte in to lyfe, then haynge two fete, to be caste in to hell in to fyre vnquenchable, where hys worme dyeth not, and the fyre neuer goeth out. Euen so, yf thyne eye let the, plucke hym out. It is better for the to go in to the kyngdome of God with one eye, then haynge two eyes to be caste in to hell fyre: where their worme dyeth not, and the fyre neuer goeth out. ¶

Euery man therfore shall be salted with fyre. And euery sacrifyce shall be seasoned with salte. Salte is good. But yf the salte be vnsauery, what shall ye salte therwith? Se that ye haue salte in your selues: and haue peace amonge your selues, one with an other.

And the Phariseis came and asked hym a question: whether it were lawful for a man to put away his wyfe, temptynge hym. And he answered and sayd vnto them: * what dyd Moises bydd you do? And they sayde: Moises suffred to wryte a testimonyall of deuorsement, and to put her awaye. And Iesus answered and sayd vnto them: For the hardnes of your hertes he wrote this precepte vnto you. But at the fyrste creacion God made them man and woman. * For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and kyche to his wyfe, and they twayne shall be one flesshe. And yf a woman forsake her husbande and be maried to an other, she committeth aduoultry. * And they brought chyldren to hym that he shulde touche them. And his disciples rebuked those that brought them. When Iesus sawe that, he was displeased and sayd to them: Suffre the chyldren to come vnto me, and forbyd them not. For of suche is the kyngdome of God. Verely I saye vnto you, who so euer shall not receyue the kyngdome of God as a chylde, shall not enter therin. † * And when he was come in to the way there came one runnynge and kneled to hym, and asked hym: Good master, what shall I do that I may inherite euerlastynge lyfe? Iesus sayd to hym: why callest thou me good? There is no man good but one, which is God. Thou knowest the commaundementes. Do no aduoultry, kyll not, steale not, bere no false wytnes, defraude no man, honour thy father and mother. He answered and sayd to hym. Master all these I haue kepte from my youth. Iesus beheld hym, and had a fauour to hym, and said vnto hym: one thynge is lackynge vnto the. Go and sell all that thou hast, and gyue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heuen, and come and folowe me, and take vp the crosse. But he was discomforted with that sayinge, and wente awaye mournynge, for he had great possessions.

And Iesus loked rounde about, and sayd vnto his disciples: what an harde thynge is it for them that haue ryches to entre in to the kyngdome of God. And his disciples were astonyed at his wordes. But Iesus answered agayne, and sayde vnto them: chyldren howe harde is it for them that trust in ryches to entre in to the kyngdome of God? It is easyer for a camell to go thrughe the eye of a nedle, then for a ryche man to entre in to the kyngdome of God. And they were alloyed out of measure, sayinge betwene them selues: who then can be saued? Iesus loked vpon them, and sayde: with men it is impossible, but not with God, for with God all thynges are possible.

And Peter began to saye vnto hym: Lo, we haue forsaken all, and haue folowed the. Iesus answered and sayd: Truly I tell you, there is no man that forsaketh house, or brethren or systers, or father or mother, or wyfe or chyldren, or landes for my sake and the gospels which shall not receyue an hundred folde now in this tyme: houses and brethren and systers, and mothers and chyldren, and landes with persecutions: and in the worlde to come euerlastynge lyfe. fylled? And Jesus answered them, and began to saye: ✣ take hede lest any man deceyue you Matth.xxiv.a
For many shall come in my name, sayinge: I Luke.xxi.b am Christ, and shal deceyue many.

When

When ye shal heare of warre and rumours of warre, be ye not troubled. For suche thynges muste nedes be. But the ende is not yet. For there shall nacion aryse agaynste nacion, and realme agaynst realme. And there shall be erthquakes in all quarters, and lamyshment and troubles. These are the begynnynges of sorowes. ✻ But take hede to your selues. For they shall brynge you vp to the councyles, and in to the synagoges, and ye shal be beaten, yea and shall be broughte before rulers and kynges for my sake for a wytnes vnto them. And the Gospell muste fyrst be publyshed amonge all nacions.

✻ But when they lede you and betraye you take no thought afore hande what ye shal say, neyther ymagen: but what so euer is gruen you at the same tyme, that speake. For it shall not be ye that shall speake, but the holy ghost. Yea and the brother shall betraye the brother to deth, and the father the sonne, and the children shall ryse agaynste theyr fathers and mothers, and shall put them to deth. And ye shall be hated of all men for my names sake. But who so euer shall endure vnto the ende, the same shall be safe.

✻ Nowe, when ye se the abhominacion of desolacion, wherof is spoken by Daniel the prophet, stande where it oughte not, let him that readeth understande. Then let them that be in Juey, flee to the mountaynes. And let them that is on the houle top not come downe in to the houle, neither entre therin to fetche any thyng out of his houle. And let him that is in the felde, not turne backe agayn vnto the thinges whiche he lefte behynd him for to take his clothes with him. Wo shall be then to women with chylde, and to them that gyue souche in those dayes. But pray that your flyght be not in the wynter. For there shall be in those dayes suche tribulacion, as was not from the beginning of creacion whiche God created vnto this tyme, neither shal be. And except that the Lord shold shorten those dayes, no flesshe sholde be saued. But for the electes sake which he hath chosen, he hath shortned those dayes.

✻ And then yf any man saye to you: lo, here is Christ: lo, he is there, beleue not. For false Christes shall aryse, and false prophetes, and shal shewe myracles and wonders, to deceyue (yf it were possyble) euen the chosen. But take ye hede: beholde I haue shewed you all thinges before.

✻ Moreouer in those dayes, after that tribulacion, the sonne shall were darke, and the mone shall not gyue her lyght, and the sterres of heuen shall fall, and the powers which are in heuen shall moue. And then shall they se the sonne of man commynge in the clowdes, with great power and glory. And then shal he sende his aungels, and shal gather together his chosen from the lower wyndes, and from the one ende of the worlde to thother.

Learne a similitude of the fygge tree. When his braūches are yet tender, and hath brought forth leaues, ye knowe that sommer is neare. So when ye se these come to passe, vnderstande that it is nye, at the dores. Verely I saye vnto you, that this generacion shal not passe, tyl all these thynges be done. Heuen and erth shall passe, but my wordes shall not passe. But of the daye and houre knoweth no man, no not the aungels which are in heuen; ✻ neither the sonne him selfe, saue the father onely.

Take hede, watche, and pray, for ye knowe not when the time is. As a man which is gone in to a straunge countrey, and hathe lefte his houle, and gruen auctorite to his seruauntes, and to euery man his worke, and commaunded the porter to watche. Watche therfore, for ye know not when the master of the houle wyll come, whether at euen, or at mydnyght / whether at the cocke crowynge, or in the daunynge: lest yf he come sodaynly, he shulde fynde you slepynge. And that I saye to you, I saye to all, watche.

A ✻ Fter two dayes folowed Ester, and the dayes of swete breed. And the hygh priestes and the Scribes sought howe to take hym by gyle and put him to deth. But they sayd: not in the feest daye, lest any rore aryse amonge the people. A Math.xxvi.a Luke.xxii.a

✻ When he was in Bethani, in the houle of Symon the leper, as he sate at meate, there came a woman, hauynge an alabaster bore of oyntmente called narde, that was pure and costly / and she brake the bore and powred it on his heed. Now there were some that were not content in them selues, and sayde: what neded this waste of oyntment? For it might haue ben solde for more then.iii. hundred pens, and ben gruen vnto the poore. And they grudged agaynst her. Math.xxvi.a John.xii.a

But Jesus sayde: let her be in reste, why trouble ye her? She hathe wrought a good worke on me. For ye haue poore with you alwayes / and when so euer ye wyll ye maye do them good, but me ye haue not alwayes. She hath done that she coulde / she came aforehande to anoynt my body to his buryngwarde. Undoubtedly I saye vnto you: where so euer this gospell shall be preached throughout the hole worlde, this also that she hath done, shall be tolde in remembraunce of her.

✻ And Judas Iskariot one of the twelue went away vnto the chefe priestes, to betray him vnto them. When they herde that, they were glad, and promysed to gyue him money. And he sought howe he myght conueniently betraye hym. B Math.xxvi.b Luke.xxii.a

And the fyrst daye of swete breed, when men offre the Paskall lambe, his disciples sayde vnto hym: Where wylte thou that we goo and prepare that thou mayste eate the Ester lambe? And he sent forth two of his disciples and sayd vnto them. Go ye in to the cytie, and there shal a man mete you bearyng a tankard of water, folowe hym. And whither so euer he goeth in, say to the goodman of the houle, the master asketh where is the gest chābre, where I shall eate the Ester lambe with my disciples, and he will shewe you a greate parlour

paued and prepared: there make redy for vs.
And his disciples went forth and came to the cite, and founde as he had sayd vnto them, and made redy the Ester lambe.

And at euen he came with the. xii. And whyle they sate at borde and ate: Iesus sayd.
Verely I saye vnto you, that one of you shall betraye me whiche eateth with me. And they began to mourne, and to saye to hym one by one: is it I? And an other sayd: is it I? He answered and said vnto them: One of the xii.

sonne of man goeth as it is written of hym:
but wo be to that man by whom the sonne of man is betrayed. Good were it for him, if that man had neuer ben borne.

The lordes Supper.

And whyle they ate, Iesus toke breed, blessed and brake, and gaue to them and sayd. Take, eate, this is my body. And he toke the cup, gaue thankes, & gaue it to them, and they all dranke of it. And he said vnto them: this is my blood of the new couenaunt, which is shed for many.
Verely I say vnto you, I shal drynke no more of this frute of the vyne, tyll that daye that I drynke it newe in the kyngdome of God. And when they had geuen prayses, they went out to mount Oliuet.

And Iesus saith vnto them: All ye shal be offended thorow me this night. For it is writen:
I will smyte the shepherde, and the shepe shal be skattered. But after I am risen again, I will go in to Galile before you. Peter sayd vnto him. Although all men shulde be offended yet would not I. And Iesus said vnto him. Ve-rely I saye vnto the, that to daye euen in this night before the cocke crowe twyse, thou shalt deny me thryse. And he spake boldlyer, no yf I shulde dye with the, I wyl not deny the. Lykewyse also sayd they all.

And they came in to a place named Bethse-mani. And he sayeth to his disciples: Sytte ye here whyle I go apart & pray. And he toke with him Peter, James and Iohn, and he began to waxe abashed, and to be in an agony, and sayd vnto them: My soule is very heuy euen vnto
the death, tary here and watche. And he went forth a lytle, and fell downe on the ground and prayed, that if it were possible, the hour might passe from him. And he sayd: & Abba father, all thynges are possible vnto the, take away this cup from me. Neuertheles, not what I will, but what thou wylt, be done.

E Matth.xxvi.d Luke.xxii.c

And he came and founde them slepyng, and sayd to Peter: Symon slepest thou? Couldest not thou watche with me one houre? watche ye and praye, lest ye entre into temptation, the spirite is redye, but the flesshe is weyke. And agayne he went awaye and prayde and spake
the same wordes. And he returned and founde them a slepe agayne, for their eyes were heauye: neyther wyst they what to answere him.
And he came the thyrde tyme, and sayde vnto them: slepe henforth and take your ease, it is ynough. The hour is come: beholde, the sonne of man shall be betrayed in to the handes of synners. Aryse vp, let vs go. Lo, he that betray-eth me, is at hande.

And forthwith whyle he yet spake, came Iudas one of the twelue, and with hym a greate route of people with swerdes and staues from the hyghe preestes and Scribes, and elders. And he that betrayed hym had geuen them a watche worde, sayinge: who so euer
I do kysse, he it is; take hym and leade hym awaye warely. And as soone as he was come,
he wente anone to hym, and sayde vnto hym:
master master, and kyssed hym. And they layde their handes on hym, and toke hym. And one of them that stode by, drewe out his swerde, and smote a seruaunt of the hyghe preest, and cut of his eare.

And Iesus answered and said vnto them ye be come out as vnto a theife with swerdes and with staues to take me. I was daily with you in the temple teachynge, and ye toke me not, but that the scriptures shoulde be fulfylled. And they all forsoke hym and ranne awaye. And there folowed him a certayne ponge man, clothed in lynnen vpon the bare, & the ponge men caught him, and he lefte his lynnen, and fledde from them naked. & And they led Iesus away to the hyest preest of all, and to hym came all the hye preestes and the elders, and the Scribes. And Peter folowed hym a great way of, euen in to the palace of the hye preest, and sat
with the seruauntes, and warmed hym selfe
at the fyre.

And the hyghe preestes, and all the counsyle sought for wytnes agaynst Iesu, to put him to death, & founde none. For many bare false wyt-nes agaynst hym, but their witnes agreed not together. And there arose certeyn and brought false wytnes agaynst hym, sayinge: We herde him say: I wil destroye this temple made with handes, and within thre dayes I wyll buylde an other made without handes. But their wit-nesse agreed not together.

And the hyghest preest stode vp amonges
them, and asked Iesus, sayinge: Answerest thou nothynge? Howe is it that these beare wytnes agaynst the? And he helde his peace, and answered nothynge. Agayne the hyghest preest asked him, and sayd vnto hym. Art thou Christ the sonne of the blessed? Iesus sayd, I am. & And ye shall se the sonne of man syt on the ryghte hande of power, and come in the cloudes of heuen. Then the hyest preest rente his clothes and sayde: what nede we any further of witnes? ye haue herd blasphemy, what thinke ye? And they all condempned him that he was worthye of deathe. And some began to spyt at him, and to couer his face, and to beate
him with fystes, and to saye vnto hym, arede vnto vs. And the seruauntes bosted him on the face.

G

And as Peter was benethe in the palace,
there came one of the wenches of the hyghest
preest, and when she sawe Peter warmynge him selfe, she loked on him and sayd: wast not thou also with Iesus of Nazareth? And he denied it saying: I know not him, neither wote
I what thou sayest. And he went out in to the porche, and the cocke crewe. And a damsell saw

sawe him, and agayne began to saye to them that stode by, this is one of them. And he denyed it agayn. And anone after they that stode by, sayd agayne to Peter: surely thou art one of them, for thou art of Galile, and thy speche agreeth therto. And he began to curse and to sweare, sayinge: I knowe not this man of whome ye speake. and agayn the cocke crewe, * and Peter remembred the worde that Jesus sayde vnto hym, before the cocke crowe twyse, thou shalte denye me thryse, and began to wepe.

A Nd anone in the dawning, the hye preestes holde counsell with the elders and the Scribes, and the hole congregacion, and bounde Jesus and led hym away and deliuered him to Pylate. And Pilate asked him: art thou the kynge of the Jewes? And he answered & sayd vnto him: thou sayest. And the hye preestes accused him of many thinges. Pilate asked him agayne sayinge: * Answerest thou nothyng? Beholde how many thynges they lay vnto thy charge. Jesus answered neuer a worde, so that Pylate meruayled.

At that feest Pilate was wont to deliuer at their pleasure a prysoner, whome so euer they wolde desyre. Now there was one named Barrabas, which lay bound with them that made insurrection, & in the insurrection committed murther. And the people called vnto him, and began to desire accordyng as he had euer done vnto them. Pylate answered them and sayde: Wyll ye that I loose vnto you the kynge of Jewes? For he knewe that the hygh preestes had deliuered him of enuy. But the high preestes had moued the people that he wolde rather deliuer Barrabas vnto them.

And Pylate answered agayn, and sayd vnto them: * what wyl ye then that I do with him whome ye call the kynge of Jewes? And they cryed agayne: crucifye him. Pylate sayd vnto them: what euyl hath he done? And they cried the more feruently: Crucifye him. And so Pylate wyllyng to content the people, loosed them Barrabas, and deliuered Jesus when he had scourged him, for to be crucifyed.

And the souldiers led it him awaye in to the common hall, and called togither the hole multitude, and they clothed him with purple, and they platted a crowne of thornes & crowned hym withall, and began to salute him. Hayle kynge of the Jewes. And they smote hym on the heed with a rede, and spat vpon him, and worshypped him.

And when they had mocked him, they vnclothed hym of the purple, and put his owne clothes on him and ledde him out, to crucifye hym. * And they compelled one that passed by called Symon of Syrene (whiche came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse. And they broughte hym to a place named Golgotha (whiche is interpreted, the place of deed mens skulles) and they gaue hym to drynke, wyne myngled with myrre, but he toke it not.

And when they had crucified him, they parted his garmentes, castynge lottes for them, what euery man shulde haue. Nowe it was a bowte the thyrde houre, and they crucified him And the tytle of his cause was wrytten: The kynge of the Jewes. And they crucifye with him two theues: the one on the ryght hande, and the other on his lefte. And the scripture was fulfylled which sayth: * he was counted amonge the wycked. Esaye liii. b.

* And they that went by rayled on him: waggyng their heedes and sayinge: Wo be to the that destroyest the temple, and buildest it in .iii. dayes: saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse. Lykewyse also mocked hym the hyghe preestes amonge them selues with the scribes, and sayd: he saued other men, him selfe he can not saue. Let Christ the kyng of Israel now descende from the crosse, that we maye se and beleue. And they that were crucifyed with him, reuyled him also. Mat. xxvii. c. Luke. xxiii. a.

And when the syxte houre was come, darkenes arose ouer all the erth tyl the nynth houre. And at the nynth houre Jesus cryed with a loude voyce, sayinge: Eli Eli, lamasabathani, whiche is interpreted: * My God my God, why hast thou forsaken me. And some of them that stode by, when they herde that sayd: beholde he calleth for Helye. And one ranne and fylled a sponge full of vynegre, and put it on a rede, and gaue hym to drynke: sayinge: let hym alone, let vs se whether Helye wyll come and take hym downe Mat. xxvii. c D

But Jesus cryed with a loude voyce, and gaue vp the ghoste. And the vayle of the temple dyd rente in two peces, from the toppe to the botome. And when the Centurion whiche stode before him, sawe that he so cryed & gaue vp the ghost, he sayde Truly this man was the sonne of God. There were also women a farre of beholdyng hym, amonge whome was Mary Magdaleyn, and Mary the mother of James the lytle, and of Joses, and Mary Salome: whiche also when he was in Galile, folowed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Jerusalem.

And now when night was come (bycause it was the euen that goeth before the Saboth) Joseph of Arimathia a noble Senatour, which also loked for the kyndome of God, came and went in boldly vnto Pylate and begged the bodye of Jesu. And Pylate marueyled that he was alredy dede, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of hym whether he had ben any while dede. And when he knewe the truth of the * Centurion, he gaue the bodye to Joseph. And he bought a lynnen clothe, and toke hym downe, & wrapped him in a lynnen cloth, and layd him in a tombe that was hewen out of the rocke. And Mary Magdaleyn, & Mary Joses beheld where he was layde. * Centurion is a Capteyn of an hundyth men.

AND when the Sabboth daye was past Mary Magdalene, & Mary of James, and Salome, bought odoure that they myght come and anoynt hym. And erly in the morninge the next day after the Sabboth daye, they came vnto the sepulcre, when the soonne was risen. And they sayd one to another, who shall roll vs away the stone from the doore of the sepulcre? And when they loked, they sawe how the stone was rolled away, for it was a very great one. And they went in to the sepulcre, and sawe a yong man sytting on the ryght syde, clothed in a longe white garment, and they were abashed. & And he sayd vnto them, be not afrayed: ye seke Jesus of Nazareth, which was crucified. He is risen, he is not here. Beholde the place where they dyd put hym. But go your way and tell your disciples and namely Peter, that he goeth before you in to Galile: there shall ye se hym, as he sayd vnto you. & And they went out quickly and fled from the sepulcre, for they trembled and were amased. Neyther sayd they any thinge to any man, for they were afrayd.

a When Jesus was risen the morow after the Sabboth daye, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he cast seuen deuyls. And she went and tolde them that were with him as they mourned and wepte. And though they herd that he was alyue, and had appered to her, yet they beleued it not. a After that he appered vnto two of them in a straunge figure as they walked, and went in to the countrey. And they went and tolde it to the reste. But they beleued them neyther. &

a After that, he appered vnto the eleuen as they sate at meate, and cast in their teeth their vnbeleue and hardnes of hert, because they beleued not them which had sene hym after his resurrection. And he sayde vnto them: Go ye in to all the worlde, and preache the glad tydynges to all creatures. He that beleueth and is baptysed, shall be saued. But he that beleueth not, shall be damned.

And these tokenes shall folowe them that beleue. In my name they shall cast out deuyls, and shall speke with newe tonges, and shal take serpentes. And if they drinke any deedly thing, it shall not hurte them. They shall laye their handes on the sycke, and they shall recouer.

So then when the Lorde had spoken vnto them, he was receyued in to heuen, and sate hym downe on the ryghte hande of God. But they went forthe and preached euery where. And the Lorde wrought with them, and confyrmed the worde with signes that folowed. &

¶ The conception and birth of Iohn the baptyst. The conception of Christ. The thankfull songes of Mary and Zachary.

CAPI. I.

THere was in the dayes of Herode the kynge of Jurye a certayne prest named Zachary, of the course of Abia. And his wife was of the doughters of Aaron, & her name was Elisabeth. Bothe were perfecte before God, and walked in all the lawes and ordinaunces of the Lorde without reproue. And they had no childe, because Elisabeth was barayn, and bothe were well stryken in age.

And it came to passe, as he executed the prestes office before God, as his course came accordynge to the custome of the prestes office, his lot was to burne encense. And he went in to the temple of the Lorde, and the hole multitude of the people were without in prayer whyle the incese was a burninge. And there appered vnto hym an aungell of the Lorde standynge on the ryght syde of the aulter of incense. And when Zachary sawe hym, he was abasshed, and feare came on hym.

But the aungell sayd vnto hym: feare not Zachary, for thy prayer is herde: & And thy wife Elisabeth shall beare the a sonne, & thou shalt call his name Johñ, and thou shalt haue ioye and gladnes, and many shal reioyce at his birth. For he shall be great in the syght of the Lorde, & shall neither drynke wyne ne stronge drynke. And he shall be fylled wt the holy ghost, euen in his mothers wombe: and many of the children of Israel shal he turne to their Lorde God. And he shall go before hym in the spirite and power of Helias, to turne the heertes of the fathers to the children, and the vnbeleuers to the wysdome of the iust men to make the people redy to the Lorde.

And Zachary sayd vnto the aungell: whereby shall I knowe this: seynge I am olde, and my wife well stryken in yeres. The aungell answered and sayde vnto hym. I am Gabriel that stande in the syght of God, and am sent to speke vnto the: and to shewe the these glad tydynges. And beholde, thou shalte be domme, and not be able to speake, tyll the tyme that these be performed, because thou beleuedst not my wordes, which shalbe fulfylled in their season.

And the people wayted for Zachary, and maruey-maruayled that he tarryed in the temple. And when he came out, he coulde not speake vnto them, wherby they perceyued that he had sene some vision in the temple. And he beckened vnto them, and remayned speacheles.

C ✣ And it fortuned, as sone as the tyme of his office was out, he departed home in to his owne house. And after those dayes, his wyfe Elizabeth conceyued, and hyd her selfe .v. monethes, saying: This wise hath god delt with me, in the dayes when he loked on me, to take from me the rebuke that I suffred among men. And in the .vi. moneth the aungell Gabriel was sent from God vnto a cyty of Galile, named Nazareth, to a virgin spoused to a man whose name was Joseph of ꝑ house of David, and the virgins name was Mary. And the aungell went in vnto her, and sayd. Hayle full of grace, the Lorde with the: blessed arte thou amonge women.

When she sawe hym, she was abashed at his saynge: and cast in her mynde what maner of greetynge that shulde be. And the aungell sayd vnto her: feare not Mary, for thou hast founde grace with God. Lo, thou shalte conceyue in thy wombe, & shalt beare a sonne, and shalt cal his name Jesus. He shal be great, and shal be called the sonne of the highest. And the Lorde God shall gyue vnto him the seate of his father David, and he shall raygne ouer the house of Jacob for euer, and of his kyngdom shall be none ende.

Then sayd Mary vnto the aungell: How shall this be, seyng I knowe not man? And the aungell answered and sayd vnto her: The holy ghost shal come vpon the, and the power of the hyest shall ouersh adowe the. ✣ Therfore also that holy thyng which shal be borne, shall be called the sonne of God. And beholde thy cosyn Elizabeth, she hath also conceyued a son in her age. And this is her syxte moneth, whiche was called bareyn: for with God can nothynge be impossible. And Mary sayde: beholde the handemayde of the Lorde: be it vnto me as thou hast sayde. ✣ And the aungell departed from her.

✣ Mary arose in those dayes, and went in to the mountaynes with haste, in to a cyte of Jury, & entred in to the house of Zachary, and greeted Elizabeth. And it fortuned as Elizabeth herde the greetyng of Mary, the babe sprange in her belly. And Elizabeth was filled with the holy ghost, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd: Blessed arte thou amonge women, and blessed is the fruite of thy wombe. And whence happeneth this vnto me, that the mother of my Lorde shulde come vnto me? For lo, as sone as the voyce of thy greetynge sounded in myne eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioye. And blessed art thou that beleuedst, for those thinges shall be performed, which were tolde the from the Lorde. And Mary sayd:

My soule magnifieth the Lorde. And my spirite reioyseth in God my sauyour. ✣ For he hath loked on ꝑ baasenes of his handmayde. Beholde nowe from henceforth shall all kyndredes call me blessed. For he that is mighty hathe done to me greate thynges, and holy is his name. And his mercy is on them that feare hym throughout all generations. He sheweth strength with his arme, he scatereth them that are proude in the deuyse of their herte. He putteth downe the mighty from their seates, and exalteth vp the lowly. He filleth the hungry with good thynges, and sendeth the rych emptye. He remembryng mercye, hath taken his seruaunt Israel.

And it befell the eyght day, they came to circumcyse the chylde, and called his name Zacharye, after the name of his father. And his mother answered and sayd: not so, but he shal be called John. And they said vnto her. There is none of thy kynne that is named with this name. And they made signes to his father how he wolde haue him called. And he askynge for wrytynge tables wrote sayinge: his name is John. And they merueyled all. And his mouth was opened forthwith, and his tonge, and he spake, prayeng God. And fere came on all them that dwelt nygh vnto them. And all these sayinges were noysed abrode throughout all the hyll countrey of Jury, and all they that herde them, layde them vp in their hertes, sayinge: What maner chylde shal this be? And the hande of the Lorde was with him.

CAPI. II.

A And it chaunced in those dayes, that there went out a commaundement from Auguste themperour, that all the worlde sholde be taxed. And this taxing was the fyrst, and executed when Syrenius was lieutenaut in Syria. And euery man went vnto his owne cyte to be taxed. And Ioseph also went vp from Galilea to a cyte called Nazareth, in to Iury, vnto the cyty of Dauid whiche is called Bethleem, because he was of the house and lynage of Dauid, to be taxed with Marye his spoused wyfe which was with chylde.

And it fortuned whyle they were there, her tyme was come that she sholde be delyuered. And she brought forth her fyrst begoten sonne, and wrapped him in swaddlynge clothes, and layde him in a manger, because there was no roume for them within the Inne.

B And there were in the same regyon shepherdes abydynge in the felde, and watchynge theyr flocke by nyght. And lo, thaungell of the Lorde stode harde by them, and the brightnes of the Lorde shone rounde about them, & they were sore afrayde. But the aungell sayde vnto them. Be not afrayde. For beholde, I bring you tydynges of greate ioye that shall come to all the people, for vnto you is borne this daye in the cyty of Dauid, a sauiour whiche is Christe the Lorde, & take this for a sygne: ye shall fynde the chylde swadled, and layde in a manger. And sodenly there was with the aungell a multitude of heuenly fowdreres, prayesynge God, and sayenge: Glorye to God on hye, and peace in the erth, in men reioysynge.

Psalm. 113. in exitu.

C And it fortuned, as soone as the aungelles were gone awaye frome them in to heauen, + the shepherdes sayd one to an other: let vs go vnto Bethleem, and se this thynge that is happened, whiche the Lorde hath shewed vnto vs. And they came with haste, and founde Marye and Ioseph, and the babe layde in a manger. And when they had sene it they publyshed abrode the sayenge, whiche was tolde them of that chylde. And all that herd it, wondred at those thynges, which were tolde them of the shepherdes. But Marye kept all those sayenges, ponderynge them in her herte. And the shepherdes returned glorifyenge and prayesynge God for all that they had herde and sene, euen as it was tolde vnto them. ✠

+ And when the eyght day was come that the chylde sholde be circumcised, his name was called Iesus, which was named of the aungell before he was conceyued in the wombe. ✠

D + And when the tyme of theyr purifycation (after the lawe of Moses) was come, they broughte him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lorde: as it is written in the lawe of the Lorde: euery man chylde that fyrste openeth the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lorde) and to offre (as it is sayde in the lawe of the Lorde) a payre of turtle doues, or two

And an answere was gyuen him of the holy ghoste, that he sholde not se death, before he had sene the Lordes Christe. And he came in spirite in to the temple.

And when the father and mother broughte in the chylde Iesus, to do for him after the custome of the lawe, then toke he him vp in his armes and sayd. Lorde, nowe lettest thou thy seruaunt departe in peace, accordynge to the worde. For myne eyes haue sene the same our sent frome the. Which thou hast prepared before the face of all people. A lyghte to lighten the gentyles, and the glory of thy people Israel. ✠ Luke ii. c

+ And his father and mother mercueyled at those thynges which were spoken of him. And Symeon blessed them, & sayd vnto Marye his mother beholde, this chylde shal be the fall and ryesynge of many in Israel, and a sygne whiche shall be spoken agaynste. And moreouer the swerde shall pearce thy soule, that the thoughtes of many hertes may be opened.

And there was a prophetesse, one Anna the doughter of Phanuel, of the tryde of Aser: which was of a great age, and had lyued with an husbande seuen yeres frome her virginite. And she had ben a wedowe aboute. iiii. score and foure yere, whiche went neuer out of the temple, but serued God with fastynge and prayer nyght and day. And the same came forth that same houre and prayesed the Lorde, and spake of him to all that loked for redemption in Hierusalem. I

And as sone as they had performed al thynges accordyng to the lawe of the Lorde, they returned in to Galile to theyr owne cyty Nazareth. And the chylde grewe and waxed stronge in spirite, and was fylled with wysdome, and the grace of God was with him. ✠

And his father and mother went to Hierusalem euery yere at the feest of Ester. + And when he was. xii. yere olde, they wente vp to Hierusalem after the custome of the feest. And when they had fulfilled the dayes, as they returned home, the chylde Iesus abode styll in Hierusalem vnknowing to his father and mother. For they supposed he had ben in the companye, and therfore came a dayes iourney and soughte him amonge theyr kynsfolke and acquayntaunce. And when they founde him not, they went backe agayne to Hierusalem, and soughte him. And it fortuned after thre dayes that they founde him in the temple, syttyng in the myddes of the doctours, both hearing them and askyng them. And all that herde him mercueyled at his vnderstandyng and answeres. K

And when they saw him they were astonied. And his mother sayd vnto him: Sonne, why hast thou thus dealte with vs? Beholde, thy father and I haue sought the sorowynge. And he sayd vnto them, howe is it that ye soughte me? Wist ye not that I must go about my fathers busines? And they vnderstode not that sayenge that he spake to them. And he wente

CAPI. III.

IN the fyfteene yere of the raygne of Tiberius Themperour, Pontius Pilate beynge ruler of Jury, and Herode beynge Tetrarch of Galile, and his brother Philip, Tetrarche in Iturea, and in the region of Trachonites, & Lysanias the Tetrarche of Abylene, when Anna and Caiphas were the hygge preistes, the worde of God came vnto Joan the sonne of Zachary, in the wyldernes. And he came into all the coostes about Jordan, preachynge the baptyme of repentaunce for the remission of synnes, as it is wryten in the boke of the sayenges of Esay the prophete, which sayth. ✠ The voyce of a cryar in wyldernes: prepare ye the waye of the Lorde, make his pathes straight. Euery valley shalbe fylled, and euery mountayne and hyl, shalbe brought lowe. And crooked thinges shalbe made streight, & the rough wayes shalbe made smooth: and all flesh shal se the sauoure lent of God. ℣

Then sayd he to the people that were come to be baptised of hym. O generacion of vypers who hath taught you to flee from the wrath to come? Bryng forthe ouer frutes of repentaunce, and begyn not to saye in your selues, we haue Abraham to oure father. For I saye vnto you: God is able of these stones, to reyse vp children vnto Abraham. Now also is the axe layde vnto the rote of the trees: so that euery tree which bringeth not forth good frute is hewen downe, and cast into the fyre.

And the people asked hym, sayenge: what shall we do then? He answered, and sayde to them: He that hath two cotes, let him parte with him that hath none: and he that hath meate, let him do lykewyse.

Then came also publicans to be baptised, & sayde vnto hym: Master, what shall we do? And he sayde vnto them: take no more then that which is appointed vnto you.

The soudyours lykewyse demaunded of hym, sayenge: and what shall we do? And he sayde vnto them. Oppresse you no man: neyther chalaunder any man: but be content with your wages.

As the people were in a doute, and all men disputed in their hertes of Joan, whether he were very Christ: Joan answered and sayd to them all: I baptyse you with water, but a stronger then I cometh after me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to vnlouse: he will baptyse you with the holy ghoost, and with fyre: who hath his fanne in his hande, & will purge his floor, and will gather the corne into his barne: but the chaffe will he burne with fyre vnquencheable. And many other thynges in his exhortation, preached he vnto the people.

Then Herode the Tetrarch when he was rebuked of him for Herodias his brother Philippes wyfe, and for all the euyls which Herode had done, put this to aboue all other euyls, and put Joan in prison.

✠ And it chaunce as all the people receyued baptyme (and when Jesus was baptysed, & dyd praye) the heauen was opened, and the holy ghost came downe in a bodely shape lyke a doue upon hym, and a voyce came from heauen sayenge: Thou arte my dere sonne, in the do I delyte.

IEsus then full of the holy ghoste returned from Jordan, and was caryed of the spyrete into wyldernesse, and was. xl. dayes tempted of the deuel. And in those dayes ate he nothinge. And when they were ended, he afterwarde hongred. And the deuell sayde vnto hym: If thou be the sonne of God, cōmaunde this stone that it be breed. And Jesus answered hym, sayenge: ✠ It is wrytten, man shall not lyue by breed onely, but by euery worde of God.

Deut.viii.d.

And the deuell toke hym into an hyghe mountayne, and shewed hym all the kyngdome of the worlde euen in the twynklynge of an eye. And the deuyll sayde vnto hym: all this power will I gyue the, and the glory of them: for they be deliuered to me, and to whō so euer I wil, I gyue them. If thou therfore wilt worshipp me, they shalbe all thyne. Jesus answered him and sayde: Auoyde fro me Sathā. For it is wrytten: ✠ Thou shalt honoure the Lorde thy God and him onely serue.

And whē he had opened the boke, he founde the place, where it was wrytten. ✠ The spyrete of the Lorde vpon me, because he hathe annoynted me: to preache the Gospell to the poore, he hath sent me: and to heale the broken harted: to preache deliueraunce to the captiue, and syght to the blynde, and to deliuer the brused in forgyuenes, and preache the acceptable yere of the Lorde.

And he closed the boke, and gaue it agayne to the minister, and sate downe. And the eyes of all that were in the synagoge, were fastened on hym. And he began to saye vnto them. This day is this scripture fulfilled in your eares. And all bare hym wytnesse, and wondred at the gracious wordes whiche proceded out of his mouthe. ✠ and sayde: Is not this Josephs sonne?

And he sayde vnto them: In any wyse ye wyll saye vnto me this parable. Physicion, heale thy selfe. ✠ Whatsoeuer we haue herde done in Capernaum, do the same here in thy owne countrey. And he sayde, verely I saye vnto you: No prophet is receyued in his owne countrey.

Arte thou come to destroye vs? I knowe the, what thou arte, euen the holy of God. And Jesus rebuked him sayenge: Be styll and come out of hym. And the deuell threwe hym in the myddes of them and came out of hym, and hurt hym not. And feare came on them all, & they talked amonge them selues, sayenge: What maner a thynge is this? for with auctoryte / and power / he commandeth the foule spyretes, and they come oute? And the fame of hym spred abrode thorowoute all places of the countrey rounde about. ✠

Matth.iv.b Marke.i.b

✠ ✠ And he arose vp, and came out of the Syna-

Synagoge, and entred into Simons house. And Simons mother in law was taken with a great ague, and they made intercessio to hym for her. And he stode ouer her, and rebuked the feuer: and it left her. And she forthwith arose and ministred vnto them.

When the sonne was downe, all they that had sycke persons taken with diuers diseases brought them vnto hym: and he layde his handes on euery one of them, and healed them. And diuels also came oute of many of them, crienge & sayenge: thou arte Christ the sonne of God. And he rebuked them, and suffered them not to speake: for they knewe that he was Christ.

As sone as it was daye, he departed & went awaye into a wylsome place, and the people sought hym and came to hym, and kepte hym that he shulde not departe from them. And he sayde vnto them. I muste to other cyties also preache the kyngdome of God: for therfore am I sente. And he preached in the Synagoges of Galile.

¶ Christe preacheth in the shyppe. The disciples forsake all and folowe hym. He cleanseth the leper, healeth the man of the palsey, calleth Mathew the custumer, and eateth with open synners.

CAPI. V.

IT came to passe as the people preased vpon hym, to heare the worde of God, that he stode by the lake of Genezareth: and saw two shyppes stande by the lake syde, but the fyshermen were gone oute of them, and were washynge their nettes. And he entred into one of the shyppes, whiche pertayned to Simon, and prayed him, that he wold thrust out a lytell from the lande. And he sate downe and taught the people oute of the shyp. When he had left speaking, he sayd vnto Simō: launche out into the depe, and let shyp your nettes to make a draught. And Simon answered and sayde to hym: Master, we haue labored all nyght, and haue taken nothinge: Neuertheles at thy word I will lose forth the net. And when they had so done, they inclosed a greate multitude of fysshes. And their net brake: but they made signes to their felowes which were in the other shyp, that they shuld come & helpe them. And they came: and filled both ye shyppes that they soncke agayne.

When Simon Peter sawe that, he fell downe at Iesus knees, sayenge: Lorde, go frome me, for I am a synfull man. For he was vtterly astonyed and all that were with hym, at the draught of fysshe whiche they toke: and so was also Iames and Iohn, the sonnes of Zebede, whiche were partners with Simō. And Iesus sayde vnto Simon: Feare not, fro henceforthe thou shalte catche men. And they brought the shyppes to lande, and forsoke all and folowed him.

And it happened as he was in a certayne cytie: Beholde, there was a man full of Leprosy: and when he had espyed Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought hym, sayeng: Lorde, yf thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane. And he stretched forth his hande, and touched him sayenge: I will, be thou cleane. And anone the leprosy departed frome him. And he warned him, that he shulde tell no man: but that he shulde goo, and shewe hym selfe to the Preste, and offer for his clensynge accordynge as Moses commaundement was, for a wytnes vnto them. Leuit. xiii.

But the more went the fame abrode of him and moche people assembled to heare, and to be healed of him, of their diseases. And he kept him selfe apart in the wyldernesses, and gaue hym selfe to prayer. Marche. ii.

And it happened on a certayn daye, that he taughte: and there sate the Pharises, and doctours of lawe, whiche were come out of all the townes of Galile, Iurie, and Ierusalem. And the power of the Lorde was to heale the. And beholde, men brought a man lyenge in his bed, whiche was taken with a palsy: and sought to bringe him in, and to laye hym before hym. And when they coulde not fynde by what waye they myghte bringe hym in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the toppe of the house, and let hym downe thorow the tylynge, bed and all, in the myddes before Iesus. When he sawe their faith, he sayde vnto hym: Man, thy synnes are forgyuen the. And the Scribes and Pharises beganne to thinke, sayenge: Who is this, whiche speaketh blasphemy? And who can forgyue synnes but God onely. Math. ix. Marche. ii.

When Iesus perceyued their thoughtes, he answered, and sayde vnto them: What thynke ye in your hertes? Whether is easyer to saye, thy synnes are forgyuen the, or to saye: aryse and walke? But that ye maye knowe, that the sonne of man hath power to forgyue synnes on earth, he sayd vnto the sycke of the palsy: I saye to the, aryse, take vp thy bed, and go home to thy house. And anone he rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon he laye, and departed to his owne house, praysinge God. And they were all amased, and they lauded God, and were fylled with feare, sayenge: We haue sene straunge thynges to daye.

And after that he went forth and sawe a custumer named Leuy, sittynge at the receyte of custome, and sayde vnto hym: folowe me. And he left all, rose vp, and folowed hym. And that same Leui made hym a greate feaste at home in his owne house. And there was a great company of publicans and of other that sate at meate with hym. And the Scribes & Pharises murmured against his disciples, sayenge: Why eate ye and drynke ye with custumers and synners? Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them: They that are hole, nede not the Phisicion: but they that are sicke. I came not to call the ryghtwyse, but synners, to repentaunce. Math. ix. Marche. ii.

Then they sayd vnto him: Why do the disciples of Iohn fast often, and praye, and the disciples of the Pharises also: but thyne eate and drynke? And he sayde vnto them: Can ye make the chyldren of the brydegrome fast, as longe as the brydegrome is present with the?

The

The dayes shall come, when the bridgrome shall be taken awaye frome them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

And he spake vnto them a similitude: No man putteth a pece of a newe garment, into an olde garment: for yf he do: then breaketh he the newe, and the pece that was taken out of the newe, agreeth not with the olde. Also no man powreth new wyne into olde vessels. For yf he do, the newe wyne shall breake the vessels, and shall renne out it selfe, & the vessels shall perysshe: But newe wyne must be powred into newe vessels, and both are preserued. Also, no man that drynketh old wyne forthwith can awaye with newe, for he saith, the olde is better.

IT happened on an other Sabboth, that he went thorowe the cornе felde, and that his disciples pluckеd the eares of corne, and ate and rubbed them in their hādes. And certayne of the Pharises sayde vnto them: Why do ye that whiche is not lawfull to do on the Sabboth dayes? And Jesus answered them, and sayde: * Haue ye not redd what Dauid dyd, when he hym selfe was an hungered, and they which were with hym: howe he went into ✠ house of God, and toke and ate the loues of halowed bred, and gaue also to them whiche were with hym: whiche was not lawfull to eate, but for the prestes only. And the Scribes & Pharises watched hym, to se whether he wolde heale on the Sabboth daye, that they myght fynde an accusacion against him. But he knew their thoughtes, and sayde to the man which had the wyddred hande: Ryse vp, and stande forthe in the myddes. And he arose and stepped forthe. Then sayde Jesus vnto them: I will aske you a question: Whether is it lawfull on the Sabboth dayes to do good, or to do euyll? to saue lyfe or for to destroy it? And beholding them all rounde about, sayde vnto the man: Stretche forth thy hande. And he dyd so: and his hande was restored, and made as hole as the other. And all the people prealed, to touche hym: For there went vertue out of hym, and healed them all.

But wo be to you that are ryche: that haue therin youre consolacion. Wo be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Wo be to you that nowe laughe: For ye shall wayle, and wepe. Wo be to you when all men prayse you: for so dyd their fathers to the false Prophetes.

But I saye vnto you whiche heare: Loue your enemyes. Do good to them which hate you. Blesse them that curse you. And praye for them, whiche wrongfully trouble you. And vnto hym that smyteth the on the one cheke, offer also thother. And him that taketh awaye thy gowne, forbyd not to take thy cote also. Gyue to euery man that asketh of the. And of hym that taketh awaye thy goodes, aske the not agayne. * And as ye wolde men shuld do to you: so do ye to them lykewyse.

E Matth. v. a

If ye loue them, whiche loue you: what thanke are ye worthye of? For the very synners loue their louers. And yf ye do for them, whiche do for you: what thanke are ye worthy of? For the very synners do the same. If ye lende to them of whom ye hope to receyue, what thanke shall ye haue? for the very synners lende to synners, to receyue as moche agayne. Wherfore, loue ye your enemyes, do good and lende, lokynge for nothyng agayne: and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the hyghest: for he is kynde vnto the vnkynde and to the euyll.

F Matth. v. b

✠ Be ye therfore mercyfull, as your father is mercyfull. * Judge not, and ye shal not be iudged. Condemne not, and ye shall not be condemned. Forgyue, and ye shall be forgeue. Gyue, & it shalbe gyuen vnto you: good measure, pressed downe, shaken together, & runnynge ouer, shall men gyue into your bosomes. * For with what measure ye mete, with the same shall men mete to you agayne. Matth. vii. b

And he put forthe a similitude vnto them: Can the blynde, leade the blynde? Doo they not bothe then fall into the dyche? The disciple is not aboue his master. Euery man shall be perfecte, euen as his master is. Why lyste thou thou a moote in thy brothers eye, and consyderest not the beame that is in thyne owne eye? Eyther howe canst thou saye to thy brother: Brother, let me pull out the moote that is in thyn eye: when thou perceyuest not the beame that is in thyne owne eye? Dissembler, caste out the beame out of thyne owne eye first, and then shalte thou se perfectly, to pull oute the moote of thy brothers eye. ✠.

✠ It is not a good tree that bringeth forth cupill fruite: neyther is that an cupill tre, that bringeth forth good fruite. For euery tree is knowen by his fruite. Neyther of thornes gather men fygges, nor of bushes gather they grapes. A good man out of the good treasure of his herte, bryngeth forth good. And an cupill man out of the cupill treasure of his herte, bringeth forth cupill. For of the abounda[n]ce of the hert, his mouth speaketh.

Why call ye me Master, Master: and do not as I bydde you? Whosoeuer cometh to me, and heareth my sayenges, and doeth the same, I wyll shewe you, to whome he is lyke. He is lyke a man whiche buylte an house, and dygged depe, and layd the foundacion on a rocke. When the waters arose, the floude beat vpon that house, and could not moue it. For it was grounded vpon a rocke. But he that heareth and doeth not, is lyke a man that without foundacion buylt an house vpon the earthe / against whyche the floude dyd beate: and it fell by and by. And the fall of that house was greate.

The healeth the Capitaynes seruaunt, rayseth vp the wydowes sonne, answereth ✠ disciples of Iohn, commendeth Iohn, and reproueth the Iewes for theyr vnbeliefulnesse. He eateth with the Pharisee. The woman washeth his fete.

CAPI. VII.

When he had ended all his sayinges in the audience of the people, he entred into Capernaum. And a certayne ✠ Centurions seruaunt was lycke & redy to dye, whiche was dere to hym. And when he herde of Iesu, he sent vnto him the elders of the Iewes beseechinge hym that he wolde come and heale his seruaunt. And they came to Iesus and besought him busyly, sayenge: He is worthy ✠ thou shouldest do this for him. For he loueth our nacyon, and hath buylt vs a Synagoge. So Iesus went with them.

And when he was not farre from the house the Centurion sent frendes to hym: sayenge vnto hym. ✠ Lorde trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shuldest enter vnder my roffe. Wherfore I thought not my self worthy to come vnto the: but saye the worde and my seruaunt shalbe hole. For I also am a man vnder power, and haue vnder me studiours, and I saye vnto one: go, and he goeth. And to an other, come: and he commeth. And to my seruaunt, do this: and he doeth it. Whe Iesus herde this, he merueyled at hym, and turned hym about, and sayde to the people ✠ folowed hym: I saye vnto you, I haue not founde so greate fayth, no, not in Israel. And they that were sente, turned backe home ageyne, and founde the seruaunte that was sicke, hole.

✠ And it befell after that, that he went into a cytie called Naim, and many of his disciples went with hym, and moch people. Whe he approched to the gate of the cytie: beholde there was a dead man caryed out, which was thonely begotten sonne of his mother, and she was a wydowe, and moche people of the cytie was with her. Whom when the Lorde sawe, he had compassion on her, and layde vnto her: weepe not. And he went and touched the beer, & they that bare hym, stode styll. And he sayde: Yonge man, I saye vnto the, aryse. And the dead sate vp, and began to speake. ✠ And he deliuered hym to his mother. And there came a feare on them all. And they glorifyed God, sayeng: a great prophete is risen amonge vs and God hath vysited his people. ✠ ✠ And this rumor of him went forth throughout all Iurie, and thorow out all the regions whiche ye rounde about.

And the disciples of Iohn shewed hym of all these thinges. And Iohn called vnto him two of his disciples, and sente them to Iesus, sayenge: Arte thou he that shuldt come: or shall we loke for an other? When the men were come vnto hym, they sayde: Iohn Baptiste sent vs vnto the, sayenge: Arte thou he, that shuldt come: or shall we wayte for an other? And at that same howre, he cured many of their diseases and plages, and of cupill spretes, and vnto many that were blynde, he gaue syght. And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them: Go your wayes and shewe Iohn what thinges ye haue sene & herde, how the blynde se, the halt go, the lepers are cleansed, & deafe heare, the dead aryse, to the poore is the glad tydinges preached, and happye is he, that is not offended by me.

When the messengers of Iohn were departed, he beganne to speake vnto the people, of Iohn. What went ye out to the wyldernesse to see? a reede shaken with the wynde? But what went ye oute to se? A man clothed in softe rayment? Beholde, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and lyue delycately, are in kynges courtes. But what went ye to?the to se? A Prophete? Yea, I saye to you, and more then a Prophete. This is he, of whome it is wryten: Beholde, I sende my messenger ✠ before thy face, to prepare thy waye before the. For I saye vnto you: a greater Prophete then Iohn, amonge wemens chyldren is there none. Neuertheles, he that is lesse in the kyngedome of God, is greatter then he. ✠

And all the people that herde, and the publicans, iustified God, and were baptised with the baptyme of Iohn. But the Pharises and lerned men in the lawe, despysed the counsell of God against them selues, and were not baptised of hym.

So the Lorde sayd: Wherunto shall I lyken the men of this generacion, and to what are they lyke? They are lyke vnto children sittinge in the market place, and cryenge one to an

to an other, and sayeng: We haue pyped vnto you, and ye haue not daunced: We haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wepte. For Joh̃ Baptist came, neyther eatyng bred, ne drynkynge wyne, and ye saye: he hathe a dyuell. The sonne of man came eatynge and drynkynge, and ye saye: Beholde, a man whiche is a glotton, & a drynker of wyne, a frend of publycans and synners. And wysdome is iustyfyed of all her children.

✠ One of the Pharises desyred hym that he wolde eate with hym. And he went into the Pharises house, and sate downe to meate. And beholde, a woman in that cytie, whiche was a synner, as sone as she knewe that Jesus sate at meate in the Pharises house, she brought an Alabaster boxe of oyntment, and she stode at his fete behynde hym, weepynge, & began to wasshe his fete with teares, and dyd wype them with the heares of her heed, and kyssed his frete, and annoynted theym with oyntement.

When the Pharise whiche hadde hym, sawe that, he spake with in hym selfe, sayenge: If this man were a Prophete, he wolde surely haue knowen who and what maner woman this is whiche toucheth hym, for she is a synfull woman. And Jesus answered and sayde vnto hym: Simon, I haue some what to say vnto the. And he sayd: master, saye on. There was a certayne creditoure whiche hadde two detters, the one ought fyue hundred pence, & the other fyftye. When they hadde nothinge to pay, he forgaue theym bothe. Whiche of them tell me, shall loue him most? Simon answered, and sayde: I suppose, that he to whom he forgaue most. The he sayd vnto him: Thou hast rightly iudged.

And he turned to the woman, and sayd vnto Simon: Seest thou this woman? I entred in to thy house, and thou gauest me no water to my fete: but this hathe wasshed my fete with teares, and wyped theym with the heares of her heed. Thou gauest me no kysse: but this, sythens the tyme I came in, hathe not ceased to kysse my fete. Myne heed with oyle thou dyddest not annoynte: but this woman hathe annoynted my fete with oyntment. Wherfore I saye vnto the: Many synnes are forgyuen her: Because she loued moche. To whome lesse is forgyuen, the same weeth lesse loue. And he sayde vnto her, thy synnes are forgyuen. And they that sate at meate with hym, began to saye with in theym selues: Who is this, whiche forgyueth synnes also? And he sayde to the woman: Thy fayethe hathe saued the: Go in peace.

¶ Christe with his Apostles goeth fromte towne to towne and preacheth, the parable of the sede, who is his mother and his brother, kylleth the sea, forgyueth the possessed, and dryueth the deuylles in to the herde of swyne, and helpeth the sycke woman, and Jairus daughter.

CAPI. VIII.

AND it befell after that, that he him selfe went throughe out cyties and townes, preachynge, and shewynge the kyngdome of God, and the twelue with hym. And also certayne women, whiche were healed of cuyll spretes, & sicknesses. Mary called Magdaleyn, out of whome went seuen deuyls, and Joanna the wyfe of Chusa Herodes stewarde and Susanna, and many other: which mynistred vnto hym of their substaunce.

✠ * When moch people were gathered together, and were come to hym out of al cyties he spake by a parable. A sower wente oute to sowe his sede: and as he sowed, some fell by the waye syde, and it was troden downe, and foules of the ayre deuoured it vp. And some fell on the stone, & as sone as it was spronge vp, it wydered awaye, because it lacked moysture. And some fell amonge thornes, and the thornes sprange vp with it, & choked it. And some fell on good grounde, and sprange vp, & bare frute, an hundred folde. And as he sayde these thinges, he cryed: He that hath eares to heare, let hym heare.

And his disciples asked hym, sayenge: what maner symilitude is this? And he sayd: Vnto you it is graunted to knowe the mysteries of the kyngdome of God: but to other in similitudes: that when they se they shoulde not se, and when they heare, they shoulde not vnderstande.

The parable is this. The sede is the worde of God. Those that are beyde the waye, are they that heare and afterwarde commeth the deuell, and taketh awaye the worde oute of their hertes, least they shoulde beleue, and be saued. They on the stonnes, are they whiche when they heare, receyue the worde with ioye And these haue no rotes, whiche for a whyle beleue, and in tyme of temptation go awaye. Lowe, that whiche fell amonge thornes, are they whiche heare, and as they go are choked with cares, and with ryches, and voluptuous lyuynge, and bryngе forth no frute. That in the good grounde, are they whiche with a good and pure herte, heare the worde, & kepe it, and bryngе forth frute with patience. ✠

* No man lyghteth a candell, and couereth it vnder a vessell, neyther putteth it vnder a bedde, but setteth it on a candelsticke, that they that enter in, maye se the lyght. For nothinge is in secret, that shall not come abrode: Neyther any thynge hyd, that shall not be knowen, and come to lyght. Take hede therfore, howe ye heare. For who soeuer hath, to hym shalbe gyuen: And who so euer hath not, euen that whiche he supposeth that he hathe, shalbe taken frome hym.

Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and couldе not come at him for prese. And they tolde hym sayenge: Thy mother & thy brethren stande without, and wold se the. He answered and sayde vnto theym: my mother and my brethre are these which heare the worde of God, and do it.

✠ It befell on a certayne daye he went into a shyp, and his disciples also, and he sayd vnto them: Let vs go ouer vnto thother syde of the lake. And they launched forthe. And as they sayled, he fell a slepe, and there arose a storme of wynde in the lake, and they were fylled with water, and were in ieopardy. So they wente to him, and awoke him, sayenge: Master, Master, we are lost. Then he arose and rebuked the wynde, and the tempeste of water, and they ceased, and it waxed calme. And he sayde vnto them: where is your faith? But they fearynge, wondred, sayenge one to an other: What person is this? For he commaundeth bothe the wyndes and water, and they obeye hym? ¶ And they sayled vnto the region of the Gadarenites, whiche is ouer against Galile.

And as he went out of the shyppe to lande, there met him a certayne man out of the citie, which had a dyuell longe tyme, and ware no clothes, neyther abode in any house: but amonge graues.

When he sawe Jesus, he cryed, and fell wone before hym, & with a loude voyce sayd: What haue I a do with the, Jesu the sonne of the hyghest God? I beseche the, torment me not. For he commaunded the foule spirite to come oute of the man. For ofte tymes he caught hym, and he was bounde with chaynes, and kept with fetters: and he brake the bondes, and was caryed of the fende, into wildernesse.

C And Jesus asked him sayenge: What is thy name? And he sayde: * Legion, because many dyuels were entred into him. And they besoughte hym, that he wolde not commaunde them to go out into the depe. And there was there by an herde of many swyne, feedynge on an hyll, and they besought him, that he wold suffre them to enter into them. And he suffred them. Then went the deuyls out of the man, and entred into the swyne: And the herde ranne violently into the lake, and were choked. When the heerdmen sawe what was done, they fled, and tolde it in the cytie, and in the villages.

Now, they came out to se what was done: and came to Jesus, and founde the man, out of whome the deuyls were departed, syttinge at the fete of Jesus, clothed and in his right mynde, and they were afrayed. They also whiche sawe it tolde them howe he that was possessed of the deuyll, was healed. And all the multitude of the Gadarenes, besoughte him that he wolde departe from them: for they were taken with great feare. But he takinge shyp returned. * Then the man out of whom the deuyls were departed, besought him to be with him. But Jesus sent him awaye, sayenge Returne into thy house, and shewe all that great God hathe done to the. And he went his waye, and preached throwout oute all the cytie, what thinges Jesus had done vnto him.

It happened when Jesus was come agayn that the people receyued him. For they all wayted for him: * And beholde, there came a man named Jairus (and he was a ruler of the Synagoge) and he fell downe at Jesus fete, and besought him to entre into his house for he hadde one onely doughter, vpon a. yere of age, and she laye a dyenge. Howe as he went the people thronged him.

And a woman hauynge an yssue of bloude twelue yeres (whiche hadde spent all her substaunce amonge Phisitions, neyther coulde be healed of any) came behynde hym, and touched the hem of his garmente, and anone her issue of bloude staunched. And Jesus sayde: Who is it that touched me? When euery man denyed, Peter and they that were with him, sayde: Master, the people thrust the and vexe the: and sayeste thou who touched me? And Jesus sayde: Some body hath touched me. For I perceyue vertue to haue gone out of me When the woman sawe that she was not hyd she came tremblynge, and fell at his fete, and tolde hym before all the people for what cause she had touched him, and howe she was healed immediatly. And he sayd vnto her: Daughter be of good comforte. * Thy fayth hathe made the hole, go in peace. Matth.ix.b Mar.v.b.

C Whyle he yet spake, there came one frome the ruler of the Synagogis house whych sayd to him: thy doughter is dead, dysease not the master. When Jesus herde that, he answered the father, sayenge: * Feare not, beleue onely, and she shall be made hole. And when he came to the house, he suffred no man to go in with him, saue Peter, James and John, & the father and mother of the mayde. Nowe, euery person wept, and lamented for her. And he sayde: Weepe not: for she is not dead, but sleepeth. And they lowghe him to scorne, knowynge that she dead. But he thrustynge them all oute, caught her by the hande: and cryed, sayenge: Mayde arise. And her spirite came agayne, and she arose forthwith. And he commaunded to gyue her meate. And the father, and the mother of her, were astonyed. But he warned them, that they shoulde tell no man what was done. Matth.ix.b Marke.v.b

¶ He sendeth out the.xii. Apostles to preache. He feedeth fyue thousande with fyue loaues and two fyshes, the disciples offerde him to be the sonne of God, he transfigureth him selfe. Teacheth his disciples to be lowly. They desyre vengeaunce, but he reproueth them.

CAPI. IX.

* Then called he the twelue together, & gaue them power and auctoryte ouer all deuyls, and to heale dyseases. And he sent them to preache the kyngdome of God, & to cure the sycke. And he sayd to them: Take nothinge towardes youre iourney, neyther staffe, nor scrippe, neyther breed, neyther money, neyther haue ye two coates. And what so euer house ye enter into, there abyde, and thence departe. And who so euer wyll not receyue you, when ye go out of that cytie, shake of euen the dust frome your fete, for wytnesse against them. But they departinge went throwe the townes, preachinge the gospell, and healynge euery where. ¶ Matth.x.a Marke.vi.a

Nowe Herode the Tetrarche hearde of all that was done by hym, and doubted, because it was sayde of some, that Johñ was risen a-gayne frome deathe: and of some, that Helye had appeared: and of some, that one of the olde Prophetes was risen agayne. And He-rode sayed: Johñ haue I beheaded: who is this of whome I heare suche thynges? And he desyred to se him.

B And the Apostles returned: and told him Mark.vi.b Mat.xiiii.b what they had done. * And he toke them and Luke.ix.a Joan.vi.a went a syde into a solytary place, nygh to a cyte called Bethsaida. Whiche the people knowynge, folowed him. And he receyued them, and spake vnto them of the kyngdome of God, and healed them that had nede to be healed. But the daye began to weare awaye, then came the twelue, and sayde vnto hym:
Sende the people awaye, that they maye go in to the townes and villages rounde about, to some Inne, and get meate, for we are here in a place of wildernesse. He sayde vnto them:
Gyue ye them to eate. And they sayde. We haue no mo but fyue loaues and two fishes, onelesse we shulde go, and bye meat for all this people. Nowe they were aboute fyue thousande men. And he sayde to his disciples: Make them sytte downe by fyftyes in a company. And they dyd so, and made them all sytte downe.
And he toke the fyue loaues, and the two fy-shes, and loked vp to heauen, and blessed the and brake, and gaue to the disciples, to set before the people. And they ate, and were all fylled. And there was taken vp of the frag-
Mark.vi.b Luke.ix.b mentes that they leaued, twelue basketes ful.

C * And it fortuned as he was alone praying his disciples were with him, and he asked the sayenge: Who saye the people that I am?
They answered, and sayde: Johñ Baptiste:
Some saye Helye. And some saye, one of the olde Prophetes is risen agayne. He sayd vnto them, But who saye ye that I am? Peter ☞ answered and sayde: Thou art the Christ of God. And he warned and commaunded them that they shulde tell this to no man, sayenge:
The sonne of man must suffre many thynges,
and be reproued of the elders, and of the hygh
preestes and scribes, and be slayne, and the.iij.
daye, rise agayne.

And he sayde to them all, yf any man wyll come after me, let him denye hym selfe, and
and take vp his crosse daylye, and folowe me.
Who so euer will saue his lyfe, shall lose it.
And who so euer shall lose his lyfe for my sake
the same shall saue it. For what auaunteageth it a man to wynne the hole worlde, yf he lose hym selfe, or ruinne in dommage of hym selfe?
For who so euer is ashamed of me, and of my wordes, of hym shall the sonne of man be ashamed, when he commeth in his glorye, and in the glorye of his father, and of the holye Aungels. And I tell you of a trouthe. There be some of them that stande here, which shall not taste of deathe, tyll they se the kyngdome of God.

And it folowed aboute an. viij. dayes after these sayenges, he toke Peter, James, and Johñ, and went vp into a mountayne to praye. And as he prayed, the hue of his countenaunce was altered, and his garment was whyte and shone. And beholde, two men talked with hym, whiche were Moses and Hely, who sene in glorye shewed his departinge, D whiche he shoulde ende at Jerusalem. Peter and they that were with hym, were heuye with slepe. And when they awoke, they sawe his glorye, and the two men standinge with hym.

And it chaunsed, as they departed frome hym, Peter sayde vnto Jesus: Master, it is good for vs to be here, and let vs make three tabernacles, one for the, and one for Moses, and one for Hely, not knowynge what he sayde. Whyle he thus spake, there came a cloude, and shadowed theym, and they feared when they were come vnder the cloude. And there came a voyce oute of the cloude, sayeng:
This is my deare sonne / heare hym. And as sone as the voyce was past, Jesus was found alone. And they kept it close: and tolde no mã in those dayes, any of those thynges, whyche
they had sene.

And it chaunsed on the nexte daye, as they came downe frome the hyll, moche people met hym. And beholde, a man oute of the multitude cryed oute, sayenge: Master, I beseche
the behold my sonne, for he is all that I haue, And lo, a spyrte taketh hym, and sodeynly he crieth, and he teareth hym that he foometh a-gayne, and with moche payne departeth from hym, when he hath rent hym. And I besought thy disciples to caste hym out, and they could not. Jesus answered and sayde. O faythles generacion, and croked: howe long shall I be with you, and shall suffre you? Bringe thy sonne hyther. As he yet was commynge, the deuyll rent him and tare hym. And Jesus rebuked the vncleane spyrte, and healed the child and restored hym to his father. So they were all amased at the myghty worke of God.

Whyle they wondred euery one at all thin-
ges whiche he dyd, he sayde vnto his disciples
Let these wordes synke downe into your ea-res. The tyme shall come, when the sonne of man, shalbe delyuered into the handes of me.
But they wiste not what that worde ment,
and it was hyd frome them, that they vnder-stode it not. And they feared to aske hym of the sayenge.

Mat.xviii.a Mark.ix.a Luke.ix.a * Then there entered a debate amonge the who shoulde be greatest. When Jesus per-ceyued the thoughtes of their hartes, he toke S a childe, and set hym harde by hym, and sayd vnto them.

Who so euer receyueth this childe in my name, receyueth me. And who so euer receyueth me, receyueth hym that sent me. For he that is least amonge you all, that same shall be greate.

Johñ answered, and sayde: Master / we sawe one castinge oute deuyles in thy name, and we forbade hym, because he foloweth not with vs. And Jesus sayde vnto hym: forbyd ye hym not. For he that is not agaynste vs, is with vs.

And it folowed when the dayes were come of his assumption, he set his face to go to Jerusalem, and sent messengers before hym.

And

And they wente and entred into a cytie of the Samaritans to make redy for him. And they receyued hym not, because his face was as though he wold go to Jerusalem. When his disciples, James and Johñ, sawe that, they sayde, Lorde, wilt thou that we commaunde that fyre come downe from heauen, and consume them, as Helyas dyd? Jesus turned about and rebuked them, sayenge: Ye wote not of what spirite ye are. The sonne of man is not come to destroye mennes soules, but to saue them. And they went to an other towne.

✣ And it chaunced as he went in the waye, a certayne man sayde vnto hym: I will folowe the, whether so euer thou go. Jesus sayde to hym: Foxes haue holes, & byrdes of the ayer haue nestes: but the sonne of man hathe not where on to laye his heed.

And he sayde vnto an other: folowe me. But he sayde: Lorde, suffer me first to go bury my father. Jesus sayde to hym. Let ye dead bury their dead: go thou and preache ye kyngdome of God.

And an other sayde: I will folow the Lorde: but let me first go bydde them farewell, whiche are at home at my house. Jesus sayd vnto him No man that putteth his hande to the plowe and loketh backe, is mete to the kyngedome of God. ✣

¶ He findeth the fourtye before him to preache, prayseth his heauenly father, answereth the Scribe that tempted him, sheweth who is a mans neyghbour, Martha receyueth the Lorde, Magdalene is feruent in hearynge his worde.

CAPI. X.

A ✣ Fter these, the Lorde appoynted other seuenty also, and sent them two and two before hym into euery cytie & place, whyther he hym selfe shulde come. And sayde vnto them, the haruest is great, but the labourers are fewe. Praye therfore the Lorde of the haruest, to sende forth labourers into his haruest. Go your wayes: beholde, I send you forthe as lambes amonge wolues. Beare no wallet, ne scryppe, nor shoes, & greete no man by the waye. Into whatsoeuer house ye enter first say: Peace to this house. And yf the sonne of peace be there, your peace shall rest vpon him: yf not, it shall returne to you. And in the same house remayne, eatynge and drynkynge such as they haue. For the labourer is worthy his rewarde. ✣

Go not from house to house: & into whatsoeuer cytie ye enter, yf they receyue you, eate that is set before you, and heale the sicke that are there, and saye vnto them: the kyngdom of God is approched vpon you. ✣ But into whatsoeuer cytie ye enter, yf they receyue you not, go your wayes out into the streetes of the same and saye: euen the dust, which cleaueth to vs of your cytie, we wype of against you: Yet knowe this, that the kyngdome of God was come nyghe vpon you. I saye to you: it shalbe easyer in that daye for Sodome, then for that cytie.

Wo to the Chorazin: wo to the Bethsaida. For yf the miracles had bene done in Tyre and Sidon, whiche be done in you, they had longe ere this repented sittinge in heare and ashes. Howbeit it shalbe easyer for Tyre and Sidon, at the iudgement, then for you. And thou Capernaum whiche arte exalted to heauen, shalt be thrust downe to hell. ✣ He that heareth you, heareth me: and he that despyseth you, despyseth me: and he that despyseth me, despyseth him that sent me.

And the seuenty turned againe with ioye, sayenge: Lorde, the very diuels are subdued to vs through thy name. He sayde vnto them: I sawe Satan, as lightenyng fall downe frō heuen. Beholde, I gyue you power to treade on serpentes & scorpions, and ouer all power of the enemy, and nothyng shall hurt you. Howbeit herein, in this reioyce not that the spirites are subiecte to you, but reioyce, because youre names are wryten in the heuens.

That same tyme reioyced Jesus in the spirite, and said, I confesse vnto the father: ✣ Lorde of heuen and erth, that thou hast hyd these from the wyse & prudent, and hast opened them to the babes. Euen so father, for so pleased it the. All are gyuen me of my father. And no man knoweth who the sonne is, but the father, and who the father is, saue the sonne, and he to whom the sonne wyll shewe hym.

And turnyng to his disciples, sayd secretly. ✣ Happy are the eyes which se that ye se. For I tell you, that many prophetes and kynges haue desyred to se that ye se, and haue not sene, and to heare that ye heare, and haue not herde.

And beholde a certeyn lawyer stode vp, and tempted him, sayenge: ✣ Master, what shall I do, to inherite eternal life? He said vnto him. What is wryten in the lawe? Howe redest thou? And he answered, & sayd: ✣ Thou shalt loue thy Lorde God w all thy hert, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strengthe, and with all thy mynde, and thy neighbour as thy self. And he sayde vnto him: Thou hast answered ryght. This do, and thou shalt lyue. He wyllynge to iustifye him self, sayde vnto Jesus: Who is my neyghbour?

Jesus answered, and said: A certayne man came downe from Hierusalem to Hierico, and fell in to the handes of theues, which robbed him of his rayment, and wounded hym, and departed, leuynge him halfe dead. And by chaunce there came a certeyn preest that same way, and when he saw hym, he passed by. And lykewyse a Leuyte, when he was come nye to the place, went and loked on him, and passed by. Then a certayne Samaritane, as he iourneyed, came nye vnto him, and when he sawe him, he had compassion on him, and went to him and bounde vp his woundes, and poured in oyle & wyne, & put hym on his owne beest, and brought him to a comon Inne, and made prouision for him. And on the morowe when he departed, he toke out two pence and gaue them to the host, & said vnto him. Take cure of him, and what so euer thou spendest more when I come agayne, I will recompence the. Whiche nowe of these thre thinkest thou was neyghboure vnto hym that fell into the theues handes? And he sayd: he that shewed mercye on hym. Then sayde Jesus vnto hym: Go and do thou lykewyse. ✠

✠ It befell as they went, he entred in to a certayne towne. And a certayne woman named Martha, receyued hym into her house. This woman had a sister called Mary, whiche sate at Jesus fete, and herde his preaching. So Martha was combred about moche seruynge, and stode and sayde: master, doest thou not care, that my sister hathe left me to minister alone? Byd her therfore, that she helpe me. And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto her Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many thynges: but one thynge is nedefull. Mary hathe chosen her that good parte, whiche shall not be taken away from her. ✠

¶ He teacheth his disciples to praye. Rebuketh the blasphemous Pharisies. They require synnes. He feasteth with the Pharisee.

CAPI. XI.

AND it fortuned as he was prayenge in a certayne place: when he ceased, one of his disciples sayde vnto him Master, teache vs to praye, as Johñ taught his disciples. And he sayde vnto them: when ye praye, saye: O our father whiche arte in heauen, hallowed be thy name. Thy kyngdome come. Thy will be wrought in earth, as in heauen. Our dayly bread geue vs dayly. And forgeue vs our synnes: For also we forgeue euery man that trespaseth vs. And leade vs not into temptation. But deliuer vs from euyll.

And he sayde vnto them: ✠ yf any of you shulde haue a frende, and shulde go to hym at mydnyght, and saye vnto hym: frende, lende me three loues, for a frende of myne is come out of the waye to me, and I haue nothinge to set before him: and he within shoulde answere & saye, trouble me not, the wic is now shut, and my seruauntes are with me in the chamber, I can not ryse and geue them to ꝑ. I saye vnto you, thoughe he woulde not aryse and geue hym, because he is his frende: yet because of his vnshamefastnes he wold ryse, & geue him as many as he nedeth. And I say vnto you: ✠ aske, & it shalbe geuen you. Seke, and ye shall fynde. Knocke, and it shalbe opened vnto you. For euery one that asketh, receyueth: and who seketh fyndeth: and to him that knocketh, shal it be opened. If the sonne shall aske bred of any of you that is a father: will he geue him a stone? Or yf he aske fysshe, will he for a fysshe geue hym a serpente? Or yf he aske an egge: will he offer him a scorpion? If ye then beynge euyll, can geue good gyftes vnto your children, how moche more shal the father of heauen geue an holy spirite to them, that aske him? ✠

✠ And he was castinge out a deuyll, whiche was domme. And it followed when the deuyll was gone out, the domme spake, and the people wondred. But some of them sayde he casteth out deuyls by the power of Belzebub the chefe of the deuyls. And other tempted him, seekynge of hym a sygne from heauen. But he knowinge their thoughtes, sayde vnto them: Euery kyngdome deuyded in it selfe is made wildernesse: and one house shall fall vpon an other. So yf Satan be deuyded in him selfe: how shall his kyngdome endure? Because ye say I cast out deuyls by the power of Belzebub. If I, by the power of Belzebub cast out deuyls: by whome do youre children cast theym oute? Therfore shall they be youre iudges. But yf I, with the finger of God cast out deuyls, assuredly the kyngdom of God is come vpon you.

When a stronge man armed watcheth his house: that he possessed is in peace. But when a stronger then he commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: he taketh from him his harnes wherein he trusted, and deuydeth his spoyles. He that is not with me, is agaynst me. And he that gathereth not with me, scatereth.

When the vncleane spirite is gone out of the man, he walketh throughe waterissh places, seking rest. And when he findeth none, he sayth: I will returne vnto my house, whence I came. And when he commeth, he findeth it swept and garnysshed. Then goeth he and taketh to him seuen other spirites worse then him selfe: and they entre in, and dwell there. And so the extremes of that man, be worse then the begynnynges.

And it happened as he spake these thinges, a certayne woman of the company lyft vp her voyce, and sayde vnto him: Happy is the wombe that bare the, and the breastes whiche gaue the sucke. But he sayde: Naye, happy are they that heare the worde of God, and kepe it. ✠

When the people were gathered thicke together: he began to saye: This is an euyl nacion: they seke a sygne, and there shal no signe be geuen them, but the signe of Jonas ꝑ Prophet. For as Jonas was a signe to the Ninyuites, so shall the sonne of man be to this nacion. ✠ The quene of the south shall ryse at the iudgement, with the men of this generacion, and condempne them: for she came from the ende of the worlde, to heare the wysdome of Salomon. And beholde, a greater then Salomon is here. The men of Ninyue shall arise in the iudgement with this generacion: and shall condemne them: for they repented at the preachinge of Jonas. And beholde, a greater then Jonas is here.

✠ ✠ No man lyghteth a candell, and putteth it in an hyd place, ne vnder a bushel: but on a candelstycke, that they that come in may se the lyght. The light of thy body is the eye. Therfore when thyne eye is syngle: then is al thy body full of lighte. That yf thyne eye be euyll: then shall all thy body be full of darcknesse. Take hede therfore that the lyght whiche is in the, be not darcknesse. For yf all thy body shall be lighte, hauinge no parte darcke: then shall all be full of lyght, euen as when a candell doeth lyghte the with his bryghtnesse. ✠

And as he spake, a certayne Pharisee besought hym to dyne with him: and Jesus went in and sate downe to meate. When the Pharise sawe that, he mercuied that he hadde not first washed before dyner. And the Lorde sayd to him: ✠ Nowe ye Pharyses, make clene the outsyde of the cup, & the platter: but your inwarde part is full of raueyne and wickednes. Foles, dyd not he that made that whyche is without: make that which is within also? Nuertheles that ye haue gyue in almes, and beholde all is clene to you. But wo be to you Pharises, for ye tythe the mynt and rewe, and all maner herbes, and passe ouer iudgement & the loue of God. Whyle ought ye to haue done and those not to haue left.

Wo to you Pharises: for ye loue the fyrste seates in assemblies, and greetynges in the markets. Wo to you Scribes and Pharises hypocrites, for ye are as graues whyche appeare not, and the men that walke ouer theym are not ware of them. Then answered one of the lawyers, and sayd to hym: Master, thus sayenge thou puttest vs to rebuke also. Then he sayde: Wo to you also ye lawyers: for ye lade men with burdens importable, and your selues touche not the packes with your one fynger. Wo to you, ye buylde the sepulcres of the Prophetes, where as your fathers kylled the, truely ye beare witnesse, that ye alowe the dedes of your fathers: for they kylled them, but ye buylde their sepulcres. Therfore also sayde the wysdome of God: I will send them Prophetes and messangers, and of them they shal slay and persecute: that the bloude of all the Prophetes, whyche was shedde frome the begynnynge of the worlde, maye be requyred of this generacion, frome the bloude of ✠ Abel, vnto the bloude of Zacharye, who perysshed betwene the auter and the temple. Verely I tell you: it shalbe requyred of this nacion.

Wo to you lawyers: for ye haue taken awaye the kaye of knowledge, ye entred not in your selues, & the enterers in, ye forbade. Whe he thus spake vnto them, the lawyers and & Pharises began to wexe busy about him, and to stop his mouth with many questions, lying in wayte for him, and seking to catche some thinge of his mouthe, wherby they myghte accuse hym.

¶ The leuen of the Pharises, Christe counforteth his disciples agaynste persecucion, warneth them to beware of couetousnes. He will not haue them to hange vpon erthly thynges.

CAPI. XII.

AS there gathered togither an vnnumerable multitude of people (in so moche that they troad one an other) he began to saye vnto his disciples: fyrste of all beware of the leuen of the Pharises, whyche is hypocrysy. For there is nothinge couered, that shall not be vncouered: ne hyd, that shall not be knowen. For what so euer ye haue spoken in darcknes: shall be herde in the lighte. And that ye haue spoken in the eare euen in secrete places, shall be preached on the top of houses.

I saye to you my frendes: be not afrayde of them that kyll the body, and after that haue no more that they can do. But I will shewe you, whome ye shall feare. Feare hym whiche after he hath kylled, hath power to cast into hell. Surely I saye vnto you, hym feare. Are not. v. sparowes bought for two farthinges? And yet not one of them is forgotten of God. Also euen the very heeres of your herdes are nombred. Feare not then: ye are more worth than many sparowes.

I saye vnto you: whosoeuer confesseth me before men, hym shall the sonne of man confesse also before the aungels of God. And he that denieth me before men: shal be vnkid before the aungels of God. And whosoeuer speketh a worde against the sonne of man it shall be forgyuen hym. But vnto hym that blaspheneth the holy ghoste, it shall not be forgyuen. When they bringe you vnto the assembles, and vnto the rulers and officers, take no thought howe or what ye shall answere or what ye shall speake. For the holy ghost shall teache you in the same houre, what ye ought to saye.

✠ One of the compayne sayde vnto hym: Master, byd my brother deuyde the enheritaunce with me. But he sayde vnto hym: Man who made me a iudge or a deuyder ouer you? Wherfore he sayde vnto them: take hede, and beware of couetousnesse. For no mans lyfe standeth in the aboundaunce of thynges whyche he possesseth. And he put forthe a parable vnto theym, sayenge: The grounde of a certayne ryche men broughte forth fruites plenteously, and he thoughte in him selfe, sayenge: what shall I doo? because I haue no rowme where to bestowe my fruites? And he sayde: This will I doo. I will distroye my barnes, and buylde greater, and therin wyll I gather all my fruites, and my goodes: And I will saye to my soule: Soule thou hast moch goodes layde vp in stoore for manye yeares, take thyne ease: eate, drynke, and be merry. But God sayde vnto hym: Thou fole, this night will they fetche awaye thy soule agayne from the. Then whose shall the thinges be whyche thou hast prouyded? So is it with him that gathereth ryches? and is not ryche in God.

And he spake vnto his disciples: Therfore I saye vnto you: Take no thought for youre lyfe, what ye shall eate: ne for youre bodye, what ye shall put on. The lyfe is more then meate, and the body is more then rayment. Consyder the rauens, for they neyther sowe nor repe, who neyther haue stoare house ne barne, and yet God feedeth them. Howe moche are ye better then fowles? Whiche of you with takynge thought, can put to his stature one cubyt? If ye then be not able to do that is least: why take ye thought for the reste? Consyder the lylies howe they growe: They labour not: they spynne not: and yet I tell you Salomon in all his royalte, was not clothed lyke to one of these.

That yf the grasse, beynge to daye in the feilde, and to morowe shalbe cast into the fournace, God so arayeth, howe moche more will be clothe you, o lytle faythfull? And aske not you what ye shall eate or what ye shal drinke and be ye not caryed in the clowdes: for all these the hethen people of the worlde seke for. Youre father knoweth that ye haue nede of these thinges. Wherfore seke ye after þ kyngdome of God, and all these shall be cast vnto you. ✣ Feare not lytell flocke, for it is youre fathers pleasure, to gyue you a kyngdome. Sell youre substaunce, and gyue in almes. And make you baggis, whiche were not olde, and treasure that lasteth not in heauen, where no theefe commeth, neyther moath corrupteth. For where youre treasure is, there shalde youre herte also.

¶ Let youre lornes be gyrt about, and youre lyghtes brennynge, and youre selues lyke vnto men that wayte for their master, when he wil returne frome the weddinge: that assone as he commeth and knocketh, they maye open vnto hym. Happy are those seruauntes, whiche the Lorde when he commeth, shall fynde wakynge. Verely I saye vnto you, he wyll gyrde hym selfe about, and make them to syt downe to meate, and walke by, and ministre vnto theym. And yf he come in the seconde watche, yea yf he come in the thirde watche, & shall fynde them so, happy are those seruauntes. This vnderstonde, that yf the housholder knewe what houre the theefe wolde come, he wolde surely watche: and not suffre his house to be broken vp. Be ye redy therefore: for what houre ye thynke not, the sonne of man commeth. ✣

Matt. xxiiii. b. Luce xxi. c.

Then Peter sayde to hym: ✣ Master, speakest thou this similitude vnto vs, or to all me? And the Lorde sayde: Who thinkest thou is that faithfull seruaunt and wyse, whom his Lorde shall make ruler ouer his housholde, to gyue them their duete of meate at due season: happy is that seruaunt, whome his master when he commeth, shall fynde so dyngge. Of a truth ¶ I saye vnto you: he wil make hym ruler ouer all that he hath. But yf the seruaunt shall say in his hert: My master differeth his comyng and shall begyn to smyte the seruauntes and maydens, and to eate, and drynke, and to be dronken: the lorde of that seruaunt will come in a daye when he thinketh not, & at an houre when he is not ware, and will rayde him, & put his part with the infideles.

The seruaunt that knewe his masters will and prepared not hym selfe, ne dyd accordyng to his will, shall be beaten with many strypes. But he that knewe not, and yet dyd commytte thinges worthy of strypes, shalde beate with fewe strypes. For vnto whome moche is gyuen, of him shalde moche required. And to whom men moche commit, the more of hym will they aske.

☞ I am come to sende fyre on erth: and what is my wyshe, but that it were al redy kyndled? Notwithstandinge I must be baptysed with a baptysme: and howe am I prested tyll it be ended? Suppose ye that I am come to sende peace on earthe? I tell you naye, but rather dyuision. For frome hence forthe there shall be fyue in one house deuyded, three against two, and two against thre. The father shall be deuyded against the sonne, and the sonne against the father. The mother against the doughter, and the doughter against the mother. The mother in lawe against her doughter in lawe, and the doughter in lawe against her mother in lawe.

Then sayde he to the people: when ye se a clowde ryse oute of the weste anone ye saye, a showre commeth, and so it is. And when ye se the south wynde blowe, ye saye: we shall haue heet, and it commeth to passe. Hypocrites, ye can skyll of the fashion of the skye, and of the earthe, but howe is it, that ye can not trye this tyme? Yea and why iudge ye not of your selues what is right?

For whyle thou goest with thyne aduersary to the ruler: as thou arte in the waye, gyue diligence that thou mayst be deliuered frome hym, least he brynge the to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer the to the taylar, and the taylar cast the into prysone. I tell the, thou departest not thence, tyll thou haste pelded the vtteremoste myte.

¶ Of the Galileans whom Pilate slewe. The hypocrisie of the fygge tree. Of the mustarde sede and leuen. Fewe enter into the kyngdome. Christ reproueth Herode and Jerusalem.

CAPI. XIII.

There were present at the same season that shewed hym of the Galileans, whose bloude Pilate mengled with their sacrifice. And Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them: Suppose ye that these Galileans were greater synners then all thother Galileans, because they suffred suche punysshemente? I tell you naye: but onelesse ye repente, ye shall all lyke wyse perysshe. Or those. xviii. vpon whiche the toure in Syloe fell, and slew the, thinke ye that they were synners aboue all men that dwell in Jerusalem? I tell you naye But onelesse ye repente, ye all shall lyke wyse perysshe.

✣ He put forthe this parable: a certayne man had a fygge tree planted in his vyneyarde and he came and sought frute theron, & found none. Then sayde he to the dresser of his vyneyarde: Beholde, these. iii. yeares haue I come and sought frute in this fygge tree, and fynde none: cut it downe: why occupyeth it the grounde? and he answered, and layd vnto him: Lorde let it alone this yere also, tyll I dygge rounde about it, and donge it, and if it beare frute well and good, if not then thou shalte cut it downe. And he taught in one of their Synagoges on the Sabboth dayes. And beholde, a woman whiche had a spyrite of infirmitie. xviii. yeares: & was made euen croked, and coulde not onelesse lyft vp her selfe. Whē Jesus sawe her, he called her to him, and sayd to her: woman thou art deliuered frome thy disease. And he layde his handes on her, and forthwith she was streyght, & glorifyed God. Now the ruler of the Synagoge answering and disdayninge (because that Jesus hadde hea-healed on the Sabboth day) sayd vnto the people. There are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them come and be healed, & not on the Sabboth daye.

Then answered hym the Lorde, and sayde: ✻ hypocryte, dothe not eche one of you on the Sabboth daye, lose his oxe or his asse from the stall, and leade him to the water? And ought not this doughter of Abraham, whom lo, Satan hath bound, xviij. yeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabboth daye? And when he thus sayd, all his aduersaryes were ashamed / and all the people reioyced on al the glorious workes D that were done by hym. ✝

Then sayde he: What is the kyngdome of God lyke? or wherto shall I compare it? It is like a graynе of mustard seed, which a mã toke and sowed in his garden / and it grew & waxed in to great tre, and the fowles of the ayre made nestes in the braunches of it.

And agayne he sayd: wherevnto shall I lyken the kyngdome of God? It is lyke leuen which a woman toke and hyd in thre bushels of floure, tyll all was thorow leuened. And he went thorowe cityes and townes teachynge and tourneynge towardes Ierusalem. Then E sayd one vnto him: Lorde, are there few that shall be saued? And he sayd vnto them / Stryue to entre in at the strayte gate: for many I saye vnto you wyll seke to entre, and shall not be able.

When the goodman of the house is rysen vp, and hath shut the doore, ye shall begyn to stande without and to knocke at the doore, sayenge: Lorde Lorde, open vnto vs, and he shall F answere and saye vnto you, I knowe you not whence ye are. Then shall ye begyn to saye: We haue eaten in thy presence and dronke / and thou hast taught i our stretes. And he shal saye: I tell you I knowe ye not whence ye are: departe from me all ye workers of wyckednes. There shal be wepyng and gnasshing of teth, when ye shall se Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophetes in the kyngdome of God, and your selues thrust out. And they shall come from the East and West and north and south, and sit in the kyngdome of God. And beholde, they be last, which shall be first. And they be first, which shal be last.

G The same daye there came certayne of the pharises and sayd vnto him / get the out of the waye, and departe hence, for Herode wyl kyll the. And he sayd vnto them. Go tell that fore beholde I cast out deuyls and heale the people to daye and to morowe, and the thyrde daye I make an ende. Neuertheles, I must walke to daye and to morowe, and the day folowynge / for it can not be, that a Prophet perysshe any other where then at Ierusalem.

✻ Ierusalem, Ierusalem, whiche killest Prophetes, and stonest them that are sent to the: howe ofte wolde I haue gathered thy children togyther as the henne gathereth her nest vnder her wynges, but he wolde not. Beholde your habitacion is lefte to you desolate. For I tell you, ye shall not se me tyll the tyme come that ye shall saye / blessed, that commeth in the name of the Lorde.

¶ Jesus eateth with the Pharisee, healeth the dropsy vpon the Sabboth, teacheth to be lowly, telleth of the great supper. The cost of the erth.

CAPI. XIIII.

AND it chaunced that he went in to the house of one of the chefe Pharisees to ✻ eate bread on the Sabboth daye: and they watched hym. And beholde, there was a man before hym, which had the dropsye. And Jesus answered and spake vnto the lawyers and Pharisees, sayenge: is it lawfull to heale on the Sabboth daye? But they helde their peace. And he healed hym, and let hym go: and answered them, sayenge: Whiche of you shall haue an asse or an oxe fallen in to a pyt, and wyll not forthwith pull him out on the Sabboth daye? And they coulde not answere him to that.

C To eate bread, ✝ is to dyne, or to take a repast

He put forthe a symilitude to the gestes, markynge howe they chase the bygbest rowmes, and sayd to them: When thou arte byd to a weddynge of any man, syt not downe in B the bygbest rowme, lest a more honourable man then thou be bydden of him, and he that bade bothe hym and the, come and saye to the, gyue this man rowme, and thou then begyn with shame to take the lowest rowme. But rather when thou arte bydde, go and sytte in the lowest rowme, that when he that bade the commeth, he maye saye vnto the / frende syt vp higher. Then shalt thou haue worshyp in the presence of them that syt at meat with C the. ✻ For who so euer exalteth him selfe, shal be humbled. And he that humbleth him selfe, shall be exalted. ✝

Luke. xviij. a

Then sayd he also to him that had desyred him to dyner. ✝ When thou makest a dyner or a supper: call not thy frendes, nor thy brethren, ne thy kynsmen, neyther eyche neyghbours, lest they byd the agayne, and a recompence be made the. But when thou makest a feest, call poore, maymed, lame and blynde, and thou shalte be happy, for they can not requyte the. But thou shalte be recompensed in the ryszynge of the iust men.

When one of them that sate at meate also herde that, he said vnto him / happy is he that eateth bread in the kyngdome of God. ✝ D Then sayd he to hym. ✝ A certayne man ordeyned a greate supper, and bade many, and sent his seruaunt at supper tyme, to saye to them that were bydden, come / for all thynges are now redye. And they all at ones began to make excuse. The fyrste sayde to hym: I haue bought a pece of grounde, and I muste go se it, I praye the haue me excused. And an other sayde: I haue bought fyue yoke of oxen, and I go to proue them, I praye the haue me excused. The thyrde sayde: I haue maryed a wyfe, therfore I can not come. And the seruaunte wente, and tolde his master these thynges.

Ecclesi. xviij. d
Apocal. xix. a

Then was the housholder displeased, and E said to his seruaunt: Go out quyckly in to the stretes and quarters of the cyty, and bryng in hither the poore, & maymed, and halt & blynde.

And

And the seruaunt sayde, Lorde it is done as thou commaundest, and yet is there rowme. And the Lorde sayd to the seruaunt: Go out in to the hyghe wayes and hedges, and compell them to come in, that my house may be fylled. For I saye vnto you, that none of those men which were bydden, shal taste of my supper. ✠

There went a greate companye with him, And he turned and sayd vnto them. ✠ If a man commeth to me, and hate not his father and mother, and wyfe and chyldren, and brethren and systers, moreouer and his owne life he can not be my disciple. And who so euer beare not his crosse and come after me, can not be my disciple.

Which of you wyllynge to buylde a toure sytteth not downe first and counteth the cost, whether he hath to performe it? lest after he hath layde the foundacion and is not able to performe it, all that behold it begyn to mocke him, sayynge: this man began to buylde, and was not able to fynysshe. Or what kynge goynge to make battayle agaynst an other kynge doth not syt downe first and consider whether he be able with ten thousande to mete him that cometh agaynst hym with twenty thousande. ¶ The louyng mercye of God is openly set forth in the parable of the hundreth shepe, and of the lonne that was lost.

CAPI. XV.

Then resorted vnto him all the publicans and synners to heare him. And the phariseis and Scribes grudged, saying: He receyueth synners, and eateth with them. And he spake this parable to them, saying: What man of you haynge an hundred shepe, yf he lose one of them, doth not leaue nyntye and.ix. in the wyldernes, and go after that whiche is lost tyll he fynde him? And when he hathe founde him, he putteth him on his shoulders with ioye. And as sone as he commeth home, he calleth togither his frendes and neighbours saying vnto them: Reioyse with me, for I haue founde my shepe whiche was lost. I say vnto you, that so ioye shall be in heuē ouer one synner that repenteth, more then ouer foure score and nyntene ryghteous persons, which nede no repentaunce. Either what woman hauyng.x. grotes, yf she lose one, doth not lyght a candel, and swepe the house, and seke diligently tyll she fynde it? And when she hath founde it, she calleth her frendes and her neighbours saying: Reioyce with me, for I haue founde the grote which I had lost. So I saye vnto you, ioye is made before the aungels of God ouer one synner that repenteth. ✠

✠ And he sayde: A certayne man had two sonnes, and the yonger of them sayd to his father, father giue me the part of the goodes that to me belongeth. And he deuyded vnto them his substance. And not longe after, the yonger son gathered all that he had togither, and toke his iourney in to a farre countrey, & there ✠ he wasted his goodes with ryotous lyuyng. And when he had spent all that he had, there arose a great derth throwe out all that same lande and he began to lacke. And he went & claue to a citezyn of that same countrey, which sent him to his feld to kepe his swyne; & he wolde fayne haue fylled his belye with the coddes that the swyne ate, and no man gaue to him.

Then he came to hym selfe and sayde: how many hyred seruaunts of my fathers haue breed ynough, and I dye for hunger. I wyl arise and go to my father, and wyll saye vnto him: father: I haue synned agaynst heuen, and before the, and am no more worthye to be called thy son, make me as one of thy hyred seruauntes. And he arose & wente to his father. And when he was yet a greate waye of, his father sawe him, and had compassion, and ran and fell on his necke, and kyssed hym. And the sonne sayde vnto him: father, I haue synned agaynst heuen, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne. Then his father sayd to his seruauntes, bryng forth that best garment and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his fete. And brynge hyther that fatted calfe and kyll hym, and let vs eate and be merye: for this my sonne was ded, and is reuiued, he was lost, and is nowe founde. And they began to be merye. The elder brother was in the felde, and when he came & drewe nyghe to the house, he herde mynstrelsy and daunsynge, and called one of his seruauntes, and asked what those thynges meante. And he sayde vnto hym: thy brother is come, and thy father hath kylled the fatted calfe, because he hath receyued him safe and sounde. So he was angry, and wolde not go in. Then came his father and entreated him. But he answered and sayd to his father: Lo these many yeres haue I done the seruyce, neyther haue I broken at any tyme thy commaundment, and yet gauest thou me neuer so moche as a kydde to make mery with my frendes: but as soone as this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goodes with harlottes, thou hast for him kylled the fatted calfe. And he sayde vnto hym: Sonne, thou arte euer with me, and all that I haue is thyne: it was mete that we sholde make merye and be glade, for this thy brother was dead, and is alyue agayne: and was lost, and is founde. ✠

¶ The parable of the wycked Mammon. Not one tytle of Gods worde shall perish. Of the ryche man, and poore Lazarus.

CAPI. XVI.

He sayd also vnto his disciples. ✠ There was a certayne ryche man, which had a stewarde, that was accused vnto him that he had wasted his goodes. And he called him, and sayth vnto him: Howe is it that I heare heare this of the? Render accomptes of thy stewardshyp: for thou maist be no longer stewarde. The stewarde sayde within him selfe: what shall I do? for my master wyll take away from me the stewardshyp. I can not dyg, and to begge I am ashamed. I wote what I shall do, that whē I am put out of the stewardshyp, they may receyue me in to their houses.

So called he all his masters detters, and sayd vnto the fyrst: howe moche owest thou vnto my master? And he said an hundred tonnes of oyle. And he sayd to hym: take thy bill and syt downe quickly, and wryte fyfty. Then said he to an other: what owest thou? And he sayd, an hundred quarters of wheate. He sayd to him: Take thy bill, and wryte fourte score. And the Lorde commended the vnryghtous stewarde, because he had done wisely. For the chyldren of this worlde are in theyr kynde, wyser then the chyldren of lyght. And I saye also vnto you: Make you frendes of the wicked Mammon, that when ye shall departe, they maye receyue you in to euerlastynge habitacions.

✣ He that is faythfull in the lest, is faythfull also in moche. And he that is vnrygh-teous in the lest: is vnrygh teous also in moche. So then yf ye haue not ben faythfull in the wycked Mammon, who wyll byleue you in that whiche is true? And yf ye haue not ben faythfull in an other mannes busynes: who shall gyue you your owne? No seruaunt can serue two masters, for either he shall hate the one and loue that other, or els he shall leane to the one, and dispise the other. Ye can not serue God and Mammon.

All these herde the Pharyseis also, whiche were couetous, and they mocked him. And he said vnto them: Ye are they which iustify your selues before men, but God knoweth your hertes. For that whiche is hygh amonge men, is abhommacion before God.

The lawe and the Prophetes reygned tyll the tyme of Iohn, and sith that tyme the kyngdome of God is preached, and euery man striueth to go in. Sonner shall heuen and erth perysshe, then one tytle of the lawe shall perysshe. Who so euer forsaketh his wyfe and maryeth an other, doethe aduoutrye. And who so euer maryeth her that is deuorsed from her husband commyteth aduoutrye.

✣ There was a certeyn ryche man, whiche was clothed in purple and costly lynnen, and fared deliciously euery daye. Now there was a certayne begger named Lazarus, whiche laye at his gate full of sores, desyryng to be fylled with the crommes whiche fell frome the ryche mans table. Moreouer the dogges came and lycked his sores. And it fortuned that the begger dyed, and was caryed by the aungels in to Abrahams bosome. The ryche man also dyed, and was buryed.

And beinge in hell in sorowes, he lyfte vp his eyes and sawe Abraham a farre of, and Lazarus in his bosome, and he cryed and sayd: father Abraham, haue mercye on me, and sende Lazarus, that he maye dyp the typ of his fynger in water, and cole my toug: for I am tormented in this flame. But Abraham sayd vnto him: Sonne, remembre that thou in thy lyfe time, receyuedst thy good thynges, & Lazarus lykewyse payne. Now therfore is he comforted, and thou art punished. Beyde all this, betwene you and vs is a great dawte set, so that they whiche wolde go frome hence to you can not, neither may come from thence to vs.

Then he said, I praye the therfore father that thou wyll sende him to my fathers house. For I haue fyue brethren: for to warne them lest they also come into this place of torment. Abraham said vnto him: they haue Moses and the prophetes, let the heare them. And he said, nay father Abraham, but yf one come vnto them from the ded, they wolde repent. He said vnto him: If they heare not Moses and the Prophetes, neither wyll they byleue, thoughe one rose from dethe agayne.

¶ Christ teacheth his disciples to eschewe occasions of euyll, one to forgyue another, stedfastly to trust in God and no man to pleasure in his owne workes. He healeth the ten lepers, speaketh of the latter dayes, and of the end of the worlde.

CAPI. XVII.

THen sayde he to his disciples, it can not be auoyded but that offences come. But wo to him thorow whom they come. It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were caste in to the see, then he shulde offende one of these litle ones. Take hede to your selues. ✣ If thy brother trespace agaynst the, rebuke him, and if he repent, forgyue him. And though he synne agaynst the seuen tymes in a daye, and seuen tymes in a day turne agayne to the, sayinge, it repenteth me, forgyue him.

And the apostles sayd vnto the Lorde: encreace our fayth. And the Lorde said: yf ye had fayth lyke a grayne of mustard sted, ye wolde saye vnto this sycamyne tree, pluck thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the see and he wolde obey you.

Who is it of you, yf he had a seruaunt tarynge or kepynge cattell, that wolde saye vnto him when he were come frome the felde: Go quickly and syt downe to meate, and wolde not rather saye to him, make ready wherwith I maye sup, and gyrde vp thy selfe and serue me tyll I haue eaten and dronken, and afterwarde, eate thou, and drynke thou? Doethe he thanke that seruaunt because he did that was commaunded hym? I trowe not. So also ye when ye haue done all whythe are commaunded you, saye: we are vnprofytable seruaunts. We haue doone that whiche was our dutye to do.

✣ And it befell as he went to Ierusalem, he passed thorowe Samaria and Galile. And as he entred in to a certayne towne, there met hym ten men that were lepers. Whiche stode a farre of, and put forthe theyr voyces, and sayde: Iesu maister, haue mercye on vs. When he sawe them, he sayde vnto them: Go and shewe your selues vnto the preestes.

¶ Of Zacheus, and the ten seruauntes to whome the talentes were deliuered. Christ rydeth to Ierusalem, and wepeth ouer it.

CAPI. XIX.

AND he entred and went thorow Iericho. And beholde there was a man named Zacheus, whiche was a ruler amonge the Publicans, and was ryche. And he sought to se Iesus, what he shold be: & could not for the preace, because he was lytle of stature. And runninge before, clymed vp in to a wylde fygge tree to se him / for he sholde come that ware. And when Iesus came to the place, he loked vp, and sawe hym / and sayd vnto him: Zache, haste the downe, for to day I must abyde at thy house. And he came downe hastely, and receyued hym ioyfully. And when they sawe that, they all grudged, saying: He is gone in to tarye with a synfull man.

And Zache stode forthe and sayde vnto the Lorde: Beholde Lorde, the halfe of my goodes I gyue to the poore / and yf I haue done any man wronge, I restore hym foure folde. And Iesus sayde to him: this daye is healthe come vnto this house, for as moche as he also is become the chylde of Abraham. ✠ For the sonne of man is come to seke and to saue the lost. ✠

As they herde these, he put to and spake: because he was nye to Hierusalem, and because they thought the kyngedome of God sholde shortly appeare. He sayde therfore: ✠ ✠ A certayne noble man went in to a farre countrey, to receyue hym a kyngdome, and to come agayne. So he called his tenne seruauntes, and deliuered them tenne pounds, sayinge vnto them. Occupye tyll I come. But his citezyns hated hym, and sent a message after him, saying: we wyll not haue this man to reygne ouer vs.

And it came to passe when he was come agayne and had receyued his kingdom, he commaunded his seruantes to be called vnto him (to whome he gaue his money) to wyt what euery man had marchaundyzed. Then came the fyrst, sayinge: Lorde, thy pounde hath encreased ten pounds. And he sayde vnto hym. ✠ Well good seruaunt, because thou hast ben Mach.xxv.b. faythfull in a very lytle thynge, haue thou auctoryte ouer ten cityes. And the seconde came, saying: Lorde, thy pound hath encreased fyue pounds. He sayde also to this: and be thou also ruler ouer fyue cityes.

And an other came and sayd: Lorde beholde thy pounde, whiche I haue kepte in a napkyn, for I feared the because thou art a sterne man: thou takest vp that thou laydest not downe / and reapest that thou sowedest not. And he sayd vnto him: ✠ Of thyne owne mouth iudge Mach.xxv.d. I the, thou cursed seruaunt. Knewest thou that D I am a sterne man / takyng vp that I layde not downe, & reping that I sowed not. Wherfore then gauest not thou my money in to the banke, that at my commynge I myght haue required myne owne with gaynes?

And he sayd to them that stode by: take fro him that pounde, and gyue it hym that hathe ten pounds. And they sayd vnto him, Lorde he hath tenne pounds. I saye vnto you, that vnto euery one that hathe, it shall be gyuen / and from him that hath not, euen that he hath shal be taken from him. Moreouer those myne enemyes which woulde not I shold reigne ouer them, bringe hither, and slee them before me. Mach.xxi.d. Marche.xi.a. ✠ And when he had thus spoken, he went before, goynge vp to Ierusalem. ✠

And it fortuned, when he was come nye to Bethphage and Bethany, besydes mount called Oliuet, he sent two of his disciples, sayinge: Go in to the towne ouer against you. In whiche as soone as ye are come, ye shall fynde a colte tyed wheron yet neuer man sate. Loose hym and bringe hym hyther. And yf any man aske you, why do ye loose him / thus ye shall saye vnto him, the Lorde hath nede of him.

They that were sent, went their way and founde euen as he had sayd vnto them. And as they were loosinge the colte, the owners of it sayd vnto them: why loose ye the colt? And they sayd, the Lorde hathe nede of him. And they brought him to Iesus. And castynge their E rayment on the colte, they sate Iesus theron. And as he went, they spredde their clothes in the waye.

And when he nowe approched nere to the descente of the mounte Oliuet, the hole multytude of the disciples began to reioyse, and prayse God with a great voyce, for all the myracles that they hadde sene, sayinge: blessed be the kyng that commeth in the name of the Lorde

Lorde: peace in heuen, and glory in the highest. And some of the Pharisees of the crayne sayd to him: Master, rebuke thy disciples. He answered and sayd vnto them: I tell you if these sholde hold their peace, the stones wolde crye.

+ And when he was come neer, he beheld the city, & wept on it sayinge: If thou knewest also euen in this daye the thinges appertayning vnto thy peace. But nowe are they hid from thyne eyes. For the dayes shall come vpon the that thy enemyes shall cast a banke about the and besiege the, and kepe the in on euery syde, and make the euen with the ground, with thy children which are in the. And they shall not leue in the one stone vpon an other, because thou knowest not the tyme of thy visitacion.

And he entred the temple, and began to cast out them that soulde therin, and them that bought, sayinge vnto them: It is written, my house is the house of prayer, but ye haue made it a den of theues. And he taught daily in the temple. + * The high preestes and the Scribes and the chiefe of the people went about to destroye him, but coulde not fynde what to do. For all the people did hange of his mouth hearynge him.

¶ They aske Christe one question, and he asketh them an other. The parable of the vineyard. Of tribute to be gyuen vnto Cesar, and how Christ stoppeth the mouthes of the Sadducees.

CAPI. XX.

And + it befell in one of those dayes as he taught the people in the temple and preached the gospell, the chiefe preestes and Scribes came with the elders, and spake vnto him, sayinge: * Tell vs by what auctoritie thou doest these thinges? Or whe: who is he that gaue the t' auctoritie? He answered and sayde vnto t' m: I also will aske you a worde, and answere me. The baptisme of Johñ was it from heuē or of men? And they thought within themselues, sayinge: yf we shall saye from heuen: he will saye: why then beleued ye him not? But yf we shall saye, of men, all the people will stone vs. For they be assertayned that Johñ is a Prophet. And they answered, they coulde not tell whence it was. And Jesus sayde vnto them: neyther tell I you by what auctoritie I do these.

Then began he to speake to the people this parable. * A certayne man planted a vineyarde, and let it forth to husbandmen, & went him selfe in to a straunge countrey for a greate season. And when the tyme was come, he sent a seruaunt to the husbandmen that they sholde gyue him of the frutes of the vineyarde. And they dyd beat him, and sent him away empty. And agayne he sente yet an other seruaunte. But they dyd beate him, and vsed entreated him also, and sent him awaye emptye. He sent the thirde to, and him they wounded, and cast out. Then sayd the Lorde of the vineyarde: What shal I do? I will sende my dere sonne, him peraduenture they will reuerence when they se him.

But when the fermers sawe him, they reasoned within them selues sayinge: this is the heyre, come let vs kyll him, that the inheritaunce maye be ours. And they cast him out of the vineyarde, and killed him. Howe, what shal the Lorde of the vineyarde do vnto them? He will come and destroye these fermers, and will let out his vineyarde to other. When they herde that, they sayd: God forbyd.

And he beheld them, and said: what meaneth this then that is written: * The stone that the buylders refused, the same is made the heed cozner stone? Who so euer stombleth at that stone shall be broken, but on whom so euer it fall, it will grynde him to powder. And the byghe preestes and Scribes the same houre went about to laye handes on him, but they feared the people. For they wyst he spake this parable agaynst them.

And they watched him, and sente forthe espyes, whiche sholde fayne them selues perfecte to take him in his wordes, and to deliuer him vnto the power and auctoritie of the ruler. And they asked him, sayinge: Master, we knowe that thou sayest and teachest rightly, neyther consyderest thou the person, but teachest the waye of God truly. Is it lawfull for vs to gyue Cesar tribute or no? He perceyued their craftines, and sayde vnto them: * why tempte ye me? Shewe me a penye. Whose ymage and superscripcion hathe it? They answered & sayde, Cesars. And he said vnto them Gyue then vnto Cesar that whiche belongeth vnto Cesar, & to God that which pertayneth to god. And they could not reproue his saying before the people. But they maruayled at his answere, and helde their peace.

There came to him certayne of the Sadducees, whiche deny there is any resurrection. And they asked him, sayinge: * Master, Moses wrote vnto vs: If any mans brother dye hauynge a wyfe, and the same dye without issue, that then his brother shold take his wyfe, and rayse vp seed vnto his brother. There were seuen brethren, and the fyrst toke a wyfe, and dyed without issue. And the seconde toke the wyfe, and he dyed childelesse. And the thirde toke her, lykewyse the reskoue of the seuen, and left no issue behynde them, and dyed. Last of all the woman died also. Now at the resurrection whose wyfe of them shall she be? For seuen had her to wyfe.

Jesus answered and sayde vnto them. The children of this worlde marye wyues, and are gyuen to maryage, but they which shal be made worthye for that worlde, and for the resurrection from deed, neither marye wyues, ne are maryed, nor can dye any more. For they are aungell lyke, and are the sonnes of God, in as moche as they are the children of the resurrection. Now that the deed shall ryse agayne, also Moses signified beside the bushe, when he sayde: * the Lorde God of Abraham, and the God of Jsaac, and the God of Jacob. But he is not the God of the deed, but of them which lyue. For all lyue in him. Then certeyn of the Pharisees answered and sayd: Master, thou hast well sayde. And after that durst they aske him nothyng any more.

Then sayd he vnto them: * how say they that Christe is Dauids sonne? And Dauid him selfe sayeth in the boke of the Psalmes: * The Lorde sayd vnto my Lorde, sit on my right hande, tyll I make thyne enmemyes thy foote stole. How Dauid calleth him Lorde: and how is he then his sonne?

Then in the audience of all the people, he sayde vnto his disciples: * beware of the scribes, which wyll go in long clothyng, and loue greetynges in the markets, and the hyest seates in thassemblies, & the chefe rowmes at feastes, which deuour wydowes houses, and that vnder pretence of longe prayinge, these shall receyue greater damnation.

¶ Christe commendeth the poore wyddow, telleth of the destruction of Ierusalem, of false teachers, of the tokens and troubles for to come, of the ende of the worlde, and of his owne commynge.

CAPI. XXI.

And he beheld, he sawe the ryche men castynge in their offrynges in to the treasury. And he sawe also a certayne poore wydowe castynge in thether two mytes. And he sayd: of a truthe I say vnto you, this poore wydowe hath put in more then they all. For they all haue of their superfluite put to the gyftes of god, but this of her penury hath cast in all the substaunce that she had.

As some spake of the temple howe it was garnysshed with goodly stones and iewels, he sayde. * The dayes wyll come, when of these whiche ye se, shal not be left stone vpon stone that shall not be throwen downe. And they asked him, saying: Master when shal these be, and what signe is there when they shall come to passe.

And he said: take hede ye be not deceyued. For many shall come in my name, sayinge, I am he: and the tyme approcheth. Folowe ye not them therfore. But when ye heare of warres and seditions, be not afrayde. For these muste fyrste come, but the ende foloweth not forthwith. Then sayd he vnto them: Nacion shal ryse agaynst nacion, and kyngdom against kyngdom, and great erthquakes shall be in all quarters, and honger, and pestilence, and fearfull thinges. And greate signes shall there be from heuen.

But before all these they shal lay their handes on you and pursue you, deliuerynge you vp to thassemblies, and in to pryson, and bringe you before kynges and rulers for my name. And this shall chaunce you for a testimonye. Put therfore in your hertes, not to studye before what ye shall answere: For my selfe shal gyue you a mouthe and wysdome, whervnto all youre aduersaryes shall not be able to gaynsaye or resist. Yea, ye shall be betrayed of youre fathers and mothers, and of youre brethren, and kynsmen, and louers, and some of you shall they put to deth. And hated shall ye be of all men for my name. And an heare of your heed shall not perysshe. With your patience possesse your soules.

And when ye se Ierusalem besieged with hostes, then vnderstande, that the desolacion of it is nye. Then lette them whiche are in Iewry, flee to the mountaynes. And let them whiche are in the myddes of it, departe out. And let not them that are in other countreys entre therin. For these be the dayes of vengeaunce, to fulfyll all that are wrytten. But woo to women with chylde, and to them that gyue sucke in those dayes: For there shall be greate trouble in the lande, and wrathe ouer all this people. And they shall fall on the edge of the swerde, and shall be led captyue in to all nacions. And Ierusalem shall be troden vnder foote of the Gentyles, tyll the tymes of the Gentyles be fulfylled.

✣ And there shall be tokens in the sonne, and moone, and in starres, and vpon the erthe affliction of people, in despayre, the see and floode roryng, men consumynge for feare, and lokynge after those thynges which shall come on the erth. For the powers of the heuens shal moue. And then shall they se the sonne of man come in a cloude with power and great glory. When these thynges begyn to come to passe, then loke vp, and lyfte vp your heedes, for your redemption draweth nye.

And he spake to them a symilitude: Beholde the figge tree and all other trees, when they shoote forthe, ye se and knowe of your owne selues that sommer is nowe nere. So also ye (when ye se these come to passe) vnderstande, that the kyngdome of God is nye. Verily I say vnto you, this generacion shall not passe, tyll all be fulfylled. Heuen and erthe shall passe, but my wordes shall not passe. ✣

✣ Take hede to your selues, leest your hertes be greued with surfettynge and dronkennesse and cares of this worlde, and that day come lodeynly on you. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the erthe. Watche therfore continually, prayinge that ye maye be hable worthy to flee all this that shall come, and that ye may stande before the sonne of man. ✣

In the daye tyme he taught in the temple, and at nyght he went out and lodged in the mounte Oliuete. * And all the people came in the morninge to him, in the temple, to heare him.

¶ Christ is betrayed. They eate the Ester lambe. Christ tryeth who shall be greatest. He prayeth vpon the mount. They take him and bringe him to the hygh prestes house. Peter denyeth him thryse.

CAPI. XXII.

✣ The feest of swete breed drewe nye, which is called Ester, and the high prestes and Scribes sought howe to kyll him but they feared the people. Then entred Satan in to Judas, whose syr name was Iscariot (which was of the nombre of the twelue) and he went and communed with the hygh prestes and rulers howe he myght betraye him to them. And they were glade, and commaunded to gyue hym money. And he consented, and sought opportunyte to betraye hym vnto them when the people were away.

Matth.xxvi. Marc.xiiii.

✠ Then came the day of swete breed when of necessitie the Ester lambe muste be offered. And he sente Peter and Johan, sayinge: Go prepare the Ester lambe, that we maye eate. They sayd to him: Where wylte thou, that we prepare? And he sayd vnto them. Beholde when ye be entred in to the citye, there shall a man mete you bearynge a pytcher of water: him folowe in to the same house that he entreth in, and saye vnto the housholder: The master sayeth vnto the: where is the geste chambre, where I shal eate my Pasklouer with my disciples? And he shall shewe you a greate paloure paued. There make redye. And they went, and founde as he had sayde vnto them, and made redy the Pasklouer.

And when the houre was come, he sate downe and the twelue apostles with him, and sayd vnto them: I haue desyringly desyred to eate this Ester lambe with you before that I suffre. For I saye vnto you henceforth I wyll not eate of it any more, tyll it be fulfylled in the kyngdome of God. ✠ And he toke the cup, and gaue thankes and sayd: Take this, and deuyde it amonge you. For I saye vnto you, I wyll not drynke of the fruite of the vyne, tyll the kyngdome of God be come.

Mark.xiiii. Mark.xxvi. & Cornt.xi.

And takyng breed and gyuyng thankes, he brake and gaue it to them, sayinge: This is my body whiche is gyuen for you. This do for my remembraunce. Lykewyse also the cuppe when he had supped, sayinge: This cuppe is the newe testament in my bloode, whiche is shedde.

But loo, the hande of him that betrayeth me is with me on the table. And the sonne of man goeth as is appoynted: But wo to that man by whom he is betrayed. And they began to enquyre among them selues, which of them it shulde be that shulde do that.

Mat.xviii.a. Marke ix. & Luke.xxii.

✠ And there was a stryfe amonge them, which of them shulde be taken for the greatest. But he sayd vnto them: the kynges of the gentyles reygne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them are called gracious lordes. Ye shall not be so. But the greater amonge you, shal be as the yonger: & the chefe, as the minister. For whether is greater he that syt eth at the table, or he that serueth? Is not he that syt eth at the table? But I am among you, as he that ministreth. ye are they which haue abyded with me in tribulacions. And I dispose vnto you a kyngdom as my father hath disposed to me: that ye may eate and drinke at my table in my kyngdom, and syt on seates, and iudge the xii. trybes of Israel. ✠

And the Lorde sayd: Symon, Symon, beholde Sathan hath desyred you, to syft you as it were wheate / but I haue prayed for the, that thy fayth fayle not. And when thou art conuerted strengthen thy brethre. But he sayd vnto him ✠ Lorde I am redye to go with the in to prysone, and to deth. And he sayd: I tell the Peter the cocke shall not crowe this daye, tyll thou

haue thryse denyed that thou knowest me.

And he sayde vnto them: when I sent you without wallet and styppe and shoes: lacked ye oughte? And they sayde, no. And he sayd to them: But nowe he that hath a wallet, let him take it vp, and lykewyse his scrip. And he that hathe no swerde, let him sell his cote and bye one. For I saye vnto you, that yet that whiche is wrytten muste be perfourmed in me: ✠ Euen with the wicked was he nombred. For those thynges which are of me, haue an ende. And they sayd: Lorde, beholde here are two swerdes. And he sayd vnto them: it is ynough.

And he came out, and went as he was wont to mounte Olivet. And the disciples folowed him. And when he came to the place, he said to them, praye, lest ye fall in to temptacion.

And he was drawen frome them aboute a stones cast, and kneled downe and prayed, sayinge: Father, if thou wylte, withdrawe this cup from me. Neuertheles, not my will, but thyne be fulfylled. And there appered an aungell vnto him from heuen, comfortynge him. And beinge in an agonye, he prayed somwhat longer. And his swcat was lyke droppes of bloode, trickelyng downe to the grounde. And he arose vp from prayer and came to his disciples, and founde them slepynge for heuynes, and said to them: why slepe ye? Ryse & praye, lest ye fall in to temptacion.

Luke.xxii.

Whyle he yet spake / beholde, there came a company, and that he was called Judas one of the twelue, went before them, and preased nye vnto Jesus to kysse him. And Jesus said vnto him. Judas betrayest thou the sonne of man with a kysse? When they whiche were aboute him sawe what wolde folowe, they said vnto him: Lorde shall we smyte with the swerde. ✠ And one of them smote a seruant of the hyest preest and smote of his right eare. And Jesus answered and said, suffre ye thus farre forthe. And he touched his eare, and healed him.

Then Jesus sayde vnto the chefe preestes and rulers of the temple, and thelders whiche were come to him. Be ye come out as vnto a thefe with swerdes and staues? When I was daily with you in the temple, ye layde no handes vpon me. But this is your houre, and the power of darkenesse. Then toke they him, and ledde him, and brought him to the hyghe preestes house. But Peter folowed afarre of.

When they had kyndled a fyre in the myddes of the palace, and were set downe together ✠ Peter also sate downe amonge them. And a certayne damsell beheld him as he sate by the fyre, and beholdyng him sayd: This was also with him. Then he denyed him, sayinge woman I knowe him not. And after a lytle whyle, an other sawe him and said: thou arte also of them. And Peter sayd / man, I am not. And about the distaunce of an houre, an other affyrmed saying: verily this felowe was with him, for he is of Galile / and Peter sayd / man, I wote not what thou sayest. And forthwith whyle he yet spake, the cocke crewe. And the Lorde turned abacke and loked vpon Peter.

And

And Peter remembred the wordes of the Lorde, how he sayd vnto him, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denye me thrise. And Peter wente out, and wepte bytterly.

And the men that helde Jesus mocked him, smytynge and byndfoldynge him, they strake him on his face. And asked him sayinge: arede who it is that smoote the? And many other thynges blasphemously sayd they against him.

And as sone as it was daye, the elders of the people, and the high preestes and scribes came togither and led him in to their councile sayinge: art thou dyd Christe? tell vs. And he sayde to them: yf I shall tell you, ye wyll not byleue. And yf also I aske you, ye wyll not answere me or let me go. Hereafter shall the sonne of man syt on the ryghte hande of the power of God. Then sayd they all: art thou then ye sonne of God? He sayd to them: ye saye that I am. Then sayde they: what nede we any further wytnes? We oure selues haue herde of his owne mouthe.

¶ Jesus is brought before Pilate and Herode. The women make lamentacion for him. He prayeth for his enemyes, forgyueth the theefe vpon his ryght hande, and dyeth on the crosse, and is buryed.

CAPI. XXIII.

And the hole multytude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate. And they began to accuse him, sayinge: we haue founde this man peruertynge the people, and forbyddynge to paye tribute to Cesar: sayinge that he is Christ a kyng. And Pilate examined him, saying: art thou the kyng of the Jewes? He answered him and said: thou sayest. Then said Pilate to the hyghe preestes, and to the people: I fynde no fawte in this man. And they were the more fearce, saying. He maketh commocions in the people, teachinge throughout Jury, and began at Galile, euen to this place.

When Pilate herde mencyon of Galile, he asked whether the man were of Galile. And as sone as he knewe that he was of Herodes iurisdiction, he sent him to Herode, which was also at Jerusalem in those dayes. And when Herode sawe Jesus, he was exceadyngly glad. For he was desyrous to se him of a longe season, bycause he hadde herde many thynges of him, and trusted to haue sene some myracle doone by him. Then questioned he with him of many thynges. But he answered him not one worde. The hyghe preestes and scribes stode and accused him sharpely. But Herode with his men of warre despysed him, and after he had mocked him, arayed him in whyte, and sente him agayne to Pilate. And the same daye Pilate and Herode were made frendes togither. For before they were at variaunce.

Pilate assembled the hyghe preestes, and rulers, and the people, and said vnto them: ye haue brought this man vnto me, as one that peruerted the people. And beholde I haue examined him before you, haue founde no fawte in this man, of those thynges wherof ye accuse him. No nor yet Herode. For I sente you to him: and lo nothynge worthy of deth is done to him. I wyll therfore chasten him, and let him go. + For of necessitie he muste haue let one lose vnto them at that feest. Mat.xxvii.d Marck.xv.a John.xviii.a

And all the people cryed togither, sayinge: away with him, and deliuer to vs Barrabas: whiche for insurrection made in the citye and murther, was cast in prison. Pilate spake agayne to them, wyllynge to dimysse Jesus. And they cryed, sayinge: Crucifye him, crucify him. He sayd vnto them the thyrd tyme. What euyll hath he done? I fynde no cause of dethe in him, I wyll therfore chasten him, and let him lose. + And they cryed with a loude voyce, and requyred that he myght be crucified. And the voyce of them and of the hyghe preestes preuayled. Mat.xxvii.c Marck.xv.a John.xix.a

And Pilate gaue sentence that it shulde be as they requyred, and let lose vnto them, him that for insurrection and murther was caste in to prison, whome they desyred, and deliuered Jesus to do with him what they wolde. + And as they led him away, they caught one Symon a Cyrenyte comynge out of the felde, and on him layde they the crosse, to beare it after Jesus. Mat.xxvii.b Marck.xv.a

And there folowed him a great company of people and of women, whiche women bewayled & lamented him. But Jesus turned backe vnto them, and sayde: Doughters of Jerusalem, wepe not for me, but wepe for your selues and for your children. For beholde, the dayes be commynge when men shall saye: + happy are the barayn, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer gaue sucke. Then shall they begyn to saye to the mountaynes, fall on vs, and to the hylles, couer vs. For yf they do this to a grene tree, what shall be done to the dry. Esay.liii.a Hagerm.ii.c Galath.iiii.b,

And there were two felons led with him to be slayne. + And when they were come to the place called Caluary, there they crucifyed him, and the felons, one on the ryght hande, and an other on the left. Then said Jesus: father, forgyue them, for they wote not what they do. And they parted his rayment, and cast lottes. And the people stode and beheld. Mat.xxvii.d Marck.xv.c John.xix.b

Also the rulers mocked him with them sayinge, he holpe other, let him helpe him selfe yf he be Christe the chosen of God. The soudyours also mocked him, and came and gaue him vynegre and said: If thou be that kyng of the Jewes, saue thy selfe. And his inscription was wrytten ouer him, in Greke, and Latyn, and Hebrue letters: This is the kyng of the Jewes.

Lowe, one of the felons whiche hanged, railed on him, sayinge: If thou be Christe, saue thy selfe, and vs. The other answered and rebuked him, saying: Neither feareste thou God, bycause thou arte in the same damnacion? We are iustly punyshed, for we receyue accordynge to our dedes: But this man hath done nothynge amysse. And he sayd vnto Jesus: Lorde, remembre me when thou commest in thy kyngdome. And Jesus sayde vnto him: Verely I saye vnto the, to daye shalt thou be with me in Paradyse.

It was aboute the sixte houre. And there came a darkenes ouer all the lande, tyll the .ix.
houre, and the sonne was darkened. And the vayle of the temple dyd rent euen thorow the myddes. And Jesus cryed with a great voyce Psal.xxx.a and sayd: Father, in to thy handes I cõmende
my spirite. And when he thus had sayd, he gaue vp the ghost. When the Centurion sawe what had happened, he glorified God, saying. Cer-taynly, this was a ryghteous man. And all the people that came together to that syght, be-holdyng the thynges which were done, smote their breastes, and returned home. And all his acquayntaunce, and the women that folowed him from Galile stode afarre of beholdynge
these thynges.

And lo, a man named Joseph, a counceyllour, beyng a good man and a iuste, who was not consentynge to the counceil and dede of them, whiche was of Aramathia, a cite of the Jewes: whiche same also wayted for the kyngdom of god: this man went vnto Pilate and begged the bodye of Jesus, and toke it downe, and wrapped it in a lynnen clothe, and layde it in an hewen tombe, wherin was neuer man before layde. ✠ And it was the daye of preparynge, and the Saboth drue on. The women that folowed after whiche came with him from Galile, beheld the sepulcre, and how his bodye was layde. And they returned and prepared odours and oyntmentes, but rested
the Saboth day, accordyng to the commaun-dement.

¶ The women come to the graue. Christ appeareth vnto the two disciples that go towarde Emaus.
Standeth in the myddest of all his disciples, openeth their vnderstandynge in the scriptures, & with the sacrament, and disceadeth vp to heauen.

CAPI. XXIIII.

Vpon the morowe after the Saboth, early in the morwynge, they came vnto the Matth.xxv.d. tombe, and broughte the spyces whiche
March.xvi.a they hadde prepared, and other women with Joan.xx.a them. And they founde the stone rolled away from the sepulcre, and went in, but founde not the body of the Lorde Jesu. And it happened
as they were amased therat: Lo, two men Matt.xxviii.a stode by them in shynynge garmentes. ✠ And March.xvi.b as they were afrayde, and bowed downe their faces to the erth, they sayd to them: why seke ye the lyuyng among the dede? He is not here, but is ryssen. Remembre howe he spake vnto you when he was yet with you in Galile, sayinge that the sonne of man must be deliuered
in to the handes of synfull men, and be crucified, and the thyrde daye ryse agayne.

And they remembred his wordes, and returned from the sepulcre, and tolde all these Matt.xxviii.b vnto the eleuen, and to all the rest. ✠ It was March.xvi.c Mary Magdalen, and Joanna, and Mary of James, and other that were with them,
whiche tolde these thynges vnto thapostles:
and their wordes semed vnto them as a fable, neyther beleued they them. Then arose Peter, and ranne vnto the sepulcre, and stoo-pynge downe sawe the lynnen clothes layde alone, and departed wonderynge in hym selfe
at the thynge happened. ✠

✠ And beholde, two of them went that same daye to a towne beynge frome Jerusalem aboute thre score fourlonges, called E-maus: and they talked together of all these thynges that had happened. And it chaunced whyle they commoned together and reasoned, that Jesus hym selfe drewe nere, & wente
with them. But their eyes were holden, that they couldo not knowe him. And he sayd vnto them: What communicacyons are these that ye haue one to an other as ye walke and are sadde? And one of them named Cleo-phas, answered and sayd vnto hym: arte thou alone a straunger in Jerusalem, and hast not knowen that haue chaunced there in, in these dayes? To whome he sayde, what thynges?

And they sayd vnto hym: of Jesu the Nazarene, whiche was a prophete myghtye in dede and worde before God, and all the people. And howe the hyghe preestes, and our rulers deliuered him to be condempned to deth:
and haue crucifyed him. But we trusted that it hadde ben he, that shulde haue deliuered Israel. And as touchynge all these thynges, to daye is euen the thyrde daye, sythens they were done.

Yea, and certayne women of our compayne made vs astonyed, which came early vnto the sepulcre, and founde not his bodye: and came,
sayinge, they hadde sene a vision of aungels, whiche sayd that he was alyue. And certayne of them whiche were with vs went to the se-pulcre, and founde it euen so as the women had sayd: but him they sawe not.

And he sayd vnto them: O foles and slowe
in hert to beleue all that the prophetes haue spoken: Ought not Christe to haue suffred
these thynges, and to entre in to his glorye?
And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophetes, and interpreted vnto the in all the scriptures which were wrytten of him. And they approched the towne whiche they wente to.
And he made as thoughe he wolde haue gone further. But they constrayned hym sayinge, a-byde with vs, for it drayeth towardes night, and the daye is farre passed. And he wente in to tarye with them.

And it came to passe, as he sate at table with them, he toke breed, blessed it, brake and gaue to them. And their eyes were opened, and they knewe him, and he vanyshed away
from them. And they sayd betwene them selues:
Dyd not our hertes burne within vs
whyle he talked with vs by the way, & whyle
he opened to vs the scriptures? And they rose vp the same houre, and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleuen gathered together,
and them that were with them, whiche sayd:
the Lorde is ryssen in dede, and hath appeared to Symon. And they told what thynges was done in the waye, and howe they knewe hym
in the breakynge of breed.

As they thus spake, ✠ Jesus hym selfe stode in myddes of them, and sayd vnto them:

peace

peace be with you. And they were abashed and afraide, supposinge that they had sene a spirite. And he sayde vnto them: why are ye troubled, and why do thoughtes arise in your hertes? Beholde my handes and my fete, for it is euen my selfe. Handle me and se: for spirites haue not flesshe and bones, as ye se me haue. And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his handes and his fete. And whyle they yet beleued not for ioye and wondred, he sayd vnto them: Haue ye here any meate? And they gaue him a peece of a broyled fysshe, and of an hony combe. And he toke it, and ate it before them.

And he sayd vnto them. These are the wordes which I spake vnto you whyle I was yet with you, that all must be fulfylled whiche were wrytten of me in the law of Moses, and in the prophetes, and in the psalmes. ✠ Then opened he their vnderstande the scriptures, and sayd vnto them. Thus it is wrytten, & thus it behoued Christ to suffre, and to ryse agayne from dethe the thyrde daye, and that repentaunce and remission of synnes shulde be preached in his name amonge all nations, ✠ begynnynge at Ierusalem. Ye are wytnesses of these thynges. And lo, I sende the promyse of my father vpon you. ✠ But tary ye in the cyte of Ierusalem, tyll ye be endued with power from an hye. And he led them out in to Bethanye, and lyfte vp his handes and blessed them. ✠ And it came to passe, as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was borne vp in to heuen. And they worshypped him, returned to Ierusalē with great ioye, and were continually in the temple prayinge and blessyng god. Amē.

¶ The euerlastynge birth of Christ, and how he became man. The testimony of Johñ. The callynge of Andrew, Peter. &c.

CAPI. I. ✠

IN begynnynge was the worde, and the worde was with God / and the worde was God. This was in begynnynge with God. All were made by it, and without it was made nothing that was made. In it was lyfe, and the lyfe was the lyghte of men, and the lyghte shyneth in the darkenes, and the darkenes comprehended it not. a This worde is the breadthe that is Ternaye Iesus Christe.

There was a man sent from God, whose name was Johñ. This came for a wytnes, to testifye of the lyghte, that all men thorough him might beleue. He was not the lyghte, but to beare wytnes of the lyghte. That was the true lyghte whiche lyghteth all men comynge in to the worlde. He was in the worlde, and the worlde was made by him, and the worlde knewe him not.

He came in to his owne, and his owne receyued him not. But as many as receyued him, to them he gaue power to be made the sonnes of God, beleuynge on his name whiche were borne, not of bloode, nor of the wyll of the flesshe, nor of the wyll of man, but of God. b

And the worde was made flesshe, and dwelt amonge vs, and we sawe the glorye of it, as the glorye of the onely begotten sonne of the father, full of grace and trouthe. ✠

✠ Johñ wytnesseth of him, and cryed sayinge: This was he of whome I spake, he that cometh after me, was before me, because he was ere I was. And of his fulnes haue all we receyued, and grace for grace. For the lawe was geuen by Moses, but grace & trouth came by Iesus Christ. No man hath sene God at any time. The onely begotten sonne, which is in the bosome of the father, he hath declared him. ✠ c

✠ And this is the recorde of Johñ: when the Iewes sent preestes and Leuites from Ierusalem, to aske him, what arte thou? And he confessed and denyed not, and confessed I am not Christe. And they asked him: what then? Arte thou Helye? And he sayd: I am not. Arte thou the Prophet? And he answered no. Then sayd they vnto him: what arte thou, that we may geue an answere to them that sente vs: What sayest thou of thy selfe? He sayd: I am a voyce of one cryinge in the wyldernes, make strayte the waye of the Lorde, as sayd the prophet Esaie. Esay. 40.a

And they whiche were sente, were of the Pharisees. And they asked him, and sayd vnto him: Why baptysest thou then, yf thou be not Christe, nor Helye, neither the prophete? Johñ answered them, sayinge: I baptise with water: but one is come amonge you, whome ye knowe not, he it is that commeth after me, whiche was before me, whose shoo latchet I am not worthy to vnlose. These thinges were done in Bethabara beyonde Iordane, where Iohn dyd baptyse.

✣ The nexte daye Iohn sawe Iesus comminge vnto him, and sayd: beholde the lambe of God, which taketh awaye the synne of the worlde. This is he of whome I sayd. After me commeth a man whiche was before me, for he was yet then I, and I knewe him not, but that he shulde be declared to Israel therefore am I come baptysynge with water.

And Iohn wytnessed sayinge: I sawe the spyrite descende from heuen, lyke vnto a doue and abyde vpon him, and I knewe him not. But he that sent me to baptyse in water, he sayde vnto me, vpon whome thou shalt se the spyrite descende and tarye styll on hym, this is he which baptyseth with the holy ghoste. And I sawe and testifyed that this is the sonne of God. ✣

Matth. 3. Marche. 1. Luke. 3. Iohn. 1.

The nexte daye after, Iohn stode agayne, and two of his disciples. And he beholde Iesus as he walked by, and sayde: Beholde the lambe of God. And the two disciples herd him speake and folowed Iesus. And Iesus turned about, and sawe them folowe, and sayd vnto them: What seke ye? They said vnto him: Rabbi (which is by interpretation, Master) where dwellest thou? He sayde vnto them: come and se. They came and sawe where he dwelt, and abode with him that daye. For it was about the tenth houre.

One of the two which herde Iohn speake and folowed Iesus, was Andrew Symon Peters brother. This fynde founde his brother Symon, and sayde vnto hym: we haue founde Messias, which is by interpretation, anoynted, and broughte hym to Iesus. And Iesus beheld hym and sayde: thou arte Symon the sonne of Ionas, thou shalte be called Cephas, which is by interpretation a stone.

Messias.

The daye folowynge Iesus wolde go in to Galile, and founde Philip, and said vnto him: folowe me. Philip was of Bethsaida the cyte of Andrew and Peter. And Philip founde Nathanael, and sayd vnto hym. We haue founde him of whom Moses in the lawe and the prophetes dyd wryte, Iesus the sonne of Ioseph, a Nazarene. And Nathanael sayde vnto him: can there any good come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him: Come and se.

Iesus sawe Nathanael commynge to him, and sayde of him. Beholde a ryght Israelyte, in whome is no gyle. Nathanael sayde vnto hym: where knowest thou me? Iesus answered and sayde vnto him: Before that Philip called the, when thou wast vnder the fygge tree, I sawe the. Nathanael answered and sayde vnto hem: Rabbi, thou art the sonne of God, thou art the kynge of Israel. Iesus answered and said vnto him: Because I sayd vnto the, I sawe the vnder the fygge tree, thou beleuest. Thou shalt se greater thynges then these. And he sayd vnto him: Verily, verily, I saye vnto you: hereafter shall ye se heuen open, and the aungels of God ascendynge and descendynge ouer the sonne of man.

¶ Christe turneth the water vnto wyne, and dryueth the byers and sellers out of the temple.

CAPI. II.

AND the thryde daye, was there a mariage in Cana a cyte of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there. And Iesus was bydden also & his disciples vnto the mariage. And when the wyne fayled, the mother of Iesus said vnto him: they haue no wine. Iesus sayde vnto her: woman, what haue I to do with the? myne houre is not yet come. His mother sayd vnto the ministers: what so euer he sayth vnto you, do. And there were standing there, fyue water pottes of stone, after the maner of the purifyinge of the Iewes, containynge two or thre fyrkyns a pece. A wa[illegible] wyne.

And Iesus said vnto them: fyll the water pottes with water. And they filled them vp to the brym. And he said vnto them: draw out nowe, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feest. And they bare it. When the ruler of the feest had tasted of the water that was turned vnto wyne, and knewe not whence it was, B

but the ministers which drewe the water knewe: he called the bridegrome and sayde vnto him: all men at the begynnyng set forth good wyne, and when men were dronke, then that whiche is worse. But thou hast kepte backe the good wyne tyll now.

This begynnynge of myracles did Iesus in Cana of Galile, and shewed his glory, and his disciples beleued on him. ✣ After that he descended in to Capernaum, and his mother, and his brethren, and his disciples, and there continued not many dayes.

✣ And the Iewes Ester was at hande, and Iesus went vp to Ierusalem, and founde sytynge in the temple those that solde oxen and shepe and dues, and chaungers of money. And he made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them al out of the temple, with the shepe and oxen, and powred out the chaungers money, and ouerthrew the tables, and said vnto them that solde doues: Away with these thynges hence, and make not my fathers house an house of marchaundyse. And his disciples remembred how that it was written: ✣ The zele of thyne house hath euen eaten me. C

Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him: What token shewest thou vnto vs, because thou doest these thinges? Iesus answered and said vnto them: ✣ destroye this temple, and in thre dayes I shal reare it vp agayn. Then said the Iewes, xlvj. yeres was this temple a buyldynge, and wylt thou reare it vp in thre dayes? But he spake of the temple of his bodye. As sone therfore as he was risen from deth agayne, his disciples remembred that he thus sayd. And they beleued the scripture, and the wordes which Iesus had sayd.

Matth. [illegible] Mar. [illegible]

When he was at Ierusalem at Ester in the feest, many beleued on his name, when they sawe his myracles whiche he dyd. But Iesus put not hym selfe in their handes, because he knewe all men, and neded not that any shulde testifie of him. For he knewe what was in man. ✣

¶ The communycacion of Christ with Nycodemus. The doctrine and baptisme of Iohn, and what witnesse he beareth of Christe.

CAPI. III.

THere was a man of the Pharises named Nycodemus, a rular amonge the Iewes. The same came to Iesus by nyght, and sayde vnto him. Rabbi, we know thou arte a teacher come frome God. For no man can do these thynges that thou west, except God were with. Iesus aunswered and sayde vnto him: Verely, verely I say vnto the: onles a man be borne a newe, he can not se the kyngdome of God. Nicodemus sayd vnto him how can a man be borne when he is olde? can he enter into his mothers wombe, & be borne agayne? Iesus answered: Verely, verely I saye vnto the: onles a man be borne of water and spirite, he can not enter in the kyngedome of God. That whiche is borne of the fleshe is flesshe: and that whiche is borne of the spirite, is spirite. Marueyle not that I sayd to the, ye must be borne a newe. The spirite breatheth where he lysteth, and thou hearest his sounde: but canst not tell whence he commeth, and whether he goeth. So is euery mā that is borne of the spirite.

And Nycodemus aunswered and sayde vnto hym: howe can these be? Iesus aunswered and sayde vnto him: arte thou the master of Israel, and knowest not these thinges? Verely, verely I saye vnto the, we speake that we knowe, and witnesse that we haue sene: and ye receyue not oure wytnes. If when I tell you earthly thinges, ye beleue not: how shulde ye beleue, yf I shall tell you heauenly thinges?

And no man ascendeth vp to heuen, but he that came downe frome heauen, the sonne of man whiche is in heauen.

And as ✠ Moses lyfted vp the serpent in ꝑ wyldernesse, euen so must the sonne of man be lyfte vp, that none that beleueth in hym perysshe: but haue eternall lyfe. ✠

✠ For God so loueth the worlde, that he hath gruen his onely sonne, that none that beleue in him, shulde perysshe: but shuld haue euerlastinge lyfe. For God sent not his sonne into the worlde, to condemne the worlde: but that the worlde through him, might be saued. He that beleueth on him, shall not be condemned. But he that beleueth not, is condemned all redy, because he beleueth not in the name of the only sonne of God. And this is the condemnacion, that light is come into the world and the men loued darcknes more then light because their dedes were euyll. For euery mā that euyll doeth, hateth the lyght: neyther commeth to lyght, lest his dedes shoulde be reproued. But he that doeth trueth, commeth to the lyght ꝑ his dedes might be knowē, how that they are wrought in God. ✠

After these came Iesus and his disciples into the land of Iewry, and there he abode with them and baptised. And Iohn also baptysed in Enon besyde Salim, because there was moche water there, and they came, and were baptysed. For Iohn was not yet caste in to prison.

✠ There arose a question betwene Iohns disciples and the Iewes about purifyenge. And they came vnto Iohn, & sayde vnto him: Rabbi, he that was with the beyonde Iordan, to whome thou barest wytnesse, beholde he baptyseth, and all men come to hym. Iohn answered, and sayde: A man can receyue nothinge, onles it be gruen him frome heauen. Ye your selues are witnesses, that I sayde: I am not Christ, but am sent before him. He ꝑ hath the bryde, is the bridegrome. But the frende of the bridegrome, which standeth by & heareth him, reioyseth greately of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioye is fulfylled. He must increase: and I must abate.

He that commeth from an hyghe, is above all: He that is of the earthe, is earthly, and speaketh of the earthe. He that commeth frō heauen, is above all, and what he hathe sene and herde: that he testifieth: but no man receyueth his testimonye. He that hathe receyued his testimonye, hath set to his seale that God is true. For he whome God hathe sent, speaketh the wordes of God. For God gyueth not the spirite by measure. The father loueth the sonne, and hath gruen all thinges into his hand. He that beleueth on the sonne hath euerlastinge lyfe: & he that beleueth not the sonne, shall not se lyfe, but the wrath of God abydeth on him. ✠

¶ The louynge communicacion of Christ with the woman of Samaria by the welles syde. How he healeth the rulars sonne.

CAPI. IIII.

AS sone as the Lorde had knowledge, howe the Pharises had herde, that Iesus made and baptysed moo disciples then Iohn (thoughe that Iesus him self baptysed not: but his disciples) he lefte Iewry, & departed agayne into Galile. And it behoued him to go thorow Samaria. So came he to a cyte of Samaria called Sichar, besydes the possessiō that Iacob gaue to his sonne Ioseph. And there was Iacobs well. Iesus then wery of his iorney, sate thus on the well. And it was about the syxte houre: and there came a woman of Samaria to drawe water. And Iesus sayd vnto her: gyue me drynke. For his disciples were gone awaye vnto the towne to bye meate. Then sayde the woman of Samaria vnto him: howe is it, that thou beynge a Iewe, askest drynche of me, beynge a Samaritane? For the Iewes medle not with ꝑ Samaritans. Iesus answered and sayd vnto her: If thou knewest the gyfte of God, and who it is that sayethe to the: gyue me drynke, thou wouldest haue asked of him, and he wold haue gruen the, lyuinge water. The woman sayd to hym. Syr thou hast nothinge wherewith to drawe, and the well is depe: frome whence then hast thou that water of lyfe? Arte thou greater then our father Iacob which gaue vs the well, and he him self dranche therof, and his children, and his catell?

Iesus answered and sayde vnto her: whosoeuer

so euer drinketh of this water, shall thirste a-gayne. But whoso euer shall drynke of the water that I shall gyue hym, shall neuer be more a thirste: but the water that I shal gyue him, shalbe in him a well of water, springyng vp into euerlastinge lyfe. The woman sayde to him: Syr, gyue me of that water, that I thyrst not, neyther come hyther to drawe. Jesus sayde vnto her. Go and call thy husband, and come hyther. And the woman answered, and sayde to him: I haue no husbande. Jesus sayde to her: Thou hast well sayd, I haue no husbande. For thou hast had fyue husbandes, and he whome thou now hast, is not thy husbande. That sayddest thou truely.

The woman sayde vnto him: Syr, I perceyue, thou arte a Prophet. Our fathers worshypped in this mountayne: and ye saye that in Jerusalem is the place, where men ought to worshippe. Jesus sayde vnto her, woman beleue me, the houre is comyng, when ye shall neyther in this mountayne nor yet at Jerusalem, worshippe the father. Ye worshippe ye wot not what: we knowe what we worshippe. For, helth commeth of the Jewes.
But the houre commeth and nowe is, when the true worshyppers shall worshippe the father in spirite, and trouthe. For suche also the father seketh to worshyp hym. God is a spirite and they that worshyp him, must worshippe
hym in spirite and trouthe.

The woman sayde vnto hym: I wot well that Messias (that come, which is called Christ
When he is come, he will tell vs all. Jesus sayde to her: I that speake vnto the, am he.
And euen with that came his disciples, & meruelled that he talked with the woman. Yet no man sayde vnto hym: What meanest thou, or why talkest thou with her? The woman the left her waterpot, and went her waye into the cytie, and sayde to the men. Come, se a man whiche tolde me all that euer I dyd: Is not he Christ? Then they went out of the cytie, & came to hym.

In the meane whyle, his disciples prayed him, sayenge: Master, eate. He sayde vnto them: I haue meate to eate, that ye knowe not of. Then sayde the disciples within them selues: hath any man brought him meat? Jesus sayde vnto them: my meate is to do the will of him that sent me. And to fynyshe his worke.
Saye not ye: there are yet foure monethes, &
then commeth harueste? Beholde, I saye vnto you, lyfte vp your eyes, and loke on the regions: for they are whyte alredy vnto harueste.
And he that reapeth receyueth rewarde, & ga-thereth fruite vnto lyfe eternall: that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth, myghte re-ioyce together. And herein is the sayenge true, that one soweth and an other reapeth. I sente
you to reape that wherein ye bestowed no labour. Other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

Many of the Samaritans of that cytie be-leued on him, for the sayenge of the woman, whiche testified: he tolde me all, that euer I dyd. Then when the Samaritans were come vnto hym they besought hym, that he would tary with them. And he abode there .ii. dayes.
And many moo beleued, because of his owne
wordes, and sayde vnto the woman: Nowe, we beleue not because of thy sayenge: for we haue herde him oure selues, and knowe that this is in deede Christe, the sauioure of the worlde.

After two dayes, he departed thence, and went into Galile. For Jesus hym selfe testified that a Prophete hath none honoure in his owne countreye. Then as sone as he was come into Galile, the Galileās receyued him which had sene all that he dyd, at Jerusalem at the feast. For they went also vnto the feast-full daye. And Jesus came agayne into Cana of Galile, where he turned the water, into wyne.

And there was a certayne rulat, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum. This man as sone as he herde that Jesus was come oute of Jewry into Galile, wente vnto him, and besought him, that he would come downe, and heale his sonne. For he was at poynt of deth.
Then sayde Jesus to hym: except ye se signes and wondres, ye can not beleue. The rulat sayde vnto hym: Syr come awaye, or that my childe dye. Jesus sayde to him: Go thy waye thy sonne liueth. And the man beleued the wordes that Jesus had spoken vnto him, and went his waye. And anone as he went on his waye, his seruauntes met him, and told him sayenge: thy child liueth. Then enquyred he of them the houre when he began to amende.
And they sayde vnto him: Yesterdaye the seuenth houre, the feuer left him. And the father knewe that it was the same houre, in whiche
Jesus sayde vnto him: Thy sonne liueth.
And he beleued, and all his housholde.
This is agayne the seconde myracle that Jesus dyd, after he was come oute of Jewry into Galile.

The healeth the man that was sick eyght and thirtye yeere. The Jewes accuse him, he answereth for him selfe, and reproueth them.

CAPI. V.

After that, there was a feast of the Je-wes, and Jesus went vp to Jerusalem
And there is at Jerusalem, by the slaughterhouse, a pole called in the Ebrewe tongue, Bethsaida, hauynge fyue porches, in whiche laye a great multitude of sicke folcke, of blynde, halte and wyddered, waytinge for the mouynge of the water. For an angell went downe at a certayne season in to the pole, and troubled the water. Who so euer then first after the stirrynge of the water, wente downe, was made hole of what so euer disease he had A certayne man was there, which had bene diseased. xxxviii. yeres. When Jesus sawe him lye, and knewe that he nowe longe tyme had bene diseased, he sayde vnto hym. Wilt thou be made hole? The sicke man answered him.
Syr, I haue no man when the water is troubled, to put me into the pole. But in the meane tyme, whyle I am aboute to come, an other steppeth downe before me.

Jesus sayde vnto hym: aryse, take vp

thy bedde and walke. And forthwith the man was made hole, and toke vp his bed and walked. And the same daye was the Sabboth daye. The Iewes therfore sayde to hym that was made hole. It is the Sabboth daye, it is not lawfull for the, to take awaye thy bed. He answered them: he that made me hole, sayde vnto me: Take vp thy bed, and walke. Then asked they hym: What man is that, whiche sayde vnto the, take vp thy bed, and walke. But he that was healed, wist not who it was. For Iesus hadde gotten hym selfe awaye, because there was preace of people in the place.

After that, Iesus founde hym in the temple, and sayde vnto hym: Beholde, thou arte made hole, synne no more, lest a worse thynge happen vnto the. The man departed and told the Iewes that it was Iesus, whiche hadde made him hole. ✠

And therfore the Iewes dyd pursue Iesus, and sought to slee him, because he had done this on the Sabboth. And Iesus answered them: ✠ My father worketh hytherto, and I worke. Therfore the Iewes sought the more to kyll hym, not onely because he had broken the Sabboth: but sayd also that God was his father, and made him selfe equall with God.

Then answered Iesus, and sayde to them: Verely, verely I saye vnto you: the sonne can do nothinge of hym selfe, but that he seeth the father do. For what so euer he doeth, that doeth the sonne also. For the father loueth the sonne, and sheweth him all what so euer he doeth. And he will shewe hym greater workes then these, so that ye shall marueyle. For as the father rayseth vp the dead, and quyckeneth the, so the sonne also quyckeneth whome he will. Neither iudgeth the father any man: but hath geuen all iudgement vnto the sonne, that all men shulde honour the sonne, as they honour the father. Who so honoureth not the sonne, honoureth not the father, whiche hathe sent hym. Verely, verely I say vnto you: He that heareth my wordes and beleueth on him that sent me, hath euerlastinge lyfe, and shall not come into damnation: but hath passed frome death vnto lyfe.

Verely, verely I saye vnto you: the howre is commynge, and now is, when the dead shal heare the voyce of the sonne of God. And they that heare, shall lyue. For as the father hath lyfe in him selfe, so hathe he geuen the sonne, to haue lyfe in hym selfe: and hath geuen him power also to iudge, in that he is the sonne of man. Marueyle not at this: the houre shall come, in whiche all that are in the graues, shal heare his voyce, and shall come forthe: they that haue done good, vnto the resurrection of lyfe: and they that haue done euyll, vnto the resurrection of damnation. ✠

✠ I can of my selfe do nothing. As I heare I iudge, and my iudgement is iust, because I seke not my will, but the will of the father whiche hathe sent me. If I beare witnes of my selfe, my witnesse is not true. There is an other that beareth witnesse of me, and I am sure that the witnesse, whiche he beareth of me, is true.

Ye sent vnto Iohn, and he bare witnesse vnto the trouthe. But I receyue not the recorde of man. But these thinges I saye, that ye myght be safe. He was a burnynge, and a shynynge lyght, & ye wolde for a season haue reioyced in his light. But I haue greater witnesse then the witnesse of Iohn. For the workes, whiche the father hathe geuen me to fynysshe: the same workes that I do, beare witnesse of me, that the father sent me. And the father him selfe which hath sent me, beareth witnesse of me. Ye haue not herde his voyce at any tyme nor ye haue sene his shape: And his wordes haue ye not abydinge in you. For whome he hath sent: him ye beleue not.

Searche the scriptures, for in the ye thinke ye haue eternall lyfe: and they are they whiche testifye of me. And yet will ye not come to me, that ye myght haue lyfe. I receyue not prayse of me. But I know you, that ye haue not the loue of God in you. I am come in my fathers name, and ye receyue me not. If an other shall come in his owne name, him will ye receyue. How can ye beleue which receyue glorye one of an other, and seke not the glorye that commeth of God onely?

Do not thinke that I will accuse you to my father. There is one that accuseth you: euen Moses in whome ye trusse. For hadde ye beleued Moses, ye wolde haue beleued me: for he wrote of me. But yf ye beleue not his writynges: howe shoulde ye beleue my wordes? ✠ ¶ Iesus feedeth fyue thousande men, departeth awaye, that they shulde not make him kynge, and reproueth the fleshely hearers of his worde. The carnall are offended at him.

CAPI. VI.

AFter these Iesus went his way ouer 1
the see of Galile nyghe to a cytie called Tiberias. And a great compayne followed hym, because they had sene his myracles which he dyd on the diseased. And Iesus wet vp into a mountayne, and there sate with his disciples. And Easter, a feaste of the Iewes, was nyghe. ✠

✠ Then Iesus lyft vp his eyes, and sawe Matth.xiiii.b
a great company come vnto him, and sayd vn- Marcke.vi.a to Philip: Whence shall we bye bread that Luke.ix.b
these might eate. This he sayde to proue him for him selfe knewe what he wolde do.

Philip answered him, two hundred pens worthe of bread are not sufficient for them, that euery one maye take a lytell. Then sayde vnto him one of his disciples, Andrewe Simon Peters brother. There is a ladde here, whiche hath fyue barley loaues and two fishes: but what is that amonges so manye? And Iesus 10 sayde: Make the people sit down. There was moche grasse in the place. And the men sate down, in nombre, about fyue thousand. Iesus toke the bread, and gyuynge thankes, gaue to the disciples, and his disciples to them that were set downe. And lykewyse of the fishes, as

as moche as they wolde.

When they had eate ynoughe he sayd vnto his disciples, gather vp the broken meate þ remayneth: that nothinge be lost. And they gathered it together, and fylled twelue basketes with the fragmentes, of the fyue barly loaues: whiche remayned vnto them that had eaten. Then the men, when they hadde sene the myracle that Jesus dyd, sayde: this is doubtles the Prophete that shulde come into the worlde. ✠

When Jesus perceyued that they wolde come, and take him vp to make him kynge, ✠ he departed agayne into a mountayne, hym selfe alone.

Math. xiiii. c. Marcus vi. c. Luce. ix. c.

And when euen was come, his disciples went vnto the see, and entred into a shyppe & went ouer the see vnto Capernaum. And anone it was darcke, and Jesus was not come to them. And the see arose with a great wynd that blewe. Howe, when they had rowen about. xxv. or. xxx. furlonges, they sawe Jesus walkynge on the see, & drawynge nyghe vnto the shyppe, and were afrayed. But he sayde vnto them: it is I, be not afrayde. Then wolde they haue receyued hym into the shyp, and the shyp was forthwith at the land wyther they went.

The daye folowynge, the people whiche stode on the other syde of the see, sawe that there was none other shyppe there, saue that one into which his disciples were entred, and þ that Jesus entred not with his disciples in þ shyppe: but that his disciples were gone awaye alone. Howe be it, there came other shyppes from Tiberias nygh vnto the place, where they ate bred, when the Lorde hadde blessed. Then when the people sawe that Jesus was not there, neyther his disciples, they also toke shyppynge, and c. me to Capernaū, sekynge Jesus.

And when they hadde founde hym, on the other syde of the see, they sayde vnto hym: Rabbi, when camest thou hyther? Jesus answered them and sayde: Verely, verely I say vnto you: Ye seke me, not because ye sawe the myracles: but because ye dyd eate of the loaues, and were filled.

✠ Worke ye not the meate which perysheth, but that endureth, vnto euerlastynge lyfe, whiche the sonne of man shall gyue vnto you. For him hath God the father sealed.

Then sayde they vnto him: what shall we do that we mygh̄t worke the workes of God? Jesus answered and sayde vnto them. This is the worke of God, that ye beleue on hym, whome he hathe sent. They sayde vnto hym: what signe shewest thou then, that we maye se, and beleue the? What west thou worke? Oure fathers dyd eate Manna in the wyldernesse, as it is wrytten: He gaue them breed from heauen to eate. Jesus sayde vnto the: Verely, verely, I say vnto you: Moses gaue you not the breed from heauen: but my father geueth you the true breed from heauen. For the breed of God is that commeth downe from heauen, & geueth lyfe vnto the worlde.

Exod. xvi. c. Nume. xi. b. Psal. lxxviii. c.

Then sayde they vnto hym: Lorde, euermore gyue vs this bred. And Jesus sayde vnto them: I am the bred of lyfe. Who commeth to me, shall not honger: and who beleueth in me shall neuer thurst. ✠

But I sayde vnto you: that ye haue sene me, and yet beleue not. All that the father gyueth me, shall come to me: and hym that cometh to me, I cast not to awai. For I came downe from heauen: not do myne owne will, but his will whiche hath sent me. And this is the fathers will whiche hath sent me, that of all whiche he hath gyuen me, I shulde lose nothinge: but shoulde rayse it vp agayne, at the last daye. And this is the wil of him that sent me: that euery man which seyth the sonne, & beleueth on hym, haue euerlastinge lyfe, and I will rayse hym vp at the last daye. The Jewes then murmured at him, because he sayd: I am the bred whiche is come downe from heauen, and sayde: Is not this Jesus the son of Joseph, whose father & mother we knowe? Howe is it then that he sayth, I came downe from heauen? Jesus answered, and sayde vnto them. Murmure not, within youre selues. ✠ ✶ No man can come to me, oneles the father which hath sent me, draw him/ and I will rayse hym vp at the last daye. It is wrytten in the Prophetes, ✶ that they shalbe all taught of God. Euery man therfore that hath herde and hath lerned of the father, commeth vnto me, not that any man hathe sene the father, saue he whiche is of God, he hath sene the father.

Joh. vi. c. Esay. liiii. c.

Verely, verely, I saye vnto you, who beleueth on me, hath euerlastynge lyfe. I am the bred of lyfe. Youre fathers dyd eate Manna in the wyldernesse and are dead? This is that bred which commeth from heauen, that one shulde eate of it, and not dye. I am the lyuing bred whiche came downe from heauen. If any man eate of this bred, he shall lyue for euer. And the bred that I wyll gyue is my flesshe, which I will gyue for the lyfe of the worlde. ✠

Then the Jewes strout amonge them selues, sayenge: Howe can this man gyue his flesshe to eate? Jesus therfore sayde vnto the: ✠ Verely, verely I saye vnto you, oneles ye eate the flesshe of the sonne of man, & drinke his bloude, ye haue not lyfe in you. Who so euer eateth my flesshe and drynketh my bloud hath eternall lyfe: and I shall rayse him vp at the last daye. ✠ For my flesshe is verely meat: and my bloude is verely drynke. Who eateth my flesshe and drynketh my bloude, dwelleth in me, and I in hym. As the lyuynge father hath sent me, and I lyue by my father: so he that eateth me, shall lyue by me. This is the bred which came from heauen: not as youre fathers haue eaten Manna and are dead. Who eateth of this bred, shall lyue euer. ✠

These sayde he in the Synagoge, as he taught in Capernaum. Many therfore of his disciples: when they hadde herde this, sayde: This is an harde sayenge: Who can heare hym? Jesus knewe in him selfe, that his disciples murmured at this, and sayde vnto them: Doth this offende you? What then yf ye shall se the sonne of man ascende vp where he was before before? It is the spirit that quickeneth, the flesshe profiteth nothinge. The wordes that I speake vnto you, are spirite and lyfe. But there are some of you that beleue not. For Iesus knewe from the begynninge, which they were that beleued not, and who shulde betraye him. And he sayd: therfore sayd I vnto you that no man can come vnto me, onles it were gruen vnto him of my father.

From that tyme many of his disciples went backe and walked no more with him. Then sayde Iesus to the twelue: will ye also go awaye? Simon Peter answered: Master, to whome shall we go? thou hast the wordes of eternall lyfe, * and we beleue and know that thou arte Christ the sonne of the liuyng God Iesus answered them: Haue not I chosen you twelue, and yet one of you is a * deuyll? He spake it of Judas Iscariot the sonne of Simon. For he it was that shulde betraye hym, and was one of the twelue. ✠ ¶ Iesus cõmeth to Ierusalem at the feast, teacheth the Iewes, and reproueth them. There are diuerse opinions of him, amonge the people. The Pharises rebuke the officers, because they haue not taken him, and chyde with Nycodemus, for takynge his parte.

CAPI. VII.

AFter that, Iesus walked about to Galile, and wolde not walke in Iewry for the Iewes sought to kyll hym. The Iewes tabernacle feast was at hande. His brethren therfore sayde vnto hym: get the hence and go into Iewry that thy disciples maye se thy workes that thou wirkest. For there is no man that worth any thinge secretly, & he him selfe seketh to be knowen openly. If thou do suche thinges, shewe thy selfe to the worlde. For as yet his brethren beleued not in hym.

Then Iesus sayde vnto them: My tyme is not yet come: but your tyme is all way redy. The worlde can not hate you. But me it hateth: because I testify of it, that the workes of it are euyll. Go ye vp vnto this feast. I wil not go vp yet vnto this feaste, for my tyme is not yet full come. These wordes he sayde vnto them, and abode styll in Galile. But as sone as his brethren were gone vp, then went he also vp vnto the feaste: not openly, but as it were priuely. Then sought him the Iewes at the feast, and sayde: Where is he. And moche murmuringe was there of hym amonge the people. Some sayde: He is good, others sayd nay, but he deceyueth the people. Yet no man spake openly of hym, for feare of the Iewes. ✠

✠ In the myddes of the feast, Iesus went vp into the temple, & taught. And the Iewes marueyled, sayenge: Howe knoweth he the scriptures, wheras he neuer lerned? Iesus answered them, and sayde: My doctrine is not myne: but his that sent me: If any man will doo his will, he shall knowe of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe. He that speaketh of him selfe seketh his own prayse. But he that seketh his prayse that sent him, he is true, and no vnrighteousnesse is in hym.

Dyd not Moses geue you a lawe, and yet none of you kepeth the lawe? Why goo ye about to kyll me. The people answered, and sayde: Thou hast a deuyll: who seketh to kyll the? Iesus answered and sayde to them: I haue done one worke, and ye all maruayle. Moses therfore gaue vnto you circumcision, not because it is of Moses: but of the fathers: also yet ye on the Sabboth daye, circumcyse a man. If a man on the Sabboth daye receyue circumcision without breakynge of the law of Moses: beldayne ye at me, because I haue healed an hole man on the Sabboth daye? Iudge not after the outer apperaunce: but iudge righteously iudgement.

Then sayde some of them of Ierusalem: is not this he whome they seke to kyll: Beholde he speaketh boldely, and they saye nothinge to him. Whether do the rulers know certayn lye that this is verye Christe? Howbe it we knowe this man, whence he is: But when Christe commeth, no man knoweth, whence he is.

The cryed Iesus in the temple as he taught sayenge: ye knowe me, and whence I am, ye knowe. And I am not come of my selfe, but he that sent me is true, whome ye know not. I knowe hym: for I am of hym, and he hath sent me. Then they sought to take hym: but no man layde handes on hym, because his tyme was not yet come. Many of the people beleued on hym, and sayde: When Christ cõmeth, shall he do mo myracles then this man hath done?

The Pharises herde that the people murmured this about hym. Wherfore the pharises and hyghe prestes sent ministers forthe to take hym. Iesus then sayde vnto them: Yet am I a lytel whyle with you, and then go I vnto him that sent me. Ye shal seke me, and shall not fynde me: and where I am thyther can ye not come. Then sayd the Iewes to them selues: whyther shall he go, that we can not fynde hym? Will he go amonge the scatering of the Greakes, & teache the Greakes? What maner of sayeng is this that he sayde: Ye shal seke me, and shall not fynde me: and where I am, thyther can ye not come?

In the last daye, which was the great daye of the feaste, Iesus stode and cryed, sayenge: If any man thirst, let him come vnto me and drynke. * He that beleueth on me, as sayeth the scripture, oute of his belly shall flowe ryuers of water of lyfe. This spake he of the spirite, whiche they that beleued on hym, shulde receyue. ✠ For the holy ghost was not yet there, because that Iesus was not yet glorified.

✠ Many of the people, whe they herde this sayenge sayde: this is vndoutedly a prophet: other sayde, this is Christ: Some sayde: Cõmeth Christ out of Galile? * Sayth not the Scripture that Christ shal come of the seed of David: and oute of the towne of Bethlem where David was? So was there dissencion amonge the people about hym. And some of them wolde haue taken him: but no mã layd handes on him. Then came the mynysters to the hygh prestes and Pharises. And they sayd vnto them: Why haue ye not brought him? The ministers answered: neuer man spake as this man doth. Then answered them the Pharises: are ye also brought into errour? Doth any of the rulers or of the Pharises beleue on him? But this commune people which knowe not the lawe, are cursed. Nicodemus sayde vnto them, he that came to Jesus by nyght, and was one of them. Doeth oure lawe iudge any man, before it heare him, and knowe what he hath done? They answered and sayde vnto him: arte thou also a Galilean? Searche and loke, for out of Galile hath arysen no Prophete. And euery man went vnto his owne house.

¶ A woman is taken in aduoutry, Christe deliuereth her. The freedome of iudge as touche Christe, in whome they accuse to haue the deuil with him, and go about to stone him.

CAPI. VIII.

Jesus went vp to the mount Oliuete, and early in the morning came agayne into the temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sate downe and taught them. Nowe, the Scribes and Pharises brought him a woman taken in aduoutry, and setting her in the middes, sayde vnto him: Maister, this woman was taken in aduoutry, euen as she was adoinge. * Moyses in the lawe commaunded vs that suche shuld be stoned. What sayst thou therfore? And this they sayde to tempte him: that they might haue, wherof to accuse him. Jesus stouped downe, and with his finger wrote on the grounde. So whyle they continued asknyge him, he lyft him selfe vp, and sayde vnto them: The faultelles person of you, fyrst cast the stone at her. And agayne he stouped downe, and wrote on the grounde. And as sone as they herde that, they went out one by one, begynninge at the Elders. And Jesus was lefte alone, and the woman standinge in the myddes. When Jesus had lyft vp him selfe, agayne, and sawe no man, but the woman, he sayde vnto her: woman where are thyne accusers? Hath no man condemned the? She sayde: No man, Lorde. Jesus sayde: Neyther wil I condemne the. Go, & synne no more. ✠

Then spake Jesus agayne vnto them, sayenge: I am the lyghte of the worlde. He that folowerth me, shall not walke in darcknesse: but shall haue the lyght of lyfe. The Pharises sayde vnto him: thou beareſt recorde of thy selfe, thy recorde is not true. Jesus answered and sayde vnto them: though I beare recorde of my selfe, yet my recorde is true: for I know whence I came, and whyther I goo. But ye can not tell whence I come, and whither I go. Ye iudge after the flesshe, I iudge no man. And yf I iudge, my iudgement is true. For I am not alone: but I and the father that sent me. It is also wrytten in your lawe, that the testimony of two men is true. I am one that beare wytnes of my selfe, and the father that sent me, beareth wytnes of me. Then sayde they vnto him: Where is thy father? Jesus answered: Ye neyther knowe me, nor yet my father. If ye had knowen me, ye shulde haue knowen my father also. These wordes spake Jesus in the treasury, as he taught in the temple, and no man layde handes on him, for his tyme was not yet come. ✠

Then sayde Jesus agayne vnto them: ✠ I go my waye, and ye shall seke me, and shall dye in youre synnes. Whyther I go, thether can ye not come. Then sayde the Jewes: wyll he kyll him selfe, because he sayth: Whyther I go, thether can ye not come? And he sayde vnto them: Ye are frome beneth, I am frome aboue. Ye are of this worlde, I am not of this worlde. I sayd therfore vnto you, that ye shal dye in your synnes. For oneles ye beleue that I am he, ye shall dye in your synnes.

Then sayd they vnto him, Who are thou? And Jesus sayde vnto them: Fyrst of all euen that I saye vnto you. I haue many thinges to saye, and to iudge of you. But he that sent me is true. And I speake in the worlde, those thinges which I haue herde of him. They vnderstode not that he spake vnto them of his father. Then sayde Jesus vnto them: When ye haue lyft vp on hygh the sonne of man, the shall ye knowe that I am, and that I do nothing of my selfe: but as my father hath taught me, those I speake: and he that sent me, is with me. The father hath not left me alone, for I do alwayes those thinges that please him. ✠ As he spake these wordes, many beleued on him.

✠ Jesus therfore sayde, to those Jewes, which beleued on him. If ye continue in my wordes, then are ye my very disciples, & shall knowe the trouthe: and the trouthe shall enfraunchise you. They answered him: We be Abrahams sede, and were neuer bonde to any man: Why sayest thou then, ye shall be made free.

Jesus answered them: verely, * verely I saye vnto you, that who so euer committeth synne, is the seruaunte of synne. And the seruaunt abydeth not in the house for euer: But the sonne abydeth euer. If the sonne therfore shal enfraunchise you, so are ye truely franke. I knowe that ye are Abrahams sede: but ye seke to kyll me, because my sayenge taketh no holde in you. I speake that I haue sene with my father: and ye do that which ye haue sene with your father. They answered and sayde vnto him: Abraham is our father. Jesus sayd to them. If ye were Abrahams children, ye wolde do the dedes of Abraham. But now ye go aboute to kyll me, a man that haue tolde you the trouth which I haue herde of God: this dyd not Abrahā. Ye do the dedes of your father. Then sayde they to him: we were not borne of aduoutrye. We haue one father, euē God. Jesus sayde vnto them: yf God were your father, so wolde ye loue me. For I proceded, and came frome God. Neyther came I of my selfe, but he sent me. Why do ye not knowe my speache? Euen because ye can not heare my wordes.

Ye are of youre father the dyuell, and the lustes

lustes of your father ye will do. He was a murtherer from the begynnynge, and abode not in the trouthe, because there is no trouthe in hym. When he speaketh a lye, he speaketh of his owne. For he is a lyer, and the father therof. But I because I tell you the trouthe, therfore ye beleue me not.

✣ Whiche of you chalengeth me of synne? If I saye the trouthe, why do not ye beleue me? * He that is of God, heareth Gods wordes. ‡ Ye therfore heare them not, because ye are not of God. Then answered the Iewes and sayde vnto him: Saye we not well, that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuyll? Iesus answered: I haue no deuyll / but I honour my father, and ye haue dishonoured me. I seke not myne owne glory / but there is one that seketh and iudgeth.

Verily verily I say vnto you, yf a man kepe my worde, he shall neuer se death. Then sayd the Iewes to hym. Nowe knowe we that thou hast a deuyll. Abraham is dead, and the prophetes: and thou sayest: yf a man kepe my word, he shal neuer taste of death. Arte thou greater then our father Abraham, whiche is dead? and the prophetes are dead: Whome makest thou thy selfe?

Iesus answered: If I glorifye my selfe my glorye is nothynge worthe. It is my father that glorifieth me, which ye saye is your God, and ye haue not knowen him: but I knowe him. And yf I sholde saye I knowe him not, I sholde be a lyer like vnto you. But I know him and kepe his sayinge.

Your father Abraham reioyced to se my day, and he sawe it, and reioyced. Then sayde the Iewes vnto him: thou art not yet fifty yeres olde, and hast thou sene Abraham? Iesus sayde vnto them: Verily verily I saye vnto you: er Abraham was borne, I am. Then toke they vp stones to caste at him. But Iesus hyd him selfe, and went out of the temple. ‡

¶ Christe maketh the man to se, that was borne blynde.

CAPI. IX.

AND as Iesus passed by, he sawe a man blynde from his byrth. And his disciples asked him, sayinge: Master, who hyd synne: this man, or his parentes, that he was borne blynde? Iesus answered: Neyther hath this man synned, nor yet his parentes: but that the workes of God sholde be shewed in him. I must worke the workes of him that sent me, whyle it is daye. * The nyght commeth when no man can worke. As longe as I am in the worlde, I am the light of the worlde.

As sone as he had thus spoken, he spatte on the grounde, and made claye of the spettle, and rubbed the claye on the eyes of the blynde, and sayde vnto hym: Goo walshe the in the pole of Syloe, which by interpretacion signifieth sent. He went his waye and washed, and came againe seynge. The neyghbours and they that had sene him before howe that he was a begger, sayde: Is not this he that sate and begged? Some sayde: this is he. Other sayde: he is lyke hym.

But he him selfe sayd: I am euen he. They sayd therfore vnto him. Howe are thyne eyes opened? He answered and sayd. A man called Iesus, made claye, and anoynted myne eyes, and sayd vnto me. Go to the pole Syloe and washe. And I went and washed, and receyued my syght. They sayd vnto him: where is he? He sayth: I can not tell.

They bynge hym to the Pharisees that a tyme before was blynde (for it was the Sabath daye when Iesus made the claye and opened his eyes.) Then agayne the Pharysees also asked him howe he had receyued his syght. He sayd vnto them: He put claye vpon myne eyes, and I washed, and I se. Then sayde some of the Pharysees: this man is not of God, because he kepeth not the Sabath daye. Other sayde: howe can a man that is a synner, doo suche myracles? and there was stryfe among them. Then spake they vnto the blynde agayne: What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thyne eyes? And he sayd: He is a Prophete.

The Iewes therfore byd not beleue of the felowe, that he was blynde, and receyued his syght, tyll they had called the parentes of him that had receyued syght. And they asked them, saying: Is this your sonne, whom ye saye was borne blynde? Howe dothe he nowe se then? His parentes answered them and sayde: We wote well that this is oure sonne, and that he was borne blynde: but how he now seeth we know not, or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell. He is of age aske him / let him answere for him self. Suche wordes spake his parentes, because they feared the Iewes. For the Iewes had nowe conspyred, that yf any man dyd confesse that he was Christe, he sholde be excommunicate. Therfore sayd his parentes: he is of age, aske him.

Then agayne called they the man that was blynde, and sayde vnto him: Gyue God the prayse: we knowe that this man is a synner. He answered and sayd: Whether he be a synner or no, I can not tell: One thynge I am sure of, that I was blynde, and nowe I se. Then sayd they to him agayne. What dyd he to the? Howe opened he thyne eyes? He answered them: I tolde you euen nowe, and ye dyd not heare. Wherfore wolde ye heare it agayne? Will ye also be his disciples? Then rated they him, and sayde: Be thou his disciple, we be Moses disciples. We are sure that God spake to Moses. This fellow we knowe not from whence he is.

The man answered and sayde vnto them: this is a meruaylous thyng, that ye wote not whence he is / and yet he hathe opened myne eyes. For we be sure that God heareth not synners. But yf any man be a worshipper of God and do his will, him heareth he. Sithes the worlde began, was it not herde that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blynde. If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothynge. They answered and sayd vnto him: thou art all togyther borne in

* God heareth no synners, that is, he heareth none that repent not neyther is not inclined to heare them wyllsynne, and doest thou teache vs? And they cast him oute.

O synne,

Jesus herde that they had cast him out: and
as sone as he had founde him, he sayde vnto
him: doest thou beleue on the sonne of God?
He answered and sayde: Who is it Lorde, that I myght beleue on him? And Jesus sayd vnto him: Thou hast him, and he it is that talketh with the. And he sayde: Lorde, I beleue, and worshypped him. ✠ Jesus sayde: I am come into iudgement into this worlde:
that they whiche it not, myght se, and they whiche se, myght be made blynde. And some of the Pharises which were with him, herde these wordes and sayde vnto him: are we the blynde? Jesus sayde vnto them: If ye were blynde, ye shoulde haue no synne. But nowe ye say, we se, therfore your synne remayneth.

¶ Christe is the true shepherde, and the dore of the shepe. Because he teacheth the truth, the Jewes take vp stones, to cast at him, calling him preachyng blasphemy, and go about to take him.

CAPI. X.

VERely, verely I saye vnto you: He that entreth not in by the dore into the shepe
folde, but clymeth vp some other waye he is a theefe, and a robber. He that goeth in by the dore, is the shepeherde of the shepe: to him the porter openeth, and the shepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne shepe, by name, and leadeth them oute. And when he hath sent forthe his owne shepe, he goeth before them, and the shepe folowe him: for they know his voyce. A straunger they will not fo-lowe, but will flee from him: because they knowe not the voyce of straungers. This pro-uerbe spake Jesus vnto them. But they vn-derstode not what thinges they were, whiche
he spake vnto them. Then sayde Jesus vnto them agayne. Verely verely I saye vnto you:
I am the dore of the shepe. All that euer came before me, are theues and robbers: but the shepe dyd not heare them. I am the dore: by me if any man entereth, he shalbe saued, & shall go in and oute, and fynde pasture. The theefe commeth not, but to steale, kyll and destroye.
I am come that they myght haue lyfe, & haue
it most abundantly. ✠

✠ I am the good shepeherde. The good shepeherde giueth his lyfe for the shepe. An hyred seruaunt, which is not the shepeherde, neyther the shepe are his own, seyth the wolf
commynge, and leaueth the shepe, and fleeth,
and the wolfe catcheth them, and scatereth
the shepe. The hyred seruaunt fleeth, because he is an hyred seruaunt, and careth not for the shepe. I am the good shepeherde, and knowe myne, and am knowen of myne. ✠ As my father knoweth me: euen so knowe I my father
And I giue my lyfe, for the shepe: and other shepe I haue, whiche are not of this folde.
Them also must I bryng, that they maye heare my voyce, and that there maye be one flocke and one shepeherde. ✠ Therfore doeth
my father loue me, because I put my lyfe fro me, that I myght take it agayne. No man taketh it from me: but I put it away of my self.
I haue power to put it from me, and haue power to take it agayne: This commaundement haue I receyued of my father. Dissencion therefore was agayne amonge the Jewes for these sayinges, and many of them sayde: He hathe
a deuyll, and is madde: why heare ye him?
Other sayde, these are not the wordes of him that hath a deuyll. Can a deuyll open the eyes of the blynde?

✠ It was at Jerusalem, the feest of the dedication of the temple, and it was winter, and Jesus walked in Salomons porche. Then came the Jewes roude aboute him, and sayde vnto him: How longe dost thou suspende our myndes? If thou be Christe, tell vs playnly.
Jesus answered them: I tolde you, and ye beleue not. The workes that I do in my fathers name, they beare witnes of me. But ye beleue not, because ye are not of my shepe. As I sayd vnto you: My shepe heare my voyce, and I knowe them, and they folowe me, and I gyue vnto them eternall lyfe, and they shall neuer perysshe, neither shall any man pluche them out of my hande. My father which gaue them me, is greater then all, and no man is able to take them out of my fathers hand. And I and my father are one.

Then the Jewes agayne toke vp stones to stone him. Jesus answered them: many good workes haue I shewed you frome my father, for which of them do ye stone me? The Je-wes answered him, sayinge. For good workes we stone the not, but for blasphemye, and because that thou beinge a man, makest thy self God. Jesus answered them. Is it not wryten in your lawe. ✠ I haue sayde, ye are Goddes?
If he called them Goddes vnto whome the worde of God was spoken (and the scripture can not be broken) saye ye then to him, whom the father hathe sanctified, and sente in to the worlde, thou blasphemest, because I sayde I am the sonne of God? If I do not the workes of my father, beleue me not. But yf I do, then thoughe ye beleue not me, yet beleue the wor-kes, that ye maye knowe and beleue that the father is in me, and I in him. ✠

Agayne they went about to take him, but he escaped oute of their handes, and went awaye agayne beyonde Jor dan, into the place where Johñ before had baptised, and there abode. And many resorted vnto him, and sayd.
Johñ dyd no myracle: but all thinges that Johñ spake of this man, are true. And many beleued on him there.

¶ Christ raiseth Lazarus frome death. The hyghe priestes and pharyses gather a councell agaynst him,
he getteth him out of the waye.

CAPI. XI.

A ✠Certayne man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania the towne of Mary and her sister Martha. It was that Marye whiche annoynted Jesus with oyn-mente, and wyped his feete with her heere, whose brother Lazarus was sycke, and his sisters sent vnto him, sayinge. Lorde beholde, he whom

whō thou louest, is sicke. When Jesus herde that, he sayd: This infirmite is not vnto deth but for the glorye of God, that the sonne of God, myght be glorified by it. Jesus loued Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus. Then after he had herde that he was sycke, he abode two dayes styll in the same place.

After that, sayde he to his disciples: let vs go into Jewry agayne. His disciples sayd vnto him: Master, the Jewes lately sought to stone the, and wilt thou go thyther agayne? Jesus answered, are there not twelue houres in the daye? yf a man walke in the daye, he stombleth not, because he seyth the lyghte of this worlde. But yf a mā walke in the night he stombleth, because there is no lyght in him. This sayde he, and after that, he sayde vnto them: our frende Lazarus sleepeth, but I goo to awake him. Then sayde his disciples: Lorde yf he slepe, he shall be well ynoughe. But Jesus spake of his death: whereas they thought that he had spoken of the slepynge of slepe. Then sayd Jesus vnto theym playnly, Lazarus is dead, and I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, because ye maye beleue. But go we vnto him. Then sayde Thomas called Didimus, vnto the disciples: Let vs also go, that we maye dye with him. So wēt Jesus, & founde that he had lyen in his graue foure dayes alredy. Bethany was nyghe vnto Jerusalem, aboute. xv. furlonges of, & many of the Jewes were come to Martha and Mary to comforte them ouer their brother. Martha as sone as she herde that Jesus was commynge, wente and met him: but Mary sate styll in the house.

+ Then sayde Martha vnto Jesus: Lord yf thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene ded: but also now I knowe that what so euer thou askest of God, God wyll geue it the. Jesus sayde vnto her: Thy brother shall ryse agayne. Martha sayde vnto him: I know that he shal ryse agayne in the resurrection at the last daye. Jesus sayde vnto her: I am the resurrection and the lyfe: He that beleueth in me, thoughe he were dead, yet shall he lyue. And who so euer lyueth, and beleueth in me, shall neuer dye: Beleuest thou this? She sayd vnto him: yf Lorde, I beleue that thou arte Christ the sonne of God whiche shoulde come into the worlde. ‡

And as sone as she had so sayde, she went & called Mary her sister secretly, sayenge: The master is come and calleth for the. And assone as she herde that, she arose quickly, and came vnto hym. Jesus was not yet come into the towne: but was in the place where Martha met hym. The Jewes then which were with her in the house, & comforted her, when they sawe Mary, that she rose vp hastely, and went out, folowed her, sayenge: She goeth vnto the graue, to wepe there.

Then when Mary was come where Jesus was and sawe hym, she fell downe at his fete, sayenge vnto him: Lorde yf thou haddest ben here, my brother hadde not bene ded. When Jesus sawe her wepe, & the Jewes also wepe, which came with her, he groned in the spirite, and was troubled in him self, & sayde: Where haue ye layd hym? They sayd vnto him: Lord come and se. And Jesus wept. Then sayd the Jewes: Beholde, howe he loued him. And some of theym sayde: Coulde not this man whiche opened the eyes of the blynde, haue made also, that this man shuld not haue dyed? Jesus agayne groned in hym self, & came to the graue. It was a caue and a stone was layde on it.

And Jesus sayde: Take awaye the stone. Martha the sister of him that was ded, sayd vnto him: Lorde by this tyme he stynketh. For he hath ben ded foure dayes. Jesus sayd vnto her: Sayd I not vnto the, that yf thou dydest beleue, thou shouldest se the glory of God. Then they toke awaye the stone frome the place where the ded was layde. And Jesus lyfte vp his eyes, and sayde: Father I thanke the, because thou haste herde me. I wote that thou hearest me allwayes: but because of the people that stande by, I sayde it that they maye beleue that thou hast sent me.

And when he thus hadde spoken, he cryed with a loude voyce. Lazarus come forth. And he that was ded, came forth, bounde hande and fote, with graue bōdes, and his face was bounde with a napkin. Jesus sayde vnto them: lowse hym, and let him go. Then many of the Jewes which came to Mary, and hadde sene the thynges whiche Jesus dyd, beleued on hym. ‡ But some of them went their wayes to the Pharises, and tolde them what Jesus had done.

+ Then gathered the hyghe Priestes, and Pharises a counsile, and sayde: What wo we? This man doeth many myracles. yf we let hym escape thus, all men will beleue on hym and the Romayns shall come and take awaye our countrey and the people. But one of them named Caiphas beynge the hyghe preaste of that yere, sayde vnto them: Ye perceyue nothinge, nor yet consyder that it is expedient for vs, that one man dye for the people, and not all the people perysshe. This spake he not of hym self, but beynge hyghe Preste that same yere, prophesyed that Jesus shulde dye for the people, and not for the people onely, but that he shulde gather togyther in one the children of God whiche were scattered abroade. + Frome that daye forthe, they decysed to put hym to deathe.

Jesus therfore walked no more openly amonge the Jewes: but wente thence vnto a countrey nyghe to the wyldernesse, into a cyte called Ephraim, and there taryed with his disciples. + Nowe, the Jewes Easter was nyghe, and many went oute of the countreye vp to Jerusalem before the Easter, to purifye them selues. Then sought they for Jesus, and spake betwene theym selues, as they stode in the temple: What thynke ye, that he commeth not to the feast. The hyghe Prestes and Pharises hadde geuen a commaundement, that yf any man knewe where he were, he shulde shewe it, that they myght take him. ‡

Then Jesus, sixe dayes before Easter, came to Bethany, where Lazarus was which had bene dead, whom Jesus had raysed from death. There they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with hym. Then toke mary a pounde of oyntment called Nardus, pure and precious, and annoynted Jesus fete, and wypt his fete with her heer, the house was filled with the sauer of ỹ oyntment. * Then sayde one of his disciples, named Judas Iscariot, Simons sonne, whiche afterwarde betrayed hym: why was not this oyntment solde for thre hundred pence, & geuen to the poore? This sayde he, not that he cared for the poore: but because he was a theefe, and kept the bagge, & bare that whiche was geuen. Then sayde Jesus: Let her alone, against the daye of my buryenge she hath kept this. The poore alwayes ye haue with you, but me ye haue not alwayes.

¶ Christ

¶ Christ washeth the disciples fete, telleth them of Iudas the traytour, and commaundeth the earnestly to loue one a nother.

CAPI. XIII.

A Before the feast of Easter, when Iesus knewe his houre was come, that he shuld departe out of this worlde, vnto the father, where as he loued his, whiche were in the worlde, vnto the ende he loued them. And when supper was ended, after that the deuyll had put in the hert of Iudas Iscariot Simõs sonne, to betraye hym: Iesus knowyng, that the father had geuen all thinges into his handes, and that he was come frome God, and went to God, ariseth frome supper, and layd a syde his vpper garmentes, and toke a towel, and gyrde hym selfe. After that, he powred watter into a basyn, and began to washe his disciples fete, & to wype them with the towel wherwith he was gyrde.

Then came he to Simon Peter. And Peter sayde to hym: Lorde washest thou my fete? Iesus answered and sayde vnto him: What I do, thou wotest not nowe, but thou shalte knowe hereafter. Peter sayde vnto hym: thou shalt not washe my fete whyle the worlde stãdeth. Iesus answered hym: yf I washe the not, thou hast no part with me. Simon Peter sayde vnto him: Lorde, not my fete onely: but also my handes and my heed. Iesus sayde to him: he that is washed, needeth not saue to washe his fete, and is clene euery whit. And ye are cleane: but not all. For he knewe his betrayer. Therfore sayde he: Ye are not all cleane.

After he had washed their fete, and receyued his clothes, and was set downe agayne, he sayde vnto them: Wote ye what I haue done to you? Ye call me master and Lorde, and ye say well, for so am I. If I then, your Lorde & master haue washed your fete, ye also ought to washe one an others fete. For I haue geuen you an ensample, that ye shoulde do, as I haue done to you. ✠ Verely verely I saye vnto you, the seruaunt is not greatter then his master, neyther the ✠ Apostle greatter then he that sent him.

If ye vnderstande these thinges, happy are ye, yf ye do them. I speake not of you all, I knowe whome I haue chosen. But that the scripture be fulfilled: He that eateth bread with me, hath lyft vp his hele against me. Nowe tell I you, before it come: that whe it is come to passe, ye might beleue, that I am he. Verely verely I saye vnto you. He that receyueth whom so euer I sende, receyueth me. And he that receyueth me, receyueth him that sent me.

When Iesus had thus sayde, he was troubled in the spirite, and testified sayenge: verely verely I say vnto you, that one of you shal betraye me. And then the disciples loked one on an other doubtynge of whome he spake.

There was one of his disciples, which leaned on Iesus bosome, whõ Iesus loued. To him beckened Simon Peter, that he shoulde aske who it was of whome he spake. He then as he leaned on Iesus brest, sayd vnto him: Lord who is it? Iesus answered, he it is to whom I geue a soppe, when I haue dypte it. And he wet a soppe, and gaue it to Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne. And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then sayde Iesus vnto him That thou doest, do quyckely. That wist no man at the table, for what intent he spake vn to hym. Some of them thought, because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had sayde vnto him, bye those thinges that we haue nede of, against the feaste: or that he shoulde geue some thinge to the poore. As sone then as he had receyued the soppe, he went out. And it was nyght, when he was gone oute. Iesus sayde: now is the sonne of man glorified. And God is glorified by him. If God be glorified by him, God shal also glorify him in hym self: and shall forthwith glorifye him.

✠ Deare children, yet a lytell whyle, am I with you. Ye shall seke me, and as I sayd vn to the Iewes, whyther I goo, thyther can ye not come. And to you saye I now. A new cõmaundement geue I vnto you, that ye loue togyther, as I haue loued you, that euen so ye loue one an other. By this, shall all men know that ye are my disciples, yf ye shal haue loue one to an other. Simon Peter sayd vnto him: Lorde whyther goest thou? Iesus answered hym: Whyther I go, thou canst not folow me now, but thou shalt folowe me afterwardes. ✠ Peter sayde vnto him: Lorde, why can not I folowe the now? I will geue my lyfe for thy sake? Iesus answered him: wilt thou geue thy lyfe for my sake? Verely, verely I saye vnto the, the cocke shall not crowe, tyll thou haue denyed me thryse.

¶ He armeth his disciples with consolation against trouble, and promyseth them the holy ghost, the spirite of comforte.

CAPI. XIIII.

A ✠ And he sayde vnto his disciples: Let not your hertes be troubled. Beleue in God, and beleue in me. In my fathers house are many dwellynges. If it were not so, I wolde haue tolde you. I go to prepare a place for you. And yf I go to prepare a place for you, I will come agayne, and receyue you euen vnto my selfe, that where I am, there maye ye be also. And whyther I go ye know, and the waye ye knowe.

Thomas sayd vnto him: Lorde, we know not whyther thou goest, and how is it possible for vs to knowe the waye? Iesus sayd vn to hym: I am the waye, and the trouth and the lyfe. And no man commeth vnto the father, but by me. yf ye had knowen me, ye had knowen my father also. And nowe ye knowe him, and haue sene him.

Philip sayeth vnto hym: Lorde, shewe vs the father, and it sufficeth vs. Iesus sayd vnto him, haue I bene so longe tyme with you: & yet hast thou not knowen me? Philip, he ✠ hath sene me, hath sene the father. And howe sayest thou then: shewe vs the father? Beleuest thou not that I am in the father, & the father in me? The wordes ✠ I speake vnto you

I speake not of my selfe: but the father that dwelleth in me, he doth the workes. Beleue me that I am in the father, and the father in me. At the least, beleue me for the very workes sake.

Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that beleueth on me, the workes that I do, he shall also do, and greater workes then these, shall he do, because I go vnto my father. And what soeuer ye aske in my name, that will I doo, that the father, myght be glorified, by the sonne. If ye shall aske any thing in my name, I will do it. ✠

✠ If ye loue me, kepe my commaundmentes, and I will praye the father, and he shall giue you an other comforter, that he maye abyde with you euer: whiche is ✠ the spirite of trouthe, whome the worlde can not receyue, because the worlde seeth hym not, neither knoweth hym. But ye knowe hym. For he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leaue you fatherles: but will come to you.

✠ The holy ghost.

Yet a litell whyle, and the worlde seeth me no more: but ye shall se me. For I liue, and ye shall liue. That daye shall ye knowe that I am in my father, and you in me, and I in you.

L Who that hath my commaundmentes, & kepeth them, the same is he that loueth me. And who loueth me, shall be loued of my father: and I will loue hym, and open my selfe to hym. Iudas sayth vnto hym (not Iudas Iscariot) Lorde, what is the cause that thou wilt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the worlde? Iesus answered and sayde vnto hym: If a man loue me, he will kepe my worde, and my father also will loue hym, & we will come vnto hym, and dwell with hym. He that loueth me not, keepeth not my sayenges. And the wordes whiche ye heare, are not myne, but the fathers whiche sent me.

D These haue I spoken vnto you, beynge yet present with you. But that comforter the holy ghoste (whome my father will sende in my name) he shall teache you all, and bringe all to your remembraunce, what so euer I haue tolde you.

Peace I leaue with you, my peace I giue vnto you. Not as the worlde giueth, giue I vnto you. Let not youre hertes be greued, neyther feare ye. Ye haue herde, how I sayde vnto you: I go, and come agayne vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verely reioyce, because I sayde, I go vnto the father. For the father is greater then I. And nowe haue I shewed you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye myght beleue. Here after will I not speake many wordes vnto you. For the rular of this worlde commeth, and hath nought in me. But that the worlde maye knowe that I loue the father: Therfore as the father gaue me commaundement, euen so do I. ✠ Aryse, go we hence.

¶ The true vyne, the husbandman, and the braunches. A doctrine of loue, and a sweete exhorte against persecution.

CAP. I. XV.

I ✠ Am the true vyne, and my father is the husbandman. Euery braunche that beareth not frute in me, he will take awaye. And euery braunche, that beareth frute, will he pourge, that it maye bringe more frute. Now are ye cleane, thorowe the wordes, whiche I haue spoken vnto you. Abyde in me, and let me abyde in you. As the braūche cannot beare frute of it selfe, except it abyde in the vyne: no more can ye, onles ye abyde in me. I am the vyne, and ye are the braunches. Who abydeth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth moche frute. For without me, can ye do nothinge. If a man abyde not in me, he is cast forth as a braunche, and is withered: & men gather it, and cast it into the fyre, and it burneth. ✠ If ye abyde in me, and my wordes also abyde in you: what so euer ye will, ye shall aske, and it shalbe done to you. ✠ Herein is my father glorified, that ye beare moche frute, and be made my disciples.

A Mat. xxi. Luke xx. Marc. xii.

B Mat. vii. & Iohn xv.

As the father hath loued me, so haue I loued you. ✠ Continue in my loue. If ye shall kepe my commaundementes, ye shall abyde in my loue, euen as I haue kept my fathers commaundementes, and abyde in his loue. These haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioye myght remayne in you, and your ioye myght be full.

✠ Chaū. loue.

✠ This is my commaundement: That ye loue together, as I haue loued you. A greater loue then this, hath no man, that a man bestowe his life for his frendes. Ye are my frendes, if ye do what so euer I commaunde you. Henceforth I call you not seruauntes: for the seruaunt knoweth not what his lorde doeth. But you haue I called frendes: for all that I haue herde of my father, I haue opened to you.

L

Ye haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeyned you, that ye go and bring forth frute, and that your frute remayne, that what so euer ye shall aske of the father, in my name, he shulde giue it you. ✠

✠ This commaunde I you, That ye loue together. If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that he hated me, before he hated you. If ye were of the worlde, the worlde wold loue his owne. Howbe it because ye are not of the world, but I haue chosen you out of the world therfore hateth you the world. Remember the sayenge that I sayde vnto you: The seruaūt is not greater then the Lord. ✠ If they haue persecuted me, so will they persecute you. If they haue kept my sayenges, so will they kepe youres.

Mat. x. Luke vi. Marc. xiii.

But all these thinges will they do vnto you for my names sake, because they haue not knowen hym that sent me. If I hadde not come, and spoken vnto them, they shulde not haue had synne: but nowe haue they nothinge, to cloke their synne with all. He that hateth me hateth my father. If I had not done workes amonge them, whiche none other man dyd, they had not had synne. But now haue they seene, and yet haue hated bothe me and my father: euen that the sayenge myght be fulfilled that

And suche thynges wyll they do vnto you, bicause they haue not knowen the father, neyther yet me. But these thynges haue I tolde you, ℔ when that houre is come, ye myght remembre them that I tolde you so. ✠ These thynges sayd I not vnto you at the begynnynge, bycause I was present with you.

✠ But now I go awaye to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me: whither goest thou? But bicause I haue sayd suche thynges vnto you, your hertes are full of sorowe. But I tell you the trouthe, it is expedient for you that I go awaye. For yf I go not awaye, the comforter wyll not come vnto you. But yf I departe, I wyl sende hym vnto you. I haue yet many thynges to saye vnto you: but ye can not beare them awaye nowe. Howbeit when he is come (I meane the spirete of trouthe) he wyll leade you in to all trouthe. He shall not speake of hym selfe/ but what so euer he shall heare, that shall he speake/ and he wyll shewe you thynges to come. He shall glorifye me/ for he shall receyue of myne, and shall shewe vnto you. All thynges that the father hathe, are myne. Therfore sayde I vnto you, that he shall take of myne and shewe vnto you. ✠

✠ A whyle ℣ ye se me not, agayne a whyle and ye shall se me/ for I go to the father. Then sayd some of his disciples within them selues: What is this that he sayth vnto vs/ a whyle and ye se me not, and agayne a whyle and ye shall se me, and that I go to the father. They sayde therfore: what is this that he sayth, a whyle? we can not tell what he sayth. Iesus perceyued that they wolde aske him, and sayd vnto them: This is it that ye enquyre of amonges your selues, that I sayde: a whyle and ye se me not, and agayne a whyle and ye shall se me. Verely verely I saye vnto you: ye shal wepe and lament, and the worlde shal reioyse: ye shall sorowe, but your sorow shall be turned to ioye.

A woman when she trauayleth, hathe sorowe, bicause her houre is come: but as soone as she is deliuered of the chylde, she remembreth no more the anguysshe, for ioye that a man is borne in to the worlde. And ye nowe are in sorowe, but I wyll se you agayne, and your hertes shall reioyce, and your ioye shall no man take frome you. ✠ And in that dayes shall ye aske me no question. ✠ Verily verily I saye vnto you, what so euer ye shal aske the father in my name, he wyll gyue it vnto you. Hytherto haue ye asked nothyng in my name. ✠ Aske and ye shall receyue it: that your ioye may be full.

Matth. vii.b Luke. xi.b Iacobi.i.a

These thynges haue I spoken vnto you in prouerbes. The tyme shall come when I shall no more speke to you in prouerbes/ but I shall shewe you playnly of my father. At that dayes shall ye aske in my name. And I saye not vnto you that I wyll speke vnto my father for you. For the father hym self loueth you, bicause ye haue loued me, and haue byleued that I came frome God. I went out frome the father, and came in to the worlde/ and I leue the worlde agayne, and go to the father.

His disciples sayd vnto him: lo, nowe speakest thou playnly, and thou vsest no prouerbe. Nowe knowe we that thou vnderstandest all thynges, and nedest not that any man shulde aske the any question. Therfore byleue we that thou camest frome God. ✠ Iesus answered them: Now ye ℣ byleue. ✠ Beholde the houre draweth nye, and is alredy come, that ye shall be scattered euery man his wayes, ℣ shall leue me alone. ¶ The moste harty and louynge prayer of Christe vnto his father, for all suche as receyue the truth.

CAPI. XVII.

THese wordes spake Iesus and lyft vp his eyes to heuen, and sayd: father, the houre is come: glorifye thy sonne, that thy sonne maye glorifye the: as thou hast gyuen him power ouer all fleshe, that he shulde gyue euerlastyng lyfe to as many as thou hast gyuen him. This is lyfe euerlastyng, that they might knowe the, thonly true God, ℣ whome thou hast sent Iesus Christ.

I haue glorifyed the on the erthe. I haue fynished the worke whiche thou gauest me to do. And nowe glorifye me thou father at thyne owne selfe, with the glory whiche I had with the, er the worlde was. I haue declared thy name vnto the men whiche thou gauest me of the worlde. Thyne they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kepte thy sayenges. Nowe they knowe that all what so euer thou haste gyuen me, are of the. For I haue gyuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receyued them, and knowe surely that I came frome the/ and do byleue that thou dydest sende me.

✠ I praye for them. I praye not for the worlde, but but for them whiche thou hast gruen me, for they are thyne. And all myne are thyne, and thyne are myne and I am glorifyed in them. And nowe am I no more in the worlde, but they are in the worlde, and come to the. ✠ Holy father kepe in thyne owne name them whiche thou hast gruen me, that they may be one as we are. While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name. Those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, saue that lost chylde, that the scripture myght be fulfylled.

L Now come I to the, & these wordes speake I in the worlde, that they might haue my ioye full in them. I haue gruen them thy wordes, and the worlde hath hated them, because they are not of the worlde, lyke as I am not of the worlde. I desyre not that thou shouldest take them out of the worlde, but that thou kepe them from euyll. They are not of the worlde, like as I am not of the worlde. Sanctifie them with thy trouthe. Thy sayinge is trouthe. As thou diddest send me in to the worlde, so haue I sent them in to the worlde, & for their sakes sanctifye I my selfe, that they also might be sanctifyed thorowe the trouthe.

I praye not for them alone but for them also whiche shall byleue on me thorowe their preachynge, that they all maye be one, as thou father art in me, and I in the that they maye be also one in vs, that the worlde may byleue that thou hast sente me. And that glorye that thou gauest me, I haue gruen them that they maye be one, as we are one. I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfecte in one and that the worlde may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loued them, as thou hast loued me.

D Father, I wyll that they whiche thou hast gruen me, be with me where I am that they maye se my glorye whiche thou hast gruen me. For thou louedest me before the makynge of the worlde. ✠ O ryghteous father, the worlde hathe not knowen the, but I haue knowen the, and these haue knowen that thou hast sente me. And I haue declared vnto them thy name, and wyll declare it that the loue wherwith thou hast loued me, be in them, and I in them. ✠

Mark 14.b Luke 22.b

¶ Christe is betrayed. The wordes of his mouth smyte the offycers to the grounde. Peter smyteth of Malchus eare. Jesus is brought before Anna Cayphas, and Pilate.

CAPI. XVIII.

A Mark 14.b Mat. 26.b Luke 22.b

When Jesus had spoken these wordes he went forth with his disciples ouer the broke Cedron, where was a garden in to whiche he entered with his disciples. Now Judas whiche betrayed him, knewe the place, for Jesus oft tymes resorted thyther with his disciples. Judas then after he had receyued a bande of men, and ministers of the hygh preestes & Pharisees, came thyther with lanternes and fyrebrandes, and weapens. Then Jesus knowing al thinges that shoulde come on him, went forth and said vnto them: whom seke ye? They answered him: Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus said vnto them: I am he. Judas also whiche betrayed him, stode with them. But as sone as he had sayde vnto them, I am he, they wente bakwardes and fell to the grounde. And he asked them agayne: whom seke ye? They sayd: Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus answered: I said vnto you, I am he, yf ye seke me, let these go their way. That the saying myght be fulfylled whyche he spake: of them whiche thou gauest me, haue I not lost one.

B Mat. 26.b Mark 14.b Luke 22.b

Simon Peter had a swerde, and drue it, and smote the hyghe preestes seruaunt, and cut of his ryghte eare. The seruaunts name was Malchus. Then sayd Jesus vnto Peter: put vp thy swerde in to the sheathe: shall I not drynke of the cup which my father hath gruen me? Then the company and the captayne, and ministers of the Jewes take Jesus and bounde him, and ledde him awaye to Anna fyrste, for he was fatherelawe vnto Cayphas, whiche was the hye preest that same yere. Cayphas was he that gaue counsell to the Jewes, that it was expedient that one man shulde dye for the people.

C Mat. 26.b Mark 14.b Luke 22.b

✠ And Simon Peter folowed Jesus & another disciple, that disciple was knowen of the hye preest, & wet in with Jesus in to the palace of the high preest. But Peter stode at the dore without. Then wente out that other disciple whiche was knowen vnto the hye preest, and spake to the damsell that kepte the dore, and brought in Peter. Then said the damsell that kept the wyc vnto Peter: Art not thou one of this mans disciples? He said: I am not. The seruauntes and the ministers stode there, and had made a fyre of coles, for it was colde, and they warmed them selues. Peter also stode amonge them, and warmed him selfe.

Mat. 26.b Luke 22.b

D ✠ The hygh preest asked Jesus of his disciples & of his doctryne. Jesus answered him: I spake openly in the worlde. I euer taughte in the Synagoge, and in the temple whyther all the Jewes resorted, and in secrete haue I sayde nothynge: Why askest thou me? Aske them which herd me, what I said vnto them. Beholde, these can tell what I sayd. When he had thus spoken, one of the ministers whiche stode by smote Jesus on the face, sayinge: answerest thou the hygh preest so? Jesus answered him. Yf I haue cuyll spoken, beare wytnes of the cuyl: yf I haue wel spoken, why smytest thou me? And Annas sente him bounde vnto Cayphas the hygh preest.

Mat. 26.b Mark 14.b Luke 22.b

E Mat. 26.b Mark 14.b Luke 22.b

Symon Peter stode and warmed hym selfe. And they sayde vnto him: Art not thou also one of his disciples? He denyed it, and sayde: I am not. One of the seruauntes of the hyghe preestes (his cosyn whose eare Peter smote of) sayde vnto hym: Dyd not I se the in the garden with him? Peter denyed agayne, and anone the cocke crewe. ✠ Then ledde they Jesus from Cayphas in to the hall of iudgemēt. It was in the morning, and they them selues went not in to the iudgement hall lest they shulde be defyled, but that they might eate the paske. Pylate then wente out vnto them and sayde: What accusation bringe ye against

agaynst this man? They answered and sayde vnto him. If he were not an euil wer, we wold not haue deliuered him vnto the. Then sayde Pilate vnto them: take ye him and iudge him after your lawe. Then the Iewes sayde vnto him. It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to dethe. That the wordes of Iesus myght be fulfylled, whiche he spake signifyenge what dethe he sholde dye.

Then Pilate entred in to the iudgemente hall agayne, and called Iesus, and sayde vnto him: Arte thou the kynge of the Iewes? Iesus answered: sayest thou that of thy selfe, or dyd other tell it the of me? Pilate answered: Am I a Iewe? Thyne owne nacion and the prestes haue deliuered the vnto me. What hast thou done? Iesus answered: My kyngdome is not of this worlde. If my kyngdome were of this worlde, then wolde my ministers surely fyght, that I sholde not be deliuered to the Iewes, but now is my kyngdom not from hence. Pilate sayd vnto him: Art thou a kynge then? Iesus answered, thou sayst that I am a kynge. For this cause was I borne, and for this cause came I in to the worlde, that I sholde beare wytnesse vnto the trouthe. And all that are of the trouthe heare my voyce. Pilate sayd vnto him: what thing is trouthe? And when he had sayd that, he went out agayn vnto the Iewes, and sayde vnto them: I fynde in him no cause at al. Ye haue a custome that I sholde deliuer you one lose at Ester. Wyll ye that I lose vnto you the kynge of the Iewes? Then cryed they all agayne, sayinge: Not him, but Barrabas, that Barrabas was a robber.

¶ Christe is crucified, he commendeth his mother vnto Iohn, sheadeth his bloude, and is buryed.

CAPI. XIX.

Then Pylate toke Iesus and scourged him. * And the souldyours wounde a crowne of thornes, & put it on his heed. And they dyd on him a purple garmente, and sayd, hayle kynge of the Iewes: & they smote him on the face. Pilate went forth agayn and sayd vnto them: Beholde I bynge him forth to you, that ye maye knowe that I fynde no faute in him. Then came Iesus forthe, wearynge a crowne of thorne, and a robe of purple. And Pilate sayd vnto them: beholde the man. * When the hye prestes and ministers sawe him, they cryed, sayinge: Crucifye him, crucifye him. Pylate sayd vnto them. Take ye him and crucifye him, for I fynde no cause in him. The Iewes answered him. We haue a lawe, and by our lawe he ought to dye: because he made him selfe the sonne of God. When Pilate herde this sayinge, he was the more afrayde, and went agayn in to the iudgement hall, and sayd vnto Iesus: Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answere. Then sayde Pilate vnto him. Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifye the, and haue power to lose the? Iesus answered. Thou couldest haue no power at all agaynst me, onlesse it were gyuen the from above. Therfore he that deliuered me vnto the, is more in fynne. * And from thence forthe sought Pilate meanes to lose yrm. But the Iewes cryed, sayinge, If thou let him go, thou arte not Cesars frend. For who so euer maketh him selfe a kynge, is agaynst Cesar.

When Pilate herde this saying, he brought Iesus forth, and sate downe to gyue sentence, in a place called the pauement, but in the Hebrue tonge, Gabbatha. It was the Sabboth euen, whiche falleth in the Ester feest, and about the syxte houre. And he sayde vnto the Iewes: beholde your kynge. They cryed, awaye with him, awaye with him, crucify him. Pilate sayde vnto them, shall I crucifye your kynge? The hye prestes answered: we haue no kyng but Cesar: * Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified.

And they toke Iesus, and ledde him awaye. And he bare his crosse, and wente forthe in to a place, called the place of dede mens sculles, which is named in Hebrue, Golgotha. Where they crucified him, and two other with hym, on eyther syde one, and Iesus in the myddes. And Pilate wrote this tytle, and put it on the crosse. The wrytyng was: Iesus of Nazareth kynge of the Iewes. This title red many of the Iewes. For the place where Iesus was crucifyed, was nye to the city. And it was written, in Hebrue, Greke, and Latyn. Then sayd the high prestes of the Iewes to Pilate, wryte not kyng of the Iewes, but that he sayd I am kynge of the Iewes. Pylate answered: what I haue wrytten, that haue I wrytten.

Then the souldyours when they had crucifyed Iesus, toke his garmentes and made foure partes, to euery souldyour a parte, and also his coote. The coote was without seme, wrought vpon thorowe out. And they sayd one to an other. Let vs not deuyde it, but cast lottes who shall haue it. That the scripture myght be fulfylled whiche sayth. * They parted my raymente amonge them, and on my coote dyd caste lottes. And the souldyours dyd these thynges in deede.

Then stode by the crosse of Iesus his mother, and his mothers systers, Mary the wyfe of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene. When Iesus sawe his mother, and the disciple standynge whom he loued, he sayd to his mother: woman, beholde thy sonne. Then sayde he to the disciple: beholde thy mother. And frome that houre the disciple toke her for his owne.

After that, when Iesus perceyued that all thynges were perfourmed, that the scripture might be fulfylled, * he sayd: I thurst. There stode a vessell full of vynegre by. * And they tyried a sponge with vynegre, and wounde it about with yssope, and put it to his mouthe. As sone as Iesus had receyued of the vinegre he sayde: It is fynished, and bowed his heed, and gaue vp the ghost. The Iewes then because it was the Sabboth eue, that the bodyes sholde not remayne vpon the crosse on the Sabboth daye (for that Sabboth daye was an hye day) besought Pilate that their legges might be broken, & that they might be taken downe.

Then

Then came the ſouldyours and brake the legges of the tyrſt and of the other whiche was crucifyed with Jeſus. But when they came to Jeſus, and ſawe that he was dede alredye, they brake not his legges: But one of the ſouldyours with a ſpeare thruſt hym in to the ſyde, and forthwith came there out bloode and water.

And he that ſawe it, bare recorde, and his recorde is true. And he knoweth that he ſayth true, that ye myght beleue alſo. Theſe thynges were done that the ſcripture ſholde be fulfylled. * Ye ſhall not breake a bone of hym. And agayne an other ſcripture ſayethe: They ſhall loke on hym whome they pearced. * After that Joſeph of Aramathia (whiche was a diſciple of Jeſus: but ſecretly for feare of the Jewes beſought Pylate that he myght take downe the bodye of Jeſus. And Pylate gaue hym leaue. And there came alſo Nicodemus, whiche at the begynnynge came to Jeſus by nyght, and brought of myrre and aloes myngled togyther aboute an. C. pounde wayght. Then toke they the body of Jeſu, and bounde it in lynnen clothes with the odours, as the maner of the Jewes is to bury. And in the place where Jeſus was crucifyed, was a garden, and in the garden a newe ſepulcre, wherin was neuer man layde. There layd they Jeſus becauſe of the Jewes Sabboth euen, for the ſepulcre was nye at hande. ✠

¶ The reſurrection of Chriſt, whiche appeareth to Mary Magdaleyn, and to all his diſciples, to their great comforte.

CAPI. XX.

✠ The morowe after the Sabboth daye, came Mary Magdaleyn early, when it was yet darke, vnto the ſepulcre, and ſawe the ſtone taken awaye from the graue: Then ſhe ranne, and came to Symon Peter and to thother diſcyple whome Jeſus loued, and ſayd vnto them. They haue taken awaye the Lorde out of the graue, & we can not tell where they haue layde hym. Peter went forth and that other diſcyple, and came to the ſepulcre. They ranne bothe togyther, and that other diſciple dyd out runne Peter, & came fyrſt to the ſepulcre. And he ſtouped downe, & ſawe the lynnen clothes lyinge, yet went he not in. Then came Symon Peter folowynge hym, and went in to the ſepulcre, and ſawe the lynnen clothes lye, and the naphyn that was about his heed not lying with the lynnen cloth but wrapped togyther in a place by it ſelfe. Then went in alſo that other diſcyple whiche came fyrſt to the ſepulcre, and he ſawe and beleued. For as yet they knew not the ſcripture that he ſholde ryſe agayne from dede. ✠ And the diſciples went awaye agayne vnto theyr owne home.

✠ Mary ſtode without at the ſepulcre weepynge. And as ſhe wepte, ſhe bowed her ſelfe in to the ſepulcre, and ſawe two aungelles in whyte ſyttynge, thone at the heed, and the other at the fete, where they had layde the bodye of Jeſus. And they ſayd vnto her: woman, why wepeſt thou? She ſayde vnto them, for they haue taken awaye my Lorde, & I wote not where they haue layd him. When ſhe had thus ſayd, ſhe turned her ſelfe backe, and ſawe Jeſus ſtandynge, and knewe not that it was Jeſus. Jeſus layde vnto her: Woman, why wepeſt thou? Whome ſeheſt thou? She ſuppoſyng he had ben a gardener, ſayd vnto him. Syr, yf thou haue borne him hence, tell me where thou haſt layd him, that I may fet him. Jeſus ſayd vnto her: Mary. She turned her ſelfe, and ſayd vnto hym: Rabboni, whiche is to ſaye, maiſter. Jeſus ſayde vnto her, touche me not, for I am not yet aſcended to my father. But go to my brethren & ſaye vnto them: I aſcend to my father and your father: to my God and your God. Mary Magdaleyn came and tolde the diſciples that ſhe had ſene the Lorde, and that he had ſpoken ſuche thynges vnto her. ✠

✠ The ſame daye at nyght, which was the morowe after the Sabboth, when the doores were ſhut where the diſciples were aſſembled for feare of the Jewes: came Jeſus and ſtode in the myddes, and ſayde to them: peace with you. And when he had ſo ſayd: he ſhewed vnto them his handes and his ſyde. Then were the diſcyples glad, when they ſawe the Lorde. Then ſayde Jeſus to them agayne: peace be with you. As my father ſent me, ſo ſend I you. And when he had ſaid that, he brethed on the, and ſayd vnto them: Receyue the holy ghoſt. Whoſo euers ſynnes ye remyte, they are remytted vnto them. And whoſo euers ſynnes ye retayne, they are retayned. ✠

✠ But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didimus, was not with them when Jeſus came. Thother diſciples layde vnto hym: we haue ſene the Lorde. And he ſayde vnto them: Onleſſe I ſe in his handes the prynte of the nayles, and thruſt my hande in to his ſyde, I wyll not beleue. And after eyght dayes agayn his diſciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Jeſus when the doores were ſhut, and ſtode in the myddes, and ſayd: peace with you.

After that ſayd he to Thomas: bynge thy fynger hyther, and ſe my handes, and bynge thy hande and thruſt in to my ſyde, and be not faythleſſe, but beleuynge. Thomas anſwered and ſayd vnto him: My Lorde, and my God. Jeſus ſayde vnto hym. Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſene me, therfore thou beleueſt: happy are they that haue not ſene, and beleue. ✠

And many other ſygnes dyd Jeſus in the ſyght of his diſcyples, whiche is not wrytten in this boke. Theſe are wrytten that ye myght beleue that Jeſus is Chryſt the ſonne of God, and that in beleuyng, ye myght haue lyfe thorowe his name.

¶ He appeareth to his diſciples agayne by the ſee of Tiberias, and commaundeth Peter earneſtly to fede his ſheepe.

CAPI. XXI.

After

A ✠ Fter that Jesus shewed hym selfe a-gayne, at the see of Tyberias. And on this wyse shewed he hym selfe. There were together Symon Peter, Thomas called Didimus: and Nathanael of Cana a cite of Galile, and the sonnes of Zebedei, & two other of the disciples. Simon Peter sayth vnto them: I go a fyshynge. They sayde vnto him: We also wyll go with the. They wente their waye, and entred in to the shyppe forthwith, and that nyght caught they nothynge.
But when the mornynge was now come, Jesus stode on the shore: neuertheles the disciples knewe not that it was Jesus. Jesus sayde vnto them: Chyldren, haue ye any meate?
They answered hym, no. And he sayde vnto them: cast out the net on the ryght syde of the shyp, and ye shall fynde. They cast out, and a-none they were not able to drawe it vp, for the multitude of fyshes.

Then sayd the disciple whom Jesus loued
vnto Peter: It is the Lorde. When Symon Peter herde it was the Lorde, he gyrde his mantell to him (for he was naked) and sprange
in to the see. The other disciples came by shyp, for they were not farre frome lande, but as it were two hundred cubites, and they drue the nette with fyshes. When they were come to to lande, they saw hote coles and fyshes layde theron, & breed: Jesus sayd vnto them: bring of the fyshe which ye haue nowe caught. Symon Peter stepped forthe and drewe the nette to lande full of greate fyshes, an hundred and liij. And for al there was so many, yet was not the net broken. Jesus sayde vnto them: come and dyne. And none of the disciples durst aske him: what art thou? For they knewe it was the Lorde. Jesus then came and toke breed, and gaue them, and fyshe lykewyse. And this is nowe the thyrde tyme that Jesus appeared to his disciples, after he was risen agayne frome deathe. ✠

When they had dyned: Jesus sayd to Symon Peter: Simon Joanna, louest thou me more then these? He sayde vnto hym: Yea Lorde, thou knowest I loue the. He sayde to him: fede my ✠ lambes. He said to him agayne the seconde tyme: Simon Joanna louest thou me? He sayd to him: Yea Lorde thou knowest
I loue the. He sayd vnto him: fede my shepe.
He sayde vnto him the thyrde tyme: Symon Joanna louest thou me? And Peter sorowed because he said to him the thyrde tyme, louest thou me, and sayd vnto him: Lorde thou kno-west all, thou knowest that I loue the. Jesus sayd to him: fede my shepe.

Verily verily I saye vnto the, when thou wast yonge, thou gyrdest thy selfe, and walkedst whyther thou woldest / but when thou arte olde, thou shalt stretche forth thy handes
and an other shal gyrde the, and lede the whither thou wylt not. That spake he, signifying by what death he sholde glorifye God.

And when he had sayd thus, he sayd to him ✠ folowe me. Peter turned about, and sawe that disciple whome Jesus loued folowynge whiche also lened on his brest at supper, and sayde: Lorde, whiche is he that shall betraye
the. When Peter sawe him, he sayd to Jesus: Lorde, but what shal this man do? Jesus said vnto him: If I wyll haue hym tarye tyll I come, what is ꝓ to the? folow thou me. Then went this saying abrode amonge the brethren that that disciple sholde not dye. Yet Jesus sayd not to him, he shal not dye, but if I wyll that he tarye tyll I come, what is that to the?
The same disciple is he whiche testifyeth of these thynges, and wrote these thynges:
And we knowe that his testimonye is true. ✠ There are also many other thynges whiche Jesus
dyd, whiche yf they sholde
be wryten euery one,
I suppose the
worlde
coulde not contayne the bokes that sholde
be wryten.

* He loueth Christe that feedeth his lambes and sheepe.

Here endeth the Gospell after S. Johñ.

The Actes of the Apostles.

¶ The ascension of Christe. Matthias is chosen in the steade of Judas.

CAPI. I. ✣

IN the former treatyse (derre frende Theophilus) I have written of all that Jesus began to do and teache, tyll the day in which he was taken vp, after that he throwe the holy ghost had geuen commaundementes vnto the apostles, which he had chosen: to whome also he shewed him selfe alyue after his passion by many tokens, appearynge vnto them fourtye dayes, and speakyng of the kyngdome of God, and gathered them together, ✣ and commaunded them that they sholde not departe from Jerusalem, but wayte for the promesse of the father, whereof sayth he ye have herde of me. For Johñ baptysed with water: but ye shall be baptised with the holy ghoste, and that within this fewe dayes. When they were come together, they asked of him, sayinge: Lorde wylte thou at this tyme restore agayne the kyngdome to Israell. And he sayde vnto them: It is not for you to knowe the tymes or the seasons, which the father hathe put in his owne power: but ye shall receyue power of holy ghoste, which shall come on you. And ye shall be witnesses vnto me in Jerusalem, and in all Jewry and in Samary, and euen vnto the worldes ende.

And when he had spoken these thynges, while they beheld, he was taken vp, and a cloude receyued him vp out of their syghte. And while they loked stedfastly vp to heuen, as he went, beholde, two men stode by them in white apparell, whiche also sayd: ye men of Galile, why stande ye gasynge vp in to heuen. This same Jesus which is taken vp from you in to heuen, shall so come euen as ye have seene him go in to heuen. ✣ Then returned they vnto Jerusalem from mounte Oliuet, which is nye to Jerusalem, conteynynge a sabboth dayes iourneye. And when they were come in, they went vp into a parloure, where abode both Peter and James, Johñ and Andrew, Philip and Thomas, Bartilmew and Mathew, James the sonne of Alpheus, and Symon Zelotes, and Judas James sonne. These all contynued with one accorde in prayer and supplicacion with the women and Mary the mother of Jesu, and with his brethren.

✣ And in those dayes Peter stode vp in the myddes of the disciples and sayd (the nombre of names that were together were about an hundred and twentye) Ye men and brethren, this scripture must nedes have ben fulfylled which the holy ghost throwe the mouthe of Dauid, spake before of Judas, whiche was gyde to them that toke Jesus. For he was nombred with vs, and hadde obteyned felowshyp in this ministracion. And the same hathe now possessed a plot of grounde of the rewarde of iniquite, and when he was hanged, brast asondre in the myddes, and all his bowels gushed out. And it is knowen vnto all the inhabiters of Jerusalem, in so moche that that felde is called in their mother tonge, Acheldama, that is to saye, the bloode felde.

It is written in the boke of Psalmes: ✣ his habitacion be voyde, and no man be dwellyng therin: ✣ and his bysshoprych let an other take. Wherfore of these men which have companyed with vs all the tyme that the Lorde Jesus wente in and out amonge vs, begynnyng at the baptisme of Johñ vnto that same daye that he was taken vp from vs, muste one be ordeyned to beare witnesse with vs of his resurrection.

And they appointed two: Joseph called Barsabas (whose syr name was Justus) and Mathias. And they prayed sayinge: Thou Lorde, whiche knowest the hertes of all men, shewe whether of these two thou hast chose, that the one may take the lotte of this ministracion and apostlehyp, from whiche Judas by transgression fell, that he myghte go to his owne place. And they gaue forth their lottes, and the lot fell on Mathias, and he was counted with the eleuen apostles. ✣

¶ The commynge of the holy ghost. The sermon of Peter before the congregacion at Jerusalem, and the mirrour of the faythfull.

CAPI. II.

WHen the daye of Penteroste was come, they were all with one accorde togyther in one place. And sodeynly there came a sounde from heuen, as it had ben the cõmynge of a myghty wynde, and it fylled all the house where they sat. And there appered vnto them cleuen tonges, lyke as they had ben fyre, and it sate vpon eche of them: ✣ and they were all fylled with the holy ghost, and began to speke with other tonges, euen as the spiryte gaue them vtteraunce.

And there were dwellyng at Jerusalem Jewes, deuoute men, which were of all nations vnder heuen. When this rumour was bruted the multitude came together and were astonyed, because euery man herde them speke his owne tonge. They wondred all, and merueyled, sayinge amonge them selues: beholde are not all these which speke of Galile? And how here we euery man his owne tonge, wherin we were borne? Parthians, Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabiters of Mesopotamia, of Jurye, and of Capadocia, of Ponthus and Asia, Phrygia, Pamphilia, and of Egypte, and of the partyes of Lybia, whiche is beyde Cyrene, and straungers of Rome, Jewes, & proselytes, Cretes and Arabians: we have herde them speke with our owne tonges the greate workes of God. ✣ They were all amased, and wondred, sayinge one to an other: what meaneth this? Other mocked them, sayinge: they are full of newe wyne.

✣ But Peter stepped forth with the eleuen and lyfte vp his voyce, and sayde vnto them: Ye men of Jurye, and all ye that inhabyte Jerusalem

ulalem: be this knowen vnto you and with youre eares beare my wordes. These are not dronken, as ye suppose: for it is yet but the thyrde houre of the day. But this is that whiche was spoken by the Prophet Joel: * It shalbe in the last dayes (saythe God) of my spirite I will powre out vpon all flesshe. And youre sonnes and youre daughters shall prophesye and youre yonge men shall se visions, and youre olde men shall dreme dremes. And on my seruauntes, and on my handemaydens I will powre out of my spirite in those dayes, and they shall prophesye. And I will shewe wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the erthe beneth, bloude and fyre, and the vapour of smoke. * The sonne shalbe turned in to darknes, and the mone in to bloude before þ that greate & notable daye of the Lorde come. * And it shalbe, that whosoeuer shall call on the name of the Lorde, shalbe saued. ⊢

✣ Ye men of Israell heare these wordes. Jesus of Nazareth a man approued of God amonge you with myracles, wondres and tygnes which God dyd by hym in the myddes of you, as ye youre selues knowe: hym haue ye taken by the handes of vnryghteowse persones, after he was delyuered by the determinat councell and fore knowledge of God, and haue crucifyed and slayne: whome God hathe rayled vp lowsynge the sorowes of death, because it was impossible that he shulde be holden of it. For Dauid speketh of him. * Alwaye beforne I sawe God alwayes before me: for he is on my ryghte hande, that I shulde not be moued. Therfore dyd my herte reioyce, and my tonge was glad. Moreouer also my flesshe shal rest in hope, because thou wylte not leaue my soule in hell, neyther wylt suffre thyn holy to se corruption. Thou haste shewed me the wayes of lyfe, and shalte make me full of ioye with thy countenaunce. ⊢

Men and brethren, for as moche as I may freely speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid * for he is both dead and buryed, and his sepulchre remayneth with vs vnto this daye. Where as he then was a Prophet, and knew that God had sworne with an othe to hym, that the fruite of his loynes shulde syt on his seate (in that Christ shulde ryse agayne in the flesshe) he sawe before: and spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soule shulde not be left in hell: neyther his flesshe shoulde se corruption. This Jesus hathe God rayled vp, whereof we all are wytnesses.

Sythens now that he by the ryght hand of God is exalted, and hathe receyued of the father the promyse of the holy ghoste, he hathe sheed forthe this whiche ye now se and heare. For Dauid is not ascended into heauen: but he sayde. * The Lorde sayde to my Lorde syt on my ryghte hande, tyll I make thyne ennemyes thy fote stole. Soo therfore let all the house of Israel know for a suretye, that God hath made that same Jesus / whome ye haue crucyfyed, Lorde and Christ.

When they herde this, they were pricked in their hertes, and sayde vnto Peter and the other Apostles: Ye men and brethren, what shall we do? Peter sayde vnto them: repent and be baptyzed euery one of you in the name of Jesus Christ, for the remission of synnes, & ye shall receyue the gyft of the holy ghost: for the promyse was made vnto you and to your children, and to all that are a farre, euen as many as the Lorde our God shall call. And with many other wordes dyd he witnes and exhorted them, sayeng: Saue youre selues fro this croked generacion. Then they that gladly receyued his preachinge, were baptyzed: & the same daye, there were added vnto them aboute thre thoulande soules.

And they continued in the apostles doctrine and felowshyp, and in breakinge of breed, and in prayer. And feare came ouer euery soule. And many wondres and signes were shewed by the Apostles. And al that beleued kept the selues togither, and had all thinges comen, & solde their possessions and goodes, and departed them to all men, as euery man had nede. And they continued dayly with one accorde in the temple, and brake breed in euery house, & dyd eate their meate together, with gladnes and synglenes of hert, prayslnge God, & had fauour with all the people. And the Lorde added to the congregacyon dayly suche as shuld be saued.

¶ The halte is restored to his fete. Peter preacheth Christ vnto the people.

CAP. III.

PEter & Johñ went vp togither into the temple at the nynth houre of prayer. And there was a certayne man halt, from his mothers wombe, whom they brought & layd at the gate of the temple called beutyfull, to aske almes of them that entred into the temple. Which same when he sawe Peter & Johñ that they wolde entre into the temple, desired to receyue an almes. And Peter stunge his eyes on hym with Johñ, sayde: Loke on vs. And he gaue heede vnto them, trustynge to receyue some thinge of them. Then sayd Peter: Syluer & golde haue I none, suche as I haue, gyue I the. In the name of Jesu Christ of Nazareth, ryse vp and walke. And he toke him by the ryght hande, and lyft him vp. And anone his feete and ancleboones receyued strength. And he sprange, stode and also walked, & entred with them into the temple, walkinge & leapinge, and prayslnge God.

And all the people saw him walke & prayse God. And they knew him, þ it was he which sate and begged at the beutyfull gate of the temple. And they wondred and were sore astonyed at that which had happened vnto him. And as the halt which was healed, helde Peter and Johñ, all the people ran, amased vnto them in Salomons porche.

When Peter sawe that, he answered vnto the people. ✣ Ye men of Israel, why marueill ye at this, or why loke ye so stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or holynes we had made this man goo? The God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, the God of our fathers hath glorified his sonne Jesus, whome ye denyed and forsed in the presence of Pylate, when he had iudged him to be losed. But ye iuged the holy and iust, and desyred a murtherer to be graūted you, and killed the Lorde of lyfe, whō god hath raysed from deth, of the which we are witnesses. And his name throughe the fayth of his name, hathe made this man sounde, whom ye se and knowe. And the fayth which is by him, hath geuen to him this helth in the presence of you all.

And now brethren, I wot wel that throughe ignorance ye dyd it, as dyd also youre rulers. But those thinges which god before had shewed by the mouth of all his Prophetes, how that Christ should suffre, he hathe thus wyse fulfylled. Repent ye therfore and turne, that your synnes may be done awaye. ✣ When the tymes of refreshyng commeth, whiche we shall haue of the presence of the Lorde, & when God shall sende him, whiche before was preached vnto you, that is to wit, Jesus Christe, whome must receyue heuen, tyll tymes all thinges whiche God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophetes ✣ sithens the world began he restored agayne.

For Moses sayd vnto the fathers: ✣ a Prophete shall the Lorde your God rayse vp vnto you, euen of your brethren lyke vnto me; him shall ye heare in all thing what so euer he shall saye vnto you. For the tyme shall come that euery soule whiche shall not heare that same Prophete, shall be destroyed out of the people. Also all the Prophetes from Samuel & thence forth, as many as haue spoken haue in lyke wyse tolde of these dayes.

Ye are the chyldren of the prophetes and of the testament, whiche God hathe made vnto our fathers, sayinge to Abraham: ✣ Euen in thy seed shall all the kynredes of the earth be blessed. Vnto you hath god raysed vp his sonne Jesus, and him he hathe sente to blesse you, that euery one of you sholde turne from your wyckednesse. ✣

¶ The Apostles are taken and brought before the Counsell. They are forbydden to preache, but they turne them vnto prayer, and are more obedient vnto God then vnto men.

CAPI. IIII.

AS they spake vnto the people, the preestes and the ruler of the temple, and the Sadducees came vpon them takynge it greuously that they taught the people & preached in Jesus the resurrection from deth. And they layde handes on them, and put them in holde tyl the nexte daye: for it was now euen tyde. Howbe it many of them which herde the worde, byleued and the nombre of the men was aboute fyue thousande.

And it chaunced on the morowe that their rulers, and elders, and Scribes, & Annas the chefe preest and Caiphas, and Johā and Alexander, & as many as were of ✣ kynred of the hygh preestes gathered together at Jerusalem, and set the other before them, and asked by what power, or in what name haue ye done this? ✣ Then Peter full of holy ghost sayd vnto them: Ye rulers of the people, and elders of Israel, yf we this daye are examined of the good dede doone to the sycke man, by what meanes he is made hole: be it knowen vnto you all, and to the people of Israel, that in the name of Jesu Christe of Nazareth, whome ye crucified, and whom God raysed agayne from deathe: euen by him dothe this man stande here present before you hole. ✣ This is the stone cast a syde of you buylders, which is set in the chefe place of the corner. Neither is there saluation in any other. For there is not any other name geuen to men, wherin we must be saued. ✣

When they sawe the boldnes of Peter and Johā, and vnderstode that they were vnlerned and laye people, they merueyled, and they knewe them, that they were with Jesu, and beholdynge also the man whiche was healed standynge with them, they coulde not saye agaynste it. But they commaunded them to go aside out of the counsile, and conferred among them selues saying: what shall we do to these men? For a manifest signe is done by them, and is openly knowen to al them that dwel in Jerusalem, and we cannot denye it. But that it be noysed no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them they speake hencefoorth to no man in this name.

And they called them, and commaunded them that in no wyse they sholde speake or teache in the name of Jesu. But Peter & Johā answered vnto them, and sayd: whether it be right in the sight of God, to obeye you more then God, iudge ye. For we can not, but speke that which we haue sene and herde. So threatned they them, and let them goo, and founde nothynge howe to punysshe them, bicause of the people. For all men glorified God for the myracle whiche was doone, for the man was aboue fourty yere olde, on whome this myracle of healynge was shewed.

As soone as they were let go, they came to their felowes, and shewed all that the hyghe preestes & elders had sayd to them. And when they herde that, they lyfte vp their voyces to God with one accorde, and sayd: Lorde, thou arte God whiche hast made heuen and erthe, the see and all that in them is, whiche by the mouth of thy seruaunt Dauid hast sayd: ✣ why dyd the heithen rage, and the people ymagen vayne thynges. The kynges of the erth stode vp, and the rulers came togither agaynste the Lorde, and agaynst his annoynted.

For of a trouth, agaynst thy holy sonne Jesus whom thou hast anoynted, both Herode and also Poncius Pylate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel gathered them selues togither to do what so euer thy hande and thy counsell determined before to be doone. And now Lorde, beholde their threatnynges, & graūt vnto thy seruauntes to all confydence to speke thy worde. So that thou stretche forthe thyne hande, that healyng, and signes and wonders be done by the name of thy holy sonne Jesus. And as soone as they had prayed, the place moued where they were assembled togyther, and they were all fylled with the holy ghoste, and they spake the worde of God boldly.

✣ And

G ✣ And the multitude of them that byleued were of one herte, and of one soule. And none of them sayde that any of the thynges whiche he possessed was his owne, but had all thynges commen. And with greate power the apostles gaue witnes of the resurrection of the Lorde Jesu. And greate grace was with them all. Neyther was there any among them, that lacked. For as many as were possessers of landes or houses, solde them and broughte the pryce of the thynges that were solde, and layde it downe at the apostles fete. So distribucion was made vnto euery man accordynge as he had nede. ✣

And Joses which was also called of the apostles, Barnabas (that is to saye the sonne of consolacion) being a Leuyte, and of the countrey of Cypers had landes, and solde it, and layd the pryce downe at the apostles fete.

¶ The dissemblynge of Ananias and Saphira is punysshed. Myracles are done by the apostles, which are taken, but the angell of God bryngeth them out of prison. The sentence of Gamaliel. The Apostles are beaten, they reioyce in trouble.

CAPI. V.

A Certayne man named Ananias w Saphira his wyfe, solde a possession, and kepte awaye part of the pryce (his wife also beinge of counsell) and broughte a certayne part, and layd it downe at the apostles fete. The sayd Peter: Ananias, how is it that Sathan hath filled thyne hert, that thou shouldest lye vnto the holy ghost, & kepe awaye part of the iyuelode. Perteyned it not vnto the onely, and after it was solde, was not the pryce in thyne owne power. Howe is it that thou hast put this thynge in thyne hert? Thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God. When Ananias herd these wordes, he fell downe and gaue vp the ghost. And greate feare came on all them that these thynges herde. And the yonge men rose vp, and put him aparte, and caryed him out, and buryed him.

And it fortuned, as it were aboute the space of iij. houres after, that his wyfe came in, not knowynge what was done. And Peter sayd vnto her: Tell me, gaue ye the lande for so moche? And she sayd: yea, for so moche. Then Peter sayd vnto her: Why haue ye agreed together, to tempte the spyrite of the Lorde? Beholde the fete of them which haue buryed thy husbande, are at the dore, and shall carye thee out. Then she fell downe, forthwith at his fete and yelded vp the ghost. And the yonge men came in, and founde her dede, and caryed her out, and buried her by her husband. And great feare came on all the congregacion, and on as many as herde it.

L By the handes of the apostles were manye signes and wonders shewed amonge the people. And they were all togyther with one accorde in Salomons porche. And of other durst no man ioyne him selfe to them: neuertheles the people magnified them. The nombre of them that beleued in the Lorde bothe of men and women grewe more & more, in so moche they brought: ye sicke in to the stretes, and layde them on beddes and palettes, that at the leest waye the shadowe of Peter when he came by, might shadow some of them. There came also a multitude out of the cities rounde about vnto Jerusalem, bryngynge sycke folkes, and them whiche were vexed with vncleane spretes. And they were healed euery one. D

Then the chefe preest rose vp, and all they that were with hym (which is the sect of the Sadducees) and were full of indignacion, and layde handes on the apostles, and put them in the comon prison. But the aungel of the lorde by nyght opened the prison doores, & brought them forthe, and sayde: go, stoppe forthe, and speake in the temple to the people all the wordes of this lyfe. When they herde that, they entred in to the temple early in the mornynge and taught. The chefe preest came, and they that were with him, and assembled the counsell and hole ordre of the elders of the children of Israel, & sent to the prison to fet them. When the ministres came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and tolde, sayinge: the prison found we shut as sure as was possible, and the kepers standynge without before the doores. But when we had opened, we found no man with in. When the chefe preest, and the ruler of the temple, and the hye preestes herde these thynges, they doubted of them, whereunto this wolde growe. E

But now came one, and shewed them: beholde the men that ye put in prison, stande in the temple, and teache the people. Then went the ruler of the temple with ministres, and brought them without violence. For they feared the people, leest they shulde haue ben stoned. And when they had brought them, they set the before the counsell. And the chefe preest asked them, saying: Did not we straytly commaunde you ye shulde not teache in this name? And beholde ye haue fylled Jerusalem with youre doctryne, and ye entende to bringe this mans bloode vpon vs.

Peter and the other apostles answered and sayde: ✣ We ought more to obey God, then men. The God of our fathers raysed vp Jesus, whom ye slewe and hanged on tree. Him hath God lyft vp with his ryght hande, to be a ruler and a sauyour, for to gyue repentaunce to Israel, and forgyuenes of synnes. And we are his recordes concernynge these thynges, and also the holy ghost, whome God hath gyuen to them that obey him. When they herde that, they claue asunder, and sought to slee them. Then stode there vp one in the counsell, a Pharisey named Gamaliel, a doctour of law hadde in auctorite amonge all the people, and commaunded to put the Apostles aside a lytell space, and sayde vnto them: men of Israel take hede to youre selues what ye entende to do as touchynge these men. Before these dayes rose vp one Theudas boostynge hym selfe, to whome resorted a nombre of men, aboute a foure hundred which was slayne, and they all whiche byleued him were scattered abrode, and brought to nought. After this man, arose there vppe one Judas of Galile, in the tyme when tribute began, and drewe awaye F Gene. xxvi. c. Exod. xx. c. Deutero. xxi. c. Gamaliel.

moche people after hem. He also perished, and al euen as many as harkened to him, are scattered abrode.

And nowe I saye vnto you: refrayne youre selues from these men, let them alone. For yf this counsayle or worke be of men, it will come to nought. But yf it be of God, ye can not destroye it, lest happyly ye be founde to stryue against God. Now to him they agreed, and called the apostles, and bet them, and commaunded that they shulde not speake in the name of Iesu, and let them go.

And they departed from the counsell reioysyng that they were counted worthy to suffre rebuke for his name. And dayly in the temple and in euery house they ceased not, teachynge and preachinge Iesus Christ.

¶ Ministers or deacons are ordeyned in the congregation to do seruice in necessary thinges of the body that the Apostles myght wayte onely vpon the worde of God. Steuen is accused.

CAPI. VI.

IN those dayes, as the nombre of the disciples grew, there arose a grudge among the Grekes against the Hebrues, because their widowes were despised in ye dayly ministring. Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, & sayd: it is not mete that we shulde leaue the worde of God, and serue at tables. Wherfore brethren loke ye oute amonge you, seuen men of honest reporte, and full of the holy ghost and wysdome, which we may appoynt to this nedefull busynesse. But we will gyue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministracion of the worde. And the sayinge pleased the hole multitude. And they chose Steuen, a man full of fayth, and of the holy ghost; and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, & Nicholas a conuerte of Antioche. Whiche they set before the apostles, and they prayed & layde their handes on them.

And the worde of God encreased, and the nombre of the disciples multiplyed in Ierusalem greatly, and a great compayne of the preestes, were obedient to the fayth. ✝ And Steuen full of fayth and power, dyd greate wonders and myracles amonge the people. Nowe, there arose certayne of the Synagoge, whiche is called the Synagoge of the Libertynes and Cyrenytes, and of Alexandria, and Cecilia, & Asia, and disputed with Steuen. And they coulde not resiste the wysdome and the spirite, with whiche he spake. Then sent they in men, which sayd: We haue herd him speke blasphemous wordes against Moses, and against God. And they moued the people and the elders, and the Scribes, & came vpon him and caught him, and brought him to the counsell, and brought forth false witnesses, whiche sayde. This man ceaseth not to speke blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the lawe. For we herd him say: this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shal change the ordinaunces whiche Moses gaue vs. And all that sate in the counsell, loked stedfastly on him, and sawe his face as it had ben the face of an aungell.

¶ Steuen maketh answere to his accusation, rebuketh the harde necked Iewes, and is stoned vnto deathe.

CAPI. VII.

THen sayd the chefe preest: is it euen so? And he said: ye men, brethren & fathers, harken to. The God of glorye appered vnto our father Abraham, while he was yet in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, & said vnto him: ✝ come out of thy countrey and from thy kynred, & come in to the lande which I shal shew the. Then came he out of the land of Caldey, & dwelt in Charran. And after that, as sone as his father was ded, he brought him in to this lande in whiche ye nowe dwell, and he gaue him none inheritaunce in it, no not the breddth of a fote: ✝ but promised that he wold gyue it to him to possesse, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no childe.

God verily spake on this wyse, that his seed shulde be a dweller in a straunge lande, & that they shuld kepe them in bondage, and intreate them euil. iiij. hundred yeres. But the nacion to whome they shall be in bondage wyll I iudge, sayd God. And after that shal they come forth and serue me in this place. ✝ And he gaue him the couenaunt of circumcision. And he begate Isaac, and circumcised him the eight daye, and Isaac begat Iacob, and Iacob the. xii. Patriarkes. ✝ And the Patriarkes hauing indignacion, solde Ioseph in to Egypt. And God was with him, & deliuered him out of all his aduersities, and gaue him fauour and wisdom in the sight of Pharao king of Egypt, which made him gouerner of Egypt, and ouer all his housholde.

✝ Then came there a derth ouer all the lande of Egypt & Canaan, and great affliction, that our fathers founde no sustenaunce. But when Iacob herde that there was corne in Egypte, he sent oure fathers first. ✝ And at the seconde time Ioseph was knowen of his brethren, and Iosephs kinred was made knowen vnto Pharao. Then sente Ioseph, and called his father to be brought and al his kynne, thre score and xv. ✝ soules. And Iacob descended in to Egypt and ded bothe he and oure fathers, and were translated in to Sichem, and were put in the sepulcre that Abraham bought for money of the sonnes of Emor at Sichem.

When the tyme of the promes drewe nye (which god had sworne to Abraham) the people grewe and multiplyed in Egypte, tyll an other kynge arose whiche knewe not Ioseph. The same dealynge subtelly with our kynred tyll entreated oure fathers, and made them to caste oute their younge children, that they shuld not remayne alyue. The same time was Moses borne, and was a proper childe in the sight of God, whiche was nourysshed vp in his fathers house thre monethes. When he was cast out, Pharaos doughter toke him vp, and nourysshed him vp for her owne sonne. And Moses was lerned in all maner wysdom of the Egyptians, and was myghtye in dedes and in wordes.

And

And when he was full foꝛtye yere olde, it came in to his herte to vyſyte his brethren the chyldren of Iſrael. And when he ſawe one of them ſuffre wronge, he defended him and auenged his quarell that had the harme doone to hym, and ſmote the Egyptian. For he ſuppoſed his brethren wolde haue vnderſtande, how that god by him handes ſholde ſaue them. But they vnderſtode not.

And the nexte daye he ſhewed him ſelfe vnto them as they ſtroue, and wolde haue ſette them at one agayne, ſayeng: Syrs, ye are brethren, why hurt ye one an other? But he that dyd his neyghbour wronge, thruſt him away, ſayenge: Who made the a ruler and a iudge amonge vs? What, wylte thou kyll me, as thou diddeſt the Egyptian yeſterday? ✠ Then fledde Moſes at that ſayeng, and was a ſtraunger in the lande of Madian, where he begate two ſonnes.

✠ And when .xl. yeres was fulfilled, there appered to him in the wyldernesse of mounte Syna, an angell of the Lorde in a flame of fire in a buſshe. When Moſes ſaw it, he wondred at the ſight. And as he drewe nere to beholde, the voyce of the Lorde came vnto him: I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Iacob. Moſes trembled and durſt not beholde. Then ſaid the Lorde to him. ✠ Put of thy ſhoes from thy fete, for the place where thou ſtandeſt, is holy grounde. I haue perfectly ſene the affliction of my people whiche is in Egypt, & I haue herde their grouynge, and am come downe to deliuer them. And now come, and I wyll ſende the in to Egypte.

This Moſes whom they forſoke, ſayenge: Who made the a ruler and a iudge, God ſente bothe a ruler and a deliuerer, by the handes of the angel, which appered to him in the buſhe. And the ſame broughte them out, ſhewynge wonders and ſygnes in Egypt, and in the redde ſee, and in the wildernes .xl. yeres. This is that Moſes, whiche ſayde vnto the chyldren of Iſrael: ✠ A Prophete ſhall the Lorde your God rayſe vp vnto you of your brethren, lyke vnto me, him ſhall ye heare.

This is he that was in the congregacion in the wildernes with the aungell whiche ſpake to him in the mounte Syna, and with our fathers. This man receyued the worde of lyfe to giue vnto vs, to whom our fathers coulde not obey, but caſt it from them, and in their hertes turned backe agayne in to Egypt, ſayeng vnto Aaron: ✠ make vs Goddes to go before vs, for this Moſes that broughte vs out of the lande of Egypt, we wote not what is becom of him. and they made a calfe in thoſe dayes, and offered ſacrifyce vnto the ymage, and reioyſed in the workes of their owne handes.

Then God turned him ſelfe, and gaue them vp, that they ſholde worſhyp the ſterres of the ſkye: as it is wrytten in the boke of the Prophetes. ✠ O ye of the houſe of Iſrael, gaue ye to me ſacrifyces and meat offrynges by ſpace of fourty yeres in the wyldernes? And ye toke vnto you the tabernacle of Moloch, and the ſterre of your God Remphan, figures whiche ye made to worſhyp them. And I wyll tranſlate you beyonde Babylon.

Our fathers had the tabernacle of wytnes in the wildernes, as he hadde appoynted them ſpeaking vnto Moſes, that he ſholde make it accordyng to the faſhion that he had ſene. Whiche tabernacle our fathers receyued, & broughte it in with Joſue in to the poſſeſſion of the gentyles, whiche God draue out before the face of our fathers, vnto the tyme of Dauid. Whiche founde fauour before God, and wolde fayne haue made a tabernacle for the God of Jacob. But Salomon bylt him an houſe.

How be it the hyeſt of all, dwelleth not in temples made with handes, as ſayth the Prophete: Heuen is my ſeate, and erth is my foote ſtole: what houſe wyll ye buylde for me ſayth the Lorde? or what place is it that I ſholde reſt in? ha the not my handes made all theſe thynges? Clayr. xlvi. e

Ye ſtiffnecked, and vncircumciſed hert and eares, ye haue always reſyſted the holy ghoſt: as your fathers dyd, ſo do ye. Whiche of the Prophetes haue not your fathers perſecuted? And they haue ſlayne them which ſhewed before of the commynge of that righteous perſon whome ye haue nowe betrayed and murdred. And ye alſo haue receyued a lawe by the ordinaunce of aungels, and haue not kept it.

✠ When they herde theſe thynges, they were hertes claue a ſunder, and they gnaſhed on hym with their teethe. But he being full of the holy ghoſt, loked vp ſtedfaſtly with his eyes in to heuen, and ſawe the glory of God, and Jeſus ſtanding on the right hand of God, and ſayd: beholde, I ſe the heuens open, and the ſonne of man ſtandynge on the right hande of God. Then they gaue a ſhoute with a loude voyce, and ſtopped their eares, and ran vpon him with one accorde, and caſt him out of the cyte, and ſtoned him. And the wytneſſes layde downe their clothes at a yonge mans fete named Saul. And they ſtoned Steuen, callynge on and ſayeng: Lorde Jeſu receyue my ſpyrite. And he kneled downe, and cryed with a loude voyce: Lorde, laye not this ſynne to their charge. And when he had thus ſpoken, he fell a ſlepe. ✠

CAPI. VIII.

Saul was conſentynge to his deathe. And at that tyme there was a great perſecucion agaynſt the congregacion whiche was at Jeruſalem, & they were all ſcattered abrode thorowe out the regions of Jewry and Samaria, except the apoſtles. Then deuout men buryed Steuen, and made greate lamentacion ouer him. But Saul made hauocke of the congregacion, and entred in to euery houſe, and drewe out bothe man and woman, and thruſt them in to priſon. How be it, they that were ſcattered abrode, went euery where preachynge the worde. Then came Philip in to a cyte of Samaria, and preached Chriſte vnto them. And ꝑ people gaue hede vnto those thinges whiche Philip spake with one accorde in that they herde and sawe the myracles which he dyd. For vncleane spirites crying with lioude voyce, came out of many that were possessed of them. And many taken with palsyes, and many that halted, were healed. And ther was great ioye in that cyte. Now there was a certayne man called Symon, which before tyme in the same cyte, vsed witchecrafte, and bewytched the people of Samarie, sayinge that he was a man that coulde do greate thynges. Whom they regarded from the leest to the greatest, sayeng: this felowe is the great power of God. And him they set moche by, bicause that of long tyme he had mocked them with sorcery. But as sone as they beleued Philips preachyng of the kingdom of god, and of the name of Jesu Christ, they were baptised bothe men and women. Then Symon him selfe beleued also, and was baptised, and contmued with Philip, and wondred, beholdyng the myracles and signes whiche were shewed.

✣ When the apostles which were at Jerusalem, herde saye that Samaria had receyued the worde of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Johñ which whē they were come prayed for them that they might receyue ꝑ holy ghost. For as yet he was come on none of them: but they were baptised only in the name of Christ Jesu. Then layde they their handes on them, and they receyued the holy ghost. ✣

Symon Magus.

When Symon sawe, that thorow layinge on of ꝑ apostles hāds on them, the holy ghost was gyuen: he offered them money sayinge: gyue me also this power, that on whom so euer I put the handes, he may receyue the holy ghost. Then said Peter vnto him: thy money perysshe with the, bicause thou wenest that the gyfte of God maye be obteyned with money. Thou hast neyther parte nor felowshyp in this busynes. For thy herte is not right in the sight of God. Repent therfore of this thy wyckednes, and praye God that the thought of thyne herte may be forgyuen the. For I perceyue that thou art full of bytter gall, & wrapped in wyckednes.

Then answered Symon and said: praye ye to the Lorde for me, that none of these thynges whiche ye haue spoken, fall on me. And they when they had testified and preached the worde of the Lorde, returned towarde Jerusalem, and preached the gospell in many cities of the Samaritans.

✣ Then the aungel of the Lorde spake vnto Philip, saying: aryse, & go towarde South, vnto the waye that goeth downe from Jerusalem vnto Gaza, whiche is in the desert. And he arose and wente on. And beholde a man of Ethiopia, which was a chamberlayne, and of greate auctorite with Candace quene of the Ethiopians, & had the rule of all her treasure, came to Jerusalem for to praye. And as he returned home agayne sytting in his charet, he red Esaie the prophete.

Then the spirite said vnto Philip: go nere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet. And Philip ran to him, and hert him rede the prophet Esaie, and sayd: Vnderstandest thou what thou redest? And he sayd: How can I, onlesse I had a guyde? And he desyred Philip that he woulde come vp & syt with hym. The tenour of the scripture which he red, was this. He was ledde as a shepe to be slayne, and lyke a lambe domme before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth. Bicause of his humblenes, he was not esteemed: who shall declare his generation? for his lyfe is taken from the erth. The chamberlayne answered Philip, and sayd: I praye the, of whome speaketh the prophete this? of him selfe, or of some other man?

And Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached vnto hym Jesus. And as they went on their waye, they came vnto a certeyn water, and the chamberlayne sayde: Se, here is water, what shal let me to be baptysed? Philip sayd vnto him. If thou beleue with all thyne herte, thou mayst. He answered and sayde: I beleue that Jesus Christ is the sonne of God. And he commaunded the charet to stande styll. And they wente downe both in to the water: both Philip and also the chamberlayne, and he baptised hym. And as sone as they were come out of the water, the spirite of the Lorde caught away Philip, that the chamberlayne sawe him no more. And he went on his way reioysyng: but Philip was found at Azotus. And he walked thorowe out the countrey, preachynge in their cities, till he came to Cesarea. ✣

¶ Paul is conuerted, and confoundeth the Jewes. Peter rayseth Tabitha.

CAPI. IX.

AND Saul yet breathyng out threatninges and slaughter agaynst the disciples of the Lorde, went on to the high preest and desired of him letters to Damasco, to the synagoges: ✣ that yf he founde any of this waye, whether they were men or women, he myght bringe them bounde vnto Jerusalem. But as he iourneyed & was come nye to Damasco, sodenly there shyned round about him a light from heuen, and he fel to the erth, and herde a voyce, sayinge to him: ✣ Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he sayd: what arte thou Lorde? And the Lorde sayd: I am Jesus whome thou persecutest, it is harde for the to kycke agaynst the pricke. And he bothe trembynge and astonyed, sayd: Lorde, what wilt thou haue me to do? And the Lorde sayd vnto him: Aryse, and go in to the cyte, and it shal be tolde the what thou shalt do.

Saul is conuerted.

The men whiche iourneyed with him, stode amased, for they herde a voyce, but sawe no man. And Saul arose from the erth, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hande, and brought him in to Damasco. And he was thre dayes without sight, and neyther ate nor dranke. Now there was a certeyn disciple at Damasco named Ananias, to him sayd the Lorde in a vysion: Ananias? And he sayd: beholde, I am heare Lorde. And the Lorde sayde vnto him: aryse, and go in to the strete called straight, and seke in the house of Judas, after one called Saul of Tharsus.

For

for beholde he prayeth, and hath sene in a vision, a man named Ananias commynge vnto him, and puttinge his handes on him, that he myght receyue his sight.

Then Ananias aunswered: Lorde, I haue
herde by many of this man, how moche euyll
he hath done to thy saynctes at Ierusalem: & here he hath auctorite of the hyghe Priestes to bynde all that call on thy name. The Lorde sayde vnto him: Go thy wayes, for he is a chosen vessell vnto me, to beare my name before the gentyles and kynges, and the children of Israel. For I will shew him how great thin-ges he must suffre for my name.

Ananias went his waye and entred into ꝥ
house, and put his handes on him, and sayde:
brother Saul, the Lorde that appeared vnto
the in the waye as thou camest, hath sent me, that thou myghtest receyue thy sight, and be fylled with ꝥ holy ghost. And forthwith there fell frome his eyes as it had bene scales, and he receyued syght, and arose, and was baptised, and receyued meate, and was comforted.
Then was Saul a certayne dayes, with the Disciples whyche were at Damasco. And streight waye he preached Christ in the Syna-goges, how that he was the sonne of God.
All that herde him, were amased, and sayde:
Is not this he, that spoyled them which called on this name in Ierusalem, and came hy-ther for the entent that he shuld bringe them bounde vnto the chiefe Priestes? But Saul en creased in strength, & confounded the Iewes whyche dwelte at Damasco, affirminge that this was very Christ. ✠

And after a good whyle, the Iewes toke counsell together, to kyll him. But their lay-enge awaye was knowen of Saul. And they watched at the gates, daye and nyght, to kyl him. * Then the disciples toke hym by nyght
and put him thorowe the wall, and let hym downe in a basket.

And when Saul was come to Ierusalem,
he assayed to couple him selfe with the disciples, and they were all afrayde of hym, and beleued not that he was a disciple. But Bar nabas toke him and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, howe he had sene
the Lorde in the waye, and had spoken with him: and how he had done boldely at Damas co, in the name of Iesu. And he had his con-uersacion with them at Ierusalem, and quite him selfe boldely in the name of the Lorde Ie
su. And he spake and disputed with the Grekes: and they wente about to slay him. But when the brethre knew of that, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Thar-
sus. Then had the congregacions rest thorow out all Iewry and Galile, and Samary, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and multiplied by the comforte of the holy ghost.

And it chaunced as Peter walked throughout al quarters, he came to the saynctes whiche dwelte at Lydda. And there he founde a certayne man, named Eneas, whych had kept his bed. viij. yeres, sycke of the palsye. Then sayde Peter vnto him: Eneas, Iesus Christ make the hole: aryse and make thy bed. And he arose forthwith. And all ꝥ dwelt at Lydda and Sarron, sawe hym, and tourned to the Lorde.

There was at Ioppa a certayne woman/(which was a disciple named Tabitha, whiche by interpretation is called Dorcas) the same was full of good workes and almes de-des, whiche she dyd. And it chaunced in thole dayes, that she was sycke, and dyed. When they had washed her and layde her in a cham ber: because Lydda was nyghe to Ioppa, &
the disciples had herde that Peter was there they sent vnto him, desiring him that he wolde not be greued to come vnto them. Tabitha, Dorcas.

Peter arose and came with them. And whe
he was come, they brought hym into ꝥ cham ber. And all the wydowes stode rounde about him wepinge and shewinge the cotes and gar mentes whiche Dorcas made, whyle she was with them. And Peter put them al forth and kneled downe and prayed, and turned hym to the body, and sayde: Tabytha, aryse. And she opened her eyes, and when she sawe Peter, sate vp. And he gaue her the hande, and lyft her vp, and called the saynctes and wydowes and shewed her alyue. And it was knowen thorowout all Ioppa, and many beleued on the Lorde. And it fortuned that he tarved many dayes in Ioppa, with one Symon, a tanner.

¶ The vision that Peter sawe. Howe he was sent to Cornelius. The heythen also receyue the spyrit, and are baptysed.

CAPI. X.

THere was a certayne man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captayne of the sou diers of Italy, a deuoute man, and one that feared God with all his housholde, whiche gaue moche almes to the people, & prayde God alwayes. The same sawe in a vision euidently aboute the nynthe houre of the daye an Aungell of God commynge in, to him, & sayenge vnto hym: Cornelius. When he loked on him, he was afrayde and sayde: What is it Lorde? He sayde vnto him. Thy prayers & thy almesses are come vp into remembraūce before God. And now sende men to Ioppa, & cal for one Symon named also Peter. He lod geth with one Symon a tanner, whose house is by the see syde. He shal tell the, what thou oughtest to doo. When the Aungell whiche spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his housholde seruauntes, and a deuout soudyer of them that wayted on him,
and tolde them all the matter, and sent them to Ioppa.

On the morowe as they went on their iorney, & drewe nyghe vnto the cyte, Peter wet vp vpō the toppe of the house to praye, about the sixt houre. Then wared he an hongred, & wolde haue eaten. But whyle they made redy, he fell into a traunce, and sawe heauen opened, and a certayne vessell come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheete, knyt at
the. iiij. corners, and was let downe to the

earthe, wherein were all maner of. iiij. foted beastes of the earth, and vermen and wormes and foules of ye ayer. And there came a voyce to him: arise Peter, kill, and eate. But Peter sayde: God forbyd Lorde, for I haue neuer eate any thinge that is comen or vncleane. And the voyce spake vnto him agayne the seconde tyme: What God hathe cleansed, that make thou not comen. This was done thryse and the vessell was receyued vp agayne into heauen.

Whyle Peter mused in him self what this vysion which he had sene, meant: Beholde, the men which were sent frome Cornelius, had made enquyre for Symons house, & stode before the dore. And called out one and asked whether Symon which was also called Peter were lodged there. Whyle Peter thought on this vysion, the spyrite sayde vnto him: Beholde, men seke the: aryse therfore, get the downe, and go with them, and doubte not: for I haue sent them. Peter went downe to ye men which were sent vnto him, frome Cornelius, and sayde. Beholde, I am he whome ye seke, what is the cause wherfore ye are come? And they sayde vnto him: Cornelius ye captayne, a iuste man, & one that feareth God, and of good reporte amonge al the people of the Iewes, was warned by an holy Aungell, to sende for the into his house, and to heare wordes of the. Then called he them in, and lodged them.

And on the morow Peter went away with them, and certayne brethren frome Joppa accompanyed him. And the thirde daye entred they into Cesaria. And Cornelius wayted for them, and had called together his kynsmen, & speciall frendes. And as it chaunced Peter to come in, Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his fete, and worshipped him. But Peter toke him vp, sayeng: Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man. And as he talked with him, he came in, and founde many that were come together. And he sayde vnto them: Ye knowe how that it is an vnlawfull thinge for a man that is a Iewe, to companye or come vnto a straunger: but God hathe shewed me that I shulde not call any man commen or vncleane: therfore came I vnto you, without sayenge naye, as sone as I was sent for. I aske therfore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?

And Cornelius sayde: This daye now .iij. dayes I fasted, and at the .ix. houre I prayde in my house: and beholde, a man stode before me in bright clothinge, and sayde: Cornelius thy prayer is herde, and thyne almes deades are had in remembraunce in the sight of God. Sende therfore to Joppa, and call for Symō whiche is also called Peter. He is lodged in the house of one Symon, a tanner by the see syde, who as sone as he is come, shall speake vnto the. Then sent I for the immediately: and thou hast well done for to come. Nowe are we all here present before God, to heare all thynges that are commaunded vnto the, of God.

Then Peter opened his mouth, and sayde: Of a trouth, I perceyue that God is not par tiall: but in all people, he that feareth hym, and worketh righteousnesse, is accepted with hym.

Ye knowe the preachynge that God sente vnto the children of Israell, preachinge peax by Jesu Christ, which is Lorde ouer all: ✣ Which preachinge was publyshed thorowout all Jewry, and began in Galile, after the baptysme whiche Johñ preached, howe God had annoynted Jesus of Nazareth, with the holy ghoste, and with power. Whiche Jesus went aboute doynge good, and healynge all that were oppressed of the deuyls, for God was with him. And we are wytnesses, of all thynges whiche he dyd in the lande of the Jewes, and at Jerusalem: whome they slewe & honge on tree. Him God reysed vp the thirde daye, and shewed him openly, not to all the people, but vnto vs witnesses chosen before of God, whiche ate and dronke with him, after he arose frome deathe. ✣ And he commaunded vs to preache vnto the people and testify, that it is he that is ordened of God, a iudge of quycke and dede. To him gyue all the prophetes witnesse, that thorowe his name, all that beleue in him, shall receyue remission of synnes. ✣

Whyle Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy ghost fell on all them which herde the preachynge. And they of the circumcision which beleued, were astonyed, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentyls also was shed out the gyfte of the holy ghoste. For they herde them speake with tonges and magnifye God. Then answered Peter: can any man forbyd, that these shulde not be baptysed with water, which haue receyued the holy ghost as well as we? And he commaunded them to be baptised, in the name of the Lorde. ✣ Then prayd they hym to tary a few dayes.

They of the circumcision that came with the Jewes.

¶ Peter herewith the cause wherfore he went to the Heythen. Barnabas and Paule preach vnto the Heythen. Agabus prophesieth derth for to come.

CAPI. XI.

ANd the Apostles and the brethren that were thorowout Jewry, herde say that the Heythen had also receyued ỹ word of God. And when Peter was come vp to Jerusalem, they of the circumcision reasoned with him, sayenge: Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and atest with them.

Then Peter began, & expounded the thynge in order to them, sayenge: I was in the cyte of Joppa, prayenge: and in a traunce I saw a vysion, a certayne vessell descende, as it had bene a large lynnen clothe, let downe frome heauen, by the foure corners, and it came to me. Into the whiche when I hadde fastened myne eyes, I consydered and saw fourefoted beastes of the earth, and vermen and wormes and foules of the ayre. And I herde a voyce sayenge vnto me: Aryse Peter, sley, and eate. And I sayde: God forbyd Lorde, for nothing ✣ commen or vncleane, hath at any tyme entred into my mouth. But the voyce answered me me agayne frome heauen, counte not thou thyse thinges commen, whyche God hathe clensed. And this was done thre tymes. And all were taken vp agayne into heauen.

✣ The Jewes called the

And beholde, anone there were three men come vnto the house where I was, sente frome Cesarea vnto me. And the spirite sayde vnto me, that I shulde go with them, without doubtinge. These fire brethren accompanyed me: and we entred into the mans house. And he shewed vs, howe he had sene an Aungell in his house, which stode and sayd to him sende men to Joppa, and call for Simon, named also Peter: he shall tell the, wordes, wherebye both thou and all thyne house shall be saued. And as I began to preache, the holy ghost fell on them, as he dyd on vs at the begynnynge. Then came to my remembrance the wordes of the Lorde, how he sayde: ✣ Johñ baptised with water, but ye shalbe baptised with the holy ghost. For as moche then as God gaue them lyke gyftes, as he dyd vn to vs, when we beleued on the Lorde, Jesu Christe: What was I, that I shoulde haue withstande God? When they herde this, they helde their peax and glorifyed God, sayenge: then hath God also to the gentyls graunted repentaunce vnto lyfe.

They whiche were scatered abrode, throwe the affliction that arose about Steuen, walked throwe oute, tyll they came vnto Phenices and Cypers and Antioche, preachynge the worde to no man, but vnto the Jewes only. Some of them were men of Cypers, and Cyrene, which when they were come into Antioche, spake vnto the Grekes, and preached the Lorde Jesus. And the hande of the Lord was with them, and a greate noumbre beleued and turned vnto the Lorde.

Tydinges of these thinges came vnto the eares of the congregation, whiche was in Jerusalem. And they sent forth Barnabas that he shulde go vnto Antioche. Which when he was come, and hadde sene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted them all, that with purpose of hert, they wold cõtinually cleaue vnto the Lorde. For he was a good man, and full of the holy ghost and of faith: and moch people was added vnto the Lorde. Then departed Barnabas to Tharsus, for to seke Saul. And when he had foũd him, he brought him vnto Antioche. And it chaunced that a hole yere, they hadde their conuersation with the congregation there, & taught moche people: in so moche that the disciples of Antioche were the first that were called Christen.

✣ In those dayes came Prophetes frome Jerusalem vnto Antioche. And there stode vp one of them named Agabus, and signifyed by the spirite, that there shoulde be great derthe throughe oute all the worlde, whiche came to passe in the Emperour Claudius dayes. Thẽ the disciples euery man accordinge to his habilite, purposed to sende socoure vnto the brethren which dwelt in Jewry. Which thinge they also dyd, and sent it to the elders, by the handes of Barnabas and Saul.

Herod persecuteth the Christen, killeth James, and putteth Peter in prison, whom the Lord deliuereth by an aungell. The thankful teach of Herode.

CAP. XII.

IN that tyme Herode the kynge stretched forth his handes to vexe certayne of the cõgregacion. And he killed James the brother of Johñ with the swerde, and because he sawe that it pleased the Jewes, he proceded further, and tooke Peter also. Then were the dayes of swete bred. And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and delyuered him to. iiij. ✣ quaternions of soudiers to be kept, entendinge after Easter to bringe him forthe to the people. Thẽ was Peter kept in prison. But prayer was made without ceasynge of ỹ congregacion, vnto God for him. And when Herode wolde haue brought him oute vnto the people, ỹ same night slept Peter betwene two soudyers, bounde with two chaynes, and the kepers before the doore, kepte the prison.

And beholde the aungell of the Lorde was there present, and a lyght shyned in the lodge. And he smote Peter on the syde, and stered him vp, sayenge: aryse vp quickely. And his cheynes fell of from his handes. And the angell sayde vnto him: gyrde thy selfe and bynde on thy ✣ sandales. And so he dyd. And he sayde vnto him: cast thy mantle about the, & folowe me. And he came oute, and folowed him, and wist not, that it was truthe whiche was done by the aungel, but thought he had sene a vysyon. When they were past the first and the seconde watche, they came vnto the yron gate, that leadeth vnto the cyte, whyche openned to them by the owne accorde. And they went oute and passed throwe one strete and by and by, the Aungell departed frome hym.

And when Peter was come to hym selfe, he sayde: nowe I knowe of a suretie, that the Lorde hath sent his Aungell, and hathe deliuered me out of the hande of Herode, & from all the lapenge awayte of the people of the Jewes.

✣ And as he consydred the thynge, he came to the house of Mary the mother of one ✣ Johñ, whiche was called Marke also, where many were gathered togither in prayer. As Peter knocked at the entrey doore, a damsell came forthe to herken, named Rhoda. And when she knewe Peters voyce, she opened not the entrey for gladnes, but ran in, and tolde howe Peter stode before the entrey. And they sayde vnto her: thou arte mad. And she bare them downe that it was euen so. Then sayde they: it is his Aungell. But Peter continued knockinge: and when they hadde opened the doore, and sawe him, they were astonyed. And he beckened vnto thẽ with the hande, to holde their peax, and tolde them by what meanes ỹ Lorde had brought him oute of the prison. And he sayde: goo shewe these thinges vnto James, and to the brethren. And he departed and went into an other place.

Alone as it was daye, there was no lytle

a do among the souldyers, what was become of Peter. When Herode had called for hym, and founde hym not, he examined the keepers, and commaunded them to departe. And he wente from Iewry to Cesarea, and there abode. Herode was displeased with them of Tyre and Sydon. And they came all togyther and made intercession vnto Blastus the kynges chamberlein, & desyred peace, because their countrey was nourished by the kynges lande. And vpon a daye appointed, Herode arayed him in royal apparell, and sat him in his seate, and made an oracion vnto them. And the people gaue a shoute, sayenge: it is the voyce of a God, and not of a man. And immediately the aungel of the Lorde * smote him, because he gaue not God the honoure, & he was eate of wormes, and gaue vp the ghoste. And the worde of God grewe and multiplyed. And Barnabas and Paul returned to Jerusalē, when they hadde fulfylled their office, and toke with them Johñ, whiche was also called Marcus.

¶ Paule and Barnabas are called to preache amonge the Gentiles. Sergius Paulus and Elymas the sorcerer. Paule preacheth at Antioche.

CAPI. XIII.

THere were at Antioche, in the congregacion certayne prophetes and teachers as Barnabas and Simon called Niger and Lucius of Cyrene and Manahen Herode the Tetrarches norisshowe, & Saul. As they ministred to the Lorde and fasted, the holye ghost sayd: separate me Barnabas and Saul to the worke that I haue called them. Then fasted they and prayed, and put their handes on them, and let them go. And they after they were sent of the holy ghoste, came vnto Seleucia, and from thence they sayled to Cyprus. And when they were come to Salamine, they shewed the worde of God in the synagoges of the Iewes. And they had Johñ to their minister.

When they had gone thorow oute the Ile vnto the cyte of Paphos, they founde a certayne sorcerer, a false prophete whiche was a Iewe, named Barieu, whiche was with the rular of the countrey one Sergius Paulus a prudēt man. The same rular called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desyred to heare the worde of God. But Elymas the sorcerer (for so was his name by interpretation) withstode them, and sought to turne awaye the rular from the faythe. Then Saul whiche also is called Paul beynge full of the holy ghost, set his eyes on him, and sayde: O full of all subtelte and craftynesse, the childe of the deuyll, and the enemye of all rygh teousnes, thou ceasest not to peruerte the straight wayes of the Lorde. And now beholde the hande of the Lorde is vpon the, and thou shalt be blynde, and not se the sunne for a season. And forthwith there fell on him a myst and a darckenes, and he went aboute seking them that shuld leade him by the hande. Then the rular whē he sawe what had happened, beleued, & wondred at the doctrine of the Lorde.

When they that were with Paule, were departed by shyppe from Paphos, they came to Perga a cyte of Pamphilia: & there Johñ departed from them, and returned to Jerusalem. But they wandred thorowe the countreyes from Perga to Antioche a cyte of the countrey of Pisidia, and went into the synagoge on the Sabboth daye and sate downe. And after the lawe and the Prophetes were rede, the rulers of the Synagoge sent vnto them, sayenge: Ye men and brethren, yf ye haue any sermon to exhort the people, say on.

Then Paul stode vp, and beckened with his hande, and sayde: Men of Israel, and ye that feare God, geue audience. The God of this people chose oure fathers, and exalted the people when they dwelt as straūgers in the land of Egypt, and with a myghty arme brought them out of it, and about the tyme of. xl. yeares suffred he their maners in the wyldernes. And he destroyed. vii. nacions in the lande of Canaan, and diuided their lande to them by lot. And after he gaue vnto them iudges about the space of. * iiij. C. and fyfty yeres, vnto the tyme of Samuel the Prophete. And after that, they desyred a kynge, & God gaue vnto them Saul the sonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Ben Jamin, by the space of fourty yeres. And after he had put him downe, he set vp Dauid to be their kynge, of whome he reported, sayenge: I haue found Dauid the sonne of Jesse, a man after myne owne hert, he shall fulfyll all my will.

Of this mans seed hath God (accordynge to his promyse) brought forthe to the people of Israel, a sauioure, one Jesus, when Johñ had first preached before his commynge & baptisme of repentaunce, to Israel. And when Johñ had fulfylled his course, he sayd: whō ye thynke that I am, the same am I not. * But beholde, there commeth one after me, whose showes of his fete I am not worthye to lowse.

* Paul. in Actis

+ Ye men and brethren, children of the generacion of Abraham, and who so euer amōg you feareth God, to you is the worde of saluacion sent. The inhabyters of Jerusalem, & their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the voyces of the prophetes which are red euery Sabboth daye, they haue fulfylled them in condēpninge him. * And when they found no cause of deathe in him, yet desyred they Pilate to kyll him. And when they had fulfylled all that were writen of him, they toke him downe from the tree, and put him in a sepulchre. But God raysed him agayne from deth and he was sene many dayes of them whiche came with him from Galile to Jerusalem. Which are his witnesses vnto the people.

* Luce xxiij.

And we declare vnto you, howe that the promyse made vnto the fathers, God hathe fulfylled vnto vs their children, in that he reysed vp Jesus agayne + euen as it is written in the first Psalme: * Thou art my sonne, this same daye begate I the. As concerninge that he reysed him vp from deathe, now no more to returne to corruption, he sayde on this wyse

* Psalm ij. Hebrues v.

wyse: The holy promyses made to Dauid, I will gyue them faithfully to you. Wherfore he sayth also in an other place. ✣ Thou shalt not suffre thyne holy to se corruption. Howe be it Dauid after he had in his tyme fulfilled the wyll of God, slepte, and was layde with his fathers, and sawe corruption. But he whome God reysed agayne, sawe no corruption.

Be it knowne vnto you therfore, ye men & brethren, that thorowe this man is preached vnto you the forgyuenes of synnes, and that by him, all that beleue, are iustifyed from al thinges, from whiche ye coulde not be iustifyed by the lawe of Moses. Beware therfore lest that fall on you, whiche is spoken of in the prophetes: Beholde ye despisers & wonder, and perysshe ye: for I worke in youre dayes, whiche ye shall not beleue, yf a man wolde declare it you.

When they were come oute of the Synagoge of the Iewes, the Gentyles besoughte that they wolde preache the worde to them betwene the Sabboth dayes. When the congregation was broken vp, many of the Iewes and vertuous conuertes folowed Paul and Barnabas, whyche spake to them and exhorted them, to continue in the grace of God.

✣ And the nexte Sabboth daye came almoost the hole cytye together, to heare the worde of God. When the Iewes sawe the people, they were full of indignacion, and spake against those thinges whiche were spoken of Paule, speking against it, and raylinge on it.

Then Paule and Barnabas waxed bolde, & sayde: It was mete that the worde of God shulde firste haue bene preached to you. But seynge ye put it from you, and thinke youre selues vnworthy of euerlastinge lyfe: Lo, we turne to the Gentyles: For so hath the Lord commaunded vs ✣ I haue made the a lyght to the Gentyles, that thou be saluacion vnto the ende of the worlde.

The Gentyles herde, and were glad, and glorifyed the worde of the Lorde, and beleued: euen as many as were ordeyned vnto eternall lyfe. And the worde of the Lorde was publyshed thorow out all the region. But the Iewes moued the worshypfull and honorable wemen, and the chiefe men of the cytie, & reysed persecution against Paule and Barnabas and expelled them oute of their costes. ✣ And they shoke of the dust of their fete against them, and came vnto Iconium. And the disciples were fylled with ioye and with the holy ghost. ✣

¶ Paule and Barnabas preache at Iconium, some beleue, some stere vp sedicion. At Lystra they wolde do sacrifyce vnto Barnabas and Paule, whiche refuse it, and exhorte the people to worshippe the true God, Paule is stoned, after that commeth he to Derba, Lystra, Iconium, and to Antioche.

CAPI. XIIII

And it fortuned in Iconium that they 1 went both together into the Synagoge of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and also of the Grekes beleued. But the vnbeleuinge Iewes, stered vp and disquieted the myndes of the Gentyles against the brethren. Longe tyme abode they there, and quyte them selues boldely with the helpe of the Lorde, whiche gaue testimony vnto the worde of his grace, & caused signes and wonders to be done by their handes. The people of the cytie were deuided and parte helde with the Iewes, and parte with the Apostles.

When there was a saulte made both of 2
Gentyles and also of the Iewes, with their rulers, to put them to shame, and to stone them, they were ware of it, and fled vnto Lystra and Derba, cyties of Lycaonia, and vnto the region that lyeth rounde about, & there preached the Gospel. And there sate a certayn 3 men at Lystra weake in his fete, beynge cripple from his mothers wombe, & neuer walked. The same herde Paul preache, whiche beholde him, and perceyued that he had faith to be holpe, and sayde with a lowde voyce: Stonde vpright on thy fete. And he sterte vp, & walked. And when the people sawe what Paul had done, they lyfte vp their voyces, sayenge in the speche of Lycaonia: Goddes are come downe to vs in lykenes of men. And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: and Paul Mercurius, because he was the preacher. Then Jupiters priest, whiche dwelte before their cytie, brought oxen and garlandes vnto the churche porche, and wolde haue doone sacrifice with the people.

But when the Apostles, Barnabas and 4
Paul herde that, they rent their clothes, and ran in amonge the people, cryinge and sayenge: Syrs, why do ye this? We are mortal men lyke vnto you, and preache vnto you, that ye shulde turne from these vanities vnto the lyuynge God, which made heauen and earthe, and the se, and all that in them is: whiche in tymes paste suffered all nacyons to walke in their owne wayes. Neuertheles he left not hym selfe without wytnesse, in that he shewed his benefytes, in gyuinge vs rayne from heauen and frutefull seasons, fyllinge oure hertes with fode, and gladnesse. And with these sayenges, skace restrayned they the people, that they had not done sacrifice vnto them.

Thyther came certayne Iewes from Antioche and Iconium, and obtayned the peoples consent, and stoned Paul, and drew him oute of the cytie, supposynge, he hadde bene dede. Howe be it as the disciples stode rounde about him, he arose vp, and came into the cytie. And the nexte daye he departed with Barnabas to Derba. After they had preached to that cytie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium and Antioche, and strengthed the disciples soules, exhortyng them to continue in the fayth, affirmyng that we must thorow moche tribulacion, entre into the kyngdome of God. And they ordeyned them them elders by election in euery congregacion, and prayed and fasted, and commended them to God on whome they beleued. And they went throwe out Pisidia and came to Pamphilia, and when they had preached the worde of God in Perga, they descended into Attalia, and thence departed by shippe to Antioche, frome whence they were deliuered vnto the grace of God, to the worke whiche they had fulfylled. When they were come and had gathered the congregacion together, they rehersed all that God had done by them, and how he had opened the dore of faith vnto the gentyles. And there they abode longe tyme with the disciples.

¶ Mencyne about circumcision. The apostles pacifye the matter at Jerusalem. Paule and Barnabas preache at Antioche.

CAP. XV.

A THen came certayne frome Jewrye, and taught the brethren + except ye be circumcysed after the maner of Moses, ye cannot be saued. And when there was rysen dissencion and disputynge not a lytell vnto Paul and Barnabas against them, they determyned that Paul and Barnabas, and certayne other of them, shulde go vp to Jerusalem, to the Apostles and elders, about this question. And after they were brought on their way by the congregacion, they passed ouer Phenice and Samaria, declarynge the conuersion of the Gentyles, and they broughte great ioye vnto all the brethren. And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were receyued of the congregacion, and of the Apostles and elders. And they declared what thynges God hadde done by them. Then arose vp certayne of the secte of the Pharises, whyche dyd beleue, sayenge: that it was nedefull to circumcyse them, and to enioyne them, to kepe the lawe of Moses. And the Apostles, and elders, came to gyther to reasone of this matter.

And when ther was moche disputyng, Peter rose vp and sayde vnto them: Ye men and brethren, ye knowe how that a good whyle agoo, God chose amonge vs that the Gentyles by my mouthe, shulde heare the worde of the Gospel and beleue. And God which knoweth the herte, bare them wytnes, and gaue vnto them the holy ghost, euen as he dyd vnto vs, and he put no difference betwene the and vs, but with fayth puryfyed their hertes. Nowe therfore why tempte ye God, that ye wolde put a yoke on the disciples neckes, which neyther our fathers nor we were able to beare. But we beleue that throwe the grace of the Lorde Jesu Christe, we shalbe saued, as they do. Then all the multytude was appeased and gaue audience to Barnabas and Paul, which tolde what synges and wonders God hade shewed amonge the Gentyles by them.

And when they held their peace James answered sayenge: Men and brethren be then vnto me. Simeon tolde how God at the begynnynge dyd vysyte the Gentyles, and receyued of them, people vnto his name. And to this, agreeth the wordes of the Prophetes, as it is wrytten. After this I wyll returne, and wyll build agayne the tabernacle of Dauid which is fallen downe and the decayed of it, wyll I build agayne, and I wyll set it vp that the residue of men myghte seke after the Lorde, and also the Gentyls vpon whome my name is called on sayth the Lorde, whiche doth all these thynges: Knowen vnto God are all his workes frome the begynninge of the worlde. Wherfore my sentence is that we trouble not them whiche from amonge the Gentyls, are turned to God: but that we wryte vnto them, that they absteyne them selues frome filthynes of ymages frome fornycacyon, from strangled and frome bloude. For Moses of olde tyme hath in euery cyte that preach him, and is red in the synagoges euery Sabboth daye.

Then pleased it the Apostles and elders with the hole congregacyon, to sende chosen men of their own company to Antioche with Paul and Barnabas. They sent Judas called also Barsabas, and Silas, whiche were chefe men amonge the brethren, & gaue them letters in their handes after this forme.

The Apostles, elders and brethren send gretinges vnto the brethren which are of the gentyls in Antioche, Syria and Cylicia. For as moche as we haue herde that certayne which departed frome vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and combred youre myndes, sayeng: Ye must be circumcysed and kepe the lawe, to whome we gaue no suche commaundement: we thought good, when we were come togither with one accorde, to sende chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas & Paul, men that haue ieoparded their lyues, for the name of our Lorde Jesu Christ. We haue sent therfore Judas and Silas, whiche shall also tell you the same thinges by mouth. For it semed good to the holy ghost and to vs, to put no greuous thinge vpon you, more then these necessary thinges: that is to saye, that ye absteyne frome thinges offred to ymages, frome bloude, frome strangled and fornication. Frō which yf ye kepe your selues, ye shall do wel. Fare ye well.

When they were departed, they came to Antioche, and gathered the multytude together, and deliuered the Epistle. When they had red it, they reioysed of that consolacion. And Judas and Silas beinge Prophetes, exhorted the brethren with moche preachinge, & strengthed them. And after they had tarryed there a space, they were let goo in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles. Notwithstanding it pleased Silas to abyde there still. Paul & Barnabas continued in Antioche teachinge & preachinge the worde of the Lord with other many.

But after a certayne space, Paul sayd vnto Barnabas: Let vs go agayne and vysyte oure brethren in euery cyte where we haue shewed the worde of the Lorde, and se howe they do. And Barnabas gaue counsell to take with them Johñ, called also Marche. But Paul thought it not mete to take hym vnto

they? company which departed from them at Pamphilia, and went not with them to the worcke. And the dissencion was so sharpe betwene them, that they departed asunder one from ꝓ other: so that Barnabas toke Marcke and sayled vnto Cypers. And Paul chose Silas and departed, beinge taken of the brethren vnto the grace of God. And he went thorow all Syria and Cilicia, stablysshynge the congregacions.

¶ Timothe is circumcised. Paul preacheth at Philippos, and there is put in prison.

CAPI. XVI.

A THen came he to Derba and to Lystra. And be holde, a certayne disciple was there named Timotheus, a womans sone whiche was a Jewesse and beleued: but his father was a Greke. Of whome reported well, the brethren of Lystra, and of Iconium. The same, Paul wolde that he shulde go forth with hym, and toke and circumcysed him because of the Iewes which were in those quarters: for they knewe all, that his father was a Greke. As they went thorowe the cytes, they delyuered them the decrees for to kepe, ordeyned of the Apostles & elders, which were at Jerusalem. And so were the congregacions stablysshed in the faithe, and encreased in noumbre dayly.

B When they had gone thorowe oute Phrygia, and the region of Galacia, and were forbydden of the holy ghost to preache the word in Asia, they came to Mysia, and sought to go into Bethynia. But the spirite suffered them not. Then they went ouer Mysia, and came downe to Troada. And a vysion appeared to Paul in the nyght. There stode a man of Macedonia and prayed him, sayenge: come into
C Macedonia, and helpe vs. After he had sene the vysion, immediatly we prepared to go into Macedonia, certysyed that the Lorde had called vs, for to preache the Gospell vnto them. Then sayled we forthe frome Troada, and with a strayght course came to Samothracia, and the next daye to Neapoli, and frome thence to Philippos, whiche is the chiefe cytie in the partes of Macedonia, and a free cytie.

We were in that cytie abydinge a certayne dayes. And on the Sabboth dayes we wente oute of the cytie, besyde a ryuer, where men were wont to praye. And we sate downe and spake vnto the wemen, whiche resorted thyther. And a certayne woman named Lidya a seller of purple, of the cytie of Thyatira, whiche worshypped God, gaue vs audience.
D Whose hert the Lorde opened that she attended vnto the thinges, whiche Paul spake. When she was baptysed and her housholde, she besought vs, sayenge: If ye thinke that I beleue on the Lorde, come into my house, and abyde there. And she constrayned vs.

* And it fortuned as we went to prayer, a certayne damsell possessed with a spirite of south sayenge, met vs, which brought her masters masters moche gaynes with Prophesyenge.

The same, folowed Paul and vs, and cryed, sayenge: These men are the seruaunts of the hyghest God, which shewe vnto vs the waye of saluacyon. And thus dyd she many dayes. But Paule not content, tourned aboute and sayde to the spirite, I commaunde the in the name of Jesu Christe, that thou come oute of her. And he came out the same houre.

And when her master and mastres, sawe that the hope of their gaynes was gone, they caught Paul and Sylas, and drue them into the market place, vnto the rulers, and
E brought them to the officers, sayenge: These men trouble our cytie, which are Iewes, and preache ordynaunces, which are not lawfull for vs to receyue, neyther to obserue, sythens we are Romayns. And the people ranne on them, and the officers rent their clothes, and commaunded them to be beaten with roddes. And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, cõmaundyng the iayler to kepe them surely. Who when he had receyued suche commaundement, thruste them in to the inner prison, and made their fete fast in the stockes.

F At mydnyghte Paule and Silas prayed, and praysed God. And the prysoners bearde them. And sodenly there was a greate erthquake, so that the foundacion of the prison was shaken, and anone all the doores opened, and euery manes bandes were lowsed. When the keper of the prison waked out of slepe and sawe the prison doores open, he drewe out his sword and wolde haue slayne him selfe, supposynge the prisoners had bene fled. But Paule cryed with a loude voyce, sayeng: do thy selfe no harme, for we are all heare. Then he called for a lyghte and sprange in and came trembynge, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, and brought them out and sayd. Sirs, what muste I do to be saued? And they sayde:
G beleue on the Lorde Jesus, and thou shalt be saued and thy housholde. And they preached vnto him the worde of the Lorde, and to all that were in his house. And he toke them the same houre of the nyghte and washed their wounds, and was baptysed with all that belonged vnto him straight way. When he had broughte them in to his house, he sette meate before them, and ioyed that he with all his housholde, beleued on God.

And when it was daye, the officers sent the minysters, sayeng: let those men go. The keper of the prison tolde this sayenge to Paule, the officers haue sente worde to louse you. Nowe therfore gete you hence and go in peace. Then sayde Paule vnto them: they haue beaten vs openly vncondempned, wheras we are Romayns, and haue cast vs in to prison: and nowe wolde they sende vs awaye preuely? Nay, not so, but let them come them selues, and fet vs out. When the ministers tolde these wordes vnto the officers, they feared when they herde that they were Romayns, and came and besought them, and brought them out, and desyred them to departe out of the cytie. So they went out of the prison and entred in to the house of Lidia, and when they had sene the brethren, they comforted them and departed.

¶ Paule commeth to Thessalonica, where the Jewes set the cytye on a rore. Paule escapeth, and commeth to Athens, where he preacheth the true and vnknowne God.

CAPI. XVII.

a AND they made their iourney thorow Amphipolis, and Apolonia, they came to Thessalonica where was a Synagoge of the Jewes. And Paule (as his maner was) went in vnto them, and three sabboth dayes reasoned forth of the scripture vnto them, * openynge and alegynge that Christ must nedes haue suffred and risen agayne from the deathe, and that this Jesus was Christ, whom (sayd he) I preache to you. And some of them beleeued and came and companyed with Paul and Silas: also of the deuoute Grekes a greate multitude and of the chefe women not a fewe.

Luke 24. g

But the Jewes which beleeued not, hauinge indignation, toke vnto them euyll men which were vacabondes, and gathered a company, and set all the cytye on a rore, and made assaute vnto the house of Jason, and sought to bringe them out to the people. But when they founde them not, they drewe Jason and certayne brethren vnto the heades of the cytie, crying: these that trouble the world are come hither also, whiche Jason hath receyued priuily. * And these all do contrary to the decrees of Cesar, affirmynge an other kynge, one Jesus. And they troubled the people and the officers of the cytie, when they herde these thynges. And when they were sufficiently answered of Jason and of the other, they let them go.

* Iohn. 19. c

And the brethren forthwith sente awaye Paule and Silas by nyghte vnto Berrea, c which when they were come thyther, they entred in to the Synagoge of the Jewes. These were the noblest of byrthe amonge them of Thessalonica, which receyued the worde with all diligence of mynde, and searched the scriptures dayly whether those thinges were euen so. And many of the beleeued: also of worshipfull women which were Grekes, and of men not a fewe. When the Jewes of Thessalonica had knowlege that the worde of God was preached of Paule at Berrea, they came and moued the people there. And then forthwith the brethren sent awaye Paul to go as it were to the see: but Silas and Timothe abode there styl. But they that gyded Paul, d brought him vnto Athens, and receyued a commaundement vnto Silas and Timothe for to come to him forthwith and came their waye. While Paul wayted for them at Athens, his spirite was moued in him, to se the cytye gyuen to worshyppyng of ymages. Then he disputed in the Synagoge with the Jewes, e with the deuout personnes, and in the market dayly with f them that came vnto him. Certayne Philosophers of the Epicures and of the Stoykes, disputed with him. And some their were which sayde: What will this babler saye? Other sayde: he semeth to be a shewer of straunge g goddes, e because he preached vnto the Jesus and the resurrection. And they toke him, and brought him in to Marce streete, sayinge: may we not know what this new doctrine whereof thou speakest, is? For thou bryngest straunge newes to our eares. We wolde know therfore what these thynges meane. For all the Athenians and strangers which were there, gaue them selues to nothyng els, but either to tell or to heare newes.

g Strauge

Paul stode in the myddes of Marce streete, and sayde: ye men of Athens I perceyue that in all thinges ye are to superstitious. For as I passed by and beheelde the maner how ye worshyp youre goddes, I founde an aultare wherin was writte: vnto the vnknowe God. Whom ye then ignorauntly worshyp, him shew I vnto you: * God that made the worlde and all that are in it, seinge that he is Lorde of heuen and erthe dwelleth not in temples made with handes, neyther is worshypped with mennes handes, as though he neded of any thing, seing he him selfe gyueth lyfe and breth to all men euery where and hath made of one bloude all nations of men, for to dwell on all the face of the erth, and hath assigned before, how longe tyme, and also the endes of their habitacio, that they shulde seke God, if they myght fele and fynde him, though he be not farre from euery one of vs. For in him we lyue, moue and haue oure beinge / as certayne of youre owne Poetes sayd. For we are also his generacion. For as moche then as we are the generacion of God, we oughte not to thynke that the Godhed is lyke vnto golde, syluer or stone, grauen by craft and ymaginacion of man.

* Actes 14. h

And the tyme of this ignorauce God regarded not. But nowe he byddeth all men euery where repent, because he hath appoynted a daye, in which he will iudge the worlde accordynge to rygh tewysenesse, by that man whome he hath appoynted, and hathe offred faith to all men, after that he had raysed him from deathe.

When they herde of the resurrection from deathe, some mocked, and other sayde: We will heare the agayne of this matter. So Paul departed from them. Howe be it certayne men claue vnto Paul and beleeued, amonge whiche was Dionisius a iudge, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

¶ Paul preacheth at Corinthum, continuyng there a yere and a halfe, goeth agayne in to Syria, commeth to Ephesus, Cesarea and Antioche. Of Apollos, Aquila and Priscilla.

CAPI. XVIII.

a AFter that Paul departed from Athens and came to Corynthum, and founde a certayne Jewe named Aquila borne in Ponthus, lately come from Italy with his wyfe Priscilla (because that the Emperour Claudius hadde commaunded all Jewes to departe from Rome) and he drewe vnto the. And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought: their crafte was to make tentes. And he preached in the Synagoge goge euery Sabboth daye, and exhorted the Iewes and the gentyls.

When Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul was constrayned by the spirite to testifye to the Iewes that Iesus was very Christ. But when they layd contrary and blaspheined, he shoke his rayment and layde vnto them: youre bloude vpon youre owne heades, and from henceforth I go vnclaimles vnto the gentyls. And he departed thence and entred in to a certayne mannes house named Iustus a worshypper of God, whose house ioyned harde to the synagoge. Howbeit one Crispus the chefe ruler of the synagoge beleued on the Lorde with all his household, and many of the Corinthians gaue audience, and beleued and were baptysed.

Then spake the Lorde to Paule in the nyght by a vysion. Be not afrayd, but speake, & holde not thy peace: for I am with the, & no man shall inuade the that shall hurte the. For I haue moche people in this cite. And he contynued there a yeare and sixe monethes, and taught them the worde of God.

When Gallio was ruler of the countre of Achaia, the Iewes made insurrection with one accorde agaynst Paule, and brought him to the iudgment seate, sayinge: this felow counseleth men to worshippe God, contrary to the lawe. And as Paule was aboute to open his mouthe Gallio layde vnto the Iewes: yf it were a matter of wrong, or an euyll dede (O ye Iewes) reason wolde that I shulde heare you: but yf it be a question of wordes, or of names, or of youre lawe, loke ye to it youre selues. For I wyl be no iudge in suche maters, and he draue them frome the seate. Then toke al the Grekes Sosthenes the chefe ruler of the synagoge, and smote him before the iudges seate. And Gallio cared for noone of thole thynges.

Paule after this, taryed there yet a good whyle, and then toke his leaue of the brethren and sayled thence in to Syria, Priscilla and Aquila accompanying him. And he shore his heed in Cenchrea, for he had a vowe. And he came to Ephesus and left them there: but he him selfe entred in to the synagoge, and reasoned with the Iewes. When they desyred him to tary longer tyme with them, he consented not, but bade them fare well sayinge. I muste nedes at this feaste that commeth, be in Ierusalem: but I wyll returne agayne vnto you, yf God wil. And he departed frome Ephesus and came vnto Cesarea: and ascended and saluted the congregacion, and departed vnto Antioche, and when he had taryed there a whyle, he departed. And wente ouer all the coütre of Galacia & Phrygia by order, strengthinge all the disciples.

And a certayn Iewe named Appollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and myghty in the scriptures. The same was informed in the waye of the Lorde, and he spake feruently in the spirite, and taught diligently the thynges of the Lorde, and knewe but the baptisme of Iohn only. And the same began to speake boldly in the synagoge. And when Aquila and Priscilla hadde herde hym, they toke him vnto them and expounded vnto him the waye of God more perfectly.

And when he was disposed to go in to Achaia the brethren wrote, exhortynge the disciples to receyue him. After he was come thyther, he holpe them moche which hadde beleued throwe grace. And mightely he ouercame the Iewes, and that openly, shewynge by the scriptures that Iesus was Christ.

¶ Of the .xii. men whom Paule baptysed at Ephesus and what miracles were done by him. Demetrius mouyth sedition in the cyte.

CAPI. XIX.

IT fortuned whyle Apollo was at Corinthum, that Paul passed throwe the vpper coostes and came to Ephesus, and found certayne disciples, and layde vnto them: haue ye receyued the holy ghoste sythens ye beleued? And they layde vnto him: no, we ha e not hearde whether there be any holy ghost or no. And he layde vnto them: wherevnto were ye then baptysed? And they sayd: Vnto Iohns baptysme. Then sayde Paule: Iohn baptysed with the baptisme of repentaunce, sayinge vnto the people that they shulde beleue on him, which shuld come after him: that is on Christ Iesus. When they herde that, they were baptised in the name of the Lord Iesu. And Paul layde his handes vpon them, and the holy ghost came on them, and they spake with tonges, and prophesyed, and all the men were aboute twelue.

And he went in to the synagoge, and behaued him selfe boldely for the space of thre monethes, disputynge and gruynge them exhortacions of the kyngdome of God. But when dyuers were harde herted and beleued not, but spake euyll of the waye, and that before the multytude: he departed from them and seperated the disciples. And he disputed dayly in the scole of one called Tyrannus. And this contynued by the space of .ii. yeares so that all they which dwelte in Asia, herde the worde of the Lorde Iesu, both Iewes and Grekes. And God wrought no small myracles by the handes of Paul: so that frome his body, were brought vnto the syche, napkyns or partlettes, and the diseases departed frō them, and the euyll spretes went oute of them.

Then certayne of the vagabounde Iewes exorcistes, toke vpon them to call ouer them which had euyll spretes, the name of the Lord Iesus sayenge: We coniure you by Iesu whō Paul preacheth. And there were seuen sonnes of one Sceua a Iewe and chefe of the prestes which dyd so. And the euyll spirite answered and layde: Iesu I know, and Paul I know: but who are ye? And the man in whome the euyll spirite was, ran on them, and ouercame them, and preuayled agaynst them, so that they fledde out of that house naked and wounded. And this was knowen to all the Iewes, and Grekes also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and they magnified the name of the Lorde Iesus.

And many that beleued, came and confessed and shewed their workes. Many of them which vsed curious crafftes, brought their bookes and burned them before all men, and they counted the price of them, and founde it fyfty thousande pieces of syluer. So mightely grewe the worde of God, and preuayled. After these thinges were ended, Paul purposed in the spirite, to passe ouer Macedonia and Achaia, and to go to Ierusalem, sayenge: After I haue bene there, I must also se Rome. So sent he into Macedonia two of the that ministred vnto him, Timotheus and Erastus but he him self remayned in Asia for a season.

C The same tyme there arose no lytell a doo about that ware. For a certayne man named Demetrius, a siluersmyth, which made siluer thynges for Diana, was not a lytell beneficiall vnto the craftes men. Which he called together with the workemen of like occupation and sayde: Syrs, ye knowe that by this craft we haue gaynes. And ye se and heare that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia, this Paul hath perswaded and turned awaye moche people, sayeng that they be not Goddes whiche are made with handes. So that not onely this our crafte commeth into parell to be set at nought: but also that the temple of the greate Goddesse Diana shoulde be despysed, and her magnificence shoulde be destroyed, whiche all Asia and the worlde worshyppeth.

When they herde these sayinges, they were full of wrath, and cryed out sayenge: Greate is Diana of the Ephesians. And all the cyte was in a roore, & they rushed into the comen hall with one assent, and caught Gayus and Aristarcus, men of Macedonia, Pauls compaynions. When Paul wolde haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffred him not. Certayne also of the chefe of Asia which were his frendes, sent vnto him, desyringe him that he wolde not preace into ꝑ comen hall. Some cryed one thinge and some an other, and the congregation was all out of quyet, and the more parte knewe not wherfore they were come together.

Some of the company drue forthe Alexander, the Iewes thrustynge him forwardes. Alexander beckened with the hande, and wolde haue geuen the people an answere. When they knewe that he was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men cryenge: great is Diana of the Ephesians.

When the towne clarcke hadde craued the people, he sayde: Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not, how the cyte of the Ephesians is a worshypper of the greate Goddesse Diana, and of the ymage whiche came frome heauen. Seynge then no man sayeth here against, ye oughte to be content, & to do nothinge rashely: for ye haue broughte hyther these men whiche are neyther robbers of churches, ne despysers of youre Goddes.

Wherfore yf Demetrius and the craftes men which are with him, haue any sayenge to any man, the lawe is open, and there are iuges, let them accuse one an other. Yf ye go aboute any other thynge, it maye be determyned in a lawfull congregacyon. For we are in iopardy to be accused of this dayes businesse: for as moche as there is no cause wherby we may gyue a reckeninge of this concourse of people. And when he had thus spoken he let the congregation departe.

C Paule goeth in to Macedonia and in to Greece. 31 Troas he rayseth vp a ded body. 38 Ephesus he calleth the elders of the congregacion together, commyttyth the keepynge of Goddes flocke vnto them, warneth them of false teachers, maketh his prayer with them, and departeth to shyppe.

CAPI. XX.

After the rage was ceased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and toke his leaue of them, and departed to go into Macedonia. And when he hadde gone ouer those parties, and geuen them large exhortations, he came into Greece, and there abode three monethes. And when the Iewes layde awaite for him as he was aboute to sayle into Syria, he purposed to returne throughe Macedonia. There accompanyed him into Asia, Sopater of Berrhea, and of Thessalonia, Aristarcus and Secundus, and Gayus of Derba, and Timotheus: and out of Asia, Tichicus and Trophimos. These went before, and tarryed vs at Troas. And we sayled away frō Philippos after the vlter holy dayes, & came vnto them to Troas in fyue dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

And on the morow after the Sabboth day, the disciples came together for to breake bred, and Paul preached vnto them (redy to depart on the morowe) and continued the preachyng vnto mydnight. And there were manye lightes in the chaumber where they were gathered together, and there sate in a wyndowe a certayne yonge man named Eutichus, fallen into a depe sleepe. And as Paul declared, he was the more ouercome with slepe, and fell downe frome the thyrde lofte, and was taken vp dede. ✣ Paul went downe and fell on him and embraced him, and sayde: make nothyng a doo, for his life is in him. When he was come vp agayne, he brake bred, and talked, & comened a longe whyle, euen tyll the morninge, and so departed. And they brought the younge man a lyue, and were not a lytell cōforted.

And we went afore to shyp, and sayled vnto Asson, there to receyue Paule. For so had he appointed, & wolde him selfe go a foote. When he was come vnto vs to Asso, we toke him in, and came to Mytilenes. And we sayled thence and came the next dayouer ragayn Chios. And the next day we arriued at Samos, and tarryed at Trogilion. The next day we came to Mylleton: for Paul had determined to leaue Ephesus as they sayled, because he wolde not spende the tyme in Asia. For he hasted to be (yf he coulde possible) at Jerusalem at the day of Pentecost. Wherfore frome Mileton he sente to Ephesus, and called the elders of the congregacion. And when they were come to him, he sayd vnto them: Ye knowe from the fyrste daye that I came in to Asia, after what maner I haue bene with you at all seasons, seruynge the Lorde with all humblenes of mynde, and with many teares, and temptacions, whiche happened vnto me by the layinges awaite of the Jewes: and howe I kepte backe nothyng that was profitable, but that I haue shewed you and taughte you openly and at home in your houses, witnesyng bothe to the Jewes, and also to the Grekes, the repentaunce towarde God, and fayth towarde our Lorde Jesus.

And nowe beholde, I go bounde in the spirite vnto Jerusalem, and knowe not what shall come on me there, but that the holy ghost witnesseth in euery cite, saying: that bandes and trouble abyde me. But none of those thynges moue me, neither is my lyfe dere vnto my self, that I myght fulfyll my course with ioye, and the ministracion which I haue receyued of the Lorde Jesu, to testifie the gospell of the grace of God.

And nowe beholde, I am sure that hence forth ye all (those vnto whom I haue gone preachynge the kyngdome of God) shall se my face no more. * Wherfore I take you to recorde this same day, that I am pure frome the bloude of all men. For I haue kepte nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God. Take hede therfore vnto your selues and to all the flocke, wherof the holy ghoste hathe made you ouerseers, to rule the congregacion of God, whiche he hathe purchased with his bloude. * For I am sure of this, that after my departynge, shall greuous wolues entre in amonge you, whiche wyll not spare the flocke. And of youre owne selues shall men aryse, speakynge peruerse thynges to drawe disciples after them. Therfore awake, and remembre that by the space of three yeres, I ceased not to warne euery one of you bothe nyght and daye with teares.

And nowe brethren, I commende you to God, and to the worde of his grace, whiche is able to buylde further, and to gyue you an inheritaunce amonge all them whiche are sanctifyed. I haue desyred no mannes syluer, golde or rayment. Ye knowe well that these handes haue mynistred vnto my necessityes, and to them that were with me. I haue shewed you all thynges, how that so labouryng ye ought to receyue the weyke, and to remembre the wordes of the Lorde Jesu, howe he sayde: It is more blessed to gyue, then to receyue.

When he hadde thus spoken, he kneled downe and prayed with them all. And they wepte habounhantly, and fell on Paules necke, and kyssed him, sorowynge most of all for the wordes whiche he spake, that they shulde se his face no more. And they accompanyed him vnto the shyppe.

¶ Paule Journey by shyppe. Of Philippe the Euangelist, and Agabus the prophet, which warned Paul not to go to Jerusalem. He remayned stedfast in his purpose, and is taken in the temple.

CAPI. XXI.

AND it chaunced that as sone as we had launched forth, and were departed from them, we came with a strayghte course vnto Choon, and the day folowyng vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara. And we founde a shyppe redye to sayle vnto Phenices, and went a borde and set forthe. Then appeared vnto vs Cyprus, and we lefte it on the lefte hande, and sayled vnto Syria, and came vnto Tyre. For there the shyp vnladed her burthen. And when we had founde brethren we taryed there seuen dayes. And they tolde Paule thorowe the spirite, that he shulde not go vp to Jerusalem. And when the dayes were ended, we departed and went our wayes, and they all broughte vs on our waye, with their wyues and children, tyll we were come oute of the cite. And we kneled downe in the more and prayed. And when we had taken our leaue one of an other, we toke shyp, and they returned home agayne.

When we had full ended the course from Tyre we arryued at Ptolomaida, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one daye. The nexte daye, we that were of Paules compayne departed and came vnto Cesarea. And we entred in to the house of Philip the Euangelyst, whiche was one of the seuen deacons, and abode with him. The same man hadde foure doughters virgyns, whiche dyd prophesye. * And as we taryed there a good meany of dayes, there came a certayne prophete frome Jurye, named Agabus. When he was come vnto vs, he toke Paules girdell, and bounde his handes and feete, and sayde: Thus sayth the holy ghost, so shal the Jewes at Jerusalem bynde the man that oweth this girdell, and shal deliuer him in to the handes of the Gentyles.

When we herde this, both we and other of the same place, besoughte him that he wolde not go vp to Jerusalem. Then Paule answered and sayde: What doo ye, weepynge and breakynge myne herte? I am redye not to be bounde onely, but also to dye at Jerusalem for the name of the Lorde Jesu. When we coulde not turne his mynde, we ceased, sayinge: the wyll of the Lorde be fulfylled. After those dayes we made our selues redye, and went vp to Jerusalem. There went with vs also certayne of the disciples of Cesarea, and broughte with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple with whome we sholde lodge. And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren receyued vs gladly. And on the morow, Paule went in with vs vnto James, and all the elders came togyther. And when he hadde saluted them, he tolde by order all thynges that God had wrought amonge the Gentyles by his ministracion. And when they herde it they glorifyed the Lorde, and sayde vnto him: Thou seest brother, how ma ny thousande Iewes there are whiche beleue, and they are all zelous ouer the lawe. And they are informed of the, that thou teachest

all the Iewes which are amonge the gentils, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcyse their children, neyther to lyue after the customes. What is it therfore?
The multitude must nedes come together. For they shall heare that thou art come. Do therfore this, that we saye to the.

Numer. 6. c. * We haue foure men, which haue a vowe on them. Them take, and purifye thy selfe with them, and bestowe on them, that they maye shaue their heddes, and all shall know that those thinges whiche they haue herde cocernynge the, are nothynge: but that thou thy selfe also walkest and kepest the lawe.
For as touchynge the gentyls which beleue,
we haue written and concluded, that they ob-serue no suche thynges: but that they kepe themselues frome thynges offred to ydoles, frome bloude, frome strangled, and from fornication. Then the nexte daye Paul toke the men, and purifyed him selfe with them, and entred into the temple, declarynge that he ob serued the dayes of the purification, tyll that an offringe shoulde be offred for euerye one of theym.

And as the seuen dayes shulde haue bene en ded, the Iewes whiche were of Asia, when they sawe hym in the temple, they moued all the people, and layde handes on hym, cryng:
men of Israel, helpe. This is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the peo ple and the lawe, and this place. Moreouer he hath brought Grekes into the temple, and hath defyled this holy place. For they sawe one Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the cyte: Him they supposed Paul had broughte into the temple. And all the cyte was moued and the people swarmed together. And they toke Paul and drue him out of the temple, &
forthwith the dores were shut.

As they went about to kyll hym, tydinges came vnto the chefe captayne of the houlbyers, that all Ierusalem was moued. Whiche immediately toke houlbyers and vndercap-taynes, and ran downe vnto theym. When they sawe the Captayne and the houlbyers, they lefte smytynge of Paul. Then the Captaynе came nere and toke him, and commanded him to be bounde with two chaynes, and demaunded what he was, and what he had done. And one cryed this, an other that amog
the people. And when he coulde not knowe certaynte for the rage, he commaunded him to be caryed into the castel. And whe he came vnto the degrees, it fortuned that he was borne of the houlbyers for the violence of the people. For the multitude of the people folowed after, cryenge: awaye with him.

And as Paul shulde haue bene caryed into the castel, he sayde vnto the Captayne: maye
I speake vnto the? Whych sayd: Canst thou speke Greke? Arte not thou that Egyptian, whiche before these dayes made an vproure, &
ledest into the wyldernesse foure thousande men that were murtherers? But Paul sayde
I am a man whiche am a Iewe of Tharsus a cyte in Cycill, a Cytesen of no vyle cyte, I beseche the / suffre me to speake vnto the people. When he had gruen him lycence, Paule stode on the steppes, and beckened with ye hãd vnto the people, and there was made a great silence. And he spake vnto them in the Ebrew tongue, sayenge:

¶ Paule answereth the Iewes, is scourged, and layde in prison agayne.

CAPI. XXII.

YE men brethren & fathers, heare myne aunswere whiche I make vnto you. A
When they herde that he spake in the Ebrewe tongue to them, they kepte the more silence. And he sayde: I am verely a man, whiche am a Iewe borne in Tharsus, a cyte
in Cycill: neuertheles brought vp in this cy tie, at the fete of Gamaliel, and informed di ligently in the lawe of the fathers, and was feruent mynded to God warde, as ye all are this same daye, and * I persecuted this way Iesus. vi. and. xxvi.
vnto the death, byndynge and deliuerynge in to prison bothe men and wemen, as the chief preest bothe beare me witnesse, and all the el- B
ders of whome also I receyued letters vnto
the brethren, and went to Damasco to bringe them whiche were there bounde vnto Jerusalem for to be punyshed.

And it fortuned, as I made my iourney, & I was come nyghe vnto Damasco about none, sodenly there shone frome heauen a greate lyghte rounde aboute me, and I fell vnto the earthe, and herde a voyce, sayenge vnto me. Actus. ix.
* Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?
And I aunswered: What arte thou Lorde?
And he sayde to me: I am Iesus of Nazareth whome thou persecutest. And they that were with me sawe a lyghte and were afrayde: but they herde not the voyce of him that spake with me. And I sayde: What shall I doo C Lorde? And the Lorde sayde vnto me: Aryse, and go in to Damasco and there it shalbe told the of all thinges which are appointed the to do. And when I sawe nothing for the brightes nes of the lyghte, I was ledde by the hande of them that were with me, and came into Da-masco.

And one Ananias a perfect man, and as per tayninge to the lawe hauynge good reporte of all the Iewes whiche there dwelte, came D
vnto me, and stode and sayde vnto me: Brother Saule, loke vp. And that same houre I receyued my sight and sawe him. And he sayd the God of our fathers hath ordeyned the before, that thou shuldest knowe his will, and shuldest se that which is righteous, & shuldest heare the voyce of his mouth: for thou shalt be his witnes vnto all men of those thinges, whiche thou hast sene and herde. And nowe:
why tarryest thou? Aryse and be baptysed, and washe awaye thy synnes, callynge on the name of the Lorde. And it fortuned, when I was come agayne to Jerusalem / and prayed in the

in the temple, that I was in a traunce, and sawe hym, sayinge vnto me. Make haste, and get the quyckly out of Ierusalē, for they will not receyue thy wytnesse that thou beares of me. And I sayde: Lorde they knowe that I pursued and bet in euery synagoge them that beleued on the. And when the bloode of thy wytnesse Steuen was shed, I also stode by, & c consented vnto his deth, and kept the rayment
of them that slewe hym. And he sayd vnto me:
departe, for I will sende the a farre hence vn-
to the Gentyles.

They gaue him audience vnto his worde,
and then lyfte vp their voyces, and sayde: awaye with suche a felowe from the erth: it is pitye that he shulde lyue. And as they cryed and cast of their clothes, and threwe dust in to the ayre, the captayne bad him be broughte in to the castell, and commaunded him to be scourged, and to be examined, that he might know wherfore they cryed on hym. And as they bounde him with thonges, Paule sayde vnto
the Centurion that stode by: Is it lawfull for you to scourge a man that is a Romayne, and vncondemned? When the Centurion herde that, he went and tolde the captayne, sayinge:
What intendest thou to do? This man is a Romayne.

Then the captayne came, and sayde to him:
Tell me, art thou a Romayne? He sayde: Ye.
And the captayne answered: With a greate somme obteyned I this fredome. And Paule sayde: I was free borne. Then forthwith departed from him they which shulde haue examined him. And the captayne also was afrayd after he knewe that he was a Romayne: because he had bounde him.

On the morowe, because he wolde haue knowen the certaynte, wherfore he was accused of the Iewes, he loosed him from his bon-des, and commaunded the chefe preestes, and all the counsile to come together, and brought Paule, and set him before them.

¶ Paule commeth before the counsell. Debate ariseth among the people. The captayn deliuereth him/ God comforteth him.

CAPI. XXIII.

PAule beholde the counsell and sayd: Men and brethren, I haue lyued in all good con science before God vntil this daye. The hye preest Ananias commaunded them y stode
by to smyte him on the mouthe. Then sayde Paule to him: God smyte the thou paynted wall. Sittest thou & iudgest me after the law, and commaundest me to be smytten contrarye
to the lawe? And they that stode by sayde: re-uilest thou Gods hye preest? Then sayd Paul:
I wist not, brethren, that he was the hye preest.
For it is written: + thou shalte not curse the ruler of thy people.

When Paule perceyued that the one parte were Sadducees, and the other Pharisees, he cryed out in the counsell. Men and brethren,
+ I am a Pharisey, the sonne of a Pharisey.
Of the hope and resurrection I am iudged. And when he had so sayde, there arose a debate betwene the Pharisees and the Sadducees, and the multitude was deuyded.
+ For the Sadducees saye there is no resurrection, neither aungel ne spirite. But the Pharisees graunte bothe. And there arose a greate crye, and the Scribes which was of the Pharisees parte, arose and stroue, sayinge: we fynde none euyll in this man. Though a spirite or an aungell hath appered to him, let vs not fyght agaynst God.

And when there arose greate debate, the captayne fearynge, lest Paule shulde haue ben pluckt asonder of them, commaunded the soul-diers to go downe, and to take hym from them, and to bringe him in to the castell. The nyght folowynge, God stode by him and sayd:
be of good chere Paule, for as thou hast testifyed of me in Ierusalem, so must thou beare wytnes at Rome. When daye was come, cer-tayne of the Iewes gathered them selues together, and made a bowe, sayinge: that they wolde neither eate nor drynke, tyll they had kylled Paule. They were about xl. which had made this conspiracie. And they came to the chefe preestes & elders, and sayd: we haue bound our selues with a bowe, that we wyll eate no-thynge, tyll we haue slayne Paule. Nowe therfore gyue ye knowlege to the captayne
and to the counsell, that he bringe him forthe vnto vs to morow, as though we wold know some thyng more perfectly of hym. But we or euer he come neare, are redy in the meane season to kyll hym.

When Paules systers sonne herde of their layinge awayte, he wente and entred in to the castell, and tolde Paule. And paule called one of the vnder captaynes vnto hym, and sayde:
bringe this ponge man vnto the hye captayn:
for he hathe a certayne thynge to shewe him.
And he toke him, and brought him to the captayne, and sayd: Paule the prysoner called me
vnto him, and prayed me to bring this ponge man vnto the, which hath a certayne matter to shewe the.

The hye captayne toke him by the hande,
and wente aparte with him out of the way:
and asked him, what hast thou to say vnto me?
And he sayd: the Iewes are determined to de-syre the that thou woldest bringe forth Paule to morowe in to the counsell, as though they wold enquire somwhat of him more perfectly.
But folowe not they; myndes: for there lye in wayte for him of them mo then xl. men, which haue bounde them selues with a bowe, that they wyll neither eate ne drynke tyl they haue kylled him. And now are they redye, and lohe for thy promyse.

The captayne let the ponge man departe,
and charged him: See thou tell no man that thou hast shewed these thynges to me. And he called vnto him two vnder captaynes, sayinge:
make redye two hundred soudyers to go to Cesarea, and horsemen three score and ten, and speare men two hundred, at the thyrde houre of the nyghte. And delyuer them beestes that they maye put Paule on, and bringe him safe vnto Felix the deputye, and wrote a letter in this maner.

Claudius

Claudius Lysias vnto the moost myghtye ruler Felix sendeth greetynge. This man was taken of the Iewes, and sholde haue ben kylled of them. Then came I with souldiers, and rescued him, and perceyued that he was a Romayne. And when I wolde haue knowen the cause wherfore they accused him, I brought him forth in to their counsell. There perceyued I that he was accused of questions of their lawe: but was not gylty of any thynge worthye of death or of bondes. And when it was shewed me howe the Iewes layde wayte for the man, I sent him streyght waye to the, and gaue commaundement to his accusers, yf they haddē ought agaynste him, to tell it vnto the: fare well. The souldiers as it was commaunded them, toke Paule, and brought him by nyght to Antipatras. On the morowe they left the horse men to go with him, and returned vnto the castell. Which when they came to Cesarea, delyuered the epystle to the deputye, and presented Paule before him. When the deputie hadde redde the letter, he asked of what countreye he was. And when he vnderstode that he was of Cicill, I will heare the (sayde he) when thyne accusers are come also: and commaunded him to be kepte in Herodis iudgement house.

¶ Paule is accused before Felix, he answereth for him selfe.

CAPI. XXIIII.

After fyue dayes, Ananias the high preest descended with the elders, and with a certeyn oratour named Tertullus, and enfourmed the ruler of Paule. When Paule was called forthe, Tertullus began to accuse him, sayinge: Where as we lyue in greate quietnes by the meanes of the, and many good thinges are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence: that alowe we euer and in all places moost myghty Felix with all thankes. Not withstandyng that I be not tedious vnto the I praye the that thou woldest heare vs of thy curtesye a fewe wordes.

We haue founde this man a * pestilent fellowe, and a mouer of debate vnto all the Iewes throwout the worlde, and a mayntayner of the secte of Nazarytes, and hathe also enforced to pollute the temple. Whome we toke and wolde haue iudged accordyng to our lawe, but the hye captayne Lysias came vpon vs, and with greate violence toke him awaye out of our handes, commaundynge his accusers to come to the. Of whome thou mayste (yf thou wylte enquyre) knowe of all these thynges wherof we accuse him. The Iewes lykewyse affirmed, sayeng that it was euen so.

Then Paule (after that the ruler him selfe had beckened vnto him that he sholde speake) answered: I shall with a more quiet mynde answere for my selfe, for as moche as I vnderstande, that thou hast ben of many yeres a iudge vnto this people, because ¶ thou mayste knowe that there are yet but twelue dayes sithens I wente vp to Ierusalem for to praye, and they neither founde me in the temple disputynge with any man, either raysynge vp the people, neythere in the Synagoges, nor in the cyty. Neither can they proue the thinges wherof they accuse me.

But this I confesse vnto the, that after that waye (whiche they call heresye) so worshyp I the God of my fathers, beleuynge all thinges whiche are wrytten in the lawe and the Prophetes, and haue hope towardes God, that the same resurrection of the dead (which they them selues loke for also) shall be both of iust and vniuste. And therfore studye I to haue a clere conscience towarde God, and towarde man also.

But after many yeres, I came and brought almes to my people, & offrynges in the whiche they founde me purified in the temple, neither with multitude, nor yet with vnquietnes. howbe it there were certayne Iewes oute of Asia, whiche ought to be here present before the, and accuse me, yf they had ought agaynste me: or elles let these same here saye, yf they haue founde any euyll doyng in me, whyle I stande here in the counsell: excepte it be for this one voyce that I cryed standynge amonge them, of the resurrection of the dead, am I iudged of you this daye.

When Felix herde these thynges, he referred them, for he knewe very wel of that way, and sayd: when Lysias the capteyn is come, I wyll knowe the vtmost of your matters. And he commaunded an vnder captayne to kepe Paule, and that he sholde haue rest, and that he sholde forbyd none of his acqueyntaunce to ministre vnto him, and to come vnto him.

And after a certayne dayes, came Felix and his wyfe Drusilla, whiche was a Iewe, and called forth Paule, and herde him of the faith whiche is towarde Christ, and as he preached of ryghteousnes, temperaunce, and iudgement to come, Felix trembled and answered: thou haste doone ynoughe at this tyme, departe: when I haue conuenient tyme, I wyll sende for the. He hoped also that money sholde haue ben geuen him of Paule, that he myght loose him: wherfore he called him the oftener, and commoned with him. But after two yere, Festus Porcius came in to Felix rowme. And Felix wyllynge to shewe the Iewes a pleasure, lefte Paule in prison bounde.

¶ The Iewes accuse Paule before Festus, he appeleth vnto the Emperour, and is sent vnto Rome.

CAPI. XXV.

When Festus was come in to the prouynce, after thre dayes he ascended from Cesarea vnto Ierusalem. Then enformed him the hyghe preestes, and the chiefe of the Iewes of Paule. And they besought hym and desyred fauour against him, that he wolde sende for him to Ierusalem: and layd awayt for him in the way to kyll him. Festus answered that Paul sholde be kepte at Cesarea, but that he hym selfe wolde shortly departe thyther. Let them therfore (sayde he) whiche among you are able to do it, come downe with him

ds and accuse him, yf there be any faute in the man.

b When he had tarved there more then tenne dayes, he departed vnto Cesarea, and the next daye sate downe in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paule to be brought. When he was come, the Iewes whiche were come from Ierusalem, came aboute him, and layde many and greuous complaynes agaynste Paule, whiche they couldē not proue as longe as he answered for him selfe, that he had neither agaynst the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the temple, nor yet agaynste Cesar offended any thynge at all.

Festus wyllyng to do the Iewes a pleasure c answered Paule and sayde: wylt thou go to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these thynges before me? Then sayde Paule: I stande at Cesars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged. To the Iewes haue I no harme done, as thou beste well knowest. If I haue hurte them, or commyted any thynge worthy of dethe, I refuse not to dye. If none of these thynges are, wherof they accuse me, no man ought to delyuer me to them. I appeale vnto Cesar. Then spake Festus with deliberacion, and answered. Thou hast appealed vnto Cesar: vnto Cesar shalt thou go.

d After a certayne dayes, kynge Agrippa, and Bernice came vnto Cesarea to salute Festus. And when they had ben there a good season, Festus rehersed Paules cause vnto the kynge, sayinge: there is a certayne man lefte in prison of Felix, aboute whome when I came to Ierusalem the hye prestes and elders of the Iewes enformed me, & desyred to haue iudgement agayns him. To whom I answered: It e is not the maner of the Romayns to delyuer any man that he shulde perishe, before that he whiche is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue licence to answere for him selfe, concerning the cryme layde agaynste hym: when they were come hyther without delaye on the morowe I sate to gyue iudgement, and commaunded the man to be brought forthe. Agaynste whome when the accusers stode vp, they broughte none accusacion of suche thynges as I supposed: but had certayne questions agaynste him of their owne superstition, and of one Iesus whiche was dead, whome Paule affirmed to be alyue. And because I doubted of suche manor questyons, I asked him whether he wolde go to Ierusalem, and there be iudged of these matters. Then when Paule had appealed to be kepte vnto the f knowlege of Cesar, I commaunded him to be kepte tyll I myghte sende him to Cesar. Agrippa sayd vnto Festus: I wolde also heare the man my selfe. To morowe (sayd he) thou shalte heare him. And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice with greate pompe, & were entred in to the counsell house with the captaynes and chefe men of the cyte, at Festus commaundement Paule was broughte forthe. And Festus sayd: kynge Agrippa, and all men whiche are heare presente g with vs: ye se this man aboute whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue ben with me, bothe at Ierusalem, and also here, cryinge that he ought not to lyue any longer: Yet founde I nothynge worthy of dethe, that he had committed. Neuertheles sythens that he hathe appealed to Cesar, I haue determyned to sende him. Of whome I haue no certayne thyng to wryte vnto my Lorde. Wherfore I haue brought him to you, and specially vnto the, kynge Agrippa, that after examinacion had, I might haue somwhat to write. For me thinketh it vnreasonable for to sende a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes whiche are layde agaynst him.

Kynge Agrippa heareth Paule, whiche telleth him his callynge frome the beggynnynge.

CAPI. XXVI.

AGrippa sayde vnto Paule: thou arte permytted to speke for thy selfe. Then Paule stretched forthe the hande, and answered for him selfe. I thinke my selfe happy kynge Agrippa, because I shal answere this daye before the, of all the thynges wherof I am accused of the Iewes, namely because thou art expert in all customes and questions, which are amonge the Iewes. Wherfore I beseche the to heare me patiently. A Paules oracion

My liuynge of a chylde, which was at the fyrste amonge myne owne nacion at Ierusalem, knowe all the Iewes, whiche knewe me from the begynnynge, yf they wolde testifie it. For after the moost straytest secte of our lay, lyued I a Phariseye. And nowe I stande and am iudged, for the hope of the promyse made of God vnto oure fathers: vnto whiche promyse our twelue tribes instantly seruynge god daye and nyghte, hope to come. For whiche hopes sake, kynge Agrippa, am I accused of the Iewes. Why sholde it be thought a thynge incredible vnto you, that God shulde rayse agayne the dead? I also verily thought in my selfe, that I ought to do many contrary thynges, clene agaynst the name of Iesus of Nazareth: whiche thynge I also dyd in Ierusalem. Where many of the sayntes I shut vp in prison, and had receyued auctorite of the hye prestes. And when they were put to dethe, I gaue the sentence. And I punyshed them often in euery synagoge, and compelled them to blaspheme: and was yet more madde vpon them, and persecuted them euen vnto straunge cityes. About the whiche thynges as I went to Damasco with auctorite and leyser of the hye prestes, euen at myddaye (o kynge) I sawe in the way a light from heuen, aboue the brightnes of the sonne, shyne rounde about me, and them whiche iourneyed with me. B C D

When we were all fallen to the earthe, I herde a voyce speakynge vnto me, and sayinge in the Hebrue tonge: Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is harde for the to kycke agaynst the prycke. And I sayde: Who arte thou Lorde? And he sayde: I am Iesus whom thou persecutest, but ryse and stande vp on thy fete. For I haue appeared vnto the for this purpose, to make the a minister & a wytnesse, E Iesus is God and man neſſe bothe of thoſe thinges whiche thou haſt ſene, and of thoſe thynges in whiche I will appeare vnto the, deliuerynge the from the people, and from the Gentyles, to whome now I ſende the, to open their eyes, that they myght turne from darchenelle to lyght, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receyue forgyuenelle of ſynnes and inheritaunce amonge them, which are ſanctified by faith in me.

Wherfore kynge Agrippa, I was not diſobedient vnto the heauenly viſion: but ſhewed fyrſte vnto them of Damaſco, and at Ieruſalem, and thorow out all the coſtes of Iewry, and to the Gentyles, that they ſhulde repent, and tourne to God, and do ryght workes of repentaunce. For this cauſe, the Iewes caught me in the temple, and went about to kyll me. Neuertheleſſe I obtayned helpe of God, and continewe vnto this daye, witneſſynge bothe to ſmall and great, sayenge none other thynges, then thoſe whyche the Prophetes and Moſes dyd ſaye, ſhulde come, that Chriſte ſhoulde ſuffre, and that he ſhoulde be the fyrſte that ſhoulde ryſe from deathe, and ſhoulde ſhewe lyght vnto the people, and to the Gentyles. As he thus anſwered for him ſelfe: Feſtus ſayde with a lowde voyce: Paul, thou arte beſydes thy ſelfe. Moche learninge doth make the mad. And Paule ſayde: I am not mad, moſte dere Feſtus: but ſpeake the wordes of truthe and ſobrenelle. The kynge knoweth of theſe thynges, before whome I ſpeake freely: Neyther thynke I that any of theſe thynges are hydden from him: For this thinge was not doone in a corner. Kynge Agrippa, beleueſt thou the Prophetes? I wote well thou beleueſt. Agrippa ſayd vnto Paul: Somwhat thou perſwadeſt me in mynde for to become a Chriſten. And Paul ſayde: I wolde to God, that not onely thou: but alſo all that heare me to daye, were not somewhat onely, but all togyther, ſuche as I am, except theſe bondes. And when he hadde thus ſpoken, the kynge roſe vp, and the deputie, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them. And when they were gone a parte, they talked betwene them ſelues: ſayenge: This man doeth nothynge worthy of deathe, nor of bondes. Then ſayd Agrippa vnto Feſtus: This man myght haue bene louſed, yf he hadde not appealed vnto Ceſar.

CAP. XXVII.

When it was concluded that we ſhoulde ſayle into Italye, they deliuered Paule and certayne other priſoners, vnto one named Julius, an vnder Captayne of Ceſars houſholde. And we entred into a ſhippe of Adramyttium, and lowſed from lande, appointed to ſayle by the coſtes of Aſia, one Ariſtarcus oute of Macedonia, of the countrey of Theſſalia bernge with vs. And the nexte daye we came to Sidon. And Julius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gaue him lyberte to go vnto his frendes, and to refreſſhe him ſelfe. And from thence launched we, and ſayled harde by Cypers, becauſe the wyndes were contrarye. Then ſayled we ouer the ſee of Cylicia, and Pamphilia, and came to Myra a cyte in Lycia.

And there the vndercaptayne founde a ſhip of Alexander, redye to ſayle into Italye, and put vs therin. And when we had ſayled ſlowly many dayes, and ſcace were come ouer againſt Gnydon (becauſe the wynde withſtode vs,) we ſayled harde by the coſtes of Candy, ouer againſte Salmo, and with moch worke ſayled beyonde it, and came vnto a place called Goodhauen, nyghe whervnto was a cyte called Laſea. When moch tyme was ſpent and ſaylynge was now ieoperdeous, becauſe alſo that we hadde ouerlonge failed, Paule put them in remembraunce, and ſayde vnto them. Syrs, I perceyue that this vyage will be with hurt and moche dommage, not of the ladynge and ſhyppe onely: but alſo of oure lyues. Neuertheleſſe the vnder Captayne beleued the gouernoure and the maſter, better then tho thinges, which were ſpoke of Paul. And becauſe the hauen was not commodious to wynter in, many toke counſell to departe thence, yf by any meanes they myght attayne to Phenices, & there to wynter, whiche is an hauen of Candy, & ſtreyght to the ſouthweſt, and northweſt wynde. Whe the ſouthwynde blewe, they ſuppoſynge to obtayne their purpoſe lowſed vnto Aſſon, and ſayled paſte all Candy.

But anone after, there roſe againſt their purpoſe, a ſtawe of wynd, oute of the northeaſt. And when the ſhyppe was caughte, and could not reſiſte the wynde, we let her go, & drawe with the wether. And we came vnto an yle named Clauda, and hadde moche worke to come by a bote, whyche they toke vp, and vſed helpe, vndergyrdynge the ſhyp, fearinge leaſt we ſhulde haue fallen into Syrtes, and we let downe a veſſell, and ſo were caryed.

The nexte daye when we were tolled with an exceadynge tempeſt, they lyghtened the ſhyp, and the thirde daye we caſt out with our own handes, the tackilynge of the ſhyppe. When at the laſte neyther ſunne nor ſtarre in many dayes appeared, and no ſmall tempeſt laye vpon vs, all hope that we ſhuld be ſaued, was then taken awaye. Then after longe abſtynence, Paul ſtode forth in the myddes of the and ſayde: Syrs ye ſhulde haue harkened to me, and not haue louſed from Candy, neyther to haue bought vnto vs this harme and loſſe. And nowe I exhorte you to be of good cheere. For there ſhall be no loſſe of any mans lyfe amonge you, ſaue of the ſhyppe onely. For there ſtode by me this nyght the Aungell of God, whoſe I am, and whome I ſerue, ſayenge: Feare not Paule, for thou muſte be brought before Ceſar. And lo, God hath geuen vnto the, all that ſayle with the. Wherfore Syrs be of good cheer: for I beleue god, that it ſhalbe euen as it was tolde me. Howbeit we muſt be caſt into a certayne yſlonde.

But

But when the fourtenth nyght was come, as we were caryed in Adria about mydnyght, the shypmen demed that there appered some countrey vnto them: and soundred, and found it twentye fadhoms. And when they hadde gone a lytell further, they sounded agayne/ and founde fyften fadhoms. Then fearynge least they shoulde haue fallen on some rocke/ they caste foure ancres oute of the sterne, and wyshed for the daye.

As the shypmen were aboute to flee oute of the shyppe, and hadde let downe the bote into the see, vnder a couloure as though they wolde haue cast ancres out of the forshyppe: Paul sayde vnto the vnder captayne and the Souldiers: except these abyde in the shyppe, ye can not be safe. Then the Souldiers cut of the rope of the bote, and let it fall awaye.

And in the meane tyme, betwene that and daye, Paul besought them all to take meate, sayenge: This is the fourtenth daye that ye haue taryed and contynued fastinge, receyuinge nothinge at all. Wherefore I praye you take meate: for this noo doubte, is for youre helthe: for there shall not an heare fall from the heed of any of you

And when he had thus spoken, he toke bred and gaue thankes to God, in presence of the all, and brake it, and beganne to eate. Then were they all of good chere, & they also toke meate. We were all together in the shyppe, two hundred three score and sixtene soules. And when they had eaten ynough, they lightened the shyppe, and cast out the wheate into the see.

When it was daye, they knewe not the lande, but they espyed a certayne hauen with a banke into the which they were mynded (yf it were possible) to thruste in the shyppe. And when they hadde taken vp the ancres, they committed them selues vnto the see, and lowsed the rudder bondes, & hoysed vp the mayne sayle to the wynde, and drew to lande. But they chaunced on a place, whiche had the see on both the sydes, and thrust in the shyp. And the foore parte stucke faste, and moued not, but the hynder brake with the violence of the waues.

The Souldyers counsell, was to kyll the prysoners, least any of them, when he hadde swome oute shoulde flee awaye. But the vnder captayne, wyllynge to saue Paule, kepte them frome their purpose, and commaunded that they that coulde swymme, shoulde caste them selues fyrste into the see, and scape to lande. And the other he commaunded to goo, some on bordes, and some on broken peces of the shyppe. And so it came to passe, that they came all safe to Lande.

¶ The vyper hurteth not Paules hande/ he healeth Publius father/ and preacheth Christ at Rome.

CAPI. XXVIII.

AND when they were escaped, then they knewe that the yle was called Melete. And the people of the countrey shewed vs no lytell kyndnes: for they kyndled a fire and receyued vs euery one, because of the present rayne, and because of the colde. And when Paul hadde gathered a bondel of stycks, and put them in to the fyre, there came a vyper oute of the heat, and lept on his hande. When the men of the countreye sawe the worme hange on his hande, they sayde amonge them selues: This man must nedes be a murtherer: whome (thoughe he haue escaped the see) yet vengeaunce suffereth not to lyue. But he shouke of the beest into the fyre, and felte no harme. But they wayted, when he shulde haue swollen, or fallen downe stad sodenly. So after they hadde loked a greate whyle/ and sawe no harme come to hym, then they chaunged their myndes, and sayde that he was a God.

In the same places, the chefe man of the yle, whose name was Publius, hadde a lordshyp: the same receyued vs, & lodged vs three dayes courteously. And it fortuned that the father of Publius laye sycke of a feuer, and of a bludy flixe. To whome Paul entred in, and prayde, and layd his handes on him, and healed him. When this was wrought, other also which had diseases in the yle, came and were healed. And they dyd vs great honoure. And when we departed, they laded vs with thinges necessary.

After three monethes we departed in a shyp of Alexandrye, whiche hadde wyntered in the yle, whose badge was Castor and Pollux. And when we came to Syracusa, we taryed there three dayes. And frome thence we fet a compasse, and came to Regium. And after one daye the southwynde blew, and we came the nexte daye to Puteolus: where we found bre thren, and were desyred to tary with them seuen dayes, and so came to Rome. And frome thence, when the brethren herde of vs, they came againste vs to Appiforum, and to the three tauernes. When Paul sawe them, he thanked God, & were bolde. And when he came to Rome, the vnder Captayne delyuered the prysoners to the chefe Captayne of the hoste: but Paul was suffred to dwell by him selfe with one Souldyer that kept him.

And it fortuned after three dayes, that Paul called the chefe of the Iewes togyther. And when they were come, he sayde vnto them. Men and brethren, thoughe I haue committed nothinge againste the people or lawes of oure fathers: yet was I deliuered prysoner, frome Ierusalem, into the handes of the Romayns. Whyche when they hadde examyned me, wolde haue let me go, because they found no cause of deathe in me. But when the Iewes cryed contrarye, I was constrayned to appeale vnto Cesar: not because I had ought to accuse my people of. For this cause haue I called for you, euen to se you, and to speake with you: because that for the hope of Israel, I am bounde with this chayne.

And

And they sayde vnto him: We neyther receyued letters out of Iewry pertayninge vnto the, neyther came any of the brethren that shewed or spake anye harme of the. But we will heare of the what thou thinkest. For we haue herde of this secte, that euery where it is spoken againste. And when they had appointed him a daye, there came many vnto him into his lodgynge. To whom he expounded and testified the kyngdome of God, and preached vnto them of Iesu: both out of the lawe of Moses, and also out of the Prophetes, euen frome morninge to nyght. And some beleued the thinges which were spoken, and some beleued not.

When they agreed not amonge theym selues they departed, after that Paul had spoken one worde. Well spake the holy ghost by Esay the Prophete vnto our fathers, sayenge: Go vnto this people and saye: with youre eares shall ye heare, and shal not vnderstande: and with youre eyes shall ye se, and not perceyue.

For the hert of this people is waxed grosse, and their eares were thicke of hearynge, and their eyes haue they closed: lest they shulde se with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & vnderstande with their hertes, and shulde be conuerted, and I shoulde heale theym. Be it knowen therfore vnto you, that this saluacion of God is sent to the Gentyls, and they shal heare it. And when he had sayde that, the Iewes departed, and had greate altercation amonge them selues.

And Paul dwelt two yeres full in his lodgynge, and receyued all that came to hym, preachynge the kyngdome of God, and teachynge those thynges, which concerned the Lorde Iesus with all confydence, vnforbodden.

Here endeth the Actes of the Apostles.

¶ The Epistle of the Apostle S. Paule to the Romayns.

¶ Paule declareth his loue towarde the Romayns he wryteth what the Gospell is with the truth thereof, and rebuketh the brutishnes of the fleshe.

CAPI. I.

PAul the seruaunt of Jesu Christe called to be an Apostle, put apart to preache the gospel of god which he promised afore by his prophetes in the holy scriptures ¶ make mencion of his sonne, ordeined of the seed of Dauid, as pertaynynge to the fleshe: and declared to be the sonne of God, with power of the holy ghoste that sanctifieth, sithens the tyme that Jesus Christ our Lorde rose againe from deathe, by whome we haue receyued grace and Apostleshyp, to bringe all maner nacions people vnto the obedience of the faith, that is in his name: of whiche are ye a parte also, whiche are Jesus Christes by callynge. ¶

To all you of Rome beloued of God, and sayntes by callyng. Grace be vnto you, and peace from god our father, & from the Lorde Jesu Christ.

First I thanke my god thorow Jesu Christ for you all, because your faythe is published throughout al the worlde. For god is my witnes, whom I serue with my spirite in the gospel of his sonne, that without ceasing I make mencion of you alwayes in my prayers, beseechyng that ones at last, a prosperous iourney by the wyl of god might fortune me, to come vnto you. For I longe to se you, that I might bestowe amonges you some ghostly grifte to strengthe you with, that is, that I might be comforted together with you, through the common fayth, which both ye and I haue.

I wolde ye sholde knowe brethren that I haue often tymes purposed to come vnto you (but haue ben let hytherto) to haue some fruite amonge you, as I haue amonge other of the Gentyles. For I am debter both to the Grekes, and to them whiche are no Grekes, both to the lerned, and also vnto the vnlerned. Lykewyse as moche as in me is, I am redy to preache the gospell to you of Rome also. For I am not ashamed of the gospell of Christ, because it is the power of god for saluacion to all that beleue, namely to the Jewe, and also to the brethen. For by it the ryghtousnes of god is opened from fayth to fayth, as it is wrytten: The iust shall lyue by fayth.

For the wrath of god appereth from heuen agaynste all vngodlynes and vnrighteousnes of men, whiche withholde the truth in vnrighteousnes: for as moche as what maye be knowen of god, that same is manifest amonge them. For god hath shewed it vnto them. For the inuisible thynges: that is to saye, his eternal power and godhed, are vnderstande and sene by the workes from the creacion of the worlde. So that they are without excuse, in as moche as when they knewe god, they glorified hym not as god, neither were thankfull, but were full of vanities in their ymaginacions, and their foolyshe hertes were blynded. When they counted them selues wyse, they became fooles, and turned the glorye of the immortall god, vnto the lykenesse of the ymage of mortal man, and of byrdes, and fourr footed beastes, and of serpentes. Wherfore god likewyse gaue them vp vnto their hertes lustes, vnto vncleanesse, to defyle their owne bodyes betwene them selues: whiche turned his trouthe vnto a lye, and worshypped and serued the creatures more then the maker, whyche is blessed for euer. Amen. For this cause god gaue them vp vnto shamefull lustes. For euen their women hath chaunge the naturall vse vnto the vnnaturall. And lykewyse also the men leue the naturall vse of the woman, and brent in their lustes one to an other. And man with man wroughte fylthynesse, and receyued in them selues the rewarde of their errour, as was accordynge.

And as it semed not good vnto them to be a knowen of god, euen so god deliuered them vp vnto a lewde mynde, that they sholde do thynges whyche were not comly, beynge full of all vnrighteous doynge, of fornication, wyckednesse, couetousnesse, maliciousnes, full of enuye, murther, debate, disceyte, euyll condycioned, whysperers, backbiters, haters of god, doers of wronge, proude, boasters, bringers vp of euyll thynges, disobedient to father & mother, without vnderstanding, couenaunt breakers, vnlouynge, trucebreakers, and mercyles. Whyche men thoughe they knewe the ryghtousnesse of god, howe that they whyche commyt suche thynges are worthy of deth, yet not onely do the same, but also haue pleasure in them that do them.

¶ He rebuketh the Jewes, which as sensyng same are like the Heythen, yea worse then they.

CAPI. II.

THerfore art thou inexcusable, o man, who so euer thou be that iudgest. For in that thou iudgest an other, thou condemnest thy selfe. For thou that iudgest, doest euen the same. But we are sure that the iudgement of god is according to the trouth, against them whiche commyt suche thinges. Thynkest thou this, o thou ma that iudgest them which do suche thinges, and yet doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of god? Eyther despysest thou the ryches of his goodnes, patience, and longe sufferaunce? and remembrest not howe that the kyndnes of God leadeth the to repentaunce?

But thou after thyne harde herte & can not repente, heapest the togyther the treasure of wrath against the daye of vengeaunce, when shal be opened the righteous iudgemet of god,

Psal. lxii.

whiche wyll rewarde euery man accordyng to his dedes, that is to saye, prayse, honour, and immortalitie to them which continue in good doynge, and seke eternal lyfe. But vnto them that are rebellious and disobey the truth, and folowe iniquite, shal come indignacion & wrath, tribulacion and anguish vpō the soule of euery man that doth euyl: of the Jewe fyrst, and also of the Gentyle. To euery man that doth good, shall come prayse, honour, and peace: to the Jewe fyrst, & also to the Gentyle. For there is no parcialitie with God. But who so euer hath sinned without lawe, shal perishe without lawe. And as many as haue synned vnder the lawe, shall be iudged by the lawe. For before God they are not righteous whiche heare the lawe: but the doers of the lawe shall be iustified. For yf the Gentyles whiche haue no lawe, do of nature those thynges contayned in the lawe: then they hauynge no lawe, are a lawe vnto them selues, which shewe the dede of the lawe written in their hertes: whyle

L their conscience beareth wytnes vnto them, and also their thoughtes, accusynge one an other, or excusynge at the day when God shall iudge the secretes of men by Jesu Christ, according to my glad tidynges.

Beholde, thou art called a Jewe, & trustest in the lawe, and reioycest in god, and knowest his wyll, and hast experience of good & bad, in that thou art informed by the lawe, & beleuest that thou thy self art a guyde vnto the blynde, a light to them whiche are in darckenes, an informer of them whiche lacke discretion, a teacher of vnlerned, which hast the forme of that which ought to be knowen, and of the trouth in the lawe. But thou which teachest an other teachest not thy selfe. Thou preachest a man

D should not steale, and yet thou stealest. Thou sayest, a man should not commit aduoutry, and thou breakest wedlocke. Thou abhorrest ymages, and robbest God of his honour. Thou reioycest in the lawe, and thorow breakyng the lawe, dishonourest God. For the name of God is euyll spoken of amonge the Gentyles thorow you: as it is wrytten.

Esay. lxvi. a. Ezec. xxxvi. c.

Circumcision verily auayleth yf thou kepe the lawe. But yf thou breake the lawe, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision. Therfore if the vncircumcised kepe the right thinges contayned in the lawe: shal not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision? And shall not vncircumcision whiche is by nature (yf it kepe the lawe) iudge the, whiche beinge vnder the letter & circumcision, dost transgresse the lawe? For he is not a Jewe, whiche is a Jewe outwarde. Neither is that thing circumcision which is outwarde in the flesshe. But he is a Jewe whiche is hyd within, and the circumcision of the herte is the true circumcision, which is in spirite, and not in the letter, whose prayse is not of men, but of God.

¶ She theweth what preferment the Jewes haue, and that both the Jewes and Gentyles are vnder synne, and are iustified only by the grace of God in Christe.

What preferment then hathe the Jewe? F
Or what auauntageth circumcision? Surely very moche. First vnto them was committed the worde of god. What then though some of them dyd not beleue? shall their vnbeliefe make the promyse of God without effect? God forbyd. Let God be true, & all men lyers, as it is wrytte: That thou mightest be iustified in thy saying, and shouldest ouercome when thou arte iudged.

Yf our vnrighteousnes make the righteousnesse of God more excellent: what shall we saye? Is God vnrighteous, whiche taketh vengeaunce? I speake after the maner of men. God forbyd. For how then shal god iudge the worlde? Yf the veritie of God appeare more excellent thorowe my lye vnto his prayse, why am I herafter iudged as a synner? and saye not rather (as men cruell speake of vs, and as some affirme that we say) let vs do euyl, that good maye come therof: Whose damnacion is iuste.

What say we then? Are we better then they? No, in no wise: for we haue alredy proued how that bothe Jewes and Gentyles are all vnder synne, as it is written: there is none righteous, no not one: there is none that vnderstandeth, there is none that seketh after God, they are all gone out of the waye, they are all vnprofitable: there is none that dothe good, no not one. ✣ Their throte is an open sepulcre, with their tonges they haue disceyued: the poyson of aspes is vnder their lyppes. Whose mouthes are full of cursynge and bitternes. Their fete are swyft to shed bloode. Destruction and wretchednes are in their wayes. And the way of peace they haue not knowen. There is no feare of God before their eyes.

✣ We knowe that what so euer the lawe sayth, he sayth it to them which are vnder the lawe. That all mouthes may be stopped, and all the worlde be subdued to God, because that by the dedes of the lawe shall no flesshe be iustified in the syghte of God. For by the lawe commeth the knowlege of synne.

Nowe the righteousnes that commeth of God, is declared without the fulfyllynge of the lawe, bearynge wytnesse of the lawe, and of the Prophetes. The righteousnes no doubte whiche is good before God, commeth by the faythe of Jesus Christe, vnto all and vpon all that beleue.

There is no difference: for all haue synned, and lacke the glorye of God: but are iustified freely by his grace, throughe the redemption that is in Christe Jesu, to whome God hathe made a seate of mercye, thorowe faith in his bloude, to shewe the righteousnes whiche before him is of valour, in that he forgyueth the synnes that are past, whiche God dyd suffre to shewe at this tyme the righteousnes that is allowed of hym, that he myghte be counted iust, and a iustifier of him which beleueth on Jesus. ✣

Where is then thy reioysynge? It is excluded. By what lawe? by the lawe of workes? Nay, but by the lawe of faith.

Therfore we holde that a man is iustified by

by layth without the dedes of the lawe. Is he the God of the Jewes only? Is he not also the God of the Gentyles? yes of the Gentyles also? For it is God only, whiche shall iustifye circumcision of layth, and vncircumcision thorow layth. Do we then destroye the lawe thorowe layth? God forbyd. But we rather stablyshe the lawe.

¶ He declareth by the example of Abraham, that layth iustifieth, & not the law nor the workes therof.

CAPI. IIII.

WHat shal we say then that Abraham our father as pertayninge to the flesshe, hath fownde? Yf Abraham were iustified by dedes, then hathe he wherin to reioyce, but not before God. For what layth the scripture? Abraham beleued God, and it was counted vnto him for rightoulnes. To him that worketh is the rewarde not reckened of fauour, but of duty. To him that worketh not, but beleueth on him that iustifieth the vngodly, his layth is counted for rightoulnes. Euen as Dauid declareth the blessednesse of the man, vnto whome God ascribeth rightoulnes without dedes. ✣ Blessed are they, whose vnrighteousnes are forgiuen, and whose synnes are couered. Blessed is that man to whome the Lorde imputeth not synne.

Came this blessednes then vpon the circumcised, or vpon the vncircumcised? We saye verily how that layth was reckened to Abraham for rightoulnes. How was it reckened? in the tyme of circumcision? or in the tyme before he was circumcised? Not in the tyme of circumcision: but when he was yet vncircumcised. And he receyued the signe of circumcision as a seale of the rightoulnes whiche is by layth, which layth he had yet beynge vncircumcised: that he shulde be the father of al them that beleue, though they be not circumcised, that rightoulnes myght be imputed to them also: and that he might be the father of the circumcised, not because they are circumcised only, but because they walke also in the steppes of ỹ layth that was in oure father Abraham, before the tyme of circumcision.

For the promesse that he shulde be the heyre of the worlde, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seed thorow the lawe: but thorow the rightoulnes of layth. For yf they whiche are of the law, be heyres, then is layth but vayne, and the promesse of none effecte, because the lawe causeth wrathe / for where no lawe is, there is no transgression. Therfore by faith is the inheritaunce giuen, that it myght come of fauour, and the promyse myghte be sure to all the seed. Not to them only whiche are of the lawe, but also to them which are of the layth of Abraham, whiche is the father of vs all. As it is written: I haue made the a father to many nations, euen before God whom thou hast beleued which quickeneth the dead, and calleth those thynges which be not, as though they were.

Which Abraham contrary to hope, beleued in hope, that he shulde be the father of many nations, according to that which was spoken: So shal thy seed be. And he fainted not in the faith, nor yet considered his owne body which was now dead, euen when he was almost an hundred yere olde: ne yet that Sara was past chylde bearynge. He staggered not at the promesse of God thorow vnbeliefe, but was made strong in the layth, and gaue honour to God, full certified, that what he had promised, that he was able to make good. And therfore was it reckened to him for rightoulnes. Genesis.15.a

It is not written for him only, that it was reckened to him for rightoulnes, but also for vs, to whom it shall be counted for rightoulnes, so that we beleue on him that rayled vp Jesus our Lorde from death: Which was giuen for our synnes, and rose agayne for to iustifye vs.

¶ The power of layth, hope & loue: and how much rayned frome Adam vnto Christe, by whom onely we haue forgyuenes of synnes.

CAPI. V.

BEcause therfore we are iustified by faith, we are at peace with God thorowe our Lorde Jesu Christ, by whom we haue a wape in thorow layth, vnto his grace, wherin we stande & reioyce in hope of the prayse that shal be giuen of God: Neither do we so only: but also we reioyce in tribulacion. Knowyng that tribulacion bringeth pacience, pacience experience, experience bringeth hope. And hope maketh not ashamed, for the loue of God is shed abrode in our hertes by the holy ghoste, whiche is giuen vnto vs.

For when we were yet weyke accordynge to the tyme: Christe dyed for vs whiche were vngodly, yet scarce wyl any man dye for a righteous man. Peraduenture for a good man durst a man dye. ✣ But God setteth out his loue that he hath to vs, for almoche as whyle we were yet synners, Christe dyed for vs. Moche more then now (beyng iustified in his bloode) shal we be saued from wrath thorow him.

For yf when we were enemyes, we were reconcyled to God by the dethe of his sonne: moche more seyng we are reconcyled, we shall be preserued by his lyfe. Not only so, but we also reioyce in God by our Lorde Jesus Christ, by whome we haue receyued the attonement.

Wherfore as by one man synne entred in to the worlde, and dethe by synne. And so dethe went ouer all men, in so moche that all men synned. For euen vnto ỹ tyme of the law was synne in the worlde, but synne was not regarded as long as there was no lawe: neuertheles dethe reygned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer the also that synned not, with the transgression as dyd Adam: whiche is the figure of him that is to come.

But the gyfte is not lyke as the synne. For yf thorow the syn of one, many be dead: moche more plenteous vpon many was the grace of God and gyfte by grace, which grace was giuen by one man Jesus Christ.

And the gyfte is not ouer one synne, as dethe came thorow one synne of one that synned, for damnacion came of one synne vnto condemnacion: but the gyfte came to iustifye frome many synnes. Adams disobedience hath vnder vs all ouer our selues wrought cursednes. And Christes obedience hath vnder vs all, ouer our selues wrought any good.

D ny synnes. For yf by the synne of one, dethe reygned by the meanes of one: moche more they which receyue abundance of grace and of the gyft of rygh̄teousnes, reygne in life
by the meanes of one (that is to say) Jesus Christe.

Lykewise then as by the synne of one, condemnation came on all men: euen so by the iu-stifienge of one commeth the righteousnes that bringeth life vpon al men. For as by one mās disobedience many became synners: so by the obedience of one, shal many be made righteous.
But the lawe in the meane tyme entred in,
that synne shold increase. Neuertheles where aboundaunce of synne was, there was more plentcousnes of grace: to thintent ✠ as synne had reygned vnto dethe, euen so myght grace reygne thorowe rygh̄teousnes vnto eternall
lyfe, by the helpe of Jesu Christ.

¶ For as moche as we be deliuered thorow Christ from synne, we muste fashion our selues to liue as the seruauntes of God, and not after our own lustes.
The wayghe rewarde of rygh̄teousnes and synne.

CAPI. VI.

A What shall we saye then? Shall we continue in synne, that there maye be abundance of grace? God forbyd. How shall we that are deed as touchyng synne, liue any longer therin? ✠ Remembre ye not that al
we which are baptysed in the name of Jesu Christe, are baptised to dye with hym?
We are buryed with him by baptysme for to dye, that lykewyse as Christe was raysed vp from deth by the glory of the father, euen so we also shulde walke in a newe lyfe. For yf we be grafte in deth lyke vnto him: euen so must we be in the resurrection. This we muste remembre, that oure olde man is crucified with him also, that the body of synne myght vtterly be destroyed, that henceforth we shulde not B be seruauntes of synne. For he that is deed, is iustifyed from synne.

Wherefore yf we be deed with Christ, we beleue that we shal liue with him: remembryng that Christ, beynge once raysed from deth, dyeth no more. Deth hathe no more power ouer
hym. For as touchyng that he dyed, he dyed concernyng synne, onys. And as touchyng that he liueth, he liueth vnto God. Likewise ymagen ye also, that ye are deed concernyng
synne, but are alyue vnto God thorowe Jesu Christe our Lorde. ✠ Let not synne reygne
therefore in your mortal bodyes, that ye shulde therevnto obey in the lustes of it. Neither giue ye your membres as instrumentes of vnrighteousnes vnto synne, but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are alyue from deth. And giue your membres as instrumentes of ryghteousnes vnto God. Let not sinne haue power ouer you: for ye are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace.

What then? Shall we synne, because we are not vnder the lawe, but vnder grace? God forbyd. ✠ Remembre ye not that to whome
so euer ye commyt your selues as seruauntes to obey, his seruauntes ye are to whome ye obey: whether it be of synne vnto deth, or of obedience vnto righteousnes? God be thanked,
that where as ye were the seruauntes of synne,
ye haue now obeyed with hert vnto the forme of doctryne wherevnto ye were deliuered. Ye are then made free from synne, and are become seruauntes of rygh̄teousnes. ✠

✠ I speke after mans fashion, because of the infirmitie of your flesshe. For as ye haue giuen your membres, seruauntes to vnclennes and to wickednes, runninge out of one wickednes
in to an other: euen so nowe giue your mem-bres seruantes vnto righteousnes, that ye may be sanctifyed. For when ye were the seruantes of syn, ye were not vnder rygh̄teousnes. What fruite had ye then, in the thynges whereof ye are nowe ashamed? For the ende of them is deth. But now beynge deliuered from synne, and made seruantes of God: ye haue your fruite to be sanctified, and the ende euerlasting lyfe, for the rewarde of synne is dethe: but e-ternall ✠ lyfe is the gyfte of God, thorowe Jesu Christ our Lorde.

¶ Christe hath deliuered vs fromte the lawe and death. Paule sheweth what the flesshe and out-warde man is, and calleth it the lawe of the mem-bres.

CAPI. VII.

R Emembre ye not brethren (I speake to A them that knowe the lawe) howe that the law hath power ouer a mā as long as it endureth? For the woman, which is subiect to an husbande, is bounde by the lawe to the man as longe as he liueth. Yf the man be deed, she is loosed from the power of the man.
So then, yf whyle the man liueth she couple her selfe with an other man, she shall be counted wedlocke breaker. But yf the man be deed
she is free from the lawe, so that she is no wed locke breaker, though she couple her selfe with an other man.

Euen so ye my brethren, are deed concernyng
the lawe by the body of Christ, that ye shulde be coupled to an other (I meane to him that is risen agayne from dethe) that we shulde bringe forthe fruite vnto God. For when we D were in the flesshe, the lustes of synne which were stired vp by the lawe, reigned in our mē-bres, to bring forth fruite vnto deth. But now are we deliuered from the lawe, and deed from that wherevnto we were in bondage, that we shulde serue in newnes of spirite, and not in oldnes of the letter.

What shal we say then? is the lawe synne?
God forbid, but I knew not what synne ment,
but by the law. For I had not knowen what lust had ment, except the law had said, ✠ thou shalt not lust. But synne takynge an occasion by the cōmaundment wrought in me all maner of concupiscence. For without the law, syn was deed. I lyued without lawe. But when the commaundment came, synne reuiued, and I was deed. And the very same cōmaundment which was ordeyned vnto lyfe, was founde to be with me an occasion of dethe. For synne toke occasion by the meanes of the commaūdement, and so disceyued me, & by the same slew me.

¶ To dye vnto lyfe is, not to obey the ly
stes and con
cupiscēces of synne.

me. Wherfore the lawe is holy, and the commaundement holy, iust, and good.

Was that then whiche is good made deth vnto me? God forbyd. Nay, synne was dethe vnto me, that it myghte appeare howe that synne by that whiche is good, hadde wrought deathe in me: to thintent that synne through the commaundement, myghte be out of measure synfull. For we knowe that the lawe is spirituall, but I am carnal, solde vnder synne, because I wote not what I do. For what I wolde, that do I not: but what I hate, that do I. If I do nowe that whiche I wolde not, I graunt to the law that it is good. So then nowe, it is not I that doo it, but synne that dwelleth in me. For I knowe that in me (that is to saye in my flesh) dwelleth no good thing. For, to will, is present with me: but to performe that whiche is good, I fynde not. For I doo not that good thyng which I wolde, but that euyll do I, whiche I wolde not. So yf I do, that I wold not, then is it not I that do it, but synne that dwelleth in me. I fynde then by the lawe, that when I wolde do good, euyll is at hande. For I delyte in the lawe of God, concernynge the inwarde man. But I se an other lawe in my membres, rebellynge agaynst the lawe of my mynde, and subduynge me vnto the law of synne, which is in my membres. O wretched man that I am, who shal deliuer me from this body of deth? I thanke god through Iesu Christ our Lorde. So then the selfe same I in my mynde serue the lawe of God, and in my flesshe the lawe of synne.

¶ The lawe of the spirit geueth lyfe. The spirite of God maketh vs Goddes children and heyres with Christe. The aboundaunt loue of God can not be seperated.

CAPI. VIII.

THere is then no damnacyon to them which are in Christ Iesu, whiche walke not after the flesshe, but after the spirite. For the lawe of the spirite that bringeth lyfe through Iesu Christe, hathe enfraunchised me from the law of synne and deth. For what the lawe coulde not doo, in as moche as it was weyke because of the flesh: that performed god, & sent his sonne in the likenes of synfull flesshe, and by & synne damned synne in the flesh, that the rightousnes whiche is requyred of the lawe myght be fulfylled in vs, which walke not after the flesshe, but after the spirite.

For they that are flesshly, are flesshly mynded. But they that are gostly, are gostly mynded. For to be carnally mynded, is deth. But to be spiritually mynded is lyfe and peace. For because that & flesshly mynde is enmitie agaynst God, for it is not obedient to the lawe of god neither can be. Now, they that are in the flesh can not please God.

But ye are not gyuen to the flesshe, but to the spirite: yf so be the spirite of God dwell in you. Yf there be any man that hath not the spirite of Christe, the same is none of his. yf Christ be in you, the bodye is dead because of synne, but the spirite is lyfe for ryghtousnesse sake. Wherfore yf the spirite of him that rayled vp Iesu from deth, dwell in you: euen he that rayled vp Christ from deth, shal quicken your mortall bodyes, because that his spirite dwelleth in you.

Therfore brethren we are nowe bettres, not to the flesshe, to lyue after the flesshe. For yf ye lyue after the flesshe, ye muste dye. But yf ye mortifye the dedes of the bodye, by the helpe of the spirite ye shall lyue. For as many as are led by the spirite of God, are the sonnes of God. For ye haue not receyued the spirite of bondage to feare any more, but ye haue receyued the spirite of adoption, whereby we crye Abba father. The same spirite certifieth our spirite, that we are the sonnes of god. yf we be sonnes, we are also heyres, the heyres I meane of God, and heyres together with Christ, if so be we suffre together, that we may be glorified together.

For I suppose that the afflictions of this life, are not worthy of the glory which shal be shewed vpon vs. For the feruent desyre of the creature, abydeth lokyng when the sonnes of God shall appere, because the creature is subdued to vanite not wyllyngly but for his will which subdueth it in hope. For the verye creature shall be delyuered from the bondage of corruption in to the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God. For we know that euery creature groneth with vs also, and trauayleth in payne, euen vnto this tyme.

Not it onely, but euen we also whiche haue the fyrste frutes of the spirite, mourne in our selues, waytynge for the adopcyon the deliuerance of our bodyes. For we are saued by hope. But hope that is sene is no hope. For how can a man hope for that whiche he seeth? But yf we hope for that we se not, then do we with pacience abyde for it.

Likewyse the spirite also helpeth our infirmyties. for we knowe not what to desyre as we ought, but the spirite maketh intercession myghtyly for vs with gronynges, whiche can not be expressed with tonge. And he that sercheth the herres, knoweth what is the meanyng of the spirite: for he maketh intercession for the saynctes accordynge to the pleasure of God.

For we know that all thinges worke for & best vnto them that loue god, which also are called & of purpose. For those whiche he knew before, he also ordeyned before that they shold be made fashioned vnto the shape of his sonne, that he myght be the fyrste begotten sonne amonge many brethren. And whom he appoynted before, them also he called. And which he called, them also he iustified, which he iustified them he also glorified.

What shall we then saye to these thinges? If God be on our syde: who can be against vs? Which spared not his owne sonne, but gaue hym for vs all: howe shall he not with hym gyue vs all thynges also? Who shal laye any thyng to the charge of Gods chosen? it is god that iustifyeth: who then shall condempne? it is Christ which is dead, yea rather which is risen agayne, which is also on the ryghte

a Adopcion is the inheritaunce promised by grace.

harde of God, and maketh intercession for vs.

Who shal seperate vs from the loue of God? shall tribulation? shall anguyshe? shall persecution? shall hunger? shall nakednesse? shall perell, shall the swerde? As it is wrytten: for thy sake are we killed all daye longe, and are counted as sheepe appoynted to be slayne. Nevertheles, in all these thynges we ouercome stongly thorowe his helpe that loued vs. For I am sure, that neyther deth neither lyfe, neither aungels, nor rule, ne power, neither thynges present, ne thyngs to come, neither highth neither lowth, neither any other creature shal be able to parte vs frome the loue of God, whiche is in Christ Jesu our Lorde.

¶ Paul complayneth vpon the harde hertes of the Jewes that wolde not receyue Christe, and howe the heythen are chosen in theyr stede.

CAPI. IX.

I Save the truthe in Christe, and lye not, in that wherof my conscience beareth me witnes in the holy ghost that I haue great heuynes, and continuall sorowe in my herte For I haue wysshed my selfe to be cursed frome Christ, for my brethren and my kynsmen pertaynynge to the fleshe, whiche are the Israelytes. To whom pertayneth the adoption, and glory, and the couenauntes, and the law that was gyuen, and the seruyce of God, and the promyses: whose also are the fathers, and of whome (as concernynge the fleshe) Christe came, whiche is God ouer all, blessed for euer. Amen.

I speke not of these thynges as though the worde of God had take none effecte. For they are not all Israelytes which came of Israel: neyther are they all children, because they are the seed of Abraham. But in Isaac shall thy seed be called: that is, they which are the children of the fleshe, are not the children of god. But the children of promesse are counted thy seed. For this is a worde of promyse: * about this tyme wyll I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

Neyther was it so with her onely, but also when Rebecca was wt chylde by one, I meane by our father Isaac, er the children were borne, when they had neither vne good ne bad: that the purpose of god, which is by election, might stande, it was sayd vnto her, not by the reason of workes, but by grace of the caller: the elder shall serue the yonger. As it is wrytten: Jacob he loued, but Esau he hated. What shal we saye then? Is there any vnrighteousnes wt God. No, not so. For he sayth to Moses: I wil shewe mercy, to whome I shewe mercye: and wyll haue compassion on whome I haue compassion. So lieth it not then in a mans wyl or rennyng, but in the mercy of God. For the scripture sayth vnto Pharao, euen for this same purpose haue I stered the vp, to shewe my power on the, and that my name myght be declared thorowoute all the worlde. So hath he mercy on whom he wyll, and whom he wyll, he maketh harde herted.

Thou wylt saye then vnto me: why then blameth he vs yet? For who can resiste his wyll? But O man, what arte thou which disputest with God? Shall the worke say to the worke man: why hast thou made me on this fashion? Hath not the potter power ouer the clay, euen of the same lompe to make one vessell vnto honoure, and an other vnto dishonoure? That if God willynge to shew his wrath, and to make his power knowen suffered with longe pacience the vessels of wrath ordeyned to damnation, that he myght declare the ryches of his glorye on the vessels of mercye, whiche he had prepared vnto glorye: that is to saye, vs whiche he called, not of the Jewes onely, but also of the gentyls. As he sayth in Ose: I wyll call them my people which were not my people: and her beloued which was not beloued. And it shall come to passe in the place where it was sayd vnto the, ye are not my people: that there shalbe called the chyldren of the lyuynge God.

But Esay cryeth for Israel, thoughe the nombre of the chyldren of Israel be as the sande of the see yet shall but a remnaunte be saued. He fynysheth the worde verely, and maketh it shorte in rygh twysnes. For a shorte worde wyl God make on erth. And as Esaye sayde before: onles the Lord of Sabaoth had lefte vs seede, we had bene made as Sodoma and hadde bene lyhened to Gomorra.

What shall we saye then? We say the gentyles whiche folowed not rygh twysnes haue ouertaken rygh twysnes: I meane the rygh twisnes whiche commeth of fayth. But Israel which folowed the lawe of rygh tewysnes, couldo not attayne vnto the lawe of rygh tewysnes. And wherfore: Because they soughte it not by fayth: but as it were by the workes of the lawe. For they haue stombled at the stombynge stone. As it is wrytten: Beholde I put in Sion a stombynge stone, and a rocke whiche shall make men fall. And none that beleue on him, shalbe ashamed.

¶ The vnfaythfulnes of the Jewes. Two maner of rygh teousnes.

CAPI. X.

BRethren, my hertes desyre and prayer to God for Israel, is, that they myght be saued For I beare the recorde they haue a feruent mynde towardes God, but not accordynge to knowledge For beyng ignorannt of the rygh teousnes whiche is alowed before God, and goynge aboute to stablysshe their owne rygh teousnes they are not obedient vnto the rygh teousnes whiche is of value before God. For Christe is the ende of the lawe, to iustyfye all that beleue.

Moses describeth the rygh teousnes which commeth of the lawe, that the man whiche doth the thynges of the lawe, shal lyue therin. But the righteousnes which cometh of fayth, speaketh on this wyse: Say not in thine hert, who shall ascende in to heauen (that is nothynge els then to fetche Christ downe) Ether who shal descende in to the depe? (that is nothynge elles but to fetche vp Christ frome deathe.) But what sayth the scripture? The worde wo:de is nyghe the, euen in thy mouth and in thyne herte.

This wo:de is the wo:de of fauthe whiche we p:eache. Fo: if thou shalt knowiege with thy mouth that Iesus is the Lo:de, and shalt beleue with thyne hert, that God rayfed him vp fro:me deathe thou shalt be fafe. † Fo: ꝓ belefe of the hert iuftifieth, and to knowiege with the mouth, maketh a man fafe. Fo: the fcripture fayth: Who fo euer beleueth on him fhall not be afhamed.

C There is no differrence betwene the Iewe & the Gentyle. Fo: one is Lo:de ouer all, whiche is ryche vnto al that cal on him. Fo: who fo euer fhall call on the name of the Lo:de, fhalbe fafe. But how fhall they call on hym, on whome they beleued not? how fhall they beleue on him, of whom they haue not herde? how fhal they heare without a p:eacher? And how fhall they p:eache * except they be fent? As it is written: * Howe beautyfull are the fete of them, whiche bynge glad tydinges of peac, and bynge glad tydinges of good thin ges. But they haue not all obeyed the Gof pell. Fo: Elay fayth: * Lo:de who fhall be leue oure fayenges? So then fauth commeth by hearynge, and hearynge, by the wo:de of God. But I afke: haue they not herde? * No wubte, their founde wente oute into all landes: and their wo:des into the endes of ꝓ wo:lde. ꝓ

But I demaunde, whether Iferael ꝓd knowe o: not? Fuft Moles fayth: * I will p:ouoke you to enuy, by them that are no pe ple, and by a folyfhe nacion I wil anger you. Elay after that, is bolde, and fayth: * I am founde of them that fought me not, and haue appered to theym, that afked not after me. And againft Iferael he fayth: * All daye longe haue I ftretched fo:th my handes vnto a peo ple that beleueth not, but fpeaketh againfte me.

C All the Iewes are not caft awaye, therfore Paul warneth the Gentyls that be called, not to be hygh mynded nor to defpyfe the Iewes, fo: the iudgmen tes of God are depe and fecrete.

CAPI. XI.

I Saye then: Hath God caft awaye his peo ple? God fo:byd. Fo: euen I am an Ifra elite, of the feed of Abraham, & of the tribe of Ben Iamin. God hath not caft awaye his people whiche he knewe before. Eyther wote ye not what the fcripture fayth by the mouth of Helias, how he maketh interceffio to God againfte Iferael, fayenge? * Lo:de they haue kylled thy Prophetes, & dygged downe thyne altars: and I am left onely, and they fehe my lyfe. But what fayth the aunfwere of God to hym agayne? I haue referued vnto me fe uen thoufande men, whiche haue not bowed the knee to Baal. Euē fo at this tyme is there a remnaunt left thorow the electio of grace. If it be of * grace, then is it not of wo:kes. Fo: then were grace no more grace. If it be of wo:kes, then is it no more grace. Fo: then were defcrupnge no lenger deftrunge. What then? Iferael hath not obtayned ꝓ he fought, No but yet the election hathe obtayned it. The remnaunt are blynded, accordynge as it is written: * God hath geuen the the fpirit of vnquietnes, eyes that they fhulde not fe, and eares that they fhulde not heare, euen vn to this daye. * And Dauid fayth: Let their table be made a fnare to take theym with all, and an occafion to fault, and a rewarde vnto them. Let their eyes be blynded that they fe not: and euer bowe bowne their backes.

I faye then: haue they therfore ftombled, that they fhulde but fault onely? God fo:byd: but thorow their fault is faluacion hap pened vnto the gentyls, to p:ouoke the with. Wherfore yf the fault of them, be the riches of the wo:lde: and the mynifhynge of them the ryches of the gentyles: how moch mo:e fhulde it be fo, yf they all beleued. I fpeake to you Gentyles, in as moche as I am the A poftle of the Gentyles, I wil magnifie myne office, that I might p:ouoke them which are my flefhe, and myght fauc fome of them. Fo: yf the caftynge awaye of them, be the reconci lynge of the wo:lde: what fhall the receyp tynge of them be, but lyfe agayne from dede? Fo: yf the begynnynges be holy, ꝓ hole heepe is holy. And yf the rote be holy, the braunches are holy alfo.

Thoughe fome of the braunches be broken of, and thou beynge a wylde olyue tree, arte graft in amonge them, and made partaker of the rote and fatnelle of the Olyue tree, boaft not thy felfe againfte the braunches. Fo: yf thou boaft thy felfe, remember that thou bea reft not the rote, but the rote the. Thou wilt fayne then: the braunches are broken of, that I might be graffe in. Thou fayeft well: be cauſe of vnbelefe they are broken of, & thou ftandeft ftedfaft in fauth. Be not of an hawte mynde, but feare fythe God fpared not the naturall braunches, leaft haply he alfo fpare not the.

Beholde the kyndnelle and rygo:oufnes of God: on them whiche fell, rygo:oufnes: but towarde the, kyndnes: yf thou continue in his kyndnelle. O: elles thou fhalt be hewen of, and they yf they abyde not ftyll in vnbe lefe, fhalbe grafted in agayne. Fo: God is of power to graffe them in agayne. Fo: yf thou waft cut out of a naturall wilde olyue tree, & waft grafted contrary to nature in a true Olyue tree: how moche mo:e fhall the natural braunches be grafted in their owne olyue tree agayne

I wolde not that this myfterye fhoulde be hyd fro:me you my bzethren, leaft ye fhulde be wyfe in your owne conceytes, fo: as moche as blyndnelle is partely happened in Iferael, tyll the fulnes of the Gentyles be come in: and fo all Iferael fhalbe fawed. As it is written: * There fhall come out of Syon he that with delyuer, and fhall turne awaye the vngodlyf nelle of Jacob. And this is my p:omyfe vnto them, when I fhall take awaye their fynnes. As concernyng the Gofpel they are enemies fo: your fakes: but as touchinge the election they are loued fo: the fathers fakes.

Fo

For the gyftes & callynge of God are suche that it can not repent hym of them: for as ye in tyme past haue not beleued God, yet haue now obtayned mercy thorow their vnbeleffe: euen so now haue they not beleued the mercy whiche is happened vnto you, that they also maye obtayne mercy. God hath wrapped all nacyons in vnbeleffe, that he might haue mercy on all.

O the depenes of the ryches and wysdome, and knowledge of God: howe vnsercheable are his iudgementes, and his wayes vntraceable? For who hath knowen the mynde of ℌ Lorde? Or who was his counsellour? either who hath gruen vnto him fyrst, that he might be recompensed agayne? For of him, and thorow him, and for him are all thinges. To him be glory for euer Amen.

¶ The swete conuersacion, loue, and workes of suche as beleue in Christ.

CAPI. XII.

I ✣ Beseche you therfore brethren, by the mercyes of God, that ye make your bodies a quycke sacrifice, holy acceptable to God: your reasonable seruice, and be not fashion your selues vnto this worlde: but be ye transformed, by the renuynge of your myttes, ℌ ye maye fele what is the good, the acceptable and perfecte will of God. For I saye (thorowe the grace gruen vnto me) to euery man amonge you, that no man esteme of him selfe more then becommeth him to esteme, but that he esteeme ly iudge of him selfe, accordynge as God hath parted to euery man the measure of Faith.

As we haue many membres in one body, & all membres haue not one office: so we beinge many, are one body in Christ, and euery man amonge our selues, one an others membres. ℌ ✣ Seynge that we haue dyuers gyftes accordinge to the grace that is gruen vs: yf anye men haue the gyft of Prophesy, let him haue it that it be ageringe vnto the faith. Let him that hathe an office, wayte on his office. Let him that teacheth, take hede to his doctrine. Let him that exhorteth, gyue attendaunce to his exhortation. If any man gyue, let him do it with singlenes. Let him that ruleth, do it with dylygence. If any man shewe mercy, let him do it with cheerfulnesse. Let loue be vnfayned. Hate that is euyll, and cleaue vnto that is good. Be kynde one to an other with brotherly loue. In geuynge ♁ honour, preuent one an other. Let not that dulynesse which ye haue in hande be tedious to you. Be feruente in the spyrit. Applye your selues to the tyme. Reioyce in hope. Be patient in tribulation. Continue in prayer. Distribute vnto the necessitie of the holy, and be redy to harborowe. Bleffe them whiche persecute you: bleffe but curse not. Be merry with them that are merry. Weepe with them that wepe. Be of lyke affection one to an other. Be not hyghe mynded but make youre selues egall, to them of the lower sorte. ℌ ✣ Be not wyse in youre owne opinions. Recompence to no man euyll for euyll. Prouyde afore hande thinges honeste in the sight of all men. If it be possible, how be it, of your parte haue peace with all men. Dere ly beloued auenge not your selues, but gyue place to wrathe. For it is written: ✣ Vengeaunce is myne, ♁ will acquyte, saythe the Lorde.

Therfore yf thyne enemy hunger, fede him: yf he thurst gyue him drinke. For in so doinge thou shalt heape ✣ coles of fyre on his heed. Be not ouercome of euyll: but ouercome euyll with good. ℌ

¶ The obedience of men vnto theyr rulers. Loue fulfylleth the lawe. It is nowe no tyme to folowe the workes of darckenes.

CAPI. XIII.

LEt euery soule submit him selfe vnto the auctorite of the hyer powers. For there is no power but of God. The powers that be, are ordyned of God. Who so euer therfore resysteth power, resysteth the ordynaunce of God. And they that resiste, shal receyue to them selues damnacion. For rulers are not to be feared for good workes, but for euil. Wilt thou be without feare of the power? Do well then: and so shalt thou be prayed of the same. For he is the minister of God, for thy welthe. But yf thou do euyll, then feare: for he beareth not a sweorde for nought, but is the minister of God, to take vengeaunce on them that do euyll. Wherfore ye must needes obaye not for feare of vengeaunce onelye: but also because of conscience. And euen for this cause paye ye tribute. For they are Gods ministers, seruinge for the same purpose.

Gyue to euery man therfore his duetie: tribute to whome tribute belongeth: custome to whome custome is due: feare to whome feare belongeth: honoure to whome honoure pertayneth.

✣ Owe nothynge to any man: but to loue one an other. For he that loueth an other, fulfilleth the lawe. For these commaundmentes ✣ Thou shalt not commit aduoutrye: Thou shalt not kyll: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false wytnes: Thou shalt not desyre and so forth (yf there be any other commaundemente) they are all comprehended in this sayenge: ♁ Loue thyn neyghbour as thy selfe. Loue hurteth not his neyghbour. Therfore is loue the fulfyllynge of the lawe. ℌ

✣ This also we knowe, ♁ meane the season, how that it is tyme, that we shuld nowe awake out of slepe. For now is our saluacyon neerer then when we beleued. The nyght is passed / and the daye is come nyghe. Let vs therfore cast awaye the dedes of darckenesse, & let vs put on, the armeure of lyghte. Let vs walke honestlye as it were in the daye lyght: not in eatynge and dronkynge: neyther in chamburynge and wantonnes, neither in strife and enuyenge: but put ye on the Lorde Iesus Christ. ℌ And make not prouysyon for ♁ flesh, to fulfill the lustes of it.

¶ The

¶ The weake ought not to be despised. No man shulde offende anothers conscience. Against, for outwarde thynges shulde no man condemne an other.

CAPI. XIIII.

A HIm that is weake in the faithe, receyue vnto you, not in disputinge and troublinge his conscience. One believeth þ he maye eate all thinge. An other whiche is weake, eateth herbes. Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not. And let not him which eateth not, iudge him that eateth. For God hath receyued him. What art thou that iudgest an other mans seruaunt? Whether he stande or falle, that pertaineth vnto his master: yea, he shall stande. For God is able to make him stande.

This man putteth difference betweene daye and daye. An other man counteth all dayes a lyke. He that no man wauer in his owne meanynge. He that obserueth one daye more then an other, doth it for the Lordes pleasure. And he that obserueth not one daye more the another, doth it to please the Lorde also. He that eateth, doeth it to please the Lorde, for he geueth God thankes. And he that eateth not, eateth not, to please the Lorde withall, and gyueth God thankes. For none of vs lyueth his owne seruaunt: neyther doth any of vs dye his owne seruaunte. Yf we lyue, we lyue to be at the Lordes will. And yf we dye, we dye at the Lordes will. Whether we lyue therfore or dye, we are the Lordes. For Christ therfore dyed and rose againe, and reuyued that he myghte be Lorde, bothe of dead and quycke.

But why dost thou then iuge thy brother? Other why doest thou despise thy brother? We shalbe all brought before the iudgement seate of Christ. For it is written: * As truly as I lyue, saythe the Lorde, all knees shall bowe to me, and al tongues shal giue knowledge to God. So shall euery one of vs giue accomptes of him selfe / to God. Let vs not therfore iudge one an other any more.

But iudge this rather, that no man put a stomblynge blocke or an occasion, to fall in his brothers waye. For I know and am full certefyed in the Lorde Iesu, that there is nothynge comen of it selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth it to be comen: to him is it comen. Yf thy brother be greued with thy meat, now walkeste thou not charitablye. Destroye not him with thy meat, for whome Christ dyed. Caule not your / treasure to be euyll spoken of. For the kyngdome of God is not meate & drynke: but ryghtwysnesse, peace, and ioye in the holy ghost. For who so euer in these thinges seruyth Christ, pleased well God, and is commended of men.

Let vs folowe the thinges which make for peace, and thinges wherwith one maye edifye an other. Destroye not the worke of God for a lytle meates sake. All thinges are pure: but it is euyll for that man, whiche eateth with hurte of his conscience. It is good neyther to eate flesshe, neyther to drynke wyne, neyther any thynge, wherby thy brother stombleth, either falleth, or is made weake. Haste thou faith? haue it with thy self before God. Happy is he that condemneth not him self in that thinge which he alloweth. For he that maketh conscience, is damned yf he eate: because he doth it not of faith. Now, what so euer is not of faith, is synne.

To vs against conscience is to doubte. And all that is not of faythe is synne.

¶ The infirmite and frayines of the weake ought to be borne with all ioye and kyndnes, after the exemple of Christe.

CAPI. XV.

WE which are stronge, ought to beare þ fraylte of them which are weake, and not to plonde in our owne commodites. Let euery man please his neyghbour vnto his welth and edifyenge. Christ pleased not him selfe: but as it is written. * The rebukes of them which rebuked the, fel on me. ✣ What so euer thinges are written afore tyme, are written for our learninge, that we thorow pacyence and comforte of the scripture, might haue hope.

A He is stronge that can beare another mans weakenes. Phil. 2. b.

The God of pacyence and consolacio, graue vnto euery one of you, that ye be lyke myn-ded one towardes an other after the exemple of Christ Iesu: that ye all agreynge together, maye with one mouth prayse God the father of our Lorde Iesu. Wherfore receyue ye one an other as Christe receyued vs, to the prayse of God. But this I say that Iesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision for the trouthe of God, to confirme the promyses made vnto the fathers. And let the gentyles prayse God for his mercy, as it is writt: * For this cause I will prayse the amonge the Gentyles, and synge in thy name. And agayne he sayth: reioyce ye gentyls with his people. And agayne: Prayse the Lorde all ye gentyles, and laude him all nacions. And in an other place Esaye sayth: * There shall be the rote of Jesse, and he that shall ryse to raygne ouer the gentyls: in him shall the gentyles trust. The God of hope fyll you with all ioye and peace in beleuinge: that ye maye be ryche in hope, thorow the power of the holy ghost. ✣

I my selfe am full certified of you my brethren, that ye your selues are full of goodnes and fylled with al knowledge, and are able to exhorte one an other. Neuertheles, brethren, I haue somewhat boldely written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembraunce, thorowe the grace that is giuen me of God: that I shulde be the minister of Jesu Christ amonge the gentyls, and shuld minister the glad tydinges of God, that the gentyls myght be an acceptable offeringe, sanctified by the holy ghost. I haue therfore wherof I maye reioyce in Christ Iesu, in the thinges which pertayne to god. For I dare not speake of any of the thinges which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the gentyls obedient with worde and dede, in mighty signes & wonders, by the power of the spirite of God: so þ from Jerusalem and the coastes round about vnto Illyricum, I haue fylled all countreyes with the glad tydinges of Christ.

So

So haue I enforced my self to preache the Gospell, not where Christ was named, least I shulde haue buylt on an other mans foundacion: but as it is wrytten: * To whom he was not spoken of, they shall se: and they that herde not, shall vnderstande. For this cause I haue bene oft let, to come vnto you: but now for as moche as I haue no more to do in these countreyes, and also haue bene desyrous many yeares to come vnto you, when I shal take my iourney into Spayne, I wil come to you. I truste to se you in my iourneye, and to be brought on my way thytherwarde by you, after that I haue somewhat reioysed in you.

Nowe goo I vnto Ierusalem, and ministre vnto the saynctes. For it hath pleased theym of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certayne distribucion vpon the poore saynctes which are at Ierusalem. It hath pleased them verely, and their debters are they. For yf the gentyles be made partetakers of their spirituall thinges, their duety is to minister vnto them in carnall thinges. When I haue performed this, and haue brought them this fruite sealed I wil come backe agayn by you into Spayne. And I am sure whe I come, that I shal come with aboundance of the blessinge of the Gospell of Christ. I beseche you brethren for our Lorde Iesu Christes sake, and for the loue of the spirite, that ye helpe me in my busynesse w your prayers to God for me, that I maye be delyuerred frome them whiche beleue not, in Iewry, and that this my seruice, whiche I haue to Ierusalem, maye be accepted of the saynctes, that I maye come vnto you with ioye, by the wyll of God, and maye with you be refreshed. The God of peace be with you: Amen.

¶ A chapter of salutacions. He warneth them to beware of mens doctryne, and commendeth vnto the certayne godly men, that were louers and brethren in the trouth.

I Commende vnto you Phebe our sister (whiche is a minister of the congregation of Cenchrea) that ye receyue her in the Lorde, as it becommeth saynctes, and that ye assiste her in what so euer busynes, she nedeth of youre ayde. For she hath succered many, and myne owne selfe. Greete Priscilla and Aquila my helpers in Christ Iesu, which haue for my lyfe layde downe their owne neckes. Vnto which not I onely gyue thankes, but also the congregacion of the Gentyles. Lykewyse greete the congregation that is in their house. Greete Mary which bestowed moche labour on vs. Salute Andronicus & Iunias my cosyns, whiche were prysoners with me also, whiche are well taken amonge the Apostles, and were in Christ before me. Greete Amplias my beloued in the Lorde. Salute Urban oure helper in Christ, and Stachis my beloued. Salute Apelles approued in Christ. Salute them whiche are of Aristobolus houshold. Salute Herodion my kynsman. Greete them of the houshoulde of Narcissus, which are in the Lorde. Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women dyd labour in the Lorde. Salute the beloued Persis, whiche laboured moche in the Lorde. Salute Rufus chosen in the Lorde, & his mother & myne. Greete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Hermes, and the brethren which are with them. Salute Philologus and Iulia, Nereus and his sister, & Olympha, and all the saynctes whiche are w them. Salute one an other with an holy kisse. The congregations of Christ salute you.

I beseche you brethren, marke them which cause diuision, and gyue occasions of euyll, contrary to the doctryne which ye haue learned and auoyde them. For they that are suche, serue not the Lorde Iesus Christe: but their owne bellyes, and with swete preachynges & flatterynge wordes, deceyue the hertes of the innocentes. For your obedience extendeth all me. I am glad surely of you. But yet I wold haue you wyse vnto that which is good, and to be innocent as concernyng euyl. The God of peace treade Satan vnder your feete shortly. The grace of oure Lorde Iesu Christe, be with you.

Timotheus my worke felowe, and Lucius and Iason, and Sopater my kynsmen, salute you. I Tertius salute you, which wrote this Epistle in the Lorde. Gaius myne hoste, and the hoste of all the congregacions, saluteth you. Erastus the chamberlayne of the cyte saluteth you. And Quartus a brother saluteth you. The grace of our Lorde Iesu Christe, be with you all: Amen.

To him that is of power to establyshe you accordynge to my Gospell and preachynge of Iesus Christ in reuelacion of the mysterye which was kept secret sythens the world began, but nowe is opened by the scriptures of Prophesy at the commaundemente of the euerlastynge God, to stere vp obedyence to the faith publyshed among all nacyons: To the same God, which alone is wyse, be prayse thorow Iesu Christ, for euer. ¶ The fyrst Epystle of S. Paul the Apostle, to the Corinthians.

¶ He commendeth the Corinthians, exhorteth them to be of one mynde, and rebuketh the deuision that was amonges them, worldly wysdome is folysshnes before God, yea there is no wysdome but in the despysed crosse of God.

CAPI. I.

PAule by vocacion an Apostle of Jesu Christ thorowe the will of God, and brother Sosthenes.

Vnto the congregacion of God which is at Corinthe.

To them that are sanctified in Christe Jesu, saynctes by callynge, with all that call on the name of our Lorde Jesu Christ in euery place both of theirs and of ours.

Grace be with you, and peace frome God our father, and frome the Lorde Jesu Christ.

I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe, for the grace of God gruen you by Jesu Christ, that in al thinges ye are made ryche by him, in all kennynge and in all knowlege, euen as the testimony of Jesu Christ was confermed in you, so that ye are behynde in no gyfte, and wayte for the appearynge of oure Lord Jesus Christ which shal strengthen you vnto the ende, that ye maye be blamelesse in the daye of our Lorde Jesu Christ. For God is faithfull, by whome ye are called vnto the felowshyp of his sonne Jesu Christ our Lord.

I beseche you brethren, in the name of oure Lord Jesu Christ, that ye al speake one thing, and that there be no dissencion amonges you: but be ye knytte together in one mynde and in one meanynge: It is shewed me (my brethren) of you, by them that are of the house of Cloe that there is stryfe amonge you. I meane this that commenlye amonge you, one saythe: I holde of Paul: another I holde of Apollo: the thirde, I holde of Cephas: the fourth I hold of Christ. Is Christ deuyded? Was Paul crucyfyed for you? Eyther were ye baptysed in the name of Paul? I thanke God that I baptysed none of you, but Crispus and Gayus, least any shoulde saye that I had baptised in myne owne name. I baptised also the house of Stephana. Furthermore know I not, whether I baptised any man or no.

For Christe sente me not to baptise, but to preache the gospel, not with wysdome of wordes, least the crosse of Christ shulde haue bene made of none effect. For the preachynge of the crosse, is to them that perysshe, folysshnesse: but vnto vs which are saued it is the power of God. For it is written: I will destroye the wysdome of the wyse, and will cast awaye the vnderstandynge of the prudente. Where is the wyse? Where is the scribe? Where is the searcher of this worlde? Hath not God made the wysdome of this worlde, folysshnes?

For when the worlde, thorowe wysdome knewe not God, in the wysdome of God: it pleased God thorowe folysshnes of preachynge to saue them that beleue. For the Jewes require a signe, and the Grekes seke after wysdome. But we preache Christ crucified, vnto the Jewes an occasion of fallynge, and vnto the Grekes folysshnes: but vnto them which are called both of the Jewes and Grekes, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wysdome of God. For the folysshnes of God, is wyser then men: and the weakenes of God is stronger then men. Brethren loke on your calling, how that not many wyse men after the flesh, not many myghty, not many of hyghe degre, are called: But God hath chosen the foolyshe thinges of the worlde, to confounde the wyse. And God hathe chosen the weake thinges of the worlde, to confounde thinges whiche are myghty. And vyle thinges of the worlde, and thinges whiche are despysed, hathe God chosen, yea and thinges of no reputation, for to bringe to nought thinges of reputacion, that no flesshe shulde reioyce in his his presence. And vnto him pertayne ye, in Christe Jesu, which of God is made vnto vs wysdom, and also ryghtwysnes, and sanctifienge and redemption. That accordynge as it is written: he which reioyseth, shulde reioyce in the Lorde.

¶ It is not eloquence and glorious painted wordes of worldly wysdome, that can edifye and conuerte soules vnto Christe: but the playne wordes of the scripture for they make mencion of him and his crosse.

CAPI. II.

ANd I brethren when I came to you, came not in gloriousnes of wordes, or of wysdome, shewynge vnto you the testimonye of God. Eyther shewed I my selfe, that I knewe any thinge amonge you saue Jesu Christ, euen the same that was crucifyed. And I was amonge you in weakenes, and in feare, and in moche tremblynge. And my wordes, and my preachynge, was not in entysynge wordes of mans wysdome: but in shewing of the spirite and of power that your faith shulde not stande in the wysdome of men but in the power of God.

That we speake of, is wysdome amonge them that are perfecte: not the wysdome of this world, neyther of the rulers of this world (whiche go to nought) but we speake the wysdome of God, which is in mysterye and hyd, whiche God ordeyned before the worlde vnto our glory: which wysdome none of the rulers of this worlde knewe. For had they knowen it, they wolde not haue crucyfyed the Lorde of glory. But as it is written: The eye hathe not seen, and the eare hath not herd neyther haue entred into the hert of man, the thinges which God hath prepared for them that loue him.

But God hath opened the vnto vs, by his spirite. For the spirite searcheth all thinges, yea the botome of Gods secretes. For what man knoweth the thinges of a man: saue the spirite of a man which is within him. Euen so the the thinges of God knoweth no man, but the spirite of God. Now, we haue not receyued the spirite of the worlde: but the spirite which cometh of God, for to knowe the thinges that are gyuen to vs of God, whiche thinges also we speake, not in the conninge wordes of mans wyldome, but with the conninge wordes of the holy ghost, makynge spirituall comparisons of spirituall thinges. For the naturall man perceyueth not the thinges of the spirite of God. For they are but folyshnes to him. Neyther can he perceyue them, because they are spiritually discerned. But he that is spirituall, discusseth all thinges: yet he him selfe is iudged of no man. + For who knoweth the mynde of the Lorde, eyther who shal informe him? But we vnderstand the mynde of Christ.

¶ Paule rebuketh the sectes and authors therof. Christ is the foundation of his churche. No man ought to reioyce in men, but in God.

CAPI. III.

AND I could not speake vnto you brethren, as vnto spirituall: but as vnto carnall, euen as it were vnto babes in Christe. I gaue you mylke to drinke, and not meate. For ye then were not stronge, no neyther yet are. For ye are yet carnallie. For as longe as there is amonge you, enuying, strife and deuision: are ye not carnall, and walke after the maner of men? As long as one saith I holde of Paul: and another, I am of Apollo, are ye not carnall? What is Paul? What thinge is Apollo? Onely mynisters are they, by whom ye beleued, euen as the Lorde gaue euery man grace. I haue planted, Apollo watered: but God gaue the encrease. So then, neyther is he that planteth any thinge, neyther he that watereth, but God that gaue the encrease. He that planteth, and he that watereth, are neyther better then other. Euery man yet shall receyue his rewarde, according to his labour. We are Gods labourers, ye are Gods husbandry, ye are Gods buylding. According to the grace of God, gyuen vnto me, as a wyse buylder haue I layde the foundacion. And an other buylte thereon. But let euery man take hede how he buyldeth vpon. For other foundacion can no man laye, then that whiche is layde, which is Iesus Christ. If any man buylde on this foundacion, golde, syluer, precious stones: tymber, haye or stobble: euery mans worke shall appeare. For the day shall declare it, and it shalbe shewed in fyre. And the fyre shall trye euery mannes worke what it is. If any mans worke that he hathe buylt vpon abyde, he shal receyue a rewarde. If any mans worke burne, he shal suffre losse, but he shalbe safe him selfe: neuertheles yet as it were thorow fyre.

+ Are ye not ware that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirite of God dwelleth in you? If any man defyle the temple of god him shall God destroye. For the temple of God is holye, whiche temple ye are. Let no man deceyue him selfe. If any man seme wyse amonges you, let him be a fole in this worlde, that he maye be wyse. For the wyldome of this worlde is folyshenesse with God. For it is written: + He compaseth the wyse in their craftynesse. And agayne: + God knoweth the thoughtes of the wyse that they be vayne. Therfore let no man reioyce in men. For all thinges are yours, whether it be Paul, either Apollo, eyther Cephas: Whether it be the worlde, eyther lyfe, eyther deathe, whether they be present thinges or thinges to come: all are yours: and ye are Christes, and Christ is Gods. +

¶ The preachers are but ministers. Iudgement belongeth only vnto God.

CAPI. IIII.

LET men in this wyse esteme vs, euen as the ministers of Christ, and dispolers of the secretes of God. Furthermore it is required of the dispolers that they be founde faithfull. With me is it but a very smal thing that I shuld be iuged of you, eyther of (mans daye) No I iuge not myne owne self. I know nought by my selfe: yet am I not therby iustified. It is the Lorde that iugeth me. Therfore iudge not hinge before the tyme, tyll the Lorde come, which will lighten thinges that are hyd in darcknesse, and open the counsels of the hertes. And then shall euery man haue prayse of god. +

These thinges (brethren) I haue described in myne owne person and Apollos, for youre sakes, that ye myght learne by vs, that no man thinke of him selfe beyonde that which is auouc written: that one swell not against an other, for any mans cause. For who preferreth the? What hast thou, that thou hast not receyued? If thou haue receyued, why reioycest thou, as thoughe thou haddest not receyued it? Now ye are full: now ye are made ryche: ye raygne as kynges without vs: and I wold to god ye dyd raigne, that we might raygne with you.

Me thinketh that god hathe set forthe vs; whiche are Apostles, for the lowest of all, as it were men appointed to death. For we are a galynge stocke vnto the worlde, and to the aungels, and to men. We are foles for Christes sake, and ye are wyse thorow Christ. We are weake, and ye are stronge. Ye are honorable, & we are despised. Euen vnto this daye we hongre and thirst, and are naked, and are bolfeted with fystes, & haue no certayn dwellynge place, and labour, worckynge with our owne handes. We are reuyled, and yet we bielle. We are persecuted, and suffer it. We are cuyll spoken of, and we praye. We are made as it were the fylthynes of the worlde, the of kowynge of al thinges, euen vnto this tyme.

I wryte not these thynges to shame you: but as my beloued sonnes I warne you. For thoughe ye haue ten thousand instructours in Christe: yet haue ye not manye fathers. In Christ Iesu, I haue begotten you thorow the gospell. Wherfore I beseche you to folowe me.

For

For this cause have I sent vnto you Timothe whiche is my dere sonne and faythfull in the Lorde, who shall put you in remembraunce of my wayes whiche I have in Christ, euen as I teache euery where in al congregacions. Some swel as though I wolde come no more at you. But I will come to you shortly, yf God will: and will knowe, not the wordes of them whi che swel, but the power: for the kyngdome of God is not in wordes, but in power. What will ye? Shal I come vnto you with a rod, or els in loue, and in the spirite of meknes?

¶ After what manner Paul curseth the man, that had cõmitted fornicacion with his mother in lawe.

There goeth a commen saying that there is fornicacion amonge you, and such fornicacion, as is not ones named amonge the Gentiles: that one shold have his fathers wyfe. And ye swell, and have not rather sorowed, that he which have done this dede might be put forth of your company. For I verily as absent in body, euen so present in spirite, have determined alredy (as though I were present) b of him that hathe done this dede, in the name of our Lord Jesu Christ, when ye are gathered togither, and my spirite, with the power of the Lorde Jesus Christe, to delyuer hym vnto Sathan, for the destruction of the flesshe, that the spirite maye be saued in the daye of the Lorde Jesu.

Your reioysyng is not good: knowe ye not that a lytle leuen, sowreth the hole lompe of dowe. ✣ Pourge ye therfore the olde leuen that ye maye be newe dowe, as ye are swete breed. For Christ our Easterlambe is offered vp for vs. Therfore let vs kepe holy daye, not w olde leuen, neither with the leuen of malyce and wyckednes: but with the swete breed of purenes and trouthe. ✣

d I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, ✣ ye shulde not accõpany w fornicatours. And I mene not at all of the fornicatours of this worlde, either of the couetous, or of extorsioners, either of the ydolaters: for then muste ye nedes have gone out of the worlde. But now I write vnto you that ye company not togither, if any ✣ is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or couetous, or a worshypper of Jmages, either a cayler, either a dronckerd, or an extorcioner: with him that is suche, se ye eat not. For what have I to do, to iudge them wyth are without? Do ye not iudge them that are within? Them that are without, God shal iudge. Put a way from you that euyll person.

¶ He rebuketh them for goinge to lawe together before the heythen, and reproueth vncleannesse.

How dare one of you, hauynge busynes with an other go to lawe vnder the wicked, and not rather vnder the sayntes? b Do ye not knowe that the sayntes shall iudge the worlde? If the worlde shall be iudged by you: are ye vnworthye to iudge small cryses: knowe ye not that we shal iudge the aungels? How moche more may we iudge thinges that pertayne to the lyfe? If ye have iudgementes of worldly maters, take them which are despised in the congregation, & make them iudges. This I saye to your shame. Is there no wyse man amonge you? What, not one at all, that can iudge betwene brother & brother, but one brother goeth to law with an other: and that vnder the vnbeleuers?

Now therfore there is vtterly a faute amonge you, because ye go to lawe one with an other. Why rather suffre ye not wronge? why rather suffre ye not youre selues to be robbed? nay, ye youre selues do wronge, and rob: and that the brethren. Do ye not remembre that the vnrygtyous shall not inherite the kyngdome of God? Be not deceyued. For neither fornicatours, neither worshyppers of ymages neyther whoremongers, neither tenderlynges neither abusers of them selues with the male kynde, neither theues, neither couetous, neyther dronkerdes, neither cursed speakers, neither pyllers, shall inherite the kyngdome of God. And such were ye verily: but ye are washed: ye are sanctified: ye are iustifyed by the the name of the Lorde Jesu, and by the spirite of our God.

c ✣ Sanctyfynge and iustifynge come by Christe & his spirite.

All thynges are lawfull vnto me: but all thynges are not profytable. I may do all thinges, but I wyl be brought vnder no mans power. Meates are ordened for the bely, and the bely for meates: but God shall destroye both it & the. Let not the body be applied vnto fornicacion, but vnto the Lorde, and the Lorde vnto the body. God hathe rayled vp the Lorde, and shall rayse vs vp by his power. ✣ Luther remembre ye not, that youre bodies are the ✣ membres of Christ? shall I now take the membres of Christe and make the membres of an harlot? God forbyd. Do ye not vnderstande, that he which coupleth him selfe with an harlot, is become one body? For two (sayethe he) shall be one flesshe. But he that is ioyned vnto the Lorde, is one spirite.

d ✣ Our bodies are the membres of christ.

Genesis. ii.b.

Flie fornication. All synnes that a man doth, are without the bodye. But he that is a fornicatour, synneth agaynste his owne bodye. Eyther knowe ye not that youre bodyes are the temple of the holy ghost, whiche is in you, whom ye have of God, and howe ye are not youre owne? For ye are derely boughte. Therfore glorifye ye God in youre bodyes, and in youre spirites, for they are Gods. ✣

¶ Of mariage, virginite and wyddowhode.

As ✣ concernyng the thinges whereof ye wrote vnto me: it is good for a man not to touche a woman. Neuertheles to auoyde fornicacion, lette euery man have his wife, and let euery woman have her husband. Lette the man geue vnto the wyfe due beneuolence. Likewyse also the wyfe vnto the man. The wife hath not power ouer her owne bodye: but the husbande. And lyke wyse the husbande hath not power ouer his owne bodye, but the wyfe. Withdrawe not your selues one from another, onlesse it be with consent for a tyme, to geue your selues to fastyng and prayer. And afterwarde come agayne to the same thynge, lest Sathan tempte you for your incontinencie. ✠

B This I saye of fauoure, and not of commaundement. For I wolde that al men were as I my selfe am: but euery man hathe his proper gyft of God, one after this maner, an other after that. I saye vnto the vnmaryed and wydowes: it is good for them if they abyde euen as I do. But yf they can not abstayne, let them mary. For it is better to mary then to burne.

Vnto the maryed commaunde not I, but the Lorde: that the wife seperate not her selfe frō the man. Yf she seperate her selfe, let her remayne vnmaryed, or be reconcyled vnto her husbande agayne. And let not the husbande put awaye his wyfe from him.

To the remnaunt speke I, & not the Lorde.

C Yf any brother haue a wyfe that beleeueth not, yf she be content to dwell with him, let him not put her awaye. And the woman whiche hathe to her husbande an infydell, yf he content to dwell with her, let her not put him awaye. For the vnbeleuyng husbande is sanctifyed by the wyfe, and the vnbeleuyng wife is sanctified by the husbande. Or elles were your children vncleane, but now are they pure. But yf the vnbeleuynge departe, let him departe. A brother or a systher is not in subiection in suche. God hathe called vs in peace. For how knowest thou (o woman) whether thou shalt saue that man or no? Other how knowest thou (o man) whether thou shalte saue that woman or no? but euen as God hath distributed to euery man.

As the Lorde hathe called euery person, so let him walke, and so ordeyn I in al congregations. Yf any man be called being circumcised let him adde nothyng therto. Yf any be called vncircumcised, let him not be circumcised. Circumcision is nothynge, vncircumcision is nothynge, but the kepynge of the commaundementes of God is all together.

✠ Let euery man abyde in the same state wherin he was called. Were thou called a seruaunt? care not for it. Neuertheles yf thou mayst be free, vse it rather. For he that is called in the Lorde beynge a seruaunt, is the Lordes freman. Likewyse he that is called beyng free, is Christes seruaunt. Ye are dearely bought, be not mens seruantes. Brethren, let euery man wherin he is called, therin abyde w God? ✠

As concernyng virgyns, I haue no cōmaundement of the Lorde, yet geue I counsel, as one that hath obteyned mercy of the Lorde, to be faithful. I suppose that it is good for the present necessitie. For it is good for a mā so to be. Art thou bounde vnto a wyfe? seke not to be loosed. Arte thou loosed from a wyfe? seke not a wyfe. But yf thou take a wyfe, thou synnest not. Likewyse yf a virgyn marye, she synneth not. Neuertheles, suche shall haue trouble in ther flesshe, but I fauour you.

This saye I brethren, the tyme is shorte. It remayneth that they whiche haue wyues, be as though they had none, and they that wepe be as though they wepte not, and they that reioyce, be as thoughe they reioyced not: and they that bye, be as though they possessed not: and they that vse this worlde, be as thoughe they vsed it not. For the fashion of this worlde goeth awaye. I wolde haue you without care. The syngle man careth for the thynges of the Lorde, howe he may please the Lorde. But he that hath maried, careth for the thinges of the worlde, howe he maye please his wyfe. There is difference betweene a virgin and a wife. The syngle woman careth for the thynges of the Lorde, that she maye be pure bothe in body, and also in spirite. But she that is maryed, careth for ỳ thinges of the worlde, how she may please her husbande. This speke I for your profite, not to entāgle you in a snare but for that whiche is honest and comly vnto you, and that ye maye quyetly cleue vnto the Lorde without seperation.

Yf any man thynke it vncomly for his virgyn, yf she passe the tyme of maryage, and yf so nede requyre, let him do what he lyketh, he synneth not: let them be coupled in mariage. Neuertheles he that purposeth surely in his herte, hauynge none nede: but hath power ouer his owne wyll: and hath so decreed in his hert, that he wyll kepe his virgyn, doth wel. So then he that ioyneth his virgyn in maryage, dothe well. But he that ioyneth not his virgyn in maryage, doth better. The wyfe is bounde to the lawe, as longe as her husband lyueth. Yf her husband slepe, she is at libertie to marye with whome she wyll, onely in the Lorde, but she is happier yf she so abyde in my iudgement. And I thynke verely that I haue the spirite of God.

¶ He rebuketh them that vse their liberty to the slaunder of other, and sheweth how men ought to behaue them towarde suche as be weake.

CAPI. VIII.

TO speake of thynges dedicate vnto ydols, we are sure that we al haue knowlege. Knowlege maketh a mā swell, but loue edifieth. yf any man thinke that he knoweth any thynge, he knoweth nothyng yet as he ought to know. But if any man loue god, the same is knowen of him. A A lyttle knowlege is to be found in many that haue knowlege.

To speke of meat dedicate vnto ydols, we are sure there is none ydoll in the worlde, and that there is none other God but one. And though there be that are called goddes, whether in heuen, or in earthe (as there be Goddes many, and Lordes many) yet vnto vs is there but one God, whiche is the father, of B whom are all thynges, & we in him, and one Lorde Iesus Christe, by whom are all thynges, and we by him. But euery man hath not knowlege, for some suppose that there is an ydole yll this howre, and eate as a thynge offered vnto the ydole, and so their cōsciences beynge bryngе yet weyke, are dekyled. Meate maketh vs not acceptable to God. Neyther yf we eate are we the better, neyther yf we eate not are we the worse.

But take he de that your lyberte cause not the weyke to fall. For if some man se the, which the hall knowlege syt at meat in the phylles temple, shal not the conscience of him whiche is weyke, be boldened to eate those thynges which are offered to the pwle? And so thorow thy knowlege shall the weake brother perish for whom Chryste dyed. When ye synne so agaynst the brethren, and wounde theyr weyke consciences, ye synne agaynst Chryste. Wherfore yf meat hurte my brother, I wyll eate no flesshe whyle the worlde standeth, bycause I wyll not hurte my brother.

¶ Loue forbeareth the thinge that he mave do by the law. Aye exhorteth them to runne forth in ꝧ course that they haue begon.

CAPI. IX.

AM I not an Apostle? am I not free? haue I not sene Jesus Christ our lorde? Are ye not my worke in the Lorde? Yf I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet am I vnto you. For the seale of myne apostleshyp are ye in the Lorde. Myne answer to them that aske me, is this. Haue we not power to eate and to drynke? Eyther haue we not power to lede aboute a sister to wyfe, as well as other apostles, and as the brethren of the Lorde & Cephas? Eyther onely I and Barnabas haue not power this to do? Who goeth a warfare any tyme at his owne coste? Who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the frute? Who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the mylke?

Saye I these thynges after the maner of men? Or sayde not the lawe the same also? For it is written in the lawe of Moses. Thou shalt not muselt the mouthe of the oxe that treadeth out ꝧ corne. Doth God take thought for oxen? Eyther sayth he it not all together for our sakes? For our sakes vndoubtedly this is wrytten that he whiche eareth sholde eare in hope: and that he which thresheth in hope sholde be partaker of this hope. Yf we sowe vnto you spirituall thinges: is it a great thing yf we repe your carnall thynges? Yf other be partakers of this power ouer you, wherfore are not we rather?

Neuertheles we haue not vsed this power, but suffre all thynges, lest we should hynder the Gospell of Chryste. Do ye not vnderstande, that they which minister in the temple haue theyr lyuyng of the temple? And they which wayt at the auter, are partakers with the auter. Euen so also did the Lorde ordeyn, that they whiche preache the gospell, sholde lyue of the gospell. But I haue vsed none of these thynges.

Neyther wrote I these thynges that it sholde be so done vnto me, for it were better for me to dye, then that any man sholde take this reioysyng from me. In that I preache the gospell, I haue nothynge to reioyse of. For necessitie is put vnto me. Wo is it vnto me yf I preache not the gospell. Yf I do it with a good wyll, I haue rewarde. But yf I do it agaynst my wyll, an office is committed vnto me. What is my rewarde then? Verely that when I preache the gospell, I make the gospell of Chryst free, that I myntse not myne auctorite in the gospell.

He that worketh of loue to his neyghbour hath his rewarde.

For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruaunte vnto all men, that I myght wynne the moo. Vnto the Jewes I became as a Jewe, to wynne the Jewes. To them that were vnder the lawe, was I made as though I had ben vnder the lawe, to wyn them that were vnder the law. To them that were without lawe, became I as though I hadde bene without lawe (when I was not without lawe, as pertaynynge to God, but vnder a lawe as concernynge Christ) to wyn them that were without law. To the weyke became I as weyke, to wynne the weyke. To all thynges I fashioned my selfe to all men, to saue at the leest waye some. And this I do for the gospels sake, that I myght haue my parte therof.

✣ Perceyue ye not that they which renne in a course, runne all, yet but one receyueth the rewarde. So renne, that ye maye obteine. Euery man that proueth masteryes, abstayneth frome all thinges. And they do it to obtayne a corruptible crowne: but we to obteine an vncorruptible crown. I therfore runne, not as at an vncertayne thynge. So fyghte I, not as one that beateth the ayer: but I tame my body, and bryng it in to subiection, lest after that I haue preached to other, I my self should be a caste awaye. ✣

¶ He feareth them with the exemples of the olde testament, and exhorteth them to a godly conuersation.

CAPI. X.

BRethren I wolde not ye shulde be ignorannte of this, howe oure fathers were all vnder a cloud, and all passed thorow the see, and were all baptised vnder Moses, in the cloude and in the see: and dyd all eate of one spyrituall meate, and dyd ✣ all drynche of one maner of spirituall drynche. And they dranche of that spirituall rocke that folowed them, which rocke was Christ. ✣ But in many of them had God no lyste. For they were ouerthrowen in the wyldernes.

Exodi. xiii. b. Exodi. xvi. c.

Exodi. xvii. b. Exodi. xvii. b. Numer. xi. c. Numer. xxv. b. Numer. xvi. c.

These are exemples to vs ✣ that we shulde not luste after euyll thynges, as they lusted. Neyther be ye worshyppers of ymages as were some of them accordynge as it is wrytten: ✣ The people sate downe to eate and drynche, and rose vp agayn to playe. Neyther let vs commyte fornycacion ✣ as some of them commytted fornication, and were destroyed in one day .xxiij. thousande. Neyther let vs tempte Christe, as some of them tempted, and were distroied of serpentes. Neyther murmure ye as some of them murmured and were destroyed of the destroyer.

Exod. xxxii. b. Numer. xxv. c. Psalm. cv. b.

M.i. All

All theſe thinges happened vnto them for ensamples, and were written to put vs in remembraunce, on whō the endes of the world are come. Wherfore let him that thinketh he ſtandeth, take hede leaſt he fall. There hath none other temptacion taken you, but ſuch as followeth the nature of mā. But god is faithfull, which ſhall not ſuffer you to be tempted aboue your ſtrength: but ſhall in the myddes of the temptacion make a waye to eſcape out.

✣ Wherfore my deare beloued flee from worſhyppynge of ydoles.

I ſpeake as vnto them whiche haue diſcretion, iudge ye what I ſaye. Is not the ♆ Cup of bleſſynge which we bleſſe, partakynge of the bloude of Chriſt? Is not the ✣ Bred which we breake, partetakynge of the body of Chriſt? becauſe that we (thoughe we be many) yet are one bred and one body, in aſmoche as we all are partetakers of one bred. Beholde Iſrael which walketh carnally. Are not they which eate of the ſacrifice, partetakers of the aulter?

What ſaye I then? that the ymage is any thinge? or that it which is offred to ymages is any thinge? Naye but I ſaye, that theſe thinges which the Gentyls offer, they offer to deuyls, and not to God.

✣ And I wolde not that ye ſhulde haue felowſhyp with the deuyls. Ye can not drynke of the Cuppe of the Lorde, and of the Cuppe of deuylles. Ye can not be partetakers of the Lordes table, and of the table of deuylles. Other ſhall we prouoke the Lorde? Or are we ſtronger then he? All thynges are lawfull vnto me, but all thynges are not expedient. All thynges are lawfull to me, but all thynges edifye not. Lette no man ſeke his owne profyte: but let euery man ſeke an others welthe.

What ſo euer is ſolde in the market, that eate, and aſke no queſtions for conſcience ſake. For the earthe is the Lordes, ♆ all that therin is. If any of them which beleue not, byd you to a feaſt, ♆ ye be diſpoſed to go, what ſo euer is ſette before you: eate, aſkynge no queſtion for conſcience ſake. But yf any man ſaye vnto you: this is dedicate vnto ydoles, eate not of it for his ſake that ſhewed it, and for conſcience of conſcience. The earthe is the Lordes, and all that therin is. Conſcience I ſaye, not thyne: but the conſcience of that other. For why ſhulde my lyberte be iudged of an other mannes conſcience. For yf I take my parte with thankes: Why am I cuyll ſpoken of for that thynge wherfore I gyue thankes.

Whether therfore ye eate or drynke, or what ſo euer ye doo, do all to the prayſe of God. ✣

Be ye gyuers none occaſion of cuyll, neyther to the Iewes, nor yet to the Gentyles, neyther to the congregacion of God: euen as I pleaſe all men in all thinges, not ſekyng myne owne profyte, but the profyte of many, that they might be ſaued.

Loue ſeketh not his owne profyte.

I ſe rebuketh the for the abuſe and miſordre that they had aboute the Sacramente of the bodye and bloude of Chriſt, and dyrecteth them agayne to the fyrſte inſtitucion.

CAPI. XI.

Be ye folowers of me, as I am the folower of Chriſt. I prayſe you brethren that ye remember me in all thinges, and kepe the ordinaunces euen as I delyuered them to you. I wolde ye knewe that Chriſte is ♆ heed of euery man. And the man is the womans heed. And God is Chriſtes heed. Euery man prayenge or prophelyenge hauing any thinge on his heed, shameth his heed. Euery woman that prayeth or prophelyeth bare headed, diſhonesteth her heed. For it is all one, and the ſame thinge, as thoughe ſhe were shauen. ✣ If the woman be not couered, let her alſo be ſhorn. ✣ If it be ſhame for a woman to be ſhorn or ſhauen, let her couer her heed.

A man ought not to couer his heed, foraſmoche as he is the ymage and glory of God. The woman is the glory of the man. For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man. Neyther was the man created for ♆ womans ſake: but the woman for the mans ſake. For this cauſe ought the woman to haue power on her heed, for the aungels ſakes. Neuertheleſſe neyther is the man, without the woman, neyther the woman without the man in the Lorde. For as the woman is of the man, euen ſo is the man by the woman: but all is of God.

Iudge in your ſelues, whether it be comly that a woman praye vnto God bare headed. Or doeth not nature teache you, that it is a ſhame for a man, yf he haue longe heere? and a prayſe to a woman, yf ſhe haue longe heere? For her heere is gyuen her to couer her with. ✣ If there be any man amonges you, that liſteth to ſtryue, let him knowe that we haue no ſuche cuſtome, neyther the congregacions of God.

This I warne you of, ♆ commende not that ye come together: not after a better maner, but after a worſſe. ✣ Firſt of all whē ye come together in the congregacion, I heare there is diſſencion amonges you: ♆ I partly beleue it. For there muſte be ſectes amonge you, ♆ they which are perfect amonge you, might be knowen. When ye come together, a man can not eate the Lordes ſupper. For euery man begynneth afore to eate his own ſupper. And one is hongry, ♆ an other is dronken. Haue ye not houſes to eate ♆ to drincke in? Or diſpiſe ye the congregacion of God, ♆ ſhame them ♆ haue not? What ſhall I ſaye vnto you? ſhall I prayſe you? In this, prayſe I you not. ✣

✣ That which I deliuered vnto you I receyued of the Lorde. For the Lorde Ieſus the ſame nyght in whiche he was betrayed, toke bred: and thanked ♆ brake, and ſayde. Take ye, and eate ye: this is my body which is broken for you. ✣ This doo ye in remembraunce of me. After the ſame maner he toke the cup, when ſupper was done, ſaying: This cup is the newe teſtament in my bloud: This doo as oft as ye drinke it, in the remembraūce of me.

♆ The Lordes ſupper.

Matth. xxvi. Marck. xiiii. Luke. xxii.

✣ The inſtitucion of ✣ Sacramente.

I For as often as ye shall eate this breed, and drinke this cup, ye shal shew the Lordes death, tyll he come. Wherfore who so euer shal eate of this breed, or drinke of the cup vnworthely, shall be gyltie of the body and bloude of the Lorde. Let a man therfore examen him selfe, and so let him eate of the breed, and drinke of the cup. For he that eateth or drinketh vnworthely, eateth and drynketh his owne damnacion, because he maketh no differences of the Lordes bodye. ✠ For this cause, many are weake and sycke amonges you, & many slepe. For yf we had iudged our selues, we shoulde not have ben iudged. But when we are iudged of the Lorde, we are chastened, because we shulde not be damned with the worlde. Wherfore my brethren, when ye come together to eate, tarye one an other. If any man hunger, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnacion. Other thinges will I set in order when I come.

¶ The diuersite of the gyftes of the holy ghost, geuen to the edyfyenge of one another, as the members of a mans body serue one an other.

CAPI. XII.

A IN spirituall thinges (brethren) I wolde not have you ignorant. ✠ Ye know that ye were Gentyles, and went youre wayes vnto dumme ydoles, euen as ye were led. Wherfore I declare vnto you, that no man speakinge in the spyrite of God, defyeth Jesus. Also no man can saye that Jesus is the Lorde: but the holy ghost. There are dyuersites of gyftes, & yet but one spyrite. And there are differences of admynystrations, and yet but one Lorde. And there are dyuers maners of operations, and yet but one God, which worcketh all thinges that are wrought, in all creatures. The gyftes of the spyrite are geuen to euery man, to profyte the congregacion. To one is geuen thorow the spyrite, the vtterance of wysdome. To an other is gyue the vtterance of knowledge, by the same spyrite. To an other faith, by the same spyrite. To an other the gyftes of healynge, by the same spyrite. To an other power to do myracles. To an other prophesy. To an other iudgement of spyrites. To an other dyuers tongues. To an other the interpretation of tongues. And these all worcketh the selfe same spyrite, deuydinge to euerye man seuerall gyftes, euen as he will. ✠

For as the body is one, and hath many membres, and al the membres of one body though they be many, yet are but one body: so is Christe. For in one spyrite are we all baptysed to make one body, whether we be Jewes or gentyls, whether we be bonde or fre, and have all dronke of one spyrite. For the body is not one membre, but many. If the foote saye: I am not the hande, therfore I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? And yf the eare say, I am not the eye: therfore I am not of the body: is he therfore not of the body? If all the body were an eye, where were then the eare? If all were hearynge: where were the smellynge? But now hath God disposed the membres euery one of them in the body, at his owne pleasure. If they were all one member: where were the body? Now are there many membres, yet but one bodye. And the eye can not saye vnto the hande, I have no nede of the: nor the heed also to the feete, I have no nede of you. Yea rather those membres of the body, which seme to be most feble, are moste necessary. And vpon those membres of the body, which we repute least honest, put we moste honestye. And our vngoodly partyes, have moste beautye. For our honest membres nede it not. But God hathe so disposed the body, and hath gyuen moost honoure to that parte which lacked, least there shulde be any stryfe in the body: but that the membres shulde indifferently care one for an other. And yf one member suffer, all suffer with him: yf one member be hadde in honour, all membres be glad also.

Ye are the bodye of Christe, and membres one of an other. And God hath also ordeyned in the congregacion, fyrste the Apostles, secondarely Prophetes, thirdely Teachers, Then them that do myracles: after that, the gyftes of healynge, helpers, gouernors, diuersite of tongues.

Are all Apostles? Are all Prophetes? Are all Teachers? Are all doers of myracles? Have all the gyftes of healyng? Do all speake with tongues? Do all interprete? Covet the best gyftes. And yet shew I vnto you a more excellent waye.

¶ The nature and condycions of charitye or loue.

CAPI. XIII.

THough I spake with the tongues of men and aungels, and yet had no Charite, I were euen a soundynge braste: or as a tynklynge Cymball. And though I coulde prophesy, and vnderstande all secretes & all knowledge: yea, yf I had all faith, so that I coulde moue mountaynes out of their places, and yet had no loue, I were nothynge. And though I bestowed al my goodes to fede the poore, and though I gaue my body euen that I burned, and yet had no loue, it profyteth me nothinge.

Loue suffereth longe, is curteous. Loue enuyeth not. Loue doth not frowardely, swelleth not, dealeth not dishonestely, seketh not her owne, is not prouoked to anger, thinketh not euyll, reioyseth not in wyckednesse: but reioyseth in the trouthe, suffereth all thinges, beleueth all thinges, hopeth all thinges, endureth in all thinges. Though that prophesyenge shal cease, other tongues shall ceasse, or knowledge vanysshe awaye, yet loue faileth neuer away.

For our knowledge is vnperfecte and oure prophesyenge is vnperfecte. But when that whiche is perfect, is come, then that which is vnperfect, shall be done awaye. When I was a chylde, I spake as a chylde, I vnderstode as a chylde, I imagined as a chylde.

But assone as I was a man, I put away childishnesse. Nowe we se in a glasse, even in a darcke speakinge: but then shall we se face to face. Now I knowe unperfectly: but thē shal I knowe, even as I am knowen. Now abydeth faithe, hope, and love, even these three: but the cheefe of these is love.

¶ Paule sheweth that the gifte of prophesye, interpretyng or preachyng, excelleth the gifte of tongues and howe they both ought to be used.

CAPI. XIIII.

Labour for love and covet spirituall gyftes: and chiefly for to prophesye. For he that speaketh with tongues, speaketh not unto men, but unto God. For no man heareth him. How be it in the spirite he speaketh mysteries. But he that prophesyeth, speaketh unto men, to edifienge, to exhortation & to comforte. He that speaketh with tongues, profiteth him selfe: he that prophesyeth, edifieth the congregation. I wolde ye all spake with tongues: but rather that ye prophesied. For greater is he that prophesieth, then he that speaketh with tongues, onlesse he expounde it also: that the congregation maye have edifyenge. Now brethren, yf I come unto you speakynge with tongues: What shall I profyte you, except I speake to you, either by revelacion, or knowledge, or prophesyenge, or doctrine.

Moreover whē thinges without lyfe geve sounde: whether it be a pype or an harpe: onles they make a distinctiō in the sounde: how shall it be knowen what is pyped or harped? And also yf the trompe geve an uncertayne voyce, who shall prepare him selfe to battell? Even so likewyse when ye speake with tongues, except ye speake wordes, that have signyfycation, howe shall it be understande what is spoken? For ye shall but speake in the ayer.

Many kyndes of voyces are in the worlde, and none of them are without signification. Yf I knowe not what the voyce meaneth, I shalbe unto him that speaketh, an alien, and he that speaketh shall be an alien unto me. Even so ye (for asmoche as ye covet spirituall gyftes) seke that ye may have plentie unto the edifienge of the congregation.

Wherfore let him that speaketh with tongues, praye that he maye interprete also. Yf I praye with tongues, my spirite prayeth: but my mynde is without fruite. What is it then? I will praye with the spirite, and will praye with the mynde also. I will synge with the spirite, and will synge with the mynde also.

For els when thou blessest with the spirite, how shal he that occupieth the rowme of the unlerned, saye Amen, at thy gevynge of thākes, sythe he understandeth not what thou sayst. Thou verely gevest thankes well, but the other is not edified. I thanke my God, I speake with tongues, more then ye all. Yet had I lever in the congregacō, to speake fyve wordes with my mynde to the informacion of other, rather then ten thousand wordes with the tongue.

Brethren, be not childre in wytte, but in malice, be children, and in wytte be perfecte. In the lawe it is written, + with other tongues, and with other lyppes, will I speake unto this people, and yet not so, will they not heare me, sayeth the Lorde. Wherfore, tongues are for a sygne, not to them that be lever but to them that believe not. Contrarywise, prophesyeng serveth not for them that believe not: but for them which believe.

Yf therfore when all the congregation is come together, and all speake with tongues, there come in they that are unlerned, or they which believe not: will they not saye that ye are out of your wyttes? But yf all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlerned, he is rebuked of al men, and is judged of every man: and so are the secretes of his hert opened, and so falleth he downe on his face, and worshypped God, and sayeth that God is with you in dede.

Howe is it then brethren? When ye come together, every man hath his songe, hath his warne, hath his tongue, hath his revelacō, hath his interpretation. Let all thinges be done unto edifyenge. Yf any man speake with tongues, let it be two ottonce, or at the most thre ottonce, and that by course, and let an other interprete it. But yf there be no interpreter, let him kepe silence in the congregation, and let him speake to him selfe and to God.

Let the prophetes speake two ottonce, or thre ottonce, and let the other wege. Yf any revelacion be made to an other that sitteth by let the first kepe silence. For ye maye all prophesye one by one, that all maye lerne, and all maye have comforte. For the spirites of the prophetes, are in the power of the Prophetes. For God is not cawser of styrfe: but of peax, as he is in all other congregacions of the sayntes.

Let your wyves kepe silence in the congregacions. For it is not permitted unto them to speake: but let them be under obedience, as sayeth the lawe. Yf they will lerne any thing, let them aske their husbandes at home. For it is a shame for wemen to speake in the congregation. Sprong the worde of God from you? Other came it unto you onely? Yf any man thynke him selfe a Prophet, either spirituall: let him understande, what thinges I write unto you. For they are the commaundementes of the Lorde. But yf any man be ignorannte, let him be ignorannt. Wherfore (brethren) covet to prophesye, and forbyd not to speake with tongues. Let al thinges be done honestly and in order.

¶ The resurrection of the dede.

CAPI. XV.

Brethren as touchinge the gospel which I preached unto you, whiche ye have also accepted, and in which ye continue, by which also ye are saved: I wil unto you understand, after what maner I preached unto you yf ye kepe it, onles ye have believed in vayne.

For

b To speake with tongues, or with + spirite is to speke that other understonde not as perfite lay theyr lessons. To speake with the mynde is to speke that other understonde, as when the preacher preacheth.

Gene. 3.

The women must be in subiection to their husbandes.

For frist of al I deliuered vnto you ✠ which I receyued, how that Christ dyed for our synnes, agreing to the scriptures: & that he was buryed, & that he arose agayne the thyrde day accordinge to the scriptures, and that he was sene of Cephas, then of the .xij. After that he was sene of mo then .v. C. brethren attonce, of whiche many remayne vnto this day, and many are fallen a slepe. After that appeared he to James, then to all thapostles.

Last of al he was sene of me, as of one that was borne out of due tyme. For I am the lest of all the apostles, whiche am not worthy to be called an apostle, bicause I persecuted the congregacion of god. But by the grace of god I am that I am. And his grace whiche is in me, was not in vaine: ✠ but I laboured more abundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of god which is with me. Whether it were I or they, so we preache, and so haue ye beleued.

✠ Yf Christ be preached that he rose from the dede: how say some that are amonges you, that there is no resurrection of the dede? Yf there be no rysynge agayne of the dede, then is Christ not risen. Yf Christ be not risen, then is our preachynge vayne, and your fayth is also in vayne. Yea, and we are founde false witnesses of god. For we haue testified of God, how that he raysed vp Christ, whom he raised not vp, if it be so that the dede ryse not agayn. For yf the dede ryse not agayne, then is Christ not risen agayne. Yf it be so that Christ rose not, then is your fayth in vayne, and yet are ye in your synnes. And therto they which are fallen a slepe in Christ, are perysshed. Yf in this lyfe onely we beleue on Christ, then are we of all men the moost miserable.

But now is Christ risen from the dede, and is become the frist frutes of them that slept. For by a man came dethe, and by a man came the resurrection of the dede. For as by Adam all dye: euen so by Christ, shall all be made aliue, & euery man in his owne order. ✠ The first is Christ, then they that are Christes, at his commyng. Then commeth the ende, when he hathe deliuered vp the kyngdome to God the father, when he hath put downe all rule, auctorite and power. For he must reygne tyll he haue put all his ennemyes vnder his fete. The last ennemy that shal be destroyed, is dethe. ✠ For he hath put all thynges vnder his fete. But when he sayth, all thynges are put vnder him, it is manifest that he is excepted, whiche did put all thinges vnder him. When al thinges are subdued vnto him, then shall the sonne also him self be subiect vnto him that put thinges vnder him, that God may be in al thinges. Elles what do they whiche are baptised ouer the dede, yf the dede ryse not at all? Why are they then baptised ouer the dede? ye, and why stande we in icoperdye euery houre? By our reioysynge, whiche I haue in Christ Jesu our Lorde, I dye dayly. That I haue fought with beestes at Ephesus, after the maner of men, what auaunteth it me, yf the dede ryse not agayne? Let vs eate and drynke, to morow we shal dye. Be not disceyued: euyl speakynges corrupte good maners. Awake truly out of slepe, & syn not. For some haue not the knowlege of god. I speke this to your rebuke.

But some men wyll saye: howe arise the deed? with what bodyes come they in? Thou fole, that which thou sowest is not quyckened except it dye. And what sowest thou? Thou sowest not that bodye that shall be: but bare corne (I meane eyther of whete, or of some other) and God gyueth it a bodye at his pleasure, to euery seed a seuerall bodye.

✠ All flesshe is not one maner of flesshe, but there is one maner flesh of men, an other maner flesshe of beestes, an other maner flesshe of fyshes, and an other of byrdes. There are heuenly bodyes, and ther are erthly bodyes. But the glory of the heuenly is one, and the glorye of the erthly is an other. There is one maner glory of the sonne, and an other glorye of the moone, and an other glorye of the sterres. For one sterre differeth from an other in glory. So is the resurrection of the dede. It is sowen in corrupcion, and ryseth in incorrupcion. It is sowen in dishonour, and ryseth in honour. It is sowen in weyknes, and ryseth in power. It is sowen a naturall bodye, and ryseth a spirituall bodye. There is a naturall bodye, and there is a spirituall body, as it is wryten: the first man Adam was made a lyuyng soule, and the last Adam was made a quickenyng spirite. How be it, that is not fyrst which is spirituall: but that whiche is naturall, and then that whiche is spirituall. ✠ The first man is of the erth, erthly: the seconde man is ✠ Lorde from heuen. As is the erthly, such are they that are heuenly. And as we haue borne the ymage of the erthly, so shall we beare the ymage of the heuenly.

This saye I brethren, that flesshe & bloude can not inherite the kyngdome of God. Neyther doth corrupcion inherite incorrupcion. Beholde, I shewe you a mistery. We shall not all slepe, but we shall all be chaunged, & that in a moment, and in the twynckling of an eye, at the sound of the last trompe. For the tromp shall blowe, and the dede shall ryse incorruptible, and we shall be chaunged. For this corruptible must put on incorruptibilite: and this mortall must put on immortalite.

Whe this corruptible hath put on incorruptibilitie, and this mortal, hath put on immortalite: then shal be brought to passe the saying that is wrytte: Ded is consumed in to victory. Deth where is thy stynge? Hell where is thy victory? The stynge of deth is synne: and the strength of synne is the lawe. But thankes be vnto God whiche hath geuen vs victory thorow our Lorde Jesu Christ. Therfore my dere brethren, be ye stedfast & vnmouable, alwayes ryche in the workes of the Lorde, for asmoche as ye knowe howe that youre labour is not in vayne in the Lorde.

¶ She putteth them in remembraunce of the gatherynge for the poore Christen at Jerusalem, and concludeth his Epystle with the salutacions of certayne louynge brethren.

CAPI. XVI.

Of the

a Of the gatherynge for the sayntes as I haue ordeyned in the congregacions of Galecia, euen so do ye. Upon some sondaye let euery one of you put aside at home & laye vp what so euer he thynketh meete, that there be no gatherynges when I come. When I am come, who so euer ye shall allowe by your letters, them wyll I sende to bringe your liberalite vnto Ierusalem. And yf it be meete that b I go, they shall go with me. I wyll come vnto you after I haue gone ouer Macedonia. For I wyll go thorow out Macedonia. With you peraduenture I wil abyde, or also kepe my winter, that ye may bringe me on my waye whyther so euer I go.

I wyll not se you nowe in my passage: but I trust to abyde a while with you, if God shall suffre me. I wyll tary at Ephesus tyll whitsonetyde. For a great dore and frutefull is opened vnto me: and there are many aduersaryes. Yf c Timothe come, se ye be without feare with you. For he worketh the worke of the Lorde as I do. Let no man despyse him, but conuey him forth in peax, that he may come vnto me. For I loke for him with the brethren.

As touchinge brother Apollo, I greatly desired him to come vnto you with the brethren, but his mynde was not all to come at this tyme, howbe it he wyll come when he shall haue conuenient time. Watche ye, stande fast in the fayth, quite you lyke men, and be stronge. d Let all your dedynes be done in charite.

Brethren, ye know the house of Stephana, howe they are the fyrst frutes of Achaia, and that they haue appointed them selues to ministre vnto the sayntes: I beseche you that ye be obedient vnto such, and to al that help and labour. I am glad of the commynge of Stephana, Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for that whiche was lackynge on your behalfe, they haue supplyed. They haue comforted my spyryte and yours. Loke therfore that ye knowe them that are suche.

The congregacions of Asia salute you. Aquila, and Priscilla salute you moche in the Lorde, and so doth the congregacion that is in their house. All the brethren grete you. Greete ye one an other with an holye kysse. The salutacion of me Paul with myne owne hende. If any man loue not the Lorde Iesus Christe, lete the same be Anathema maranatha. The grace of the Lorde Iesu Christ be with you all. My loue be with you all in Christe Iesu. Amen.

CAPI. I.

PAule Apostle of Iesu Christe by the wyll of God, and brother Timotheus. a Vnto the congregacion of God, whiche is at Corinthen with all the sayntes whiche are in all Achaia. Grace with you, and peax frome God our father, and frome the Lorde Iesu Christe.

Blessed be God the father of our Lorde Iesu Christ, the father of mercy, and the God of all comforte, whiche comforteth vs in all our tribulacion, in so moche that we are able to comforte them whiche are troubled, in what so euer trouble it be, with the same comforte wherwith we oure selues are comforted of God. For as the b afflictions of Christe are plenteous in vs, euen so is oure consolacion plenteous by Christ.

Whether we be troubled for your consolacion, and saluacion, whiche saluacion worketh her power, in that ye suffre the same afflictions, whiche we also suffre: or whether we be comforted for youre consolacion and saluacion: yet our hope is stedfast for you, in asmoche as we knowe that as ye haue youre parte in afflictions, so shall ye be partakers of consolacion.

Brethren, I wolde not haue you ignorant of our trouble, which happened vnto vs in Asia. For we were greued out of measure, passing strength, so greatly, that we dispayred euē of lyfe. Yea, we receyued an answere of deth in oure selues, and that because we shulde not put our trust in our selues, but in God, which rayseth the dead to lyfe agayne, and which deliuered vs from so great a deth, and doth deliuer. On whome we trust, that yet hereafter he wyl deliuer, by the helpe of your prayer for vs, that by the meanes of many occasions, thākes may be geuen of many on our behalfe, for the grace geuen vnto vs.

Our reioysynge is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in syngleness and godly pureness, and not in fleshly wysdome, but by the grace of God, we haue had our conuersacion in the worlde, and moost of all towardes you. We wryte none other thynges vnto you, then that ye rede, and also knowe. Yea and I trust yt shall fynde vs vnto thende, euen as ye haue found vs in parte: for we are your reioysyng, euen as ye are ours, in the daye of the Lorde Iesus.

And in this confydence was I mynded the other tyme to haue come vnto you, that ye might haue hadde yet one pleasure more, and to haue passed by you in to Macedonia, and to haue

haue come agayne vnto of Macedonia vnto
D you, and to haue ben led wyth to Iury warde of you. When I thus wyse was mynded: dyd I vse lyghtnes? Or thynke I carnally those thinges which I thynke? that with me shulde be ✣ ye ye, and naye naye. God is tayethful/for our preachynge to you, was not ye and naye.
For Gods sonne Iesus Chryste whiche was preached amonge you by vs (that is to saye, by me and Syluanus and Timotheus) was not ye and naye: but in him it was ye. For all the promyses of God, in him are ye, & are in hym, Amen, vnto the laude of God thorow vs. For it is God whiche stablyshed vs and you in Chryst, and hathe anoynted vs, whiche hathe also sealed vs, and hathe gyuen the erneste of the spirite in to our hertes. I call God for a recorde vnto my soule, that for to sauour you withall I came not any more vnto Corinthe.
1. Pet. v. a Not that we be lordes ouer your fayethe: but helpers of your ioye. For by fayth ye stande.

¶ She therwith the cause of his absence and exhorteth them to forgyue the man that was taken, and to receyue him agayne with loue.

CAPI. II.

B ✣ But I determined this in my selfe, that I wolde not come agayne to you in heyuynes. For yf I make you sorye, who is it that shulde make me gladde, but the same whiche is made sorye by me? And I wrote this same epystle vnto you, lest yf I came, I shulde take heuynesse of them, of whome I oughte to reioyce. Certaynly this confydence haue I in you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all. For in greate affliction and anguyshe of herte I wrote vnto you with many teares:
not to make you sorye, but that ye myght perceyue the loue whiche I haue moost specially vnto you.

If any man hathe caused sorowe, the same hathe not made me sorye, but in parte: lest I shulde greue you all. It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many. So that nowe contrarye wyse, ye oughte to forgyue him, and comforte him, lest that same person shulde be swalowed vp with ouer moche heuynes. Wherfore I exhorte you that loue maye haue strengthe ouer him. For this cause verily dyd I wryte, that I myght knowe the proffe of you, whether ye wolde be obedient in al thinges. To whom ye forgyue any thing I forgyue also. For also yf I forgaue any thynge, to whom I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it, in the syght of Christ, lest Satan shulde preuent vs. For his thoughtes are not vnknowen vnto vs.

When I was come to Troada for Christes gospels sake (and a greate doore was opened vnto me of the Lorde) I hadde no reste in my spirite, bycause I founde not Titus my brother: but toke my leaue of them, and went awaye in to Macedonia. Thankes be vnto
God, whiche alwayes gyueth vs the victorye
D in Christ, and openeth the sauer of his knowelege by vs in euery place. For we are vnto god the swete sauour of Christ, bothe among them that are saued, and also amonge them whiche perysshe. To the one parte are we the sauour of bothe vnto bothe. And vnto the other parte are we the sauour of lyfe vnto lyfe. And who is mete vnto these thynges? For we are not as many are, whiche chop and chaunge with the worde of God, but euen oute of pureness and by the power of God, and in the syght of God, so speake we in Christ.

¶ She prayseth the preachynge of the Gospell aboue the preachynge of the lawe.

CAPI. III.

We begyn to prayse oure selues agayne,
Nede we as some other Epystles of recommendacion vnto you? or letters of recommendacion from you? Ye are our Epystle wryten in our hertes, whiche is vnderstande and red of all men, in that ye are knowen that ye are the Epystle of Christ, mynistred by vs & wryten, not with ynke, but with the spirite of the lyuynge God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the herte.

✣ Suche truste haue we thorowe Christ to Godwarde, not that we are sufficient of oure selues to thynke any thynge as it were of our selues, but oure hablenes commeth of God, whiche hathe made vs hable to ministre the newe testament, not of the letter, but of the spirite. For the letter kylleth, but the spirite gyueth lyfe.

Yf the mynistracion of deathe thorowe
the letters fygured in stones was glorious,
so that the chyldren of Israel coulde not be-holde the face of Moses for the glorye of his countenaunce (whiche glorye neuertheles is done awaye) why shall not the mynistra-cion of the spirite be moche more glorious? For yf the mynysterynge of condemnacion be glorious: moche more dothe the mynistracion of ryghteousnes exceede in glorye. ✣ For no wyse that whiche was there glorifyed, is not at all glorifyed in respecte of this excedynge glorye.
Then yf that whiche is destroyed was glorious, moche more shall that whiche remaynyth be glorious.

Seynge then we haue suche truste, we vse greate boldenes, and doo not as Moses, whiche put a vayle ouer his face, that the Exod. xxxiiii.
chyldren of Israel shulde not se for what purpose that serued whiche is put awaye.
But theyr myndes were blynded. For vntyll this daye remaynyth the same couerynge vntaken awaye in the olde testament, when they rede it, whiche in Christ is put awaye.
But euen vnto this daye when Moses is redde, the vayle hangeth before theyr hertes. D Neuertheles when they shall returne to the Lorde, the vayle shall be taken awaye. The Lorde no doubte is a spirite. And where the spirite of the Lorde is, there is libertie. But we all beholde the glorye of ✣ Lorde, with vnface open, and are chaunged vnto the same ymilitude, frome glorye to glorye euen of the spirite of the Lorde.

Therfore

¶ A true preacher is diligent, he corrupteth not the worde of God, he preacheth not himself, but seketh the honoure of Christe yea though it be with the perell of his life.

CAPI. IIII.

A Therfore sythe we haue suche an office, euen as mercye is come on vs, we faynt not, but haue caste frome vs the cloked of vnhonestie, and walke not in craftynes, neither corrupt we the worde of god, but in open trouth, reapoze our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God. If our gospell be yet hyd, it is hyde amonge them that are lost, in whom the God of this worlde hath blinded the mindes of them which beleue not, lest the lyght of the glorious gospell of Christ which is the ymage of God, shold shyne vnto them.

B + For we preache not our selues, but Christ Jesu to be the Lorde, and our selues your seruantes for Jesus sake. For it is God that commaunded the lyght to shyne out of darknes, whiche hath shyned in our hertes, for to giue the light of the knowlege of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ.

But we haue this treasure in erthen vessels, that the excellent power of it myght appere to be of God, and not of vs. We are troubled on euery syde, yet are we not without shyfte. We are in pouertie: but not vtterly without somwhat. We are persecuted, but are not forsaken. We are cast downe, neuertheles we perisshe not. And we alwayes beare in our bodyes the dynge of the Lorde Jesus, that the lyfe of Jesu myght appeare in oure bodyes. +

C For we which lyue alwayes are deliuered vnto deathe for Jesus sake, that the lyfe also of Jesu, myght appere in our mortall flesshe. So then deth worketh in vs, and lyfe in you.

+ Seynge then we haue the same spirytt of faythe, accordynge as it is written: I beleued, and therfore haue I spoken. We also beleue, and therfore speake. For we knowe that

Psal. 116. a

D he whiche raysed vp the Lorde Jesus, shall rayse vp vs also by the meanes of Jesus, and shall set vs with you. For all thinges do I for your sakes, that the plenteous grace by thankes gyuen of many, may redounde to the prayse of God.

E Wherfore we are not weryed, but though our outwarde man perysshe, yet the inwarde man is renewed daye by daye. For our exceadynge tribulacion, whiche is momentany and lyght, prepareth an exceadynge and an eternall weyght of glory vnto vs, whyle we loke not on the thynges which are sene, but on the thynges whiche are not sene. For thynges whiche are sene, are temporall: but thynges whiche are not sene, are eternall ynge. +

¶ The rewarde for suffrynge trouble.

CAPI. V.

F We knowe surely yf our erthly mancyon wherin we nowe dwell were destroyed that we haue a buyldynge of god, an habitacion not made with handes but eternall in heuen. And therfore sygh we, desyrynge to be clothed with our mansion, which is frome heuen: so yet yf we be founde clothed, and not naked. For as longe as we are in this tabernacle we sigh and are greued, for we wolde not be vnclothed, but wolde be clothed vpon, that mortalite myght be swalowed vp of lyfe. He that hathe ordeyned vs for this thing, is God: whiche hath gyuen vnto vs the earnest of the spirytt.

Therfore we are alwaye of good chere, and knowe well that as longe as we are at home in the body, we are absent from God. For we walke in faythe and se not. Neuertheles we are of good comforte, and had leuer be absent from the bodye, and presente with the Lorde. Wherfore, whether we be at home, or frome home, we endeuour our selues to please hym. For we must all appere before the iudgement seate of Christe, that euery man maye receyue the workes of his body accordynge to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.

G + Seynge then that we knowe, howe the Lorde is to be feared, + we fare fayre with men. For we are knowen well ynoughe vnto God. I trust also that we are knowen in your consciences.

H We praise not our selues agayne vnto you, but gyue you an occasion to reioyse of vs, that ye maye haue somwhat agaynst them, whiche reioyce in the face, and not in the hert. For yf we be to feruent, to God are we to feruent. If we kepe measure, for your cause kepe we measure. For the loue of Christe constrayneth vs, because we thus iudge, yf one be dead for all, that then are all dead, and that he dyed for al, that they whiche lyue, shold not hence forthe lyue vnto them selues, but vnto him, whiche dyed for them, and rose agayne.

I Wherfore henceforth know we no man after the flesshe. In so moche though we haue knowen Christe after the flesshe, nowe henceforth knowe we hym so no more. Therfore yf any man be in Christe, he is a newe creature. Olde thynges are passed awaye, beholde all thynges are made newe. Neuertheles, al thynges are of God, which hath reconcyled vs vnto him selfe by Jesus Christ, and hathe gyuen vnto vs the office to preache the attonement. For God was in Christe, and made agrement betwene the worlde and hym selfe, and imputed not their synnes vnto them: and hath committed to vs the preaching of the attonement. Nowe then are we messengers in the rowme of Christ, euen as though God did beseche you thorow vs. So praye we you in Christes stede, that ye be atone with God: for he hath made him to be synne for vs, which knewe no synne, that we by that meanes shulde be that rygh-toulnes whiche before God is alowed.

¶ An exhortacion to receyue the worde of God with all thankfulnesse and amendement of lyfe. The diligences of Paule in the Gospell, and how he warneth them to eschue the company of the wicked.

CAPI. VI.

WE as helpers therfore exhorte you that ye receyue not the grace of god in vayne.
For he sayth: I haue herde the in a time accepted, and in the daye of saluacion haue I succoured the. Beholde nowe is that well accepted tyme: beholde now is that daye of saluacion. Let vs gyue no man occasion of euyll, that in our office be founde no faute, but in all thynges let vs behaue our selues as the mynisters of God.

In moche pacience, in afflictions, in necessitie, in anguyshe, in stryppes, in imprysonmēt, in tiepte, in labour, in watchynge, in fastynge, in pureues, in knowlege, in longe sufferynge, in kyndnes, in the holy ghoste, in loue vnfayned, in the wordes of trouthe, in the power of God, by the armoure of ryghtousnes of the ryght hande and on the lefte, in honoure and dishonour, in euyll reapporte and good reapporte, as disceyuers and yet true, as vnknowē and yet knowen: as dyinge, and beholde yet lyue: chastened, and not kylled: as sorowynge, and yet alwaye mery: as poore, and yet make many ryche: as hauynge nothynge, and yet possessynge all thynges.

O ye Corynthyans, our mouth is open vnto you. Our herte is made large: ye are in no straytes in vs, but are in a straye in youre owne bowelles: I promyse you lyke rewarde with me, as to my chyldren. Set youre selues therfore at large, and be not a straunges yoke with the vnbyleuers. For what felowshyp hath righteousnes with vnrighteousnes? What company hathe lyght with darknes? What concorde hath Chryste with Belial? Eyther what parte hath he that byleueth with an infydell? How agreeth the temple of God with ymages? For ye are the temple of the lyuynge God, as sayde God. I wyll dwell amonge them, and walke among them, and wyll be their God, and they shall be my people. Wherfore come out from the myddes of them, and seperate youre selues (sayth the Lorde) and touche none vncleane thynge: so wyll I receyue you, and wyll be a father vnto you, & ye shall be my sonnes and doughters sayth the Lorde almyghty.

The exhorteth them to receyue the promyses of God thankfully. The Corynthians are commended for their obedience and loue toward Paule.

CAPI. VII.

FOrasmoche as we haue suche promyses (derely beloued) let vs clense oure selues from all fylthynes of the fleshe and spirite, and growe vp to full holynesse in the feare of God. Understande vs, we haue hurt no man, we haue corrupte no man: we haue defrauded no man. I speake not this to condemne you with, for I haue shewed you before, that ye are in our hertes to dye and lyue with you. I am bolde ouer you, and reioyce greatly in you. I am filled with comforte and am exceedynge ioyous in all our tribulacions. For when we were come into Macedonia, our fleshe hadde no reste, but we were troubled on euery syde. Without was fyghtynge, within was feare. Neuertheles God that comforteth the abiecte, comforted vs at the comynge of Titus.

And not with his comminge onely, but also with the consolacion wherwith he was comforted of you. For he told vs youre mynde, youre mournynge, youre feruent mynde towardes me: so that I nowe reioyse the more. Wherfore thoughe I made you sorye with a letter, I repent not, thoughe I dyd repente. For I perceyue that the same Epystle made you sorye, thoughe it were but for a season. But I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sorye, but that ye so sorowed that ye repented. For ye sorowed godly, so that in nothynge ye were hurt by vs. For godly sorowe causeth repentaunce vnto saluacion not to be repented of: where as worldly sorowe causeth death. 1. Pet. 2.

Beholde what diligence this godly sorowe that ye take hath wrought in you: yea it caused you to cleare youre selues. It caused indignacion, it caused feare, it caused desyre, it caused a feruent mynde, it caused punishment. For in all thynges ye haue shewed youre selues that ye were clere in that matter. Wherfore thoughe I wrote vnto you, I did it not for his cause that did hurt: neyther for the cause that was hurte: but that our good mynde whiche we haue towarde you in the syghte of God, myght appere vnto you.

Therfore we are comforted because ye are comforted: ye, and exceedyngly the more ioyed we for the ioye that Titus hadde: because his spirite was refreshed in you all. I am therfore not now ashamed, thoughe I boasted my selfe to him of you. For as all thynges whiche I preached vnto you are true, euen so is our boastynge that I boasted my selfe to Titus withall, founde true. And now is his inwarde affection more aboundaunt towarde you, when he remembreth the obedience of euery one of you: how with feare & trembling ye receyued him. I reioyce that I may be bolde ouer you in all thynges.

The putteth them in remembraunce to helpe the poore sayntes at Ierusalem, according as the Macedonians dyd.

CAPI. VIII.

I Do you to wyt (brethren) of the grace of God which is gruen in the congregacions of Macedonia, how that the aboundance of their reioycynge is, that they are tryed with moche tribulacion. And thereto thoughe they were exceedyng poore, yet haue they gruen exceedyng rychely, and that in syngleness. For to their powers (I beare recorde) yee, and beyonde their power, they were willyng of them owne mocion, and prayed vs with greate instaunce, that we wolde receyue their benefyte, & suffer them to be partakers in other in mynistryng to the sayntes. And this they dyd, not as we hoped for: but gaue their owne selues fyrste to the Lorde, and after vnto vs by the wyll of God: so that we coulde not but exhorte Titus

to

to accomplysshe the same benuolence among you also, euen as he had begon.

Now therfore as ye are ryche in all partes
in fayth, in worde, in knowlege, in all feruētnes, and in loue, which ye haue to vs: so le ye be plenteous in this benuolence. Thus saye I not as commaundynge, but bycause other are so feruent, therfore proue I your charite, whe ther it be perfect or no. Ye know the liberalite of our Lorde Iesus Christ, whiche though he were ryche, yet for your sakes he became pore, that ye thorowe his poucrte myght be made ryche.

And I geue counsell here to. For this is expedient for you, which began not to do onely:
but also to wyl a yere ago. Now therfore per-forme the dede: that as there was in you a rea-dynesse to wyll, euen so ye maye performe the dede, of that whiche ye haue. For yf there be fyrst a wyllyng mynde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

It is not my mynde that other be eased and ye brought in to combrousnes, but yᵗ there be equalnes now at this tyme, that your abun dance succour theyr lacke, that their abundāce
may supply your lacke: that there maye be equalite, agreynge to that whiche is wrytten.
He that gathered moche, had neuer yᵗ more abundance, & he that gathered lytell, had ne-uertheles. Thankes be vnto god, which put in the hert of Titus, the same good mynde to-warde you. For he accepted the requeste, yea rather he was so well wyllynge, yᵗ of his owne accorde came vnto you.

We haue sent with him that brother, whose prayse is in the gospel thorowe out all the cogregacions, and not so onely, but is also chosē
of the congregacions to be a felowe with vs
in our iourney concernynge this benuolence that is ministred by vs vnto the prayse of the Lorde, and to stere vp your prompte mynde.

For this we eschewe, that any man shulde rebuke vs in this plenteous distribucion that is ministred by vs, and therfore make prouisi-on for honest thinges, not in the sight of God
onely, but also in the syght of men.

We haue sent with them a brother of ours whom we haue oft tymes proued diligent in many thinges, but now moche more diligent.
The great confydence whiche I haue in you,
hathe caused me this to do: partly for Titus sake, whych is my felow and helper as concernynge you, partly bicause of other whiche are our brethren and ye messengers of the cōgregacions, and the glory of Christ. Wherfore shew vnto them a proffe of your loue, and of the reioysynge that we haue of you, that the congre-gacions may se it.

¶ In this Chapter doeth he the same that he dyd in the Chapter goynge before, that is, moueth them to helpe the poore brethren at Ierusalem.

CAPI. IX.

Of the ministrynge to the sayntes, it is but superfluous for me to write vnto you/ for I knowe your redynes of mynde, wherof I boste my selfe vnto them of Macedonia, and say that Achaia, was prepared a yere ago, and your feruentnes hath prouoked many. Neuertheles, yet haue I sent these brethē lest our reioysynge ouer you shulde be in vayne in this behalfe, and that ye (as I haue sayd) prepare youre selues, lest happely yf they of Macedonia come with me, and fynde you vn-prepared: the boost that I make in this mater shulde be a shame to vs, I saye not vnto you.

Wherfore I thought it necessary to exhorte the brethren to come before hande vnto you for to prepare your good bieffyng promised afore, that it might be redy: so that it be a bieffyng, and not a defraudyng. ✣ This yet remē-bre, how that he which soweth litel, shal repe lytell, and he that soweth plenteously, shall repe plenteously. And let euery man do accordynge as he hathe purposed in his herte, not grudgyngly, or of necessitie. For God loueth a cheerefull geuer.

God is able to make you ryche in al grace
that ye in all thynges hauyng sufficient vnto
the vttermost, may be ryche vnto all manner
good workes, as it is wrytte. ✣ He hath spared abrode and hathe geuen to the poore, his righteousnes remayneth for euer. He that fyndeth the sower seed, shall mynyster breed for food, and shal multiply your seed and increase the frutes of your rygteousnes ✣ that on all partes, ye may be made ryche in all singlenes, whiche causeth thorow vs, thankes gruynge
vnto God.

For the office of this ministracion, not only supplyeth the nede of the sayntes: but also is aboundaunte therin, that for this laude-ble ministeryng, thankes myghte be geuen to God of many, which prayse God, for the obedience of youre professyng the Gospell of Christe, and for youre singlenes in distribucyng to them and to all men: and in theyr prayers to God for you, longe after you, for the aboundaunte grace of God geuen vnto
you. Thankes be vnto God for his vnspeakable gyfte.

¶ He toucheth the false Apostles, and defendeth his auctoryte and callynge.

CAPI. X.

I Paul my selfe beseche you by the meknes and softnes of Christe whiche when I am present amonge you am of no reputacion, but am bold towarde you being absent. I be-seche you that I nede not to be bolde when I am present with that same confidence, wherwith I am supposed to be bold, agaynst some which repute vs as though we walked carnal
ly. Neuertheles though we walke compassed with the flesshe, yet we warre not fleshlye.
For the weapens of oure warre are not car-nall thinges, but thynges myghty in God, to caste downe stronge holdes wherwith we ouerthrowe ymaginacions, and euery hyghe thing that exhalteth it self against the knowledge of God and bringe in to captyuite all vnderstandynge to the obedience of Christe, & are redye to take vengeaunce on all disobedience, whē your obedience is fulfilled. Loke ye on thynges after the vtter appearaunce.

If any man trust in him self that he is Christes, let the same also consider of him self that as he is Christes, euen so are we Christes. And thoughe I sholde boost my self somwhat more of our auctorite which the Lorde hath geuen vs to edifye, and not to destroye you, it sholde not be to my shame. This saye I, lest I sholde seme as though I wente aboute to make you afrayde with letters. For the epistles (saith he) are stronge, but his bodyly presence is weyke, and his speche is rude. Let him that is suche, thynke on this wyse, that as we are in wordes by letters when we are absent, suche are we in dedes when we are present.

D For we can not fynde in our hertes to make our selues of the nombre of them, or to compare our selues to them which prayse them selues, neuertheles whyle they measure them selues with them selues, and compare them selues with them selues, they vnderstande nought. But we will not reioyce aboue measure: but accordyng to the quantite of the measure whi che God hath distributed vnto vs, a measure that reacheth euen to you. For we stretche not out ouer selues beyonde measure, as though we had not reached vnto you. For euen to you haue we come with the gospell of Christ, and we boost not our selues out of measure in other mens labours. Yea, and we hope when youre fayth is increased among you, to be magnified accordyng to our measure, more largely, and to preache the gospell in those regions which are beyonde you, and not to reioyce of that whiche is by an other mans measure prepared alredy. Let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lorde. For he that prayseth him self, is not alowed, but he whom the Lorde prayseth.

¶ Paul vnder sufferaunce commendeth him self, & defendeth his auctorite against the false prophetes

CAPI. XI.

1 Would God ye could suffre me a litle in my folysshnes: ye, and I praye you forbeare me. For I am gelous ouer you with Godly gelowsye. For I coupled you to one man, to make you a chaste virgyn to Christe. But I feare lest as the serpent begyled Eue through his subtelte, euen so youre wyttes sholde be corrupte from the lyngience that is in Christ. For yf he that commeth preache an other Iesus then him whom we preached: or yf ye receyue an other spirite then whiche ye haue receyued, either an other gospel then ye 3 haue receyued, ye might right well haue suffered. I suppose I was not behynde the chefe apostles. Though I be rude in speakynge, yet I am not so in knowlege. Now be it amonge you we are knowe to the vttermost what we are in all thinges. Did I therin synne, because I submitted my self, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the gospell of God freely? I robbed other congregations, and toke wages of them to do you seruice. And 4 when I was present with you, and had nede, I was greuous to no man: for that which was lackynge vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia supplyed: and in all thynges I kepte my self that I sholde not be greuous to you: and so will I kepe my self.

Yf the trouth of Christ be in me, this reioysyng shall not be taken from me in the regions of Achaia. Wherfore? Because I loue you not? God knoweth. Neuertheles, what I do, that will I do, to cut awaye occasion from them which seke occasion, that they might be founde lyke vnto vs in that wherin they reioyce. For 5 suche false apostles are disceytfull workers, and fashion them selues lyke vnto the apostles of Christ, and no meruayle, for Sathan him self is chaunged into the fashion of an angell of lyght. Therfore it is no greate thynge though his ministers fashion them selues as though they were the ministers of righteousnes: whose ende shall be accordynge to their dedes.

I saye agayne, lest eny man thynke that I am folysshe: or els cast now take me as a fole, that I may boost my self a litel. That I speake I speake it not after the wayes of the Lorde but as it were folysshly, whyle we are nowe come to boostynge. Seinge that many reioyce after the flesshe, I will reioyce also. + For ye 6 suffre foles gladly, because ye your selues are wise. For ye suffre euen yf a man bringe you in to bondage: yf a man deuoure: yf a man take: yf a man exalte him self: yf a man smite you on the face. I speake as concernynge rebuke, as though we had bene weake.

Howbe it wherin soeuer eny man dare be bolde (I speke folysshly) I dare be bolde also. They are Ebrues, so am I: They are Israelites, so am I. They are the seed of Abraham, euen so am I. They are the ministers of Christe (I speake as a fole) I am more: In laboures more aboundaut: In stripes aboue measure: In prysons more plenteously: In deathe often. Of the Iewes fyue tymes receyued I euery tyme .xl. stripes saue one. Thryse was I beten with rodes. I was ones stoned. I suffred thryse shypwrake. Nyghte and daye haue I bene in the depe of the see. In iourneynge often: in perels of waters: in perels of robbers: in perels of myne owne nation: in perels among the heithen. I haue bene in perels in cities, in perels in wildernes: in perels in the see, in perels amonge false brethren. In laboure and trauayle, in watchynge often, in honger, in thyrste, in fastynges often, in colde & in nakednes. And beside the thynges which outwardly happen vnto me, I am cobried daily, and do care for all congregations. Who is seeke, and I am not seeke? Who is hurte in the fayth & my hert burneth not? If I must nedes reioyce, I will reioyce of myne infyrmytes.

¶ Paul is taken vp into the thirde heauen, and heareth wordes not to be spoken of.

CAPI. XII.

1 It is God and father of our Lorde Iesus Christe, which is blessed for euermore knoweth that I lye not. + In the cite of Damascon, the gouernour of the people

vnder kynge Aretas layde watche in the cyte of the Damascens, and wold haue caught me, and at a wyndowe was I let downe in a basket thorow the wall, & so escaped his handes.

It is not expedient for me truly to reioyce. Nevertheles I wyll come to visions and reuelacions of the Lorde. I know a man in Christ aboue.xiiij. yeres agone (whether he were in the body I can not tell, or whether he were out of the body, I can not tell: God knoweth) whiche was taken vp in to the thirde heuen. And I know the same man, whether in the body or out of the body, I can not tell, God knoweth) how that he was taken vp in to Paradise, and herde wordes not to be spoken, which no man can vtter. Of this man wyll I reioyce, of my selfe I wyll not reioyce, onlesse it be of myne infyrmities. And yet thoughe I wolde reioyce, I wolde not be a fole: for I shall saye the trouth. Neuertheles I spare, lest any man shuld thynke of me, aboue that he seeth me to be, or heareth of me.

And lest I shulde be exalted out of measure thorowe the abundance of reuelacions, there was geuen me a rodde to the fleshe, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, leaste I shulde not be exalted out of measure. For this thyng besought I the Lorde thryse that it might departe from me. And he sayd vnto me, my grace is sufficient for the. For my strength is made parfyte thorowe weyknes. Very gladly therfore will I reioyce of my weyknes, that the strength of Christ may dwell in me. Therfore haue I delectacion in infirmities, in rebukes in neades, in persecutions, in anguishe for Christes sake. For when I am weyke, then am I stronge.

I am become a fole in boasting my selfe. Ye haue compelled me: I ought to haue ben commended of you. For in nothyng was I inferiour vnto the chefe Apostles, though I be nothyng. Yet the tokens of an apostle were wrought among you with all patience, in tokens, and wonders, & mighty dedes. For what is it wherin ye were inferiours vnto other congregacions, excepte it be therin, that I was not greuous vnto you. Forgyue me this wronge vnto you. Beholde now the thyrde tyme I am redy to come vnto you, and yet wyll I not be greuous vnto you. For I seke not yours, but you. For the children ought not to laye vp for the fathers and mothers, but the fathers and mothers for the children.

I wyll very gladly bestow, and wyll be bestowed for your soules: thoughe the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued agayne. But be it that I greued you not. Nuertheles I was crafty, and take you with guyle. Did I pyl you by any of them whiche I sente vnto you? I exhorted Titus, and with him I sente a brother. Dyd Titus defraude you of any thyng? walked we not in one spyrite? walked we not in lyke steppes? Agayne thynke ye that we excuse oure selues? We speake in Christ in the sight of God.

But we do all thynges (derely beloued) for your edifying. For I feare lest it come to passe that when I come, I shall not fynde you suche as I wolde, and I shal be found vnto you suche as I wolde not: I feare lest there be founde amonge you, debate, enuyenge, wrathe, stryfe, backbytinges, whysperynges, swellynges and discorde. I feare lest when I come agayn, God bryng me lowe among you, and I be constrayned to bewaile many of them which haue synned alredy, and haue not repented for the vnclennes, fornication, wantonnes, which they haue committed.

¶ He prompteth to come vnto them and exhorteth them to order them selues, that he may fynde them perfecte, and of one mynde.

CAPI. XIII.

NOw come I the thyrde tyme vnto you + in the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery tyynge stande. I tolde you afore, and tell you afore: and as I sayd when I was present the seconde tyme, so write I now beinge absent to them which in tyme past haue synned, and to all other: that yf I come agayne, I wyll not spare, seynge that ye seke experience of Christe, which speaketh in me, whyche amonge you is not weyke, but is myghty in you. For verily thoughe he came of weyknes that he was crucified, yet liueth he thorow the power of God. And we no doubt are weyke in him, but we shall lyue with him by the myght of God amonge you.

Proue youre selues whether ye are in the fayth or not. Examin your own selues: know ye not your selues how Jesus Christ is in you onlesse ye be reprouable? I trust that ye shal knowe that we are not reprouable. I desire before God that ye do none euyl, not that we shulde seme commendable, but that ye shulde do that is honest: and lest we be accompted reprouable persones. We can do nothyng agaynste the truth, but for the truth. We are glad whē we are weyke, and ye stronge. This also we wysshe for, euen that ye were perfect. Therfore wryte I these thynges beyng absent, lest when I am present, I shulde vse sharpnes, according to the power which the Lorde hath geuen me to edifie, and not to destroye. Finally brethren farewell, be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mynde, lyue in peace, & the God of loue and peace shall be with you. Greete one another in an holy kysse. All the saynctes salute you. The grace of our Lorde Jesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the felawshyp of the holy ghost be with you all.

AMEN.

¶ Paul rebuketh them, because they were fallen away from the Gospell, he weth his owne conuersion, magnifieth his office and Apostleshyppe and declareth him selfe to be equall with the hygh Apostles

CAPI. I.

PAul Apostle, not of men, neyther by man, but by Jesus Christe, and by God the father whiche rayfed hym from deathe: and all the brethren whiche are with me.

Vnto the congregations of Galacia. Grace with you, and peace frome God the father, and from our Lorde Jesu Christ, whiche gaue hym selfe for our synnes, to deliuer vs from this present euyll worlde, thorowe the wyll of God our father, to whome be prayse for euer and euer. Amen.

I meruayle that ye are so sone turned from him, that called you in the grace of Christ, vnto an other gospell, which is nothyng els, but that there be some which trouble you, and intende to peruert the gospell of Christ. Neuertheles though we our selues, or an aungel from heuē, preache any other gospel vnto you, then that which we haue preached vnto you, holde him as a curssed. As I said before, so say I now
B agayne: yf any man preache any other thyng vnto you, then that ye haue receyued, holde him accursed. Do I now preache mās doctrine or Gods? Either go I about to please men? Yf I studyed to please men, I were not the seruaunt of Christ.

+ Certifye you brethren, that the gospell whiche was preached of me, was not after the manner of men, neyther receyued I it of man, neyther was I taughte it, but receyued it by the reuelacion of Jesus Christe. For ye
C haue herde of my conuersation in tyme paste, in the Jewes wayes, howe that beyonde measure, I persecuted the congregacion of God, and spoyled it: and preuayled in the Jewes lyfe aboue many of my companyons, whiche were of myne owne nacion, and was a moche more feruent mayntayner of the traditions of the elders.

But when it pleased God, whiche seperated from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace, to declare his sonne by me, that I sholde preache him amonge the heithen: immediatly I cōmoned not of the matter w̄ flesh and blonde, neither returned to Jerusalem to them whiche were Apostles before me: but went my wayes in to Arabia, and came agayn vnto Damasco. Then after thre yere, I returned to Jerusalem to se Peter, and abode with D him xv. dayes, none other of the apostles saw I, saue James the Lordes brother. The thinges whiche I write, behalde, God knoweth I lye not.

After that I went in to the coostes of Syria and Cilicia: and was vnknowen as touchynge my person vnto the congregacions of Jewrye, whiche were in Christe. But they herde onely, that he whiche persecuted vs in tyme past, nowe preacheth the fayethe whiche before he destroyed. And they glorifyed God on my behalfe.

¶ He withstandeth Peter in the face, and proueth that the lawe and circumcision are not necessarye to saluacion.

CAPI. II.

THen .xiiij. yeres after, I went vp agayne A to Jerusalem Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also. I went vp by reuelacion and commoned with them of the gospell whiche I preache amonges the Gentyles: but prywete our selues, with them which were counted chefe, lest it sholde haue ben thought that I shold runne, or had runne in vayne. Also Titus whiche was with me, thoughe he were a Gryke, yet was not compelled to be circumcised, because of intermedlers being falce brethren, which came in amonge other to espye out our libertie whiche we haue in Christ Jesus, that they might bring vs in to bondage. To whom we gaue no rowme, no not for the space of an houre, as concernynge to be brought in to subiection: and that because that the truthe of the gospell myght continue with you.

Of them whiche semed to be greate (what they were in tyme past it maketh no mater to me: god loketh on no mans person) neuertheles they whiche semed great, added nothyng to me. But contrary wise when they saw that the gospell ouer the vncircumcision was committed vnto me, as the gospell ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter: for he that was myghtye in Peter in the Apostleshyp ouer the circumcision, the same was myghtye in me amonge the Gentiles: and therfore when they perceyued the grace that was gruen vnto me, then James, Cephas and Johñ, whiche semed to be pyllers, gaue to me and Barnabas the ryghte handes, and agreed with vs, that we sholde preache amonge the heithen, and they amonge the Jewes: warnynge onely that we sholde remembre the poore. Which thyng also I was diligent to do.

And when Peter was come to Antioche, I withstode him in the face. For he was worthye to be blamed. For er that certayne came from James, he ate with the Gentyles. But when they were come, he withdrue and separated him selfe, feareyng them whiche were of the circumcision. And the other Jewes dissembled likewise, in so moch that Barnabas was brought in to their dissimulacion also. But when I sawe that they wente not the ryghte ware after the truthe of the gospell, I sayde vnto Peter before all men, yf thou beynge a Jewe, lyuest after the maner of the Gentyles and not as the Jewes, why constreynest thou the Gentyles to lyue as do the Jewes? We which are Jewes by nature, and not synners of the Gentyles, knowe that a man is not iustifyed Dedes of the lawe iustifie not, but faith iustifieth.

by the * dedes of the lawe: but by the fayth of Iesus Christ. And therfore we haue byleued on Iesus Christe, that we myghte be iustified by the fayth of Christ, and not by the dedes of the lawe, because that by the dedes of the lawe no fleshe can be iustified.

D Yf then whyle we seke to be made rygh-tous by Christe, we oure selues are founde synners, is not then Christe the ministre of synne? God forbyd. For yf I buylde agayne that whyche I destroyed, then make I my self a trespasser. But I thorow the lawe, am dead to the lawe, that I myghte lyue vnto God. I am crucified with Christe. I lyue verily: yet nowe not I, but Christe lyueth in me. For the lyfe whyche I now lyue in the fleshe, I lyue by the fayth of the sonne of God, whyche loued me, and gaue him selfe for me. I despyse not the grace of God. For yf rygh-teousnes come of the lawe, then Christe dyed in vayne.

¶ He rebuketh the vnderstandinge of the Galathians touching the vnperfectnes of the law, and declareth to what ende it was not gyuen for aungles.

CAPI. III.

O foolyshe Galathians, who hath bewit-ched you, that ye shulde not obeye the truthe? To whome Iesus Christe was euidently described before the eyes and among you crucified. This onely wolde I learne of you: receyued ye the spirite by the dedes of the lawe, or els by preachynge of fayth? Are ye so vnwyse, that after ye haue begon in the spirite, ye wolde nowe ende in the fleshe? So many thynges ye haue suffred in vayne, yf that be vayne. Which ministreth to you the spirite, and worketh myracles among you, dothe he it thorowe the dedes of the lawe, or by preachynge of fayth? * Euen as Abraham byleued God, and it was accompted vnto him for ryghteousnes. Vnderstande therfore that they whyche are of fayth, the same are the chyldren of Abraham.

Gen.xvi.b Rom.iiii.a Galath.vi.d.

For the scripture sawe afore hande, that god wolde iustifye the hethen thorowe fayth, and therfore shewed before hande glade tydinges vnto Abraham: In the shall all nacions be blessed. So then they whyche be of fayth, are blessed with faythfull Abraham. For as many as are vnder the dedes of the lawe, are vnder malediction. For it is written, cursed is euery man that continueth not in all thynges which are written in the boke of the lawe, to fulfyl them. That no man is iustified by the lawe in the syght of God, is euydent. For the iust shal lyue by fayth. The lawe is not of fayth: but the man that fulfylleth the thynges contay-ned in the lawe shal lyue in them. But Christ hath delyuered vs from the curse of the lawe, and was made ‡ accursed for vs. For it is writ-ten: cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree, that the blessyng of Abraham myght come on the Gentyles thorow Iesus Christ, and that we myghte receyue the promyse of the spirite thorowe fayth.

Gen.xii.b

Abac.ii.a

‡ Christ was accursed for our sakes, for he suffred and dyed for our synnes. Deut.xxi.

Brethren, I wyll speake after the maner of men. Thoughe it be but a mannes testa-ment, yet no man despyseth it, or addeth any thynge therto, when it is ones allowed. + To Abraham and his seed, were the promy-ses made. He sayth not in the seedes, as ma-ny: but in thy seed, as in one, which is Christ. This I saye, that the lawe whyche began af-terwarde, beyonde fourr hundred and thyrtye yeres, dothe not disannull the testament that was confermed afore of God vnto Christ-warde, to make the promyse of none effect. For yf the inheritaunce come of the lawe, it com-meth not of promesse. But God gaue it vnto Abraham by promesse.

Wherfore then serueth the lawe? The lawe was added because of transgression (tyl the seed came, to whom ¶ promesse was made) and it was ordeyned by aungels in the hande of a mediatour. A mediatour is not a media-tour of one. But God is one. Is the law then agaynste the promyse of God? God forbyd. How beit yf there had ben a law gyuen, which coulde haue gyuen lyfe, then no doubte rygh-teousnes, shold haue come by the lawe. But the scripture concluded all thynges vnder synne, that the promesse by the fayth of Iesus Christ shold be gyuen vnto them that byleue. ‡ Be-fore that fayth came, we were kepte and shut vp vnder the law, vnto the fayth which shoulde afterwarde be declared.

¶ The law is not contrary to the promyse, but serueth it.

Wherfore the lawe was oure scholemas-ter vnto Christe, that we myghte be made rygh-teous by fayth. But after that fayth is come, nowe are we no longer vnder a schole-maister. For ye are all the sonnes of God by the fayth whyche is in Christ Iesus. For all ye that are baptysed, haue put on Christ. Nowe is there no Iewe, neyther Gentyle: there is neyther bonde, ne fre: there is neyther man ne woman: but ye are all one thynge in Christe Iesu. Yfye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seed, and heyres by promes.

¶ Paule sheweth that thorow Christe we be delyuered frome the law, and rebuketh the vnthankfulnes of the Galathians

CAPI. IIII.

I + Saye, the heyre as longe as he is a chylde differeth not frome a seruaunte, where as he is Lorde of all, but is vnder tutores and gouernours, vntyll the tyme appoynted of the father. Euen so we, as longe as we were chyldren, were in bondage vnder the ordy-naunces of the worlde. But when the tyme was full come, God sente his sonne borne of a woman, and made bonde vnto the lawe, to redeme them whiche were vnder the lawe: that we thorowe election, myghte receyue the inheritaunce that belongeth vnto the natu-rall sonnes. Because ye are sonnes, God hath sent the spirite of his sonne in to oure hertes, whyche cryeth Abba father. Wherfore nowe thou arte not a seruaunt, but a sonne. Yf thou be a sonne, thou art also the heyre of God thorowe Christe. ‡

How beit

Howbe it then not knowynge God, ye dyd seruyce vnto them, which by nature were no Goddes. But now sythe ye knowe God, ye rather are knowen of God) how is it that ye turne agayne vnto the weyke and beggarly ceremonyes, whervnto agayne ye desyre afreshe to be in bondage? Ye obserue dayes, and monethes, and tymes, and yeres. I am in fere of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vayne.

Brethren I beseche you, be ye as I am: for
I am as ye are. Ye haue not hurte me at all.
Ye knowe, howe thorowe infirmitie of the fleshe, I preached the gospell vnto you at the fyrst. And my temptacion whiche I suffered by reason of my fleshe, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but receyued me as an aungell of God: yea, as Christ Jesus. How happy were ye then? for I beare you recorde, that yf it had ben possible, ye wolde haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue geuen them to me. Am I therfore become your enemye, bycause I tell you the truthe?

They are gelous ouer you amisse. Yea, they intende to exclude you, that ye shulde be gelous ouer them. It is good alwayes to be gelous, so it be in a good thynge, and not onely
when I am present with you.

My lytell children (of whome I trauayle in byrthe agayne, vntyll Christe be fas-shoned in you) I wolde I were with you nowe, and coulde chaunge my voyce: for I stande in doubte of you. Tell me ye that de-syre to be vnder the lawe, haue ye not herde of the lawe? ✣ For it is wrytten that Abraham hadde two sonnes, the one by a bonde mayde, and the other by a free woman? But he whiche was of the bonde woman, was borne after the fleshe: and he whiche was of the free woman, was borne by promes. Which thinges are spoken by an allegorye. For these women are two testamentes, the one from the mount Syna, gendrynge vnto bondage, which is Agar. For mounte Syna is called Agar in Arabia, and borderth vpon the cyte, whiche is nowe Jerusalem, and is in bondage with her children.

But Jerusalem, whiche is aboue, is free:
whiche is the mother of vs all. For it is written: ✣ reioyce thou barayne that bearest no children, breake forth and cry thou that trauayllest not. For the desolate hathe many mo children, then she whiche hath the husbande.
Brethren, we are after the maner of Isaac,
children of promes. But as then he was borne carnally, persecuted him that was borne spiritually: Euen so is it nowe. Neuertheles what sayth the scripture: put away the bonde woman and her sonne. For the sonne of the bonde woman, shall not be heyre with the sonne of the free woman. So then (brethren) we are not children of the bonde woman, but of the free woman. ✣

The laboureth to draw them away frome circumcision, sheweth them the battayle betwyxte the spirite and the fleshe, and the frutes of them both.

CAPI. V.

STande faste therfore in the libertie wherewith Christe hathe made vs free, and wrappe not youre selues agayne in the yoke of bondage. Beholde, I Paule saye vnto you, that yf ye be circumcised, Christe shall profyte you nothynge. I testifye agayne to e-uerye man whiche is circumcised, that he is bounde to kepe the hole lawe. Ye are gone quyte frome Christe as many as are iustified by the lawe, and are fallen frome grace. For we loke in spirite to be iustified thorow fayth.
For in Jesu Christe, neyther is circumcision
any thynge worthe, neyther vncircumcision,
but yfayth, whiche by loue is mighty in operation. Ye dyd runne well, who was a lette vnto you, that ye wolde not obey the truthe?
Euen that counsell that is not of hym that called you. A lytell leuen doythe leuen the hole lompe of dowe.

✣ I haue truste towarde you in the Lorde, that ye wyll be none otherwyse mynded. He that troubleth you, shall beare his iudge-ment, what so euer he be. Brethren, yf I yet preache circumcision: why do I then yet suffer persecucyon? For then hadde the offence of the crosse ceased. Wolde God they were seperated frome you, whiche trouble you. Brethren, ye were called vnto liber-tye onely, let not youre libertye be an occasion
vnto the fleshe, but in charitie serue one an other. ✣ For all the lawe is fulfylled in one worde, whiche is this: thou shalte loue thyne neyghbour as thy selfe. Yf ye byte and deuour one an other, take hede lest ye be consumed
one of an other. ✣

✣ I saye, walke in the spirite, and fulfyll not the lustes of the fleshe. For the fleshe lusteth contrarye to the spirite, and the spirite contrary to the fleshe. These are contrary one to the other, so that ye can not do that which ye wolde. But yf ye be led of the spirite, then are ye not vnder the lawe. The dedes of the fleshe are manifest, whiche are these: aduoutrye, fornication, vnclennes, wantonnes, ydolatrye, witchecrafte, hatred, bariaunce, yre, wrathe, stryfe, sedicion, sectes, enuye, mur-ther, dronkennesse, glotony, and suche lyke: of whiche I tell you before, as I haue tolde you in tyme paste, that they whiche commyt suche thynges, shall not inherite the kyngdome of
god. But the frute of the spirite is loue, ioye, peace, longe sufferynge, gentlenes, goodnesse,
faythfulnes, meknes, temperaunce. Agaynst suche there is no lawe. They that are Christes haue crucifyed the fleshe with the affections
and lustes. ✣

✣ Yf we lyue in the spirite, let vs walke
in the spirite. Let vs not be vayneglorious, prouokynge one an other, and enuyenge one an other.

The exhorteth them to brotherly loue and one to beare with another. In the ende he warneth them to beware of circumcision.

CAPI. VI.

Brethren

A Brethren yf any manbe fallen by chaūce into any faute, ye which are spirituall helpe to amende hym in the spirete of meknesse, consyderynge thy selfe, lest thou also be tempted. Bere ye one an others burthen, and so fulfyll the lawe of Christe. If a man seme to hym selfe that he is somwhat when in dede he is nothynge, the same deceyueth hym selfe in his ymagination. Let euery man proue his owne worke, and then shall he haue reioysynge in hym selfe, and not in an other. For euery man shal beare his owne burthen.

B Let him that is taught in the worde, minister vnto him that teacheth hym, in all good thinges. Be not deceyued, God is not mocked. For what so euer a man soweth, that shall he repe. He that soweth in his flesshe, shall of the flesshe repe corruption. But he that soweth in the spirete, shall of the spirete repe lyfe euerlastynge. Let vs not be wery of well doynge. For when the tyme is come, we shall repe without werynes. Whyle we haue therfore tyme, let vs doo good vnto all men, but chefly vnto them which are of the housholde of faith.

C Beholde how large a letter I haue written vnto you with myne owne hande. As many as desire with outwarde apperaunce to please carnally, they constrayne you to be circumcised, onely because they wolde not suffre persecution with the crosse of Christ. For they them selues which are circumcised, kepe not the lawe: but desire to haue you circumcised, that they D might reioyce in your flesshe.

God forbyd that I shulde reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lorde Jesu Christe, whereby the worlde is crucifyed vnto me, and vnto the worlde. For in Christ Jesu, neyther circumcision auayleth, nor vncircumcision: but a newe creature. And as many as walke accordynge to this rule, peace on them, and mercye, and vpon the Israel of God. From henceforth let no man put me to busynes. For I beare in my bodye the markes of the Lorde Jesu. Brethren, the grace of oure Lorde Jesu Christe be with youre spirete. Amen.

* Nothynge auayleth saue to be a newe creature.

The Epistle of S. Paule the Apostle, vnto the Ephesians.

The euerlastynge ordinaunce and election of god to saue all men through Christe Jesu his sonne. We are ordeyned to good workes. The dominion of Christe.

CAPI. I.

A PAule Apostle of Jesu Christ, by the wyll of God.

To the sayntes, which are at Ephesus, and to them whi che byleue on Jesu Christ.

Grace with you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lorde Jesu Christe. Blessed be God the father of oure Lorde Jesu Christ, which hath blessed vs with all maner of spirituall blessynges in heuenly thynges by Christ, accordynge as he had chosen vs in hym, afore the foundacyon of the worlde was layde, that we shulde be sayntes, and without blame before him, thorowe loue. and ordeyned vs before thorow Jesus Christ, to be heyres vnto him selfe, accordynge to the pleasure of his wyll to the prayse of the glory of his grace wherewith he hath made vs accepted in the beloued.

1. Cor. 1. Pet. 1.

B Predestination.

By whome we haue redempcion, thorowe his bloude, euen the forgyuenes of synnes, accordynge to the ryches of his grace, whiche he shed in vs abundantly in al wysdom, and prudence. And hath opened vnto vs the † mistery of his wyll, accordynge to his pleasure, † purposed the same in him selfe, to haue it declared when the tyme were full come, that all thynges, both which are in heuen, and also which are in earthe, shulde be gathered together, in Christe: that is to saye, in hym in whome we are made heyres, and were therto predestinate accordynge to the purpose of him which worketh al thynges after the purpose of his owne wyll: that we whiche afore trusted in Christ shulde be vnto the prayse of his glory.

C In whome also ye (after that ye herde the worde of truthe, I meane the gospell of your saluacio, wherin ye byleued) were sealed with the holy spirete of promes, which is the ernest of oure inheritaunce, to redeme the purchased possession, and that vnto the prayse of his glorye.

D Wherfore I (after that I herde of the faith which ye haue in the Lorde Jesu, and loue vnto all the sayntes) cease not to geue thankes for you, makynge mencion of you in my prayers, that the God of our Lorde Jesus Christe and the father of glorye myghte geue you the spirete of wysdome, and open to you the knowlege of him selfe, and lighten the eyes of your myndes, that ye might know what that hope is, wherunto he hath called you, † what the ryches of his glorious inheritaūce is vpon the sayntes, and what is the exceedynge greatnes of his power towardes vs which † byleue accordyng to the workyng of that his mighty power power, which he wrought in Christ, when he raysed him frome the dead, and set him on his right hande in heuenly thinges, aboue all rule, power, and myght, and dominacion, & aboue all names that are named, not in this worlde onely, but also in the worlde to come: & hath put all thinges vnder his fete, and hath made him aboue all thinges, the heed of the congregacion which is his body & the fulnes of him that fylleth all in all thinges.

¶ Paule sheweth them what maner of people they were before they were conuerted, and what they are nowe in Christe.

CAPI. II.

A. And you hathe he quyckened also that were dead in trespase and synne, wherin in tyme past ye walked, accordynge to the course of this worlde / and after the gouernor that ruleth in the ayer, the spirite that nowe worketh in the childern of vnbeliefe, amonge whome we also had our conuersacion in tyme past, in the lustes of oure fleshe and fulfylled the will of the fleshe & of the mynde and were & naturally the children of wrathe, euen as well as other.

But God which is ryche in mercy thorowe his greate loue wherewith he loued vs, euen when we were dead by synne, hath quyckened vs togither in Christ (for by grace are ye saued) and hathe raysed vs vp together & made vs syt togither in heauenly thinges thorowe Christe Jesus, for to shewe in tymes to come the exceading ryches of his grace, in his kyndnes towardes vs in Christ Jesu. For by grace are ye made safe thorowe faith, and that not of your selues. For it is the gyfte of God, and commeth not of workes, least any man should boast him selfe. For we are his workmanshyp created in Christ Jesu vnto good workes, vnto whiche God ordayned vs before, that we shulde walke in them.

Wherefore remember that ye beyng in tyme past Gentyles in the fleshe, and were called vncircumcision to them which are called circumcision in the flesh, which circumcision is made by handes: Remember I saye, that ye were at that tyme without Christ, and were reputed aliens frome the commen welth of Israel and were straungers frome the testamentes of promes, hauinge no hope, and beyng without God in this worlde. But nowe in Christ Jesu, ye which a whyle ago were farre of, are made nyghe by the bloude of Christ.

For he is our peax, which hath made of both one, & hath broken whome the wall that was a stoppe betweme vs, and hath also put away thorowe his fleshe, the cause of hatred, that is to saye, the lawe of commaundementes contayned in the lawe written, for to make of twayne, one new man in him selfe so making peax: and to reconcyle both vnto God in one body thorowe his crosse, & slewe hatred thereby: & came and preached peax to you which were farre of, and to them that were nyghe. For thorowe him we both haue an open waye in, in one spirite vnto the father.

Now therfore ye are no more straungers and forayners: but citezens with the sayntes, and of the houshold of God: and are buylt vpon the & foundacion of the Apostles and Prophetes, Jesus Christ beyng the heed corner stone, in whome euery buylding coupled togither groweth vnto an holy temple in the Lorde, in whome ye also are buylt togither, and made an habytacion for God, in the spirite. & Feruentes to the Lord of God.

¶ She sheweth the cause of his emprisonment, desyreth the not tayntes because of his trouble, and prayeth God to make them stedfaste in his spirite.

CAPI. III.

FOr this cause I Paule am in the bondes A. of Jesus Christ for your sakes which are heithen: If ye haue herde of the ministracion of the grace of God whiche is gyuen me vpon you. For by reuelacion shewed he this mysterye vnto me, as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes, whereby when ye rede, ye may knowe myne vnderstandinge in the mystery of Christ, whiche in tymes past was opened vnto & sonnes of men, as it is now declared vnto his holy Apostles and Prophetes by the spirite: that the Gentyles shulde be inheritours also, and of the same body, and partetakers of his promes that is in Christe, by the meanes of the Gospell, whereof I am made a minister, by the gyfte of the grace of God gruen me thorowe the workynge of his power. B.

Vnto me the leest of al sayntes is this grace gruen, that I shulde preache amonge the gentyles the vnsearchable ryches of Christe, and to make all men se, what the felowshyp of the mystery is, whyche frome the begynnynge of the worlde hath bene hyd in God, whyche made all thinges thorowe Jesus Christ, to the intent, that nowe vnto the rulers and powers in heauen myght be knowen by the congregacion, the manyfolde wyssome of God, accordynge to the eternall purpose, whiche he purposed in Christ Jesu our Lorde, by whom we are bolde to drawe nyghe in the truste, whyche we haue by fayth on him.

Wherefore I beseche that ye faynt not be- C.
cause of my tribulacions whiche I suffre for your sakes: which is your prayse.

For this cause I bowe my knees vnto the father of our Lorde Jesu Christ, which is father ouer all that is called father in heauen & in earthe, that he wolde graunte you, accordyng to the ryches of his glory, that ye may be strengthed with myght by his spirite in the inner man that Christ may dwell in your hertes by fayth, that ye beyng rooted and grounded in loue, myght be able to comprehende with all sayntes, what is the breedth & length depth and heygth: and knowe the loue of Christe, whiche passeth knowledge: that ye D.
myght be fulfylled with all maner of fulnes of God.

Vnto hym that is able to do aboundantly aboue all that we aske or thinke accordyng to the power that worketh in vs, be prayse in the congregacion by Jesus Christ, thorowe out

oute all generacions frome tyme to tyme. Amen. ✠

¶ He exhorteth them vnto thehenes longe sufferyng, vnto loue and peas, euery one to serue and edifye another with the gyfte that God hath gyuen him, to beware of straunge doctryne, to lare alyde the olde conuersacion of gredy lustes, and to walke in a newe lyfe.

CAPI. IIII

A The lyuynge of a true beleuer.

I ✠ Therfore whiche am in bondes for the Lordes sake, exhorte you, that ye walke worthye of the callynge wherewith ye are called, in all humblenes of mynde, and meknes, and longe sufferynge, forbearynge one an other thorowe charite, and that ye be diligent to kepe the vnite of the spirite in the bond of peas. Beynge one body, and one spirite, euen as ye are called in one hope of your callynge. One Lorde, one faith, one baptysme: One God and father of all, which is above al thy rowm all, and in you all. ✠

B Woman vii. i. Corinth. xi. c. Corinth. x. ✠ Galat. v. Ephe.

✠ Vnto euery one of vs is gyuen grace accordyng to the measure of the gyfte of Christ. Wherfore he sayth: He is gone vp on hyghe and hath ledde captiuite captiue, and hath gyuen gyftes vnto men. That he ascended: what meaneth it, but that he also descended fyrst vnto the lowest partyes of the earth? He that descended, is the same also that ascended vp, above all heauens, to fulfyll all thynges.

C i. Corinth. xii.

And the very same made some Apostles, some Prophetes, some Euangelistes, some Shepeherdes, and some Teachers: that the sayntes myght haue all thynges necessarye to worke and mynister with, to the edifyenge of the body of Christ, tyll we euery one (in the vnite of faythe, and knowledge of the sonne of God) growe vp vnto a perfect man, after the measure of age of the fulnes of Christ. ✠ That we hence forthe be no more chyldren, wauerynge and caryed with euery wynde of doctrine, by the wylynes of men and craftynes, wherby they lay awayt for vs to deceyue vs. But folowynge the truthe in loue let vs in al thynges growe in him which is the heed that is to saye Christ, in whome all the body is coupled and knyt together in euery ioynte wherwith one ministreth to an other (accordinge to the operacion as euery parte hathe his measure) and increaseth the body, vnto ✠ edifyenge of it selfe in loue.

✠ This I saye therfore, and testifye in the Lorde, that ye henceforth walke not as other Gentyles walke, in vanite of their mynde, blynded in their vnderstandinge, beynge strangers frome the lyfe which is in God thorowe the ignorance that is in them, because of the blyndnes of their hertes, which beynge past repentaunce, haue gyuen theym selues vnto wantonnes, to worke all maner of vnclennes with greedynes. But ye haue not so learned Christ, yf so be ye haue herde of him, and are taught in him, euen as the truthe is in Jesu.

E Ignorance is cause of euyll lyuynge.

☞ As then as concernynge the conuersacion in tyme past, laye from you that olde man, whiche is corrupte thorow the deceyuable lustes, ✠ and be ye renued in the spirite of youre myndes, and put on that newe man, whiche after the ymage of God is shapen in ryghtwyslues and true holynes.

Wherfore put away lyenge, and speake euery man trouth vnto his neyghboure, for as moche as we are members one of an other. ✠ Be angrye but synne not: let not the sonne go downe vpon youre wrathe, neyther gyue place vnto the backebyter. Let him that stele, steale no more, but let hym rather laboure with his handes some good thinge, that he maye haue to gyue vnto him that needeth. ✠

Let no fylthy communicacion procede oute of your mouthes: but that which is good to edifye, where nede is: that it maye haue fauour with the hearers. And greue not the holy spirite of God, by whome ye are sealed vnto the daye of redempcion. Let all bitternes, fearcnesse and wrathe, roryng and cursed speakynge, be put awaye frome you, with all malicyousnes. Be ye courteouse one to an other and mercyfull, forgyuynge one an other euen as God for Christes sake forgaue you.

¶ He exhorteth vnto loue, warneth to beware of vnclennes, couetyse, folysh talkynge, and false doctryne: to be circumspecte, to auoyde drunkennesse, to submyt them selues one to another. He teacheth how women shulde obeye their husbandes, and how men ought to intreate theyr wyues.

CAPI. V.

B ✠ Be ye folowers of God as dere chyldre and walke in loue euen as Christe loued vs, and gaue him self for vs, an offrynge and a sacrifice of a swete sauer to God. ✠ Fornicacion and all vnclennes or couetousnes be not once named amonge you as it becommeth sayntes: neyther fylthynes, neyther folysshe talkynge, neyther gestynge whiche are not comly: but rather gyuynge of thankes.

A

For this ye knowe that no whoremonger, eyther vnclene personne, or couetous personne, which is an ydolatour, hath any inheritaunce in the kyngdome of Christ and of God.

B Christ no part with Belial.

Let no man deceyue you with vayne wordes. For thorowe suche thinges commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of vnbelefe. Be not therfore companyons with them. Ye were ones derckenes, but are now lyght in ✠ Lorde.

Walke as chyldren of lyght. For the frute of the spirite is in all goodnes, ryghtwyfnesse, and trouth. ✠

Accepte that which is pleasynge to ✠ Lorde and haue no fellowshyp with the vnfruteffull workes of derckenes: but rather rebuke the. For it is shame euen to name those thynges whiche are done of theym in secrete: but all thinges, when they are rebuked of the light, are manifeste. For what so euer is manifeste, that same is light. Wherfore he sayth: awake thou that sleepest, and stonde vp frome deathe, and Christ shall gyue the lyght.

Ephe. v.

✠ Take hede therfore that ye walke circumspectly: not as fooles: but as wyse personnes, purchasynge oppoztunite to the same: for ✠ dayes

dayes are euyll. Wherfore, be ye not vnwyse but vnderstande what the will of the Lorde is, and be not dronken with wyne wherin is excesse: but be fulfilled with the spirite, speakyng vnto your selues in Psalmes and hymnes, and spirituall songes, syngynge and makinge melody to the Lorde in your hertes, giuinge thankes alwayes for all thinges vnto God the father, in the name of our Lorde Iesus Christ: submittinge your selues one to another in the feare of God. ✠

Wemen be ye subiect vnto your owne husbandes, as vnto the Lorde. For the husbande is the wyues heed euen as Christ is the heed of the congregation, and the same is the sauioure of the body. Therfore as the congregation is in subiection to Christ, ipke wyse let the wyues be in subiection to their husbandes in all thinges. Husbandes loue your wyues, euen as Christ loued the congregation, and gaue him selfe for it, to sanctifye it, and clensed it in the fountayne of water thorowe the worde, to make it vnto him self, a glorious congregation without spot or wrynckle, or any suche thinge: but that it shoulde be holy and without blame. So ought men to loue their wyues, as their owne bodyes. He that loueth his wyfe, loueth him selfe. For no man euer yet hated his owne flesshe: but norisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lorde doth the congregation. For we are members of his body, of his flesshe, and of his bones. ✠ For this cause shall man leaue father and mother, and shall sticke to his wyfe, and two shalbe made one flesshe. This is a great secret, but I speke betwene Christ and the congregacio. Neuertheles let ye so that euery one of you loue his wyfe euenly euen as him selfe. And let the wyfe se that she feare her husbande.

¶ The duetie of parentes, of children, of seruauntes, of maysters. Of the Christen weapons.

CAPI. VI.

Children, obeye your fathers and mothers in the Lorde: for so is it right. Honoure thy father and mother, which is the first commaundement that hath any promes. that thou mayst be in good estate, & lyue longe on the earth. And ye fathers moue not your children to wrathe: but bringe them vp with the nourture and informacion of the Lorde. ✠ Seruauntes be obedient vnto your carnall maisters, with feare and trembelynge in singlenes of youre herte, as vnto Christ: not with seruice in the eye sight, as men pleasers: but as the seruantes of Christ, wyrkyng the will of God frome the herte with good will, seruinge the Lorde, and not men. And remember that what so euer good thinge any man wyll, that shall he receyue agayne of the Lorde, whether he be bonde or free. And ye maisters, do euen the same thinges vnto them, putting awaye threatninges: and remember that euen your master also is in heauen, neyther is there any respect of person with him.

✠ Finally my brethren, be stronge in the Lorde and in the power of his myght. Put on the armoure of God, that ye may stande stedfast against the crafty assautes of the deuyll. For we wrestle not against flesshe and bloude but against rule, against power, and against worldly rulers of the darknes of this worlde against spirituall wyckednes, for heauenly thinges.

For this cause take vnto you the armoure of God, that ye maye be able to resiste in the euyll daye, and stande perfect in all thynges. Christen mens weapons.

Stande therfore, your loynes gyrd about with veritie, hauing on the brestplate of right wysnes, and shood with shoes prepared vnto the Gospell of peace. Above al, take to you the shylde of fayth, wherwith ye maye quenche all the fyrie dartes of the wycked. And take the helmet of saluation, and the swerde of the spirite, which is the worde of God. ✠ And praye alwayes with all maner prayer and supplication: and that in the spirite: and watche therunto with all instaunce and supplication for all sayntes and for me; that vtterraunce maye be geuen vnto me, that I maye ope my mouth boldely, to vtter the mysteries of the Gospell, wherof I am messenger in bondes, that therin I maye speake freely, as it becommeth me to speake.

But that ye may also knowe in what state I am and what I do, Tichicus my moste dere brother and faythfull minister in the Lorde, shall shewe you of all thinges, whome I sende vnto you for the same purpose, that ye myghte knowe in what case I stande, & that he might comfort your hertes.

Peace with the brethren and loue with faith frome God the father, and frome the Lorde Iesu Christ. Grace be with all them whyche loue our Lorde Iesus Christ in puernesse.

AMEN.

¶ The Epistle of S. Paule the Apostle vnto the Philippians.

¶ He exhorteth the to increase in loue, in knowlege, and experience, of Godly thynges: maketh mencion of his prysonment at Rome, is glad to here Christ preached, is content either to dye or lyue, and prayeth them to lede a Godly conuersacion, to be of one mynde, and to feare no persecution.

CAPI. I.

PAul and Timothe the seruauntes of Jesu Christ: To all the sayntes in Christe Jesu, which are at Philippos with the Bysshoppes and Deacons.

Grace be with you and peace frome God our father and frome the Lorde Jesu Christ.

I thanke my God with all remembraūce of you, alwayes in all my prayers for you, & praye with gladnes, because of the felawshyp which ye haue in the Gospell frome the fyrste daye vnto nowe: & am surely certified of this, that he which bega a good worke in you, shal go forth with it vntyl the daye of Jesu Christ as it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in my herte, and haue you also euery one companions of grace with me, euen in my bondes, as I defende and stablysh the Gospell.

For God beareth me recorde howe greatly I longe after you all, from the very hert rote in Jesu Christe. And this I praye, that youre loue maye increase more and more in knowledge, and in all feelynge, that ye might accepte thynges most excellent, that ye might be pure and suche as shulde geue no mans conscience, vntyll the daye of Christ, fylled with the frutes of rightwysnes, which frutes come by Jesus Christe vnto the glory and laude of God.

I wolde ye vnderstode brethren that my business is happened vnto the great furtheringe of the Gospell. So that my bandes in Christ are manifest thorow out all the wgement hal and in all other places: In so moch that many of the brethren in the Lorde are bolde ned thorowe my bandes and dare more largely speake the worde without feare. Some there are which preache Christ of enuie and stryfe, and some of good will. The one parte preacheth Christe of stryfe, and not purely, supposynge to adde more aduersitie to my bandes. The other parte of loue, because they se that I am set to defende the Gospell.

What then? So that Christe be preached, all maner wayes, whether it be by occasion, or of true meanynge, I therin reioyce: yea and will reioyce. For I knowe that this shall chaūce to my saluacion, thorow youre prayer and ministringe of the spirite of Jesu Christ as I hertely loke for, & hope that in nothinge I shall be ashamed: but that with all confidence, as alwayes in tymes paste, euen so now Christe shall be magnified in my body, whether it be thorow lyfe, or his death. For Christ is to me lyfe, and death is to me auauntage.

It it chaunce me to lyue in the fleshe, that is to me frutefull for to worke, and what to chose I wote not, for I am constrayned of two thinges: I desyre to be lowsed and to be with Christ, whiche thinge is best of all. Neuertheles to abyde in the fleshe, is more nedefull for you. And this am I sure of, that I shal abyde, and with you all, continue, for the furtheraunce and ioye of youre faith, that ye may more abundantly reioyce in Jesu Christ thorow me, by my comminge to you agayne.

Onely let your conuersacion be, as it becōmeth the Gospell of Christe: that whether I come and se you, or be absent, I maye heare of you, that ye continue in one spirite, and in one soule, labouryng as we ow, to mayntayne the faith of the Gospell and in nothinge fearinge your aduersaries: which is to them a token of perdicion, and to you of saluacion and that of God. For vnto you it is geuen that not only ye shuld beleue on Christ: but also to suffre for his sake, and haue euen the same fight which ye sawe me haue and now heare of me.

¶ He exhorteth them to vnite and brotherly loue, and to beware of stryfe and vayne glorye: And for a sure exemple he layeth Christe before them.

CAPI. II.

IF there be amonge you any consolacion in Christ, yf there be any comfortable loue, yf there be any felowshyppe of the spirite, yf there be any compassion or mercy: fulfill my ioye, that ye drawe one waye, hauinge one loue, beynge of one accorde, and of one mynde that nothinge be done thorow stryfe or vayne glory, but that in meknes of mynde euery man esteme other better then him selfe, and loke not euery man on his owne thinges, but euery man on the thinges of other men.

Let the same mynde be in you that was in Christ Jesu: whiche beinge in the shape of God, thought it not robbery to be equall with God: but he made him selfe of no reputacō, and toke on him the shape of a seruaunt, and became lyke vnto men, and was found in his apparell as a man. He humbled him selfe, & became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the crosse. Wherfore God hathe exalted him, and geuen him a name about all names: that in the name of Jesus shuld euery knee bowe, both of thinges in heauen and thinges in earth, and thinges vnder the earthe, & that all tongues shulde confesse that Jesus Christ is the Lorde vnto the prayse of God the father.

Wherefore my dearly beloued, as ye haue alwayes obeyed, not when I was present only, but now moche more in myne absence, euen to worke out youre owne saluacion with feare and tremblynge. For it is God which worketh in you, both the wil and also the deede euen of good will.

Do all thinge without murmuringe & disputinge, that ye maye be faultelesse and pure, and the sonnes of God, without rebuke in the

the myddes of a croked and peruerse nacyon: amonge whiche, se ye shyne as lyghtes in the worlde, holdynge faste the worde of lyfe, vnto my reioysynge in the daye of Christe, that I haue not runne in vayne, neyther haue labou red in vayne. Yea thoughe I be offred vpō the offeringe and sacrifice of your faith: I reioyce, and reioyce with you all. For the same cause also reioyce ye, and reioyce ye with me.

I trust in the Lord Jesu to sende Timothe shortly vnto you, that I also maye be of good comforte, when I know in what case ye stande. For I haue no man that is so lyke mynded to me, whiche with so pure affection careth for your matters. For all other seke their owne, & not that which is Jesus Christes. Ye know the proffe of him, howe that as a sonne with the father, so with me hath he bestowed he his labour vpon the Gospel. Him I hope to sende allone as I knowe how it will go with me. I truste in the Lorde, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

D I supposed it necessary to sende brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and felowe souldier, your Apostel and my mynister at my neede. For he longed after you, and was full of heuynes, because ye had herde saye y he shulde be sycke. And no doubte he was sicke, and that nyghe vnto death. But God had mercy on him: not on him only, but on me also, leste I shulde haue sorowe vpon sorowe. I sent him therfore the diligentlier, that when ye shulde se him, ye might reioyce agayne, and I might be the lesse sorowfull. Receyue him therfore in the Lorde with all gladnes, and make moche of suche: because y for the worke of Christ he went so farre, that he was nyghe vnto death, and regarded not his lyfe, to fulfyll that seruice whiche was lackynge on your part towarde me.

¶ He warneth them to beware of false teachers, whom he calleth dogges and enemyes of Christ, and reproueth mans owne ryghteousnes.

CAPI. III.

F Inally, my brethren reioyce in the Lord. It greueth me not to wryte one thing often to you. For to you it is a sure thinge. Beware of dogges, beware of cupill workers. Beware of dilsection. For we are circumcision which worshyp God in the spyrite, and reioyce in Christ Jesu, and haue no confidence in the flesshe: thoughe I haue wherof I myghte reioyce in the flesshe. If any other man thinketh that he hathe wherof he myghte truste in the flesshe: moche more I: circumcised the eyghte daye, of the kynred of Israel, of the tribe of Ben Jamin, an Ebrue borne of the Ebrues: as concerninge the lawe, a Phariseye, and as concerninge feruentnes, I persecuted the congregacion, and as touchinge the ryghteousnes of the lawe, I was vnreprouable.

B But the thinges that were lucres vnto me, I accounted brudertounce for Christes sake. Yea I thinke all thinges but losse for y excellent knowledges sake of Christ Jesu my Lorde. For whome I haue counted all thinge losse, and doo iudge them but dunge, that I myght wynne Christ, and myght be founde in him, not hauinge myne owne righteousnes which is of the lawe: but that which commeth of the faith which is in Christ. I meane the ryghteousnes which commeth of God, thorow faith in knowinge him and the vertu of the resurrection, and the felowshyp of his passions, that I might be conformable vnto his deathe, yf by any meanes I myght attayne vnto the resurrection of the dede.

Not as thoughe I had alreddy attayned or C els were alreddy perfect: but I folowe, yf that I maye comprehende that, wherein I am comprehended of Christ Jesu. Brethren I counte not my selfe that I haue gotten it: but one thinge I saye: I forget that whiche is behynde and stretche my selfe vnto that which is before and presse vnto that marke appointed, to obtayne the rewarde of the hyghe callynge of God in Christ Jesu. Let vs therfore as many as be perfect, be in this wyse mynded and yf ye be otherwyse mynded, I praye God open euen this vnto you. Neuertheles in that wherevnto we are come, let vs procede by one rule, that we maye be of one accorde. ¶ I take not on me to be perfect, that I haue done, but what I loke for at the perfection of Christ

✣ Brethren be followers of me, and loke D on them which walke so, as ye haue vs for an ensample. For many walke (of whome I haue tolde you often, and now tell you wepynge) that they are the ennemyes of the crosse of Christ, whose ende is damnacion, whose God is their belly, & whose glory is to their shame, which are worldly mynded. But our conuersacion is in heauen, from whence we loke for a sauioure, euen the Lorde Jesus Christ, who the shall chaunge our vyle bodies, that they maye be fashioned lyke vnto his glorious body, accordinge to the workynge, whereby he is able to subdue all thynges vnto hym selfe. ✣ ¶ If we be not Christ in conuersacion we shall not him in glorye.

¶ He saluteth certayne of them, exhorteth them to be of honest conuersacion, and thanketh them for the prouision they made for him beinge in prison.

CAPI. IIII.

THerfore (my brethren) deerly beloued A and longed for, my ioye and crowne, so continue in the Lorde, ye beloued. I praye Euodias, and beseche Syntiches that they be of one accorde in the Lorde. Yea and I beseche the faithfull yokefelowe, helpe the wemen whiche labored with me in the Gospell, and with Clement also, and with other my labour felowes, whose names are in the boke of lyfe.

✣ Reioyce in the Lorde alwaye, & agayne I saye reioyce. Let your softenes be knowen vnto al men. The Lorde is at hande. Be not carefull: but in all thinges shewe your peticion vnto God in prayer and supplicacion with gyuynge of thankes. And the peace of God whiche passeth all vnderstandinge, kepe your hertes and myndes in Christ Jesu. ✣ B

Finally brethren, what so euer thinges are true, what so euer thinges are honeste, what so euer thinges are iust, what so euer thynges

are

ect pure, what so ever thinges pertayne to loue, what so ever thinges are of honest reporte: yf there be any vertuous thing, yf there be any laudable thinge, those same haue ye in your mynde, which ye haue both learned and receyued, herde and also sene in me: those thinges do, and the God of peace shalbe with you.

I reioyce in the Lorde greatly, that nowe at the last ye are eftsones agayne to cere for me, in that wherin ye were also carefull, but ye lacked opportunite. I speake not because of necessite. For I haue learned in what so ever estate I am, therwith to be content. I can both cast downe my selfe, I can also exceede. Euery where and in al thinges I am instructed, both to be full and to be hongery, to haue plenty & to suffre nede. I can in all thinges thorowe the helpe of Christ which strengtheneth me. Notwithstandinge ye haue well done, that ye bare part with me in my tribulation.

Ye of Philippos knowe that in the beginninge of the Gospell, when I departed from Macedonia, no congregacion bare parte with me, as concerninge gyuinge and receyuinge, but ye onely. For when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent ones and after warde agayne vnto my nedes: not that I desire gyftes: but I desire abundant fruite on your part. I receyued all, and haue plentie. I was fylled after that I had receyued of Epaphroditus, that which came from you, an odour of swetnesse, a sacrifice accepted and pleasaunt to God. My God fulfill all youre nedes thorowe his glorious ryches in Jesu Christe. Vnto God & oure father be prayse for euermore. Amen.

Salute all the saynctes in Christe Jesu. The brethren whiche are with me greete you. All the saynctes salute you: and most of all they whiche are of the Emperours houshold. The grace of our Lord Jesu Christ be with you all. AMEN.

The greeth thankes vnto God for their faith, loue, and hope, prayeth for their increase, and sheweth howe we are the kyngdome of God, obteyned by Christe, which is the hed of the congregacion.

CAPI. I

PAule, Apostle of Jesu Christ, by the wil of God, and brother Timothe.

To the saynctes whiche are at Colossa, and brethre that beleue in Christ.

Grace be with you and peace from God our father and frome the Lorde Jesu Christ.

We gyue thankes to God the father of our Lorde Jesu Christ, alwayes prayeng for you sythes we herde of your faith whiche ye haue in Christ Jesu, and of the loue which ye beare to all saynctes for the hopes sake whiche is layde vp in store for you in heauen, of whiche ye haue herde before by the true worde of the Gospell, which is come vnto you, euen as it is into all the worlde, and is fruteful, as it is amonge you, frome the first daye in whiche ye herde of it, and had experience in the grace of God in the truth, as ye lerned of Epaphras our deare felowe seruaunt, whiche is for you a faithfull minister of Christ which also declared vnto vs your loue, whiche ye haue in the spyrite.

For this cause we also, sythens the daye we herde of it, haue not ceased prayenge for you, and desyringe that ye might be fulfilled with the knowledge of his will, in all wysedome and spirituall vnderstandinge, that ye myght walke worthy of the Lorde in all thinges that please, beynge fruteful in all good workes, and encreasynge in the knowlege of God, strengthed with all might, thorow his glorious power, vnto all patience and longe sufferinge with ioyfulnes, gyuinge thankes vnto the father whiche hath made vs mete to be partakers of the inheritaunce of saynctes in lyght.

Which hath deliuered vs frome the power of darknes, and hath translated vs into the kyngdome of his deare sonne, in whome we haue redemption thorow his bloude, that is to saye, the forgyuenes of synnes which is the image of the inuisible God, first begotten of all creatures. For by him were all thinges created, thinges that are in heauen, and thinges that are in earth: thinges visible & thinges inuisible, whether they be maieste or lordshyp, eyther rule or power. All thinges are created by him, & in him, and he is before all thinges, and in him all thinges haue their beyng.

And he is the heed of the bodye, that is to wit of the congregacion: he is the beginninge and the first begotten of the deed, that in all thinges he might haue the preeminence. For it pleased the father that in him shuld al fulnes

Our redemption is the forgyuenes of oure synnes.

He is the first & hath the glorye & preeminence of the congregacion.

nesse dwel, and by hym to reconcile al thinge vnto him selfe, and to set at peax by him thorow the bloude of his crosse, bothe thinges in heauen and thinges in earthe.

And you (whiche were in tymes past straungers and enemyes, because your myndes were set in cupill workes) hath he now reconcyled in the body of his flesh thorow deth, to make you holy, vnblameable and without faute in his owne sighte, yf ye continue grounded and stablysshed in the faith, and be not moued awaye from the hope of the Gospell, whereof ye haue herde, how it is preached amonge all creatures which are vnder heauen, whereof I Paule am made a minister.

D Nowe reioyce I in my ꝑ sufferinges whiche I suffre for you, and fulfyll that whiche is behynde of the passions of Christe in my flesshe for his bodyes sake, whiche is the congregacyon, wherof I am made a minister accordinge to the ordinaunce of God, which was gruen me towardes you, to fulfill ꝯ worde of God, the mystery hyd sence the worlde began, and sence the begynnynge of generacions: but now is opened to his sayntes, to who God wolde make knowen the glorious ryches of this mistery amonge the Gentyles, whiche is Christ in you, the hope of glory, whome we preache, warnynge all men, and teachinge all men in all wysdome, to make al men perfect in Christ Jesu. Wherin I also labour and stryue, euē as lustely as his workinge worketh in me myghtely.

¶ What greate care Paule tooke for all congregacions. He exhorteth them to be stedfaste in Christ, to beware of false teachers and worldly wisdome and deceyptes the false Prophetes.

CAPI. II.

A I Wolde ye knewe what fightynge I haue for you ꝯ lakes, and for them of Laodicia, & for as many as haue not sene my person in the flesshe, that their hertes myght be comforted and knit togither in loue, and in all ryches of full vnderstandinge, for to knowe the mystery of God the father and of Christe, in whome are hyd all the treasures of wysdome and knowledge. This I saye, leest any man shuld begyle you with entysynge wordes.

Christ. v.b. ✠ For thoughe I be absent in the flesshe, yet am I present with you in the spirite, reioyce and beholdinge the order that ye kepe, & your stedfast faith in Christ. As ye haue therfore receyued Christ Jesu the Lorde, euen so walke, rooted and buylt in him and stedfast in ꝯ faith, as ye haue learned: and therin be plenteous in gruinge thankes.

B ✠ Beware leest any man come and spoyle you thorow philosophy and disceytfull vanite, thorow the traditions of men, and ordynaunces after the worlde, and not after Christ. For ꝑ in him dwelleth all the fulnes of the Godhed bodyly, and ye are complete in him whiche is the heed of all rule and power, in whome also ye are circumcyled with circumcision made without handes, by puttinge of ꝯ synfull body of the flesshe thorow the circumcision of Christ, in that ye are buryed with him thorow baptyme, in whome ye are also rysen agayne thorow faith, ꝯ is wrought by the operacion of God, whiche raysed him from deethe.

And ye whiche were ded in synne thorow the vncircumcision of youre flesshe, hathe he quyckened with him and hath forgeuen vs al our trespace ꝯ and hath put out the handewrytinge that was against vs, contayned in the lawe written: and that hath he taken out of the waye, and hath fastened it to his crosse, and hath spoyled rule and power, and hathe made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in his owne person.

Let no man therfore trouble your consciences about meate and drynke or for a peece of an holy daye, as the holy daye of the newe mone, or of the Sabboth dayes, whiche are nothinge but shawwes of thinges to come: but the bodye is in Christe. Let no man make you lose at a wronge marke which after his owne ymagination walketh in the humblenes and holynes of aungels, thinges which he neuer sawe: causeliesse puffed vp with his flesshely mynde, and holdeth not the heed, wherof all the body by iointes and couples, receyuinge nourysshement, and knyt togyther, encreaseth with the encreasynge of God.

D Wherfore yf ye be ded with Christ from ordinaunces of the worlde, why as though ye yet lyued in the worlde, are ye led with traditions of them that saye? Touche not, taste not, handell not: which all perysshe with the vsynge of them, and are after the commaundmentes and doctrines of men: which thinges haue the similitude of wysdome in chosen holynes and humblenes, and in that they spare not the body, and to the flesshe no worshippe vnto his nede.

¶ He putteth them in remembraunce of the spirituall resurrection, to laye aside all maner of corrupte vsuage, to be thankfull in all godlynesse and honesty, and setteth all degrees their duty.

CAPI. III.

A Yf ye be then rysen agayn with Christ seke those thinges which are aboue, where Christ sitteth on the righthande of God. Set youre affection on thinges that are aboue, & not on thinges which are on the earthe. For ye are ded, and youre lyfe is hyd with Christ in God. When Christ which is our lyfe, shall shewe him selfe, then shall ye also appeare with hym in glory. ✠

Mortifye therfore youre membres which are on the earthe, fornication, vnclenesse, vnnaturall lust, cupill concupiscence, and couetousnesse which is worshippynge of ymages: for which thinges the wrathe of God cummeth on the children of vnbeleefe. In whiche ye walked once, when ye lyued in them.

Those members must be slayne.

B But nowe put ye also away from you all thinges: wrathe, feersnesse, malicyousnesse, cursed speakynge, filthy speakynge out of youre mouthes. Lye not one to an other ✠ after ꝯ ye haue put of the old man with his workes

CAPI. I.

a PAule Syluanus and Timothe. Vnto the congregacion of the Thessalonians, in God the father, and in the Lorde Jesus Christ.

Grace with you, and peace frome God our father and frome the Lorde Jesu Christ.

We gyue God thankes alwaye, for you all, makynge mencion of you in oure prayers without ceasynge, and call to remembraunce youre worke in the fayth, and labour in loue and perseueraunce in the hope of oure Lorde Jesu Christe, in the syghte of God oure father: because we knowe (brethren beloued of God) that ye are elect. For our Gospell came not vnto you in worde onely, but also in power, and also in the holy ghoste, and in moche certaynte, as ye know after what maner we behaued oure selues amonge you, for youre sakes.

c And ye became folowers of vs, and of the Lorde, and receyued the worde in moche affliction, with ioye of the holy ghoste: so that ye were an ensample to all that beleue in Macedonia and Achaia. For frome you sounded out the worde of the Lorde, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but youre fayth also whiche ye haue vnto God, spred abrode in all quarters, so greately that it neadeth not vs to speake any thinge at all. For they theym selues shewe of you, what maner of entringe in we had vnto you, and how ye turned to God frome ydolles, to serue the lyuinge and true God, and to loke for his sonne frome heauen whome he raysed frome deathe: I meane Jesus whiche deliuereth vs frome the wrath to come.

¶ He putteth them in minde, of the godly conuersacion, that he had amonge them, when he preached the Gospell vnto them, thanketh God that they receyued his worde so fruitfully, and excuseth his absence.

CAPI. II.

a FOr ye youre selues knowe (brethren) of our entraunce in vnto you, howe that it was not in vayne: but euen after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at Philippos, (as ye well knowe) then were we bolde in oure God to speake vnto you the Gospell of God, with moche stryuinge. Oure exhortation was not to you to errour, nor yet to vnclennes, neyther was it with gyle: but as we were allowed of God, that the Gospell shoulde be committed vnto vs: euen so we speake, not as though we entended to please men, but God, whych tryeth our hertes.

b Neyther was oure conuersacion at anye tyme with flatteringe wordes, as ye well knowe, neyther in cloked couetousnesse, God is recorde: neyther sought we prayse of men, neyther of you, nor yet of any other, when we might haue bene chargeable, as the Apostles of Christe, but we were gentle amonge you, euen as a nource cherysheth her children, so was oure affection towarde you: c oure good will was to haue taught vnto you, not the Gospelle of God onely: but also oure owne soules, because ye were dere vnto vs.

d ✣ Ye remember (brethren) oure laboure, and trauayle. ✣ For we laboured daye and nyght, because we wolde not be greuous vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospell of God. Ye are witnesses, and so is God, how holyly, and iustly, and vnblameably, we behaued oure selues, amonge you that beleue: as ye knowe how that we exhorted and comforted and besought euery one of you, as a father his children, that ye wolde walke worthy of God, whiche hath called you vnto his kyngdome and glory. 1. Cor. 9. 1. Thes. iii. b.

e For this cause thanke we God with oure ceasynge, because that when ye receyued of vs the worde wherwith God was preached, ye receyued it not as the worde of man: but (as it was in dede) the worde of God, whiche worketh in you that beleue. ✣

f For ye brethren became folowers of the congregacions of God, whiche in Jewry are in Christe Jesu: for ye haue suffered lyke thinges of youre kynsmen, as we our selues haue suffered of the Jewes. Whiche as they killed the Lorde Jesus and their owne Prophetes, euen so haue they persecuted vs: and God they please not, and are contrarye to all men and forbyd vs to preache vnto the Gentyles, that they myght be saued, to fulfill their synnes alwaye. For the wrathe of God is come on them, euen to the extreme ende.

g For as moche brethren as we are kept frō you, for a season, as concernynge the bodyly presence, but not in the herte, we endeuored the more to se you personnally with great desyre. And therfore we wolde haue come vnto you, I Paule ones and agayne: but Satan withstode vs. For what is oure hope, or ioye, or crowne of reioysynge? Are not ye it in the presence of oure Lorde Jesus Christe at his commynge? Yes ye are oure glory and ioye.

¶ He declareth how greatly he was reioysed, when Timothe tolde him of their fayth and loue.

CAPI. III.

Act. xvi.

A Wherfore fythens we could no lenger forbeare, it pleased vs to remayne at Athens alone, and sent Timothe our brother and minister of God, and our labourer fellowe in the Gospell of Christe, to stablysshe you and to comforte you ouer youre faith, that no man shoulde be moued in these afflictions. For ye youre selues knowe that we are euen appointed there vnto. For verely when I was with you, I tolde you before that we shoulde suffre tribulation, euen as it came to passe, and as ye knowe. For this cause B when I couldc no lenger forbeare, I sent, that I myghte haue knowledge of youre faith, leest happely the tempter hadde tempted you, and that our labour hadde bene bestowed in vayne.

But nowe lately whan Timothy came from you vnto vs, and declared to vs youre faythe and youre loue, and howe ye haue good remembraunce of vs alwayes, desyringe to se vs, as we desyre to se you: Therfore brethren we hadde consolacion in you, in all our aduersyte and necessite, through youre faith. For nowe are we alyue, yf ye stande stedfaste in the Lorde. For what thankes can we render to God agayne for you, ouer all the ioye C that we ioye for youre sakes before our God: whyle we, nyghte and daye praye exceadyngly that we myghte se youre personne, and myghte fulfyll that whyche is lackynge in youre faith.

God him selfe our father, and our Lorde Jesus Christe gyde our iourneye vnto you: D and the Lorde increace you, and make you flowe ouer in loue one towarde an other, and towarde all men, euen as we do towarde you, to make youre hertes stable and vnblameable in holynes before God our father, at the comynge of our Lorde Jesu Christ with all his Sayntes.

¶ He exhorteth them to stedfastnesse, to kepe them selues from lyuynge, and vnclenly conuersacion, to loue eche other: rebuketh disorderly persones, and speaketh of the resurrection.

CAPI. IIII.

A FInallye brethren we beseche you (brethre) and exhorte you in the Lorde Jesu, that ye encreace more and more, euen as ye haue receyued of vs, how ye ought to walke and to please God. For the Lorde hym selfe shall descende from heauen with a shoute and the voyce of the Archaungell & trompe of God. But ye brethren are not in darcknes, so that that daye shoulde come on you as it were a theefe.

But let vs whiche are of the daye, be sober, armed with the brest plate of fayth and loue, and with hope of saluacion as an helmet. For God hath not appoynted vs vnto wrathe: but to obteyne saluacion by the meanes of oure Lorde Jesu Christe, whiche dyed for vs: that whether we wake or slepe, we shoulde lyue together with him. ¶ The seconde Epystle of Saynt Paule the Apostle to the Thessalonyans.

¶ He thanketh God for their faith and loue, and prayeth for the encrease of the same.

CAPI. I.

PAule, Syluanus and Timothy.

Vnto the congregacion of the Thessalonyans which are in God our father, and in the Lorde Iesus Christ.

Grace with you / and peace from God oure father, and from the Lorde Iesu Christ.

We are bounde to thanke God alwayes, for you brethren, as it is mete, because that youre faith groweth exceadyngly, and euery one of you swymmeth in loue towarde an other betwene your selues, so that we our selues reioyce of you in the congregacions of god ouer youre patience and faith in all youre persecucions and tribulacions that ye suffre, which is a token ✱ of the righteouse iudgemente of God, that ye are counted worthye of the kyngdome of God, for whiche ye also suffre. It is verely a righteouse thinge with God to recompence tribulation to them that trouble you: and to you which are troubled, rest with vs when the Lorde Iesus shall shewe him selfe from heauen with his myghty Aungels, in flamynge fyre, rendringe vengeaunce vnto them that knowe not God, and to them that obeye not vnto the Gospell of our Lorde Iesus Christ, which shalbe punyshed with euerlastinge damnacion, from the presence of the Lorde, and from the glory of his power, whe he shall come to be glorified in his Saynctes, & to be made meruelous in al them that beleue: because our testimony that we haddē to you, was beleued euen the same day that we preached it. ✱ Wherfore we praye alwayes for you that oure God make you worthye of the callinge, and fulfill all delectation of goodnes and the worke of faith, with power: that the name of our Lorde Iesu Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, throughout the grace of our God, and of the Lorde Iesu Christ.

¶ He sheweth them that the daye of the Lorde shall not come, tyll the departinge from the Lorde come firste: and therfore he exhorteth them not to be discoraged, but to stande stedfast in the thinges that he hath taught them.

CAPI. II.

WE beseche you (brethren) by the commynge of our Lorde Iesu Christ, and in that we shall assemble vnto him, that ye be not sodenly moued from youre mynde and be not troubled, neyther by spirite, neyther by wordes, nor yet by letters, which

shulde seme to come from vs, as though the daye of Christe were at hande. ✣ Let no man deceyue you by any meanes, for the Lorde commeth not, except there come a departyng first and that ✣ the synfull man be opened, the sonne of perdition, whiche is the aduersarye / and is exalted aboue all that is called God, or that is worshipped: so that he shall ✣ sytte as God in the temple of God, and shew him selfe as God.

Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these thinges? And now ye know what withholdeth: euen that he might be reuealed at his time. For the mysterye of the iniquite werk already worke: tyll he whiche now onely letteth, be taken out of the waye. ✣ And then shall that wicked be reuealed, whō the Lorde shall consume with the spirite of his mouth, and shall destroye it with the appearaunce of his commynge, euen him whose comminge is by the worckyng of Satan, with all lyenge power, signes and wonders: and in all deceyuablenes of vnrighteousnes, amōg them that perishe: because they receyued not the loue of the trouth, that they might haue bene saued. And therfore God shall sende the stronge delusion, that they shulde beleue lyes: that all they might be damned which beleeued not the trueth, but had pleasure in vnrighteousnesse.

But we are bounde to geue thankes alway to God for you brethren beloued of ✣ Lorde) because that God hath frō the begynninge chosen you to saluation, thorow sanctifyenge of the spirite, and thorow beleuinge the truth, wherevnto he called you by oure Gospell, to obtayne the glory of our Lorde Iesu Christ.

✣ Therfore (brethren) stande fast, and kepe the ordinaunces which ye haue learned: whether it were by our preachinge or by epistle. Oure Lorde Iesu Christe hym selfe, and God our father which hath loued vs, and hath geuen vs euerlastinge consolacio and good hope thorowe grace, comforte youre hertes, and stablyshe you in all maner good woynge. ✣

The exhorteth them to pray for him, that the Gospell may prospere, and geueth them warning to reproue the idle: and yf they will not labour with theyr handes, that they shall not eate.

CAPI. III.

Fortherm̄ore brethren praye for vs, that ✣ worde of God maye haue free passage & be glorified, as it is with you: and that we maye be deliuered frome vnreasonable & cursed men. For all men haue not faith: but ✣ Lorde is faithfull, which shall stablyshe you and kepe you frome euyll. We haue confidence thorowe the Lorde vpon you, that ye both do, and will do, that which we commaunde you. And the Lorde gyde youre hertes to the loue of God, and patience of Christ.

✣ We require you brethren in the name of our Lorde Iesu Christ, that ye withdrawe your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, & not after the institution which ye receyued of vs. Ye your selues know how ye ought to followe vs. For we behaued not our selues inordinately amonge you. Neyther toke we breed of anye man for nought: but wrought with labour and trauayle nyght & daye, because we wolde no: be greuous to any of you: ✣ not but that we had authorite: but to make oure selues an ensample vnto you, to followe vs. For when we were with you, this we warned you of, that yf there were anye which wolde not worcke, that the same shuld not eate.

For we haue herde saye that there are some whiche walke amonge you inordinately, and worke not at all, but are busy bodyes. Such we commaunde and exhorte by our Lorde Iesu Christ, that they worcke with quyetnesse, & eate their owne bred: ✣ Brethren be not wery in well doynge. ✣

Yf anye man obeye not oure sayenges, sende vs worde of him by a letter: and haue no company with him, that he may be ashamed, how be it count him not as an enemy: but warne hym as a brother.

The very Lorde of peace, geue you peace alwayes, by all meanes. The Lorde be with you all. The salutacion of me Paul, with myne owne hande. This is the token in all Epistles So I write.

The grace of our Lorde Iesu Christe be with you all.

Amen.

¶ The fyrst Epystle of S. Paule vnto Timothe.

¶ The exhorteth Timothe to wayte vpon his office: namely, to se that nothynge be taught but Goddes worde &c. He proueth also wherfore the lawe is good, and telleth this swete and glad tydynges, that Christ Jesus came in to the worlde to saue synners.

CAPI. I.

1 PAul apostle of Jesu Christ, by the commaundement of God our sauiour & Lorde Jesus Christ which is our hope.

Vnto Timothe his ryghte sonne in the fayth.

Grace, mercye, and peax, from God oure father, and Lorde Jesus Christ our Lorde.

As I besought the to abyde styll in Ephesus when I iorned in to Macedony, euen so do, that thou cõmaunde some that they teache none otherwyse: neither gyue hede to fables and genealogyes which are endles, and brede doubtes rather then godly edifynge, which is by fayth: for the ende of the commaundement is ꝑ loue that commeth of a pure herte, and of a good conscience, and of fayth vnfayned: from which thynges some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vayne iangling, because they wolde be doctours in the scripture, and yet vnderstande not what they speke, neither wherof they affyrme.

✣ ✱ We knowe that the lawe is good, yf a man vse it lawfully, vnderstandynge this, that the lawe is not gyuen vnto a ryghteous man, but vnto the vnryghteous & disobedient, to the vngodly, and to synners, to vnholy, and vncleane, to murtherers of fathers, and murtherers of mothers, & to manslears 1 Tim. vi. c. 1 Ioh. iii. a. 1 Ioh. v. a. 1 Pet. iv. c. 2 Pet. ii. c. C And I thanke Christe Jesu oure Lorde, which hathe made me stronge: for he counted me true, and put me in office, when before I was a blasphemer, and a persecutour, and a tyraunt, but I obteyned mercye, because I dyd it ignorauntly thorowe vnbelefe. Neuertheles the grace of oure Lorde was more abundaunt with fayth and loue which is in Christ Jesu. ✣

✣ This is a true sayinge, and by all meanes worthye to be receyued, that Christe Jesus came in to the worlde to saue synners, of whome I am chefe. Notwithstandynge for this cause was mercye gyuen vnto me, that Jesus Christe sholde fyrste shewe on me all longe pacyence, vnto the ensample of them which shall in tyme to come beleue on hym vnto euerlastynge lyfe. So then vnto God kynge euerlastynge, immortall, inuysible, and wyse onely, be honoure and prayse for euer and euer. Amen. The grounde of the fayth.

D This commaundement commyt I vnto the (sonne Timothe) accordynge to the prophesyes, which in tyme past were prophesied of the, that thou in them shouldest fyghte a good fyghte, hauynge fayth and good conscience which some haue put awaye from them, and as concernynge fayth, haue made shypwracke. Of whose nombre is Hymeneus, and Alexander, whiche I haue delyuered vnto Sathan, that they myghte be taughte not to blaspheme.

¶ The exhorteth to praye for all men. He wyl not haue women to be ouer costly arayed nor to teache in the congregacion, but to be in silence, and obey their husbandes.

CAPI. II.

I Exhorte therfore that aboue all thynges, prayers, supplicacions, intercessions, and gyuynge of thankes be made for all men: for kynges, and for all that are in auctorite, that we maye lyue a quyet and a peasable lyfe, in all godlynes, and honestie. For: that is good and accepted in the syght of God our sauyour, which wyll haue all men saued, and to come vnto the knowlege of the trouthe. For there is one God, and one mediatour betwene God and man, which is the man Christ Jesus, which gaue hym selfe a raunsome for all men, that it sholde be testified at his tyme wherunto I am ordeyned a preacher and an Apostle: I tell the trouthe in Christe and lye not, beinge the teacher of the Gentyles in fayth and verite. ✣

I wyll therfore that the men praye euerye where, lyftynge vp pure handes without wrathe, or doubtinge. Lykewyse also the women, that they araye them selues in comlye apparell, with shamfastnes and discrete behauiour: not with broyded heere, eyther gold, or pearles, or costly araye: but with suche as becommeth women that profesle the worshippynge of God thorowe good workes. ✱ Let the woman learne in sylence with all subiection. I suffre not a woman to teache, neyther to haue auctorite ouer the man: but for to be in sylence. For Adam was fyrst formed, & then Eue. Also Adam was not deceyued but the woman was deceyued, and was in transgression. Notwithstandynge thorowe bearynge of children they shall be saued, so they continue in fayth, loue, and holynes, with discrecion. A B C D 1 Cor. xiiii. g Gene. i. d Gene. iii. d

¶ What maner a man a bysshop or preest ought to be, and what condicion his wyfe and children shulde haue. The propertyes also required in a deacon or minister, and in his wyfe.

CAPI. III.

THis is a true sayinge: Yf a man couet the office of a Bysshop, he desyreth a good worke: Wherfore a Bysshoppe muste be faultelesse, the husbande of one wyfe, sober, A sober, discrete, honestly appparayled, bashefull, apte to teache, not geuen vnto wyne, no fyghter, not gruen to fylthy lucre, but gentle, abhorrynge fyghtynge, abhorrynge couetousnesse, and one that ruleth his owne house honestly, hauynge chyldren vnder obedience, with all honestie. For yf a man can not rule his owne house, howe shall he care for the congregation of God. He may not be a yonge scoler, lest he swell and fall in to the iudgement of the cupill speaker. He muste also be prappoynted amonge them which are without forthe, lest he fall in to rebuke, and snare of the cupill speaker.

A yonge scoler, so calleth Paule him self was lately conuerted vnto the fayth.

Lykewyse muste Deacons be honest, not double tonged, not geuen vnto moche drynking, neyther to fylthy lucre, but hauynge the misterye of the fayth in pure conscience. And let them fyrst be proued, and then let them minister, yf they be founde fautles.

Euen so muste their wyues be honest, not cupill speakers: but sober, and faythfull in all thynges. Let the Deacons be the husbandes of one wyfe, and suche as rule their chyldren well, and their owne housholdes. For they that minister well, get them selues good degre and great libertie in the fayth, whiche is in Christ Iesu.

These thynges wryte I vnto the, trustynge to come shortly vnto the: but yf I tarye longe that then thou mayst yet haue knowlege how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the house of God, whiche is the congregacion of the lyuynge God, the pyller and grounde of truthe. And doubtles greate is that misterye of godlynes: God was shewed in the fleshe, was iustifyed in the spirite, was sene of aungelles, was preached vnto the Gentyles, was beleued on in earthe, and receyued vp in glorye.

In the spirite, is by the spirite bare vs cloth as him self doth therin.

The prophesieth of the latter dayes, and exhorteth Timothe to the diligent readynge of the holy scripture.

CAPI. IIII.

The spirite speaketh euidently, that in the latter tymes some shal depart from the fayth, and shall gyue hede vnto spirites of errour, and deuelyshe doctryne of them whiche speke false thorow ypocrisye, and haue their consciences marked with an hote yron, forbyddyng to mary, and commaundynge to abstayne frome meates whiche God hath created to be receyued with gyuing thankes, of them whiche beleue and knowe the truthe. For all the creatures of God are good and nothynge to be refused, yf it be receyued with thankesgyuynge. For it is sanctifyed by the worde of God and prayer. If thou shalt put the brethren in remembraunce of these thynges, thou shalte be a good mynister of Iesu Christe, whiche hast ben nourysshed vp in the wordes of the fayth and good doctryne whiche thou hast continually folowed. But caste away vngodly and olde wyues fables.

1. Tim. iii. 2. Pet. ii. Iude. i.

Exercyse thy selfe vnto godlynes. For bodyly exercyse profyteth lytel, but godlynes is good vnto all thynges, as a thynge whiche hathe promyses of the lyfe that is nowe, and of the lyfe to come. This is a sure sayinge, and of all partyes worthye to be receyued. For therfore we laboure and fyght rebuke, because we beleue in the lyuynge God, whiche is the sauyour of all men, but specially of those that beleue. Suche thynges commaunde & teache. Let no man despyse thy youthe: but be vnto them that beleue an exemple, in worde, in conuersacion, in loue, in spirite, in fayth, and in pureues.

Tyll I come, gyue attendaunce to readynge, to exhortacion, and to doctryne. Despyse not that gyfte that is in the, whiche was gruen the thorowe prophesye, with layinge on the handes of an elder. These thynges exercyse, and gyue thy selfe vnto them, that it maye be sene howe thou profytest in all thynges. Take hede vnto thy selfe, and vnto lernynge, and contynue therin. For yf thou shalte so do, thou shalte saue thy selfe, and them that heare the.

He teacheth him how he shall behaue him selfe in rebukynge all degrees. In ofyce concernynge wydowes.

CAPI. V.

Rebuke not an elder: but exhorte hym as a father, and the yonger men as brethren, the elder women as mothers, the yonger as systers, with all pureues. Honoure wydowes, whiche are true wydowes. If any wydowe haue chyldren or nephewes, let them lerne fyrste to rule their owne houses godly, and to recompence their elders. For that is good and acceptable before God. She that is a verye wydowe and frendlesse, puttyth her truste in God, and continueth in supplicacion and prayer nyghte and daye. But she that lyueth in pleasure, is dede euen yet alyue. And these thynges commaunde, that they maye be without fawte. If there be any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his housholde, the same denyeth the fayth, and is worse then an infidell.

Let no wydowe be chosen, vnder three score yere olde, and suche one, as was the wyfe of one man, and well prapoynted in good workes: yf she haue nourysshed chyldren, yf she haue ben lyberall to straungers, yf she haue washed the sayntes fete, yf she haue ministred vnto them whiche were in aduersitie, yf she were continually gruen vnto all maner good workes. The yonger wydowes refuse. For when they haue begon to wexe wantone, to the dishonour of Christ, then wyll they mary, hauynge damnacion, because they haue broken their fyrst fayth. And also they lerne to go from house to house ydle: and not ydle onely, but also tryflyng, and busy bodyes, speakyng thynges which are not comly.

I wyll therfore that the yonger women mary and beare chyldren, and guyde the house, and

and gyue none occasion to the aduersarye to speake cupll. For manye of them are alredye turned backe, and are gone after Satan. And yf any man or woman that byleueth, haue wydowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the congregacion be charged. that ye maye haue sufficyent for them that are wydowes in dede.

☞ The elders that rule well, are worthye of double honour, moost specially, they whiche labour in the worde and teachynge. For the scripture sayethe: thou shalte not muscll the mouthe of the ore that treadeth oute the corne. And the labourer is worthye of his rewarde. * Agaynst an elder receyue none accusacion, but vnder .ij. or thre wytnesses. Them that synne, rebuke openly, that other maye feare.

I testifye before God, and the Lorde Jesus Christe, and the electe aungelles, that thou obserue these thynges without hastye iudgement, and do nothynge partially. Laye handes sodeynly on no man, neyther be partaker of other mennes synnes, kepe thy selfe stille pure. Drynke no longer water but vse a lyttell wyne for thy stomake, and thyne often diseases.

Some mens synnes are open before hande, and go before in to iudgement: some men[illegible] synnes folowe after. Likewise also good workes are manyfest before hande and they that are otherwyse, can not be hyd.

¶ The dutye of seruauntes towarde theyr masters. Agaynst suche as are not satisfied with the worde of God. Agaynst couetousnes. A good lesson for eyther sort.

CAPI. VI.

LEt as many seruauntes as are vnder the yoke, count theyr masters worthy of all honoure, that the name of God and his doctryne be not cupll spoken of. And that they whiche haue byleuynge masters, despyse them not bycause they are brethren: but so moche the rather do seruice, for as moche as they are byleuynge and beloued, and partakers of the benefyte.

These thynges teache and exhorte. If any man teache otherwyse, and is not contente with the wholsome wordes of oure Lorde Jesu Christe, and with the doctryne of godlynesse, he is pufte vp, and knoweth nothynge: but wasteth his braynes about questyons and stryfe of wordes, wherof spryngc enuye, stryfe, raylynges, cupll surmysynges, & vayne disputacions of men, with corrupte myndes, and destitute of the truthe, which thinke that lucre is godlynes. From suche seperate thy selfe. Godlynes is great ryches, yf a man be content with that he hath. * For we brought nothynge in to the worlde, and it is a playne case that we can carye nothynge out.

☞ When we haue fode and rayment, let vs therwith be content. They that wyll be ryche fall in to temptacion and snares, and in to many folyshe and noysome lustes, whiche do drowne men in perdicion and destruction. For couetousnes is the roote of all cupll, which whyle some lusted after, they erred from the fayethe, and tangled them selfe with many sorowes. But thou whiche art the man of god, flee suche thynges. Folowe eyghteousnes, godlynes, loue, patience, and meknes. Fyghte the good fyght of fayth. Laye hande on eternall lyfe, whereunto thou art called, and hast professed a good profession before many wytnesses.

I gyue the charge in the syght of God, whiche quyckeneth all thynges, and before Jesu Christe, whiche vnder Pontius Pylate wytnessed a good wytnessynge, that thou kepe the commaundement, and be without spotte, and vnreprouable, vntyll the appearynge of oure Lorde Jesus Christ, * which when the tyme is come, he shall shewe that is blessed & mightye onely, kynge of kynges, and lorde of lordes: whiche onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that no man can attayn, whome neuer man sawe, neyther can se, vnto * whome be honoure and rule euerlastynge. Amen.

Charge them that are ryche in this worlde, that they be not exceedinge wise, and that they trust not in the vncertayne ryches, but in the lyuynge God, whiche gyueth vs abundantly all thynges to enioye them, and that they do good, and be ryche in good workes, and redye to gyue and distribute, layinge vp in stoare for them selues a good foundacion agaynst the tyme to come, that they maye haue eternall lyfe.

O Timothe, saue that which is gyuen the to kepe, and auoyde vngodly vanities of voyces, and oppositions of science falsly so called, whiche whyle some professed, they haue erred concernynge the fayethe.

Grace be with the. Amen.

¶ The seconde Epistle of S. Paule the Apostle, vnto Timothe.

¶ Paul exhorteth Timothe to stedfastnes and patience in persecution, and to continue in the doctrine that he had taught hym. A commendacion of Onesiphorus.

CAPI. I.

a PAul Apostle of Jesu Christ by the will of god to preache the promes of lyfe, which is in Christ Jesu.

To Timothe his beloued son. Grace, mercye and peas, frome God the father, and from Jesu Christ our Lorde.

Rom. 1.a * I thanke God, whom I serue from myne elders, with pure conscience, that without ceasynge I make mencion of the in my prayers

b nyght and day, desyrynge to se the, myndful of thy teares: so that I am filled with ioye, whē I call to remembrauncē the vnfarned faythe that is in the, which dwelt fyrst in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice: and am assured that in the also.

Wherfore I warne the that thou styre vp the gyfte of God which is in the, by the puttynge on of my handes. * For God hath not geuen

Rom. viii. c vs the spirite of feare, but of power, and of loue, & of sobrenes of myndе. Be not ashamed to testifye of our Lorde, neither be ashamed of me, whiche am bounde for his sake: but suffre thou aduersitie also with the gospell, thorow the power of God, which saued vs, and called vs with an holy callynge: not accordynge to our dedes, but accordynge to his owne purpose and grace, whiche was geuen thorow Christ Jesu before the worlde was, but is now declared openly, by the appearynge of our Sauioure Jesu Christ, whiche hathe put awaye deathe, and hath brought lyfe and immortalitie vn-

2. Tim. 1. d to lyghte thorowe the gospell; * whervnto I am appointed, a preacher and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentyles: for whiche cause I also suffre these thynges. Neuertheles I am not ashamed. For I knowe whom I haue beleued, & am sure that he is able to kepe that whiche I haue committed to his keppynge ae gaynste that daye.

e Se thou haue a forme of holsome wordes which thou herdest of me in fayth and loue which is in Jesu Christe. That good thynge which was committed to the keppynge, kepe

f in the holy ghoste, which dwelleth in vs. This thou knowest that all they which are in Asia be turned frome me. Of whiche sorte are Phigelus, and Hermogenes. The Lorde grue mercye vnto the house of Onesiphorus, for he ofte refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chayne: but when he was at Rome, sought me out verye diligently, and founde me. The Lorde graunte vnto him he maye fynde mercye with the Lorde at that daye. And in howe many thynges he ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest beste well.

¶ Thou art in the first Chapter, so here he exhorteth him to be constant in trouble, to suffre manly, and to abyde fast in the holsome doctryne of our Lorde Jesu Christe.

CAPI. II.

THou therfore my sonne, be stronge in the grace that is in Christe Jesu. And

1 what thynges thou hast herde of me by many witnesses, the same beliuer to faythfull men, which are apte to teache other. Thou therfore suffre affliction, as a good souldioure of Jesu Christ. No man that warreth, entangleth him selfe with worldly busynes, because he wolde please him that hath chosen hym to be a souldioure. And though a man stryue for a

2 maistry, yet is he not crowned, onelesse he stryue lawfully. * The husbandman that laboureth must fyrst receyue of the frutes. Consyder what I saye. The Lorde gyue the vnder standynge in all thynges.

Remembre that Jesus Christ, beynge of the seed of Dauid, rose agayn from dethe, according to my gospell, wherin I suffre trouble as an euyll doer, euen vnto bondes. But the worde of God was not bounde. Therefore I suffre all thynges for the electes sakes, that they might also obteyn that saluation whiche is in Christ Jesu, with eternall glorye.

It is a true saying: yf we be dede with him, we also shall lyue with him. If we be patient, we shall also reygne with him. * If we denye him, he also shall denye vs. If we beleue not, yet abydeth he faythfull. He can not deny him selfe. Of these thinges put them in remembrance and testifye before the Lorde, that they stryue not about wordes, which is to no profyte, but to peruert the hearers.

Study to shew thy selfe laudable vnto god a workeman that nedeth not to be ashamed, ryghtly cuttyng the worde of truthe. * Vngodly and vayne voyces passe ouer. For they shall encrease vnto greater vngodlynes, and

1. Tim. vi. and. vii. their wordes shall fret euen as doth a cancre: amonges whom is Hymeneus and Philetus, whiche from the truth haue erred, saying that the resurrection is past alredy, and do destroye the fayth of diuers persons.

But the sure grounde of God remayneth, and hath this seale: the Lord knoweth them that are his, and let euery man that calleth on the name of Christ depart from iniquite. Notwithstandynge in a great house are not onely

3 vessels of gold and of syluer: but also of wode and of erth, some for honoure, and some vnto dishonour. If a man therfore wyll purge him selfe from suche, he shall be a vessell sanctified vnto honour, mete for the Lorde, and prepared vnto all good workes.

Lustes of youth auoyde, & pursue ryghtoufnes, fayth, loue, and peas, with them that call on the Lorde with pure hert. * Foolyshe and vnlerned questions put from the, remembryng that they do but gendre stryfe. But the seruant of the Lorde must not stryue, but must be peasable vnto all men, and apte to teache, and one that can suffre the euyll in meknes, and can informe them that resist, yf that god at any time

wyll gyue them repentaunce to knowe the truethe, that they may come to them selues a-gayne out of the snare of the deuyl, which are now taken of him at his wyll.

¶ The prophesieth of the perylous tymes, setteth out

cution for the Gospell.

a Christ tu. gem. in. ita. f

THis vnderstande, that in the last dayes shall come perylous tymes. For the men shall be louers of theyr owne sel-ues, couetous, boasters, proude, cursed speakers,
disobedient to father & mother, vnthankfull,
vnholy, vnkynde, trucebreakers, stubborne,
false accusers, ryatours, fearce, despysers of them whiche are good, traytours, heedy, hygh mynded, gredy vpon voluptuousnes more then louers of God, hauynge a forme of godly ruynge, but haue denyed the power ther-of: and suche abhorre. Of this sorte are they which entre in to houses, and bryng in to bondage women loden with synne, whiche are ledde of dyuers lustes, euer lernynge, and neuer able to come to the knowlege of the trouthe.

* As Jannes and Jambres withstode Moses, euen so doo these resyste the trouthe, men
they are of corrupte mindes, and leude concernynge the fayethe: but they shall preuayle
no longer. For theyr madnes shall be vttered vnto all men as theyrs was. But thou hast sene the experience of my doctryne, fasshyon of ruynge, purpose, fayethe, longe sufferynge,
loue, pacience, persecutions, and afflyctions,
which happened vnto me at Antioche, at Iconium, and at Lystra: whiche persecutions I suffered pacyently. And from the all the Lorde deliuered me. Yea and all that wyl lyue godly in Christ Iesu, must suffre persecutions. But the euyll men and deceyuers shal wexe worse and worse, whyle they deceyue and are deceyued them selues.

But continue thou in the thynges whiche
D thou hast lerned, which also were committed vnto the, seinge thou knowest of whom thou hast lerned them, and for as moche also as thou hast knowen holy scripture of a chylde, whiche is able to make the wise vnto saluaction, thorowe the fayethe whiche is in Christe Iesu. * For all scripture gyuen by inspiracion
of God, is profytable to teache, to improue, to amende, and to instruct in rightoulnes, that the man of God, may be perfect and prepared vnto all good workes.

¶ The ende of the seconde Epistle vnto Timothe.

¶ Written from Rome, when Paule was presented the seconde tyme vp before em-perour Nero.

¶ The Epystle of S. Paule vnto Titus.

¶ Paule exhorteth Titus to ordeyne prestes or bysshoppes in euery cyte, declareth what maner of men they ought to be that are chosen to that offyce, and chargeth Titus to rebuke suche as withstande the gospell.

CAPI. I.

PAul the seruaunt of god, and apostle of Jesu Christ, to preache the fayth of Gods electe, and the knowlege of the truth, whiche is after godlynes vpon the hope of eternall lyfe, whiche God that can not lye, hath promysed afore the worlde began, but hathe opened his worde at the tyme appointed thorow preachynge, whiche is committed vnto me, by the commaundement of God our sauyour. To Titus his very true sonne in the commen fayth.

Grace, mercy, and peace from God the father and from the Lorde Jesu Christ our sauyour.

For this cause left I the in Crete, that thou shouldest perfourme that whiche was lackynge, and shouldest ordeyne elders in euery cyte as I appointed the. If any be faultlesse, the husbande of one wyfe, hauynge faythfull chyldren, whiche are not slaundred of ryot, neyther are disobedient. For a ✻ bysshop muste be faultlesse, as it becommeth the mynistre of God: not stubborne, not angrye, no dronkarde, no fyghter, not gruen to fylthye lucre: but harborous, one that loueth goodnes, sobre mynded, ryghtous, holy, temperat, and suche as cleueth vnto the faythfull worde of doctryne, that he maye be able to exhorte with holsome lernynge, and to improue them that saye agaynst it.

For there are many disobedient and talkers of vanytie, and deceyuers of myndes, namely they of the circumcision, whose mouthes must be stopped, whiche peruert hole houses, teachynge thynges whiche they ought not, by cause of fylthye lucre. One beynge of them selues, which was a poet of their owne land: The Cretyans are alwayes lyers, euyll beestes, and slowe bellyes. This witnes is true, wherfore rebuke them sharply, that they maye be sounde in the fayth, and not takynge hede to Jewes fables, and commaundementes of men, that turne from the truthe. ✻ Vnto the pure are all thynges pure: but vnto them that are defyled and vnbeleuynge is nothynge pure: but euen the very myndes and conscyences of them are defyled. They confesse they knowe God: but with the dedes they denye him / beynge abhominable and disobedient, and vnto all good workes reprobate.

¶ She teacheth him how he shall teach all degrees to behaue them selues.

CAPI. II.

BVt speake thou that whiche becommeth wholsome lernynge. That the elder men be sober, honest, discrete, sounde in the fayth, in loue, in patience. The elder women lykewyse, that they be in suche reuerence as becommeth holynes, not false accusers, not gruen to moche drynkynge, but teachers of honest thynges, to make the yonge women sobre myuded, to loue their husbandes, to loue their chyldren, to be discrete, chaste, huswyfly, good, and obedient vnto their husbandes, that the worde of God be not euyll spoken of. Yonge men lykewyse exhorte, that they be sobre mynded.

About all thynges, shewe thy selfe an ensample of good workes, with vncorrupte doctryne with honestie, and with the holsome worde whiche can not be rebuked, that he whiche withstandeth, maye be ashamed, hauynge nothynge in you that he may dispraise.

✻ The seruauntes exhorte to be obedient vnto their owne maysters, and to please in all thynges, not answerynge agayne, neyther to be pyckers, but that they shew all good faythfulnes, that they maye do worshyp to the doctryne of our sauyour God in all thynges.

✝ For the grace of God that bryngeth saluation vnto all men, hathe appeared, and teacheth vs that we sholde denye vngodlynes, and worldly lustes, and that we sholde lyue sobre mynded, ryghtously and godly in this present worlde, lokynge for that blessed hope and glorious apperynge of the myghty God, and of oure sauyoure Jesu Christe, whiche gaue hym selfe for vs to redeme vs frome all vnryghtousnes, and to pourge vs a peculyar people vnto hym selfe, feruently gruen vnto good workes. These thynges speake, and exhorte, ✝ and rebuke, with all commaundynge. Let no man despyse the.

¶ Of obedience to suche as be in auctorite he warneth Titus to beware of folysshe and vnprofitable questions.

CAPI. III.

WArne them that they submit them selues to rule and power, to obey the officers, that they be redye vnto all good workes, that they speake euyll of no man, that they be no fyghters: but softe, shewynge all mekenes vnto all men. For we our selues also were in tymes paste, vnwyse, disobedient, deceyued, in bondage to lustes, and dyuers maners of voluptuousnes, lyuynge in malycyousnes and enuye, full of hate, hatynge one an other.

✝ But after that the kyndnes and loue of our sauyoure God towarde man appeared, not of the dedes of ryghtousnes whiche we wrought, but of his mercy he saued vs, by the fountayne of the newe byrth, and with the renuynge of the holy ghost, which he shed on vs abundantly, thorow Jesu Christ our sauyour, that we ones iustyfyed by his grace, sholde be heyres of eternall lyfe, thorowe hope. ✝ This is a true sayynge.

Of

Of these thynges I wolde thou sholdest certifye, that they whiche beleue God, might be diligent to go forwarde in good workes. These thynges are good and profytable vnto men. Foryssbe questyons and genealogyes, and braulynge and stryfe aboute the lawe auoyde: for they are vnprofytable and superfluous. A man that is geuen to heresye, after the fyrste and the seconde admonicion, auoyde: remembrynge that he that is suche, is peruerted and synneth, euen damned by his owne iudgemente.

D When I shall sende Artemas vnto the, or Tichicus, be diligent to come to me vnto Nicopolis. For I haue determined there to winter. Bringe Zenas the lawyer, and Appollos on their iourney diligently, that nothyng be lackynge vnto them. And let ours also learne to excell in good workes, as farforthe as nede requyreth, that they be not vnfruytfull.

All that are with me, salute the. Wryte them that loue vs in the fayth.

Grace be with you all.

¶ The Epystle of S. Paule vnto Philemon

The entreateth to hearte of the faythe and loue of Philemon, whome he desyreth to forgyue his seruaunte Onesimus, and louyngly to receyue him agayne.

PAule the prysoner of Jesu Christ, and brother Timotheus. A Vnto Philemon the beloued, and our helper, and to the beloued Appia, B to Archippus our felowe soudiour, C to the congregacion of thy house.

Grace be with you and peace, from God our father, and from the Lorde Jesu Christ.

I thanke my God, makyng mencion alwayes of the in my prayers, when I heare of thy loue and fayth whiche thou hast towarde the Lorde Jesu, and towarde all sayntes: so that the fe- B lawshyp that thou hast in the fayth is fruytfull thorow knowlege of all good thynges which are in you by Jesu Christ. And we haue greate ioye and consolacion ouer thy loue: for by the (brother) the sayntes hertes are comforted.

Wherfore thoughe I be bolde in Christe, enioyne the that whiche becommeth the, yet for loues sake I rather beseche the, though I be as I am euen Paule aged, and now in bondes for Jesu Christes sake. I beseche the for my sonne Onesimus whome I begat in my bondes, which in tyme past was to the vnprofitable, but now profitable bothe to the, and also to me, whome I haue sent home agayne. Thou therfore receyue hym, that is to saye myne owne bowels, whome I wolde fayne haue retayned with me, that in thy stede he myghte haue mynistred vnto me in the bondes of the gospell. Neuertheles, without thy mynde wolde I do nothynge, that the good whiche spryngeth of the, sholde not be as it were of necessite, but wyllyngly. C

Haply he therfore departed for a seasō, that thou sholdest receyue him for euer, not now as a seruaunt, but aboue a seruaunt? I meane a brother beloued, specially to me: how moche more vnto the, bothe in the flesshe and also in the Lorde? If thou count me a felow, receyue him as my selfe. If he hath hurt the, or owetb the oughte, that laye to my charge. I Paule D haue wrytten with myne owne hande. I wyll recompence it. So that I do not saye to the, how thou owest vnto me euen thyne owne selfe. Euen so brother, let me enioye the i the Lorde. Comforte my bowels in the Lorde. Trustyng in thyne obedience, I wrote vnto the, knowynge that thou wylt do more then I saye for. Moreouer prepare me lodgynge: for I trust thorow the helpe of youre prayers, I shall be gyuē vnto you. Here salute the, Epaphras my felow prysoner in Christe Jesu, Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, Lucas, my helpers. The grace of our Lorde Jesu Christe be with your spyrytes. Amen.

¶ Sente frome Rome by Onesimus a seruaunt.

¶ The fyrste Epystle of Sayut Peter the Apostle.

¶ She weth how farth must be tryed: howe the saluacion in Christ is no newes, but a thinge prophesied of olde. He exhorteth them to a godly conuersacion, forthens they are now borne a newe by the worde of God.

CAPI. I.

a Here Peter, as other true Apostles do, sygnifie vnto the vnfaithfull of mercy which God hath bounde hym selfe to geue vs for Christes sake and then our duetye what we be bounde to do ageynst the vnfaithfulnes of the worlde.

PEter Apostle of Jesu Christ, to them that dwell dere and there as straungers thorowout Ponthus, Galacia, Capadocia, Asia, & Bethinia, elect by ye wise knowlege of god the father thorow the sanctifyenge of the spirite, vnto obedience and sprynckelynge of the bloude of Jesu Christe.

Grace be with you, and peace be increased.

Praysed be God, father of our Lorde Jesu Christ, which thorow his abundant mercy begat vs ageyn vnto a lyuely hope by the resurrection of Jesu Christ from deth, to enioye an inheritaunce immortall and vndefyled, & that perysheth not, reserued in heue for you, which are kept by the power of God, thorowe fayth vnto saluacion, which is prepared alredy to be shewed in the laste tyme, in whiche ye reioyce, though now for a season (yf nede requyre) ye are in heuynes, thorow manifolde temptacions that youre fayethe ones tryed, beynge moche more precyous then golde that perysheth, (though it be tryed with fyre) might be found vnto prayse, glorye and honour, at the appearynge of Jesu Christ: whom ye haue not sene, and yet loue him in whom euen now though ye se him not, yet do you beleue: and reioyce with ioye vnspeakable and glorious: receyuynge the ende of your fayth, the saluacion of your soules.

Of whiche saluacion haue the Prophetes enquyred and serched, which prophesyed of the grace that sholde come vnto you, searching when or at what tyme the spyrite of Christe whiche was in them sholde signifye, whiche spirite testifyed before the passions that sholde come vnto Christ, and the glorye that sholde folowe after: vnto which Prophetes it was declared, that not vnto them selues, but vnto vs, they sholde minister the thinges which are nowe shewed vnto you of them which by the holy ghost sent downe from heuen, haue preached vnto you the thynges which the aungels desyre to beholde.

Wherfore gyrde vp the loynes of your mynde, be sobre, and truste perfectly on the grace that is brought vnto you, by the declaringe of Jesu Christ, as obedient chyldren, not fashioninge your selues vnto your olde lustes of ignorance: but as he which called you is holy, euen so be ye holy in all conuersacion, because it is written: Be ye holy, for I am holy.

Leuit. 19. Deute. 5. b

And yf ye call on the father, which without respecte of person iudgeth accordynge to euery mannes workes, se ye passe the tyme of your sojournyng in feare. † For as moche as ye knowe ye were not redemed with corruptible syluer and golde from youre vayne conuersacion, which ye receyued by the traditions of the fathers: but with the precious bloude of Christ, as of a lambe vndefyled, and without spot, whiche was ordeyned before the worlde was made: but was declared in ye last tymes for your sakes, which by his meanes haue byleued on God that raysed him from deth, and glorifyed him, that youre fayth and hope myght be in God.

And for as moche as ye haue purifyed your soules thorowe the spirite, in obeyinge the trouthe, for to loue brotherly without fayneynge, se ye loue one an other with a pure herte feruently: for ye are borne anewe, not of mortall seed, but of immortal, by the worde of God, which lyueth and lasteth for euer. * For all flesshe is as grasse, and all the glory of man is as the floure of grasse. The grasse wydereth, and the floure falleth awaye, but the worde of the Lorde endureth euer. † And this is the worde which by the gospell was preached amonge you.

* Esay. 40. Eccl. 1. Iacobus 1.

¶ He exhorteth to laye aside all vyce, wherwith that Christ is the foundacion wherupon they buylt, and to obey worldly rulers. How seruauntes shulde behaue them selues towarde theyr maysters. He exhorteth to suffer after the exemple of Christ.

CAPI. II.

Wherfore laye aside all malyce & gyle, and dissimulacion, and enuye, and all backbytyng: and as newe borne babes desyre that reasonable milke whiche is without corruption, that ye may growe therin. If so be that ye haue tasted howe pleasaunt the Lorde is, to whome ye come as vnto a lyuyng stone disalowed of men, but chosen of God and precious: and ye as lyuynge stones, are made a spirituall house, & an holy priesthode, for to offre vp spirituall sacrifyce acceptable to God by Jesus Christe,

Wherfore it is contayned in the scripture: beholde, I put in Syon an hed corner stone, electe and precious: and he that byleueth on him, shall not be confounded. * Vnto you therfore which byleue, he is precious: but vnto them which byleue not, the stone which the buylders refused, the same is made the hed stone in the corner, and a stone to stomble at, and a rocke to offende them which stomble at the worde, and byleue not that wherein they were set. But ye are a chosen generacion, a royall priesthode, an holy nacion, and a peculyer people, that ye sholde shewe the vertues of him that called you oute of darkenes in to his meruaylous lyghte, which in tyme paste were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which were not vnder mercy, but now haue obteyned mercy. † that ye haue honest conuersacion emonge the Gentyles, that they whiche backbyte you as cuyll doers, maye se youre good workes, and prayse God ‖ in the daye of visitacion.

Submyt your selues vnto all maner ordynaunce of man for the Lordes sake, whether it be vnto the kynge as vnto the chiefe heed, or vnto rulers as vnto them that are sent of him for the punishment of cuyll doers, but for the laude of them that do well. For so is the wil of God, that ye put to sylence the ignorancie of the folyshe men: as free, and not as hauyng the libertie for a cloke of malicyousnes, but euen as the seruauntes of God. * Honour al men. Loue brotherly felawshyp. Feare God and honour the kynge.

* Seruauntes obey your maysters with all feare, not onely yf they be good and curteyse, but also thoughe they be frowarde. For it is thanke worthye yf a man for conscience towarde God, endure grefe, suffryng wrongfully. For what prayse is it, yf when ye be buffeted for youre faultes, ye take it paciently? But yf when ye do well, ye suffre wronge and take it pacyently, then is there thanke with God.

For hereunto verely were ye * called: for ✝ Christ also suffered for vs, leuyng to you an ensample that ye shoulde folowe his steppes, whiche dyd no synne, neyther was there gyle founde in his mouth: which when he was reuyled, reuyled not agayne: when he suffered, he threted not, but cõmitted the cause to him that iudgeth righteously, ‖ which his own self bare our synnes in his bodye on the tree, that we shulde be deliuered from synne and shulde lyue ryghteousnes. By whose stripes we were healed. For we were as shepe goynge astray: but are now returned vnto the shepherde and bysshop of your soules. ‖

¶ How wyues ought to order them selues toward their husbande, and in their apparell. The duetye of men toward their wyues. He exhorteth all men to vnite and loue, and patiently to suffre trouble. Of true baptysme.

CAPI. III.

LIkewyse let the wyues be in subiection to their husbandes, that euen they which beleue not the worde, maye without the worde be wonne by the conuersacion of the wyues: while they beholde your pure conuersacion coupled with feare. Whose apparell shall not be outwarde with broyded heare, & hangynge on of golde, eyther in puttynge on of gorgyous apparell: but let the hyd man of the herte be vncorrupt, with a meke and quiet spirite, whiche is before God a dyuyne moche set by. For after this maner in the olde tyme dyd the holy women whiche trusted in God euer them selues, and were obedient to their husbandes, euē as Sara obeyed Abraham, and called him Lorde, whose doughters ye are as longe as ye do well, not beynge afrayde of euery shadowe.

Likewyse ye men, dwell with them accordynge to knowlege, geuynge honour vnto the wyfe as vnto the weyker vessell, and as vnto them that are heyres also of the grace of lyfe, that your prayers be not let.

✝ In conclusion be ye all of one mynde, one suffre with an other: loue as brethren, be pitifull, be courteys, not rendryng cuyll for cuyll, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrary wyse, blesse, remembryng that ye are therunto called euen that ye shulde be heyres of blessyng. If any man long after lyfe, and loueth to se good dayes, let him refrayne his tonge from cuyll, and his lyppes that they speake not gyle. Let him elsewhe cuyll e do good, let him seke peace and ensue it. For the eyes of the Lord are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers. But the face of the Lorde beholdeth them that do cuyll.

Moreouer, who is it that wyll harme you, yf ye folowe that whiche is good? Notwithstandyng happy are ye yf ye suffre for righteousnesses sake. Yea and feare not thoughe they seme terrible to you, neither be troubled: but sanctifye the Lorde God in youre hertes. Be redy alwayes to gyue an answere to euery man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, and that with mekenes and feare, hauing a good conscience, that when they backbyte you as cuyll doers, they maye be ashamed, for as moche as they haue falsely accused youre good conuersacion in Christ.

It is better (yf the wyll of God be so) that ye suffre for well doynge, then for cuyll doynge. ✝ For also moche as Christe hathe ones suffered for synnes, the iuste for the vniuste, for to bryng vs to God, and was kylled as pertaynynge to the fleshe: but was quyckened in the spirite.

In whiche he also went and preached vnto the spyrytes that were in pryson, whiche were in tyme past disobedient, when the long sufferynge of God, abode exedynge paciently in the dayes of Noe, whyle the arke was a preparynge, wherin fewe (that is to saye eyght soules) were saued by water, whiche signifieth baptysme that nowe saueth vs, not the puttyng awaye of the fylth of the fleshe, but in that a good conscyence consenteth to God, by the resurrection of Iesus Christ, who the is on the ryghte hande of God: ‖ and is gone in to heuen, aungels, powers and myghtes subdued vnto him.

¶ He exhorteth men to cease from synne, to spende no more tyme in vyce, to be sober and apte to prayer to loue eche other, to be pacient in trouble, and to beware that no man suffre as an cuyll doer, but as a Christen man and not to be ashamed.

CAPI. IIII.

FOr as moche as Christe hath suffered for vs in the fleshe, arme your selues lykewyse with the same mynde: for he which suffereth in the fleshe, ceaseth from synne, That he henceforwarde shulde lyue as moche tyme as remayneth in the fleshe: not after lustes of men, but after the wyll of God.

Neg. For

For it is sufficient for vs that we haue spente the tyme that is past of the lyfe, after the wil of the Gentyles, walkynge in wantonnesse, lustes, dronkennesse, in eatynge, drynkynge, and in abhominable ydolatrye.

B And it semeth to them a straunge thynge that ye runne not also with them vnto the same excesse of ryot, and therfore speake they euyll of you, whiche shall geue accompte to hym that is redye to iudge quycke and dead.

For vnto this purpose was the gospel preached vnto the dead, that they sholde be iudged lyke other men in the fleshe, but sholde lyue before god in the spirite. The ende of all thynges is at hande.

Be ye therfore discrete and sober, that ye maye be apte to prayers. But about all thynges haue feruent charitie amonge you. For charitie couereth the multitude of synnes. Be ye hartie louers one to an other, and that without grudgynge. As euery man hathe receyued the gyfte, mynistre the same one to an other, as good mynisters of the manifolde grace of God. If any man speake, let hym talke as though he spake the wordes of God. If any man mynistre, let hym doo it as of the habilitie whiche God mynistreth vnto hym: So that God in all thynges may be glorified thorowe Iesus Christe, to whome be prayse and dominion, for euer and euer. Amen.

Derely beloued, be not troubled in this heate, whiche nowe is come amonge you to trye you, as though some straunge thynge had happened vnto you: but reioyce, in as moche as ye are partakers of Christes passions, that when his glorye appeareth, ye maye be mery and glad. If ye be rayled vpon for the name of Christ happy are ye. For the spirite of glorye, and the spirite of God resteth vpon you. On their parte he is euyll spoken of: but on youre parte he is glorified.

D

Se that none of you suffre as a murtherer, or as a thefe, or an euyll doer: or as a busy bodye in other mens maters. If any man suffre as a christen man, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorifye God in this behalfe. For the tyme is come that iudgement muste begyn at the house of God. If it fyrste begyn at vs, what shal the ende be of them whiche beleue not the gospell of God? And yf the righteous scarcely be saued: where shal the vngodly and the synner appeare? Wherfore let them that suffer accordynge to the wyll of God, commit their soules vnto hym with well doynge, as vnto faythfull maker.

CAPI. V.

The prestes which are among you I exhorte, whiche am also a prest & a wytnes of the afflictios of Christ, and also a partaker of the glorye that shall be opened: se that ye fede Christes flocke which is among you, takynge the ouersyghte of them not as though ye were compelled therto, but wyllyngly: not for the desyre of fylthy lucre, but of a good mynde, not as though ye were lordes ouer the parysshes: but that ye be an exemple to the flocke. And whe the chefe shepeherde shall appeare, ye shall receyue an incorruptible crowne of glorye. Lykewyse ye yonger, submyt youre selues vnto the elder. Submyt youre selues euery man, one to an other, knytte youre selues togyther in lowlynes of mynde. For God resysteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble. Submyt youre selues therfore vnder the mighty hande of God, that he maye exalte you, when the tyme is come. Caste all youre care on hym: for he careth for you.

CAPI. I.

SImon Peter seruaunte and Apostle of Jesu Christ, to them whiche haue obteyned lyke precious fayth with vs in the rygh-teousnes that commeth of our God and sauiour Jesu Christ.

Grace with you, and peace be multiplyed in the knowlege of God, & of Jesus our Lorde. ¶ As his godly power hathe gyuen vs all thynges that pertayne to lyfe and godlynes, thorow the knowlege of him that hath called vs by vertue and glory, by the meanes whereof are gyuen to vs excellent and moost great promyses, that by the helpe of them, ye shulde be partakers of the godly nature, in that ye flee the corruption of worldly lust.

B Yea, and herevnto gyue all diligence: in youre fayth ministre vertue, in youre vertue knowlege, and in knowlege temperance, and in temperance patience, and in patience godlynes, in godlynes brotherly kyndnes, in brotherly kyndnes loue. For yf these thynges be amonge you & are plenteous, they wyll make you, that ye neither shall be vyle, nor vnfruteful in the knowlege of our Lorde Jesu Christ.

C But he that lacketh these thynges is blynde, and gropeth for the way with his handes, and hath forgotten that he was pourged from his olde synnes.

C Wherfore brethren, gyue the more diligēce to make youre callynge and election sure. For yf ye do suche thynges, ye shal neuer erre. Yea by this meanes an entrynge in shall be ministred vnto you habundantly in to the euerlastynge kyngdome our Lorde and sauyour Jesu Christe.

Wherfore I wyll not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembraunce of suche thynges, thoughe ye knowe them your selues, and be also stablyshed in the present trouthe. Yee wythstandynge, I thynke it mete as longe as I am in this ‡ tabernacle, to stere you vp by puttynge you in remembraunce, for as moche as I am sure the tyme is at hande that I must put of my tabernacle, euen as our Lorde Jesu Christe hathe shewed me. I wyll doo my diligence therfore, that on euery syde ye myghte haue wherewith to stere vp the remembraunce of these thynges after my departure. ✣ For we folowed not deceyuable fables, when we opened vnto you the power and commynge of oure Lorde Jesu Christe, but with oure eyes we sawe his maiestie: euen then verily when he receyued of God the father honoure and glory, and when there came suche a voyce to hym frome the excellent glorye. * This is my dere beloued sonne, in whome I haue delyte. This voyce we herde when it came frome heauen, beynge with hym in the holy mounte.

We haue also a ryghte sure worde of prophecye, wherevnto ye do take hede, as vnto a lyght that shyneth in a darke place, vntyll the daye dawne, and the daye sterre aryse in youre hertes. ✣ So that ye fyrst knowe this: that no prophecie in the scripture hathe any priuate interpretation. For the scripture came neuer by the wyll of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moued by the holy ghost.

John. 1. Marth. 3. Luke. iii. b

¶ The prophesieth of false teachers, and sheweth their punyshment.

CAPI. II.

THere were false prophetes amonge the people, euen as there shall be false teachers amonge you: whiche priuely shal bringe in damnable sectes, euen denyeng the Lorde that hath bought them, and bring vpō them selues swyfte damnation, and many shal folowe theyr damnable wayes, by whych the waye of trouthe shall be cuyll spoken of, and thorowe couetousnes shall they with fayned wordes make marchaundyse of you, whose iudgement is not farre of, and theyr damnacyon sleepeth not.

3 b False prophetes maye here note to amēdement of all theyr parti. B and that because we haue no loue to the trouthe. 2. Thes. ii. And couetousnes is the father of them and their preachynge confidence in worckes is the deuyse of Chrystes.

For yf god spared not the aungels that synned, but cast them downe in to hel, and drawen them in to chaynes of darknes to be kept vnto iudgemēt, neither spared the old worlde, but saued Noe the eight preacher of righteousnes, and brought in the floode vpon the worlde of the vngodly, & turned the cityes of Sodom and Gomor in to asshes: ouerthrew them & dāned them, and made on them an exemple vnto all that after shulde lyue vngodly. And wrote Lot vexed with the vncleanly conuersacion of the wycked, delyuered he. For he beynge ryghteous, and dwellyng among them in seing and heatynge, vexed his righteous soule from daye to daye with theyr vnlawfull dedes. The Lorde knoweth how to deliuer the godly out of temptacio, & how to reserue the vniust vnto the day of iudgemēt for to be punished: namely them that walke after the flesshe in the lust of vncleannes, and despise the rulers. Presumptuous are they, and stubborne, and feare not to speake cuyll of them that are in auctorite. C When the aungels whiche are greater both in power and myght receyue not of the Lorde raylynge iudgement agaynst them. But these as dome beestes, naturally made to be taken and destroyed, speake cuyll of that they know not, and shall perysshe thoughe theyr owne destruction, and receyue the rewarde of vnrighteousnes.

They count it pleasure to lyue deliciously, for a season. Spottes they are, and filthynes lurynge at pleasure and in deceyuable wayes, feastynge with you, hauynge eyes full of aduoutrye, and that can not cease to synne, beguylynge vnstable soules. Hertes they haue exercised

* These are welles without water, and cloudes caryed aboute of a tempeſt, to whom the myſt of darknelle is reſerued for euer. For when they haue ſpoken the ſwellynge wordes of vanitie, they begyle with wantonnelle thorowe the luſtes of the fleſhe, them that were clene eſcaped: but nowe are wrapped in errours. They promyſe them libertye, and are them ſelues the bonde ſeruauntes of corruption. * For of whom ſo euer a mā is ouercome, vnto ſ ſame is he in bondage. For if they after they haue eſcaped frome the fylthynes of the worlde, thorowe the knowlege of the Lorde and of the ſauyoure Ieſus Chriſte, are yet tangled agayne therin, & ouercome: then is the latter ende worſe with them then the begynnynge. For it hadde ben better for them not to haue * knowen the waye of ryghteouſnes, then after they haue knowen it, to turne frome the holy commaundement gyuen vnto them. It is happened vnto them, accordyng to the true prouerbe: * The dog is turned to his bowlet agayn, and the ſow that was waſhed to her wallowynge in the myre.

CAPI. III.

THis is the ſeconde epiſtle that I nowe wryte vnto you, beloued, wherewith I ſtere vp, and warne your pure myndes, to call to remembraunce the wordes whiche were tolde before of the holy prophetes, and alſo the commaundement of vs the Apoſtles of the Lorde and ſauyoure.

* This fyrſte vnderſtande, that there ſhall come in the laſt dayes mockers, whiche wyll walke after their owne luſtes, & ſaye. Where is the promyſe of his commynge? For ſithens the fathers dyed, all thynges continue in the ſame eſtate wherin they were at ſ begynnyng. This they knowe not (and that wyllyngly) that the heuens a great whyle ago were, and the erthe that was in the water appeared by out of the water, by the worde of God: by whiche thynges the worlde that then was, periſhed ouerflowen with the water. But the heuens verely, and erth whiche are nowe, are kepte by the ſame worde in ſtore, and reſerued vnto fyre, againſt the daye of iudgement and perdicion of vngodly men.

Derely beloued, be not ignorant of this one thynge, that one daye is with the Lorde as a thouſande yeres, and a thouſande yeres as one daye. The Lorde is not ſlacke to fulfyl his promeſſe, as ſome men count ſlacknes: but is pacient towardes vs, and wolde haue no man loſte, but wolde receyue all men to repentaunce.

If all theſe thynges ſhall periſſhe, what maner perſons ought ye to be in holy conuerſacion and godlynes: lokyng for and haſtyng vnto the cōmyng of the daye of God, in which the heuens ſhall periſſhe with fyre, and the elementes ſhal be conſumed with heat. * Neuertheleſſe we loke for a newe heuen, and a new erth, accordyng to his promeſſe, in whom abydeth ryghteouſnelle.

¶ The fyrste Epistle of Sayntˉ Johñ the Apostle.

¶ True wytnesse of the everlastynge worde of God. The bloude of Christ is the purgacion frome synne. No man is without synne.

CAPI. I.

A That whyche was frome the begynnynge, whiche we haue herde, whyche we haue sene with oure eyes, whiche we haue loked vpon, and oure handes haue handled, of the worde of lyfe. For the lyfe appeared, and we haue sene and beare wytnesse, and shewe vnto you that eternall lyfe, whiche was with the father, and appeared vnto vs. That whiche we haue sene and herde, testifie we vnto you, that ye maye haue felowshyp with vs, and that oure felowshyp maye be with the father and his sonne Jesu Christ. And this wrytte we vnto you, that youre ioye maye be full.

B And this is the tydynges whiche we haue herde of hym and declare vnto you, that God is lyghte, and in hym is no derckenesse at all.

C Yf we saye that we haue felowshyppe with hym, and yet walcke in derckenesse, we lye, and do not the trouthe. But yf we walcke in ☞ lyghte, euen as he is in lyghte, then haue we felowshyppe with hym, and the bloude of Jesu Christe his sonne clenseth vs frome all synne.

D Yf we saye that we haue no synne, we deceyue oure selues and trouthe is not in vs. Yf we ☞ knowledge oure synnes, he is faythfull and iuste, to forgyue vs oure synnes, and to clense vs frome all vnryghtwysnes. If we saye: we haue not synned, we make hym a lyar and his worde is not in vs.

¶ Christ is oure aduocate. Of true loue, and howe it is tryed.

CAPI. II.

A My deare chyldren, these thynges wryte I vnto you, that ye synne not: yf anye man synne, yet we haue a spokesman with the father, Jesus Christ, which is righteous: and he is a mercyfulle for oure synnes: not for oure synnes onely: but also for the synnes of all the worlde. And hereby we are sure that we knowe hym, yf we kepe his ☞ commaundementes. He that sayth I knowe him, and kepeth not his commaundementes is a lyar, and the trouthe is not in hym. Who so euer kepeth his worde, in hym is the loue of God perfecte in dede. And thereby knowe we that we are in hym. He that sayeth he abydeth in hym, oughte to walke as he walked.

Brethren, I wryte no newe commaundement vnto you: but that olde commaundement whiche ye herde frome the begynnynge. B The olde commaundement is the worde, whiche ye herde frome the begynnynge. Agayne, a newe commaundement I wryte vnto you, a thynge that is true in hym, and also in you: for the derckenesse is passe, and the true lighte nowe shyneth. He that sayeth he is in the lyghte, and yet hateth his brother, is in derckenesse euen tyll this tyme. He that loueth his brother, abydeth in the lyghte & there is none occasyon of euyll in hym. He that hateth his brother, is in derckenesse, and walketh in derckenesse: and canne not tell whyther he goeth, because derckenesse hathe blynded his eyes.

C Deare chyldren I wryte vnto you that youre synnes are forgyuen you for his name. I wryte vnto you fathers, that ye knowe him that was frome the begynnynge. I wryte vnto you younge men, that ye haue ouercome the wycked. I wryte vnto you lytell chyldren, that ye knowe the father. I wryte vnto you fathers, that ye knowe hym that was frome the begynnynge. I wryte vnto you younge men, that ye be stronge and the worde of God abyde in you, and ye haue ouercome that wycked.

D Loue ye not the worlde, neyther the thynges in the worlde. If any man loue the worlde, the loue of the father is not in him. For all that is in the worlde, as the lust of the flesshe, the lust of the eyes, and the pryde of goodes, is not of the father, but of the worlde. And the worlde vanysheth awaye, and the lust therof: but he that fulfylleth the will of God, abydeth euer.

Lytell chyldren it is the laste tyme, and as ye haue herde howe ☞ Antechrist shall come, euen nowe are there many Antichristes come alredy. Wherby we knowe that it is the laste tyme. They went out from vs, but they were not of vs. For yf they hadde bene of vs, they wolde no doubte, haue continued with vs. But that fortuned that it myght apeare they were not of vs.

But ye haue an vnctemente of the holy ghoste, and ye knowe all thynges. ✣ I wrote not vnto you, as thoughe ye knewe not the trouthe: but as thoughe ye knewe it, and knowe also that no lye commeth of trouthe. Who is a lyar, but he that denyeth that Jesus is Christ? the same is the Antichrist that denyeth the father and the sonne. Who so euer denyeth the sonne, the same hath not the father. Let therfore abyde in you that same whiche ye herde frome the begynnynge. If that whiche ye herde frome the begynnynge, shall remayne in you, ye also shall continue in the sonne, and in the father. And this is ☞ promes that he hath promysed vs, euen euerlastinge lyfe.

This haue I wrytten vnto you, concernynge them that deceyue you. And the anoyntinge whiche ☞ Lyght is ☞ loue, as of Christ. Hebr. 1.d. 1. Pet. 1.d.

☞ If we confesse our synnes god (for he cannot lye) hath promysed to forgyue them.

☞ he that kepeth the commaundementes knoweth God and he that kepeth them not knoweth not god.

☞ for that is meant whiche Iohn hath of God.

which ye receyued of him, dwellieth in you. And ye nede not that anye man teache you: but as the anneyntynge teacheth you all thynges, and is true, and is no lye, and as it taughte you, euen so abyde therin. And now babes abyde in hym, that when he shall appeare, we maye be bolde, and not be made ashamed of hym at his commynge. If ye know that he is ryghteouse, knowe also that he whyche followeth ryghteousnesse, is borne of hym.

¶ The singuler loue of God towarde vs: and how we agayne ought to loue one an other.

CAPI. III.

BEholde what loue the father hathe shewed vn vs that we shoulde be called the sonnes of God. For this cause the worlde knoweth you not, because it knoweth not hym. Derely beloued, nowe are we the sonnes of God, and yet it weth not appeare what we shall be. But we knowe that when it shall appeare, we shall be lyke hym. For we shall se hym as he is. And euery manne that hathe this hope in hym, purifyeth hym selfe, euen as he is pure. Who so euer committeth synne, committeth vnryghteousnesse also, for synne is vnryghteousnesse. And ye knowe he appeared to take awaye oure synnes, and in hym is no synne. As many as abyde in hym, synne not: who so euer synneth, hathe not sene hym, neyther hath knowen hym.

Babes, let no man deceyue you. He that weth ryghteousnesse, is ryghteous, euen as he is ryghteous. He that committeth synne, is of the deuyll: for the deuyll synneth frome the begynnynge. For this purpose appeared the sonne of God, to lowse the workes of the deuyll. Who so euer is borne of God, synneth not: for his seed remayneth in hym, and he can not synne, because he is borne of God. In this are the chyldren of God knowen, and the chyldren of the deuyll.

Who so euer weth not ryghtwysnesse, is not of God, neyther he that loueth not his brother.

For this is the tydynges, that ye herde frome the begynnynge, that ye shoulde loue one an other: not as Cayn whyche was of the wycked, and slewe his brother. And wherfore slewe he hym? Because his owne workes were euyll, and his brothers good.

Marueyle not my brethren, though the worlde hate you. We knowe that we are translated frome death vnto lyfe, because we loue the brethren. He that loueth not his brother, abydeth in death. Who so euer hateth his brother, is a murtherer. And ye knowe that no murtherer, hathe eternall lyfe abydynge in hym.

Herein perceyue we the charite of God: that he gaue his lyfe for vs: and therfore ought we also to gyue our lyues for the brethren. Who so euer hath this worldes good, and seeth his brother haue nede: and shutteth vp his compassion frome hym: howe dwelleth the loue of God in hym? My babes, let vs not loue in worde, ne in tongue: but with the dede, and in verite: for therby we knowe that we are of the verite, and before hym shall appease oure hertes. But yf oure hertes condempne vs, God is greatter then oure hertes, and knoweth all thynges. Beloued, yf oure hertes condempne vs not, then haue we truste vpon God: and what so euer we aske, we shall receyue of hym: because we kepe his commaundementes, and do those thynges, whyche are pleasynge in his syghte.

And this is his commaundemente, that we beleue on the name of his sonne Jesu Christe, and loue one an other, as he gaue commaundemente. And he that kepeth his commaundementes, dwelleth in hym, and he in hym: and therby we knowe that there abydethe in vs, of the spyryte, whyche he gaue vs.

¶ Difference of spyrytes, and howe the spyryte of God maye be knowen frome the spyryte of errour. Of the loue of God, and of our neyghbours.

CAP. IIII.

YE beloued, beleue not euery spyryte, but proue the spyrytes, whether they are of God, or no: for many false Prophetes are gone out into the worlde. Herby shall ye knowe the spirite of God. Euery spirite that confesseth that Jesus Christe is come in the flesshe, is of God. And euery spirite whyche confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesshe, is not of God. And this is that spyryte of Antichrist, of whome ye haue herde, howe he shoulde come: and euen nowe alredy is he in the worlde.

Lytell chyldren, ye are of God and haue ouercome therym: for greatter is he that is in you, then he that is in the worlde. They are of the worlde, and therfore speake they of the worlde, and the worlde heareth them. We are of God. He that knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not. Herby knowe we the spirite of verite, and the spirite of errour.

Beloued, let vs loue one an other: for loue commeth of God. And euery one that loueth, is borne of God, and knoweth God. He that loueth not, knoweth not God, for God is loue. In this appeared the loue of God towardes vs, because that God sent his onely begotten sonne into the worlde, that we myght lyue thorowe hym. Herein is loue, not that we loued God, but that he loued vs, and sente his sonne, to be a sacrifyce for oure synnes.

Beloued, yf God so loued vs, we ought also to loue one an other. No man hathe sene God at anye tyme. If we loue one an other, God dwelleth in vs, and his loue is perfecte in vs. Herby knowe we: that we dwell in hym, a We that are borne of God, synne not, because the seed of God remayneth in vs.

b Loue is the fyrst precepte and cause of all other.

* Gene. iiii. b

c An hater of his brother is a murtherer.

d He that hath no compassion, loueth not God.

e 1. Johan. iii. b

hym, and he in vs: because he hathe gruen vs of his spyrite. And we haue sene and do testyfye that the father sente the sonne, whiche is the sauioure of the worlde. Who so euer confesseth that Iesus is the sonne of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God. And we haue knowen and beleued the loue that God hath to vs.

D God is loue / and he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, and God in hym.

¶ Herein is the loue perfecte in vs, that we shoulde haue truste in the daye of iudgement: For as he is, euen so are we in this worlde. There is no feare in loue, but perfecte loue casteth oute all feare, for feare hathe vexacion. He that feareth, is not perfecte in loue.

¶ perfecte loue is voyde of feare.

We loue hym, for he loued vs firste. If a man saye, I loue God, and yet hate his brother, he is a lyar. For howe can he that loueth not his brother, whome he hath sene, loue God whome he hathe not sene? And this commaundemente haue we of hym: that he whyche loueth God, shoulde loue his brother also. ⊢

He that loueth not his brother, loueth not god.

¶ To loue God, is to kepe his commaundmentes. Faith ouercommeth the worlde. Euerlastynge lyfe is in the sonne of God. Of the synne vnto death.

CAP. V.

1 WHo soeuer beleueth that Iesus is Christ is borne of God. And euerye one that loueth hym whyche begat, loueth hym also whiche was begotten of hym. In this we knowe that we loue the children of God, when we loue God and kepe his commaundmentes. This is the loue of God that we kepe his commaundmentes, and his commaundmentes are not greuous.

✣ For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth the worlde. And this is the victory that ouercommeth the worlde, euen our faith. Who is he that ouercommeth the worlde: but he whyche beleueth that Iesus is the sonne of God.

¶ faith is our victory.

B This Iesus Christ is he that came by water and bloude, not by water onely: but by water and bloude. And it is the spyrite that beareth wytnesse, because the spyrite is the verye truthe. For there are thre which beare recorde in heauen, the father, the worde, and the holy ghost. And these thre are one. For there are three whiche beare recorde (in earth) the spyrite, and water, and bloude: and these thre are one. If we receyue the wytnesse of men, the wytnesse of God is greatter. For this is the wytnesse of God, which he testified of his sonne. He that beleueth on the sonne of God, hath the wytnes in him selfe. ⊢

This that is written in other places after the suggestion of Erasmus, in his annotacions vpon the worde of Iohn, the water of this Epistle, but time to be put in of some other.

C In Christ is life eternal.

He that beleueth not God, hath made him a lyar, because he beleued not the recorde that God gaue of his sonne. And this is that recorde, that God hath gruen vs eternall lyfe, and this lyfe is in his sonne. He that hathe the sonne, hath lyfe: and he that hath not the sonne of God, hath not lyfe.

These thynges haue I wytten vnto you, that beleue on the name of the sonne of God that ye maye knowe ye haue eternall lyfe, & that ye maye beleue on the name of the sonne of God. And this is the truste we haue in him: that yf we aske any thynge accordynge to his wyll, he heareth vs. And yf we knowe that he heare vs what so euer we aske, we knowe we shall haue the petitions that we wyshe of hym.

Synne vnto death. D

Yf any man se his brother synne a synne that is not vnto deathe, he shall aske, and he shall gyue hym lyfe for suche as synne not vnto deathe. There is a synne vnto deathe, for whiche saye I not that a man shoulde praye. All vnrighte wytnesse is synne, & there is synne not vnto deathe.

We knowe that who so euer is borne of God, synneth not: but he that is begotten of God kepeth him selfe, and that wycked toucheth him not. We know that we are of God and that the worlde is all together set on wickednes. We knowe that the sonne of God is come, and hathe gruen vs a mynde to knowe him whiche is true: and we are in hym that is true, throughe his sonne Iesu Christ. This same is very God, and euerlastinge lyfe.

By that wycked he vnder standeth the deuyll

Babes kepe youre selues from ymages.

¶ The seconde Epystle of Saynt John.

¶ He wryteth vnto a certayne lady, reioyseth that her chyldren walke in the truth, exhorteth them vnto loue, warneth them to beware of such deceyuers as denye that Iesus Christe came in the fleshe, prayeth them to continue in the doctrine of Christe, and to haue nothynge to do with them that bryngeth not this learnynge.

THe elder to the elect lady and her chyldren whiche I loue in the trouthe: and not I onely, but also all they knowe the trouthe, for the trouthes sake whiche dwelleth in vs, and shalbe in vs for euer.

With you be grace, mercy and peace frome God the father and frome the Lorde Iesus Christ the sonne of the father, in trouthe and loue.

I reioyced greately, that I founde of thy children walkynge in trouthe, as we haue receyued a commaundment of the father. And now beseche I the, (lady,) not as though I wrote a newe commaundment vnto the, but that same which we had from the begynning, that we shulde loue one an other. And this is the loue, that we shoulde walke after his commaundmentes.

This commaundment is (that as ye haue herde frome the begynnynge) ye shulde walke in it. For many deceyuers are entred into the worlde, which confesse not, that Iesus Christ is come in the fleshe. This is a deceyuer and an Antichrist. Loke on youre selues, that we lose not that we haue wrought: but that we maye haue a full rewarde. Who so euer transgresseth, and abydeth not in the doctryne of Christe, hathe not God. He that endureth in the doctryne of Christ, hathe bothe the father and the sonne.

If there come any vnto you and bringe not this learnynge, receyue not to house: neyther bydde them God speede. For he that bydeth him God speede, is partaker of his cuyll dedes. I had many thinges to wryte vnto you, nauertheles I wolde not wryte with paper and ynke: but I truste to come vnto you, and speake with you mouth to mouth, that our ioye may be full. The sonnes of thy electe sister greete the.

Amen.

¶ The thyrde Epystle of Saynt Johñ.

¶ He is glade of Gayus, that he walketh in the trueth: exhorteth them to be louyng vnto the poore Christen in their persecucion, sheweth the vnkynde dealynge of Diotrephes, and the good reporte of Demetrius.

THe elder vnto the beloued Gayus, whome I loue in the trouthe. Beloued I wysshe in all thynges that thou prospere and fare well euen as thy soule prospereth. I reioyced greately, when the brethren came, and testyfied of the truth that is in the, how thou walkest in trouth. I haue no greatter ioye then to heare that my sonnes walke in verite.

Beloued, thou dost faythfully what so euer thou dost to the brethren, and to straungers, whiche bare wytnesse of thy loue before all the congregacion. Which brethren when thou bringest forwardes of their iourney (as it becometh God) thou shalt do well: because that for his names sake they went forth, and toke nothinge of the Gentyles. We therfore ought to receyue suche, that we also myghte be helpers to the truthe.

I wrote vnto the congregacion: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence amonge them, receyueth vs not. Wherfore yf I come, I will declare his dedes which he worth, reasynge on vs with malicious wordes, neither is therewith content, not only he himselfe receyueth not the brethren: but also he forbydeth them that wolde, and thrusteth them out of the congregacyon.

Beloued, followe not the cuyll, but the good. He that doth well, is of God: but he that doth cuyll seeth not God. Demetrius hath good reporte of all men & of the truth: yea and we our selues also beare recorde, and ye knowe that our recorde is true. I haue many thinges to wryte: but I wil not with ynke and penne wryte vnto the. For I trust I shall shortly se the, and we shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with the. The frendes salute the. Greete the frendes by name.

Amen.

The Epystle vnto the Hebreues.

How God dealte lourngly with them of the olde tyme in sendynge them his Prophetes, but moche more merrye hath shewed vs, in that he sent vs his owne sonne. Of the moste excellent glorye of Jesus Christe, in hythe in all thynges to lyke to his father.

CAPI. I.

A GOd in tyme paste diuerslye and many wayes, spake vnto the fathers by the Prophetes but in a Of these last dayes pe haue Gala. iii. d
B Exo. xxxviii. c Sapien. viii. d these last dayes he hath spoken vnto vs by his sonne, whome he c Christ hath purged oure synne.
hath made heyre of all thinges: by whom also he made the worlde, * Whiche beynge the brightnes of his glorye, and expresse ymage of his substance, bearynge vp all thinges with the worde of his power, hath to his owne person a purged oure synnes, and is sytten on the ryght hand of the maiestye on hygh, b is more excellent then the angels, for as moche as he hath by inheritaunce obteyned a more excellent name then they.

For vnto whiche of the angels sayd he at any tyme: * Thou arte my sonne, this daye begate I the? And agayne: * I wyll be his father, and he shalbe my sonne: ‡ And agayn when he bryngeth in the fyrst begotten sonne in to the worlde, he sayth: * And all the angels of God shall worshippe hym. And of the angels he sayth: ‡ He maketh his angels spirites, and his mynysters flammes of fyre. But vnto the sonne he sayth: * God, thy strate shall be for euer and euer. The scepter of thy kyngdome is a ryght scepter. Thou hast loued ryghteousnes and hated wyckednes. Wherefore God, whyche is thy God, hathe anoynted the with the c Oyle of gladnes aboue thy felowes.

And thou Lorde in the begynnynge hast layde the foundacion of the erth. And the heuens are the workes of thy handes. They shal perysshe, but thou shalte endure. They all shall wexe olde as doth a garmente: and as a vesture shalte thou chaunge them, and they shall be chaunged. But thou arte all wayes, and thy yeres shall not fayle. ‡ Vnto whyche of thy aungels sayde he at any tyme: Sit on my ryghte hande, tyll I make thyne enemyes thy fote stole: Are they not all mynystrynge spyrytes, sente to mynyster, for their sakes whyche shall be heyres of saluacion?

Whersore we ought to gyue the more hede to the thynges we haue herde leest we perysshe. For yf the worde whyche was spoken by aungels, was stedfast: so that euery transgression and disobedience receyued a iust recompence of rewarde, howe shall we escape, yf we despyse so greate saluacion, whyche at the fyrst began to be preached of the Lorde hym selfe, and afterwarde was confermed vpon vs, by them that herde it, God bearynge wytnesse therto, both with tokens and wonders also, and with dyuers myracles and gyftes of the holy goost, accordynge to his owne wyll.

4 If the despysers of Moses were so greuously punysshed, what shal become of them that make a mocke of Christe.

For he hath not vnto the Aungels put in subiection the worlde to come, wherof we speake. But one in a certayne place wytnessed, sayenge. What is man, that thou arte myndefull of hym? or the sonne of man that thou hast vysyted hym? Thou madest hym lower for a season then the aungels: thou crownedst hym with honour and glorye, and hast set hym aboue the workes of thy handes.

B Psal. viii. f

Thou hast put all thinges in subiection vnder his feete. In that he put all thynges vnder him, he left nothynge that is not put vnder hym. Neuerthelesse we yet se not all thynges subdued, but hym that was made lesse then the aungels, we se that it was Jesus, whyche is crowned with glorye and honoure for the suffrynge of deathe: that he by the grace of God, shoulde taste of deathe for all men.

C

For it became hym, for whome are all thynges, and by whome are all thynges, after that he hadde broughte many sonnes vnto glory, that he shoulde make the Lorde of their saluacion perfecte thorowe suffrynge. For he that sanctifieth, and they whyche are sanctified, are all of one. For whyche cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren, sayenge: D * I will declare thy name vnto my brethren, and in the myddes of the congregacion wyll I prayse the. And agayn: I will put my trust in hym. And agayne: * beholde here am I, e the children whyche God hath gyuen me.

* Psal. xxii. a

* Psal. xviii. a

For as moche then as the children were partakers of fleshe and bloude, he also hym selfe lykewyse toke parte with them, to put downe thorowe deathe, hym that hadde rule ouer deathe, that is to saye the deuyll, f that he myghte deliuer them, whyche thorowe feare of deathe were duringe their bole lyfe in daunger of bondage. For he in no place taketh on hym the aungels: but the seed of Abraham taketh he on hym. Wherfore in all thinges it became hym to be made lyke vnto his brethren, that he myght be mercyfull, and a faythfull hyghpreest in thynges concernynge God, to pourge the peoples synnes. For in that he hym selfe suffered and was tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

Esaye. viii. b.

Ose. xiii. d.

The exhorteth vs to be obedyent vnto the new lawe, whyche Christe hathe gyuen vs, and not to be offended at the infyrmyte and lowe degree of Christe, because it was necessarye, that for oure sakes, he shulde take suche an humble state vpon hym, that he myghte be lyke vnto his brethren.

CAPI. II.

The requyreth vs to be obedyent vnto the worde of Christe, whyche is more worthye then Moses. The punyshment of suche as wyll nedes harden their hertes.

CAPI. III.

A Therefore holy brethren, partetakers of the heuenly callynge, consyder the embassadour and hyghe prest of our profession Christ Jesus, which was faithfull to him that made him, euen as was Moses in al his house. For this man is so moch more worthy of glorye then Moses as he that buyldeth an howse is more worthy then the house selfe. Numer. xii. b

For euery house is prepared of some mā. But he that ordeyned all thinges, is God. And B Moses verely was faithfull in all his house, as a minister, to beare witnesse of those thinges which shulde be spoken afterwarde. But Christ, as a sonne, hath rule ouer the house (whose house are we) so that we hold fast the confidence and the reioysynge of that hope, vnto the ende. Psal. xciiii. a.

Wherfore as the holy ghost sayth: to daye yf ye shall heare his voyce, harden not youre hertes, after the rebellion in the daye of temptation in the wyldernes, where your fathers temted me, proued me, and sawe my workes xl. yere longe. Wherfore I was greued with that generacion, and sayde. They streye euer C in their hertes: they haue not knowen my wayes, so that I sware in my wrathe, that they shulde not enter into my rest. Take hede (brethren) that there be in none of you an euyll herte in vnbeleife, that he shulde departe frome the lyuynge God: but exhorte one an other daylye, whyle it is called to daye, least eny of you were harde herted thorow the deceytfulnesse of synne.

We are partetakers of Christ yf we kepe sure vnto the ende the ✠ first foundation, so longe as it is sayde: to daye yf ye heare his voyce, harden not your hertes, as when ye rebelled. For some, when they hearde dyd rebelle: howbeit not all that came out of Egypte vnder Moses. But with whome was he displeased xl. yeres? Was he not displeased with them that synned, whose carkeises were ouerthrowen in the wyldernesse? To whome sware he that they shulde not enter into his rest: but vnto them that beleued not? And we se that they coulde not enter in, because of vnbeleife. ✠ First foundacion is faith. D

¶ The Sabboth or rest of the Christen: punyshments of vnbeleuers: the nature of the worde of God.

CAPI. IIII.

LEt vs feare therfore least any of vs forsakinge the promes of entringe into his rest, shulde seme to come behynde. For vnto vs was it declared, as well as vnto them. But it profited not them in that they herde ✠ worde, because they which herde it, coupled it not with ✠ faith. But we which haue beleued, do enter into his rest, as contrarye wyse he sayth to the other, ✠ I haue sworne in my wrathe, they shall not enter into my rest. And that spake he verely longe after that the workes were made and the foundacion of the worlde layde. For he spake in a certayne place of the seuenth daye, on this wyse: And God ✠ dyd rest the seuenth daye from all his workes. And in this place agayne: They shal not come into my rest. ✠ The fayth is the grounde of all grace wherin stands vnbeleife the rote of all synne. ✠ Psal. xcv. b. B

Seynge therfore it foloweth that some muste enter therevnto, and they to whome it was first preached entred not therin for their vnbeleife: Agayne he appointed in Dauid a certayne present daye after so longe a tyme, sayeng as it is rehersed: this daye yf ye heare his voyce, harden not herde hertes. For yf Josue had gruen them rest, then wolde he not afterwarde haue spoken of an other daye. There remaynyth therfore yet a rest to the people of God. For he that is entred into his rest, hath ✠ ceasse frome his owne workes, as God dyd frome his. L ✠ Synne cure workes, frome which all must rest that entre to the rest of a quyet conscience in Christ. C

Let vs study therfore to enter into that rest, least any man fall after the same exemple, into vnbeleife. For the worde of God is quicke, and myghtye in operacion, and sharper then any two edge sworde: and entreth throughe, euen vnto the dyuidinge a sonder of the soule and the spirite, and of the ioyntes and the mary: and iudgeth the thoughtes and the ententes of the herte: neyther is there any creature vnmanifest in the sighte of him. For all thinges are naked and bare vnto the eyes of hym, of whome we speake. D Eccles. xxi. Psal. xxxiii.

¶ Christe is euer hyghe preste, and state of grace, and more excellente then the hyghe prestes of the olde lawe.

CAPI. V.

SEynge then that we haue a greate hyghe Preste, whyche is entred into heauen, (I meane Jesus the sonne of God) let vs holde our profession. For we haue not an high preest, which can not haue compassion on our infirmities: but was in all poynctes tempted lyke as we are: but yet without synne. Let vs therfore go boldely vnto the seate of grace that we maye receyue mercy, and synde grace to helpe in tyme of nede. A

✠ For euery hyghe preest taken out of men is ordeyned for men, in thinges pertaynynge to God: to offer gyftes & sacrifices for synne: whiche can haue compassion on the ignorante, and on them that are out of the waye, because he him selfe also is compased with infirmitie: and for this infirmities sake he is bounde to offer for synnes, as well for his owne part, as for the peoples. And no man taketh honour vnto him selfe, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

Euen so likewyse, Christ glorified not him selfe, to be made the hyghe preest: but he that sayde vnto him: ✠ Thou arte my sonne, this daye begate I the, glorifyed him. As he also in an other place speaketh: ✠ Thou arte a preest for euer, after the order of Melchisedech. ✠ B 1. Par. xvii. b Psalm. ii. b Psalm. cx. d

Which ✠ in the dayes of his flesshe, dyd offer vp prayers and supplications, with stronge cryenge and teares vnto him that was able to saue him frome death and was also herde, because of his godlynes. And thoughe he ✠ The daye of his flesshynesse, is ment of his humanyte. were were Gods sonne, yet lerned he obedience, by tho thinges whiche he suffred, and was made perfect, and the cause of euerlastinge saluacio vnto all them that obeye him: and is called of God an hyghe preest, after the ordre of Melchisedech.

D Whereof we haue many thynges to saye, whiche are harde to be vttered: because ye are dull of hearynge. For when as concernynge
the tyme, ye oughte to be teachers, yet haue ye nede agayne, that we teache you the firste principles of the worde of God: and are become suche as haue nede of mylke, and not of stronge meat: for euery man that is fed with mylke, is vnskylfull of the worde of rygh-teousnesse. For he is but a babe. But stronge meate belongeth to theym that are perfecte, which thorow custome haue their wyttes exercised, to iudge bothe good and euyll.

¶ He goeth forth with the thynge that he began in the latter ende of the .v. chapter and exhorteth them not to fayne, but to be stedfaste and patient: seinge God is sure in his promyse.

CAPI. VI.

THerfore leauynge the worme pertaynynge to the begynninge of a Christen man, let vs mount vnto perfection, and layeng no more the foundacion of repentaunce frome deed workes, & of faith towarde God, of baptysmes, of warme, and of layenge on of handes, and of resurrection frome death and of eternall iudgement. And so will we d, yf God permitte. For it is not possible that they which were ones lyghted, and haue tasted of the heauenly gyft, and were become partetakers of the holy ghost, and haue tasted of the good worde of God, and of the power of the worlde to come: yf they fall, shulde be renued agayne vnto repentaunce, crucifyenge vnto them selues agayne the sonne of God & ma-kinge a mocke of him.

B For that earth which drynketh in the rayne that commeth ofte vpon it, and bryngeth forth herbes conuenient for theym that dresse it, receyueth blessinge of God. But that grounde whiche beareth thornes and bryars, is repro-ued, and nyghe vnto cursynge: whose ende is C to be burned. Neuertheles (deare frendes)
we trust to se better of you, and thinges whiche accompany saluacion, thoughe we thus speake. For God is not vnrighteous that he shulde forget youre worke and laboure that procedeth of loue, whiche ye shewed in his name, who haue ministred vnto the sayntes, and yet ministre. Yea, we desyre that euery one of you shewe the same diligence, to the stablysshynge of hope, euen vnto the ende: y
ye sayntes not, but folowe them, which thor-ow faith and pacyence inherite the promises.

For when God made promes to Abraham:
D because he hadde no greater thinge to sweare Gene. xxii.c by, he sware by him selfe, sayenge: Surely I will blesse the and multiplie the in dede. And so after that he hadde tarryed a longe tyme, he enioyed the promes. For men sweare by him that is greater then them selues, and an othe for confirmacion is amonge them an ende of all stryfe. So God willinge more abounddauntly to shewe vnto the heyres of promes,
the stablenes of his counsayle, added an othe that by two * immutable thinges (in which it was impossible that God shulde lye) we myght haue perfect consolacion, whiche haue fled, for to holde fast the hope that is set before vs, whiche we haue as an ancre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and entrynge in,
into tho thinges which are within the vayle,
into whiche the forerunner is entred in, I meane Iesus that is made an hyghe preest for euer, after the ordre of Melchisedech.

* Two immutable thinges: the promyse and the othe.

¶ He compareth the preesthode of Christ vnto Melchisedech, but to be farre more excellent.

CAP. VII.

THis Melchisedech, kynge of Salem, 2 (whiche beynge Preest of the moste Genes. xiiii.b. hyghe God, met Abraham, as he returned frome the slaughter of the kynges, and blessed hym: to whome also Abraham gaue tythes of all thynges) firste is by interpretacion kynge of righteousnesse: after that he is kynge of Salem, that is to saye, kynge of peace: without father without mother, without kynne, and hathe neyther begynnynge of his dayes, neyther yet ende of his lyfe: but is lykened vnto the sonne of God, and contynueth a preest for euer. Consyder what a ma this was vnto whome the Patriarke Abraha gaue tythes of the spoyles. And verely thole children of Leui, whiche receyue the office of the preestes, haue a commaundement to take accordynge to the lawe, tythes of the people that is to saye, of their brethren, yea thoughe they sprange out of the loynes of Abraham. But he whose kynred is not counted amonge them receyued tythes of Abraham, and blessed hym that hadde the promyses. And with- 7 out all gaynsayenge, he which is lesse, receyueth blessynge of him which is greatest. And here men that dye, receyue tythes. But there he receyueth tythes of whome it is witnessed, that he liueth. And to saye the truthe, I cuy hym selfe also whiche receyueth tythes, payed tythes in Abraham. For he was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchisedech met him.

If nowe therfore perfection came by the preesthode of the Leuytes (for vnder that preesthode the people receyued the lawe) what nede it further more that an other preest shulde arise, after the ordre of Melchisedech, and not after the ordre of Aaron? For yf the preesthode be translated, then of necessitie must the lawe be translated also.

For he of whome these thynges are spoken, pertayneth vnto an other tribe, of wh-che neuer man serued at the aulter. For it is euidente that our Lorde sprange of the tribe of Iuda, of whiche tribe, Moses spake no-thinge concernynge preesthode. And it is yet a C more euydent thinge, yf after the lykenes of Melchisedech there aryse an other preest, whiche is not made after the lawe of the carnall commaundment: but after the power of the endelesse lyfe. (For he testifyeth: * Thou arte a preest for ever, after the ordre of Melchisedech). Then the commaundment that went afore, is disanulled, because of her weakenes, and unprofytablenes. For the lawe made nothinge perfect: but was an introduccement of a better hope, by whiche, we drawe nyghe unto God. * Psal. cix. c

And for this cause it is a better hope, that it was not promysed without an othe. For those preestes were made without othe, but this preest with an othe, by him that sayth unto hym. The Lorde swore, and will not repent: Thou arte a preest for ever after the ordre of Melchisedech. And for that cause was Jesus a suretysshep of a better testament. D

And amonge theym many were made preestes, because they were not suffred to endure by the reason of deth. But this man, because he endureth ever, hath an everlastynge preesthode. Wherfore he is able also ever to save theym that come unto God by hym, for as moche as he ever lyveth, to make intercession for us.

For suche an hyghe preest it became us to have whiche is holy, harmelesse, undefyled, severed fro me synners, and made hygher then heaven. Which needeth not daylye (as ye hyghe preestes) to offer up sacrifices fyrste for his owne synnes, & then for the peoples synnes. For that dyd he ones for all, when he offred up hym selfe. For the lawe maketh me preestes, whiche have infirmitees: but the worde of the othe that came sythens the lawe maketh the sonne preest, which is perfect for evermore. Christ made sacrificed for all sinnes

¶ The office of Christe is more worthye then the preestes office of the olde lawe, whiche was imperfect, and therfore abrogate.

CAPI. VIII.

Of the thinges whiche we have spoken this is the pyth: that we have suche a hyghe preest that is sytten on the ryghthand of the seate of majestie in heaven, and is a minister of holy thinges, and of the very tabernacle whiche God pyght, and not manne. A
For every hyghe preest is ordeyned to offer gyftes and sacrifices: wherfore it is of necessitie that this man have somwhat also to offer. For if he were not a Preest, yf he were on the earthe where preestes are that accordynge to the lawe offer gyftes, who serve unto the exemple and shadowe of heavenly thinges: even as the answer of God was gyven unto Moses when he was about to fynysshe the tabernacle. Take heede (sayth he) that thou make all thynges accordynge to the patrone shewed to the in the mount. Exodi. xxv. b. B

But nowe hath he obteyned a more excellent office, in as moche as he is mediatour of a better testament, which was made for better promyses. For yf that fyrst testament had bene faultelesse: then shulde no place have bene sought for the seconde. For in rebukinge them he sayth: * Beholde the dayes will come, (sayth the Lorde) and I will fynysshe upon the house of Israel, and upon the house of Juda, a newe testament: not lyke the testament that I made with their fathers at that tyme, when I toke theym by the handes, to leade theym out of the lande of Egypte, for they continued not in my testament, and I regarded them not, sayth the Lorde. Jerem. xxxi. C

For this is the testament that I will make with the house of Israel: After those dayes, sayth the Lorde, I wil put my lawes in their myndes, and in their hertes I will write the, and I wyll be their God, and they shall be my people. And they shall not teache, every man his neyghboure, and every man his brother, sayenge: Knowe the Lorde: for they shall knowe me, fromthe least to the moste of them: For I will be mercyfull over their unrighteousnesse, and on their synnes and on their iniquities. In that he sayth a new testament, he hathe disanulled the olde. Nowe D which is disanulled and waxed olde, is redye to vanysshe awaye.

¶ The profyte and worthynes of the olde Testament and how farre the newe excelleth it.

CAPI. IX.

That fyrste tabernacle therfore hadde ordynaunces, and servynges of God, and worldelye holynesse. + * For there was a fore tabernacle made, wherin was the candelsticke and the table, and the shewbred which is called holy. But with in the seconde vayle was there a tabernacle, whiche is called the holy of holyes, whiche hadde the golden censer and the arche of the testament overlayde roundeaboute with golde, wherein was the golden pot with Manna, and Aarons rodde that sprange, and the tables of the testament. Over the arche were the Cherubins of glory, shadowynge the seate of grace. Of whiche thinges we will not now speake particularly. A * Exo. xxvi. and xxxvii.

When these thinges were thus ordeyned, the preestes went alwayes into the fyrst tabernacle and executed the service of God. But into the seconde went the hyghe preest alone, ones a yere: and not without bloude, whiche he offered for him selfe, and for the ignorances of the people. Wherby the holy ghost this signified that the waye of holy thinges, was not yet opened, whyle as yet the fyrste tabernacle was standynge. Whiche was a similitude for the tyme then present, and in whiche were offered gyftes and sacrifices that coulde not make the minister perfect, as pertayning to the conscience with only meates, drynkes, and dyvers washynges and ordynynges of the flesshe, which were ordeyned tyll the tyme of reformacion. C

+ But Christ beynge hyghe preest of good thynges to come, came by a greatter & a more perfecte tabernacle, not made with handes: that is to saye, not of this maner buyldinge, neyther by the bloude of goates and calves: but

D but by his owne bloude he entred in, ones for all into the holy place, and founde eternall redemption. ☞ For yf the bloude of oxen and of gotes, and the asshes of an heyfer, when it was sprynkled, purifyed the vncleane, as touchinge the purifyenge of the flesshe: how moche more shall the bloude of Christ (which the thorowe the eternall spirite, offered hym selfe without spot to God) purge your consciences from ded workes, to serue the lyuynge God?

And for this cause is he mediator of the newe testament, that thorowe death which chaunced for the redemption of those transgressions that were in the firste Testament, they which were called, myghte receyue the promyse of eternall inheritaunce. ☞ For E where so euer is a testament, there must also be the death of hym that maketh the testamēt. For the testament taketh auctorite when men are ded: for it is of no value as longe as he that made it, is a lyue. For whiche cause also neyther the firste testamēt was ordeyned without bloude. For when all the commaundmētes were redde of Moses to all the people, he toke the bloude of calues and of gotes, with water and purple, woolle and yssope, & sprynkled bothe the boke, and all the people, sayenge: * This is the bloude of the testamente which God hath appointed vnto you. Moreouer, he sprenkled the tabernacle with bloud also, and all the ministringe vessels. And also almoste all thinges, are by the lawe pourged with bloude, and without sheddynge of bloude is no remission.

It is then nede that the resemblaunces of heauenlye thynges, be purifyed with suche thinges: but the heauenly thynges them selues are purifyed with better sacrifyces then are those. For Christe is not entred into the holy places that are made with handes, whiche are but figures of true thynges: but is entred into very heauen, to appeare now in the sight of God for vs: not to offer hym selfe often, as the hyghe preest entreth into the holy place euery yere with straunge bloude, for the muste he haue often suffred frome the begynnynge of the worlde. But nowe in the ende of the worlde, hathe he appeared ones, to put synne to flyghte, by the offeringe vp of hym selfe: And as it is appoynted vnto men that they shall ones dye, and then commeth the iudgement, * euen so Christe was ones offered to take awaye the synnes of many, and vnto them that looke for hym, he shall appeare agayne without synne vnto saluation.

¶ The olde lawe hadde no power to clense awaye synne: but Christe dyd it with offeringe of his bodye ones for all. In exhortacion to receiue this goodnesse of God, thankfullye, with perseuer, and stedfaste faythe.

CAPI. X.

H For the lawe hauynge the shadowe of good thinges to come, and not the thynges in their owne fashion can neuer with the sacrifices whiche they offer yere by yere continually, make the commers thervnto perfect. For wolde not then those sacrifices haue ceased to haue bene offered, because that the offerers beynge ones pourged shulde haue had no more conscience of synnes. Neuertheles in those sacrifices is there mencyon made of synnes euery yere. * For it is impossible that the bloude of oxen and of gotes shuld take awaye synnes. * Leuit. xvi.c

Wherfore when he commeth into the worlde, he sayethe. * Sacrifice and offeringe thou wouldest not haue: but a body hast thou ordeyned me. In sacrifices and synneofferynges thou hast no lust. Then I sayde: Loo I come, in the chefest of the boke it is written of me, that I shulde do thy will, O God. Above, when he had sayde sacrifice and offeryng, and burnt sacrifices, and synneofferynges thou wouldest not haue, neyther hast allowed (whiche yet are offered by the lawe) and then sayde: Loo I come to do thy will, O God: he taketh awaye the firste to stablysshe the latter. By whiche will, we are sanctifyed: by the offeryng of the body of Jesu Christ ones for all. D * psal. xxxix.b. Christes bodye is but ones offered.

And euery preest is redy dayly ministringe, and ofte tymes offereth one maner of offringe whiche canne neuer take awaye synnes. But this Christ after he hadde offered one sacrifyce for synnes, sate hym downe for euer on the ryghte hande of God, frome henceforthe tarryeth tyll his ennemyes be made his foote stoole. For with one offeringe hathe he made perfect for euer them that are sanctifyed. And the holy ghost also beareth vs recorde of this, euen when he tolde before: * This is the testament that I will make vnto them: after those dayes, sayeth the Lorde. I will put my lawes in their hertes and in their mynde I will wryte them, and their synnes and wyckednesses will I remember no more. And where remission of these thynges is, there is no more offeringe for synne. E Psalm. x * Hebr. viii.f

Seynge brethren that by the meanes of the bloude of Jesu, we may be bolde to enter into that holy place, by the newe and lyuynge waye which he hath prepared for vs, through the vayle, that is to saye, by his flesshe, And seynge also we haue an hyghe preste whyche is ruler ouer the house of God, let vs drawe nyghe with a true herte in a full fayth, sprinkled in oure hertes frome an euyll conscience, and washed in our bodyes with pure water: and let vs kepe the profession of oure hope, withoute wauerynge (for he is faythfull that promysed) and let vs consyder one an other, to prouoke vnto charite, and to good workes: and let vs not forsake the felawshyppe that we haue amonge oure selues, as the maner of some is: but let vs exhorte one an other, and that so moche the more, because ye se that the daye drawith nyghe. F

For yf we synne willyngly after that we haue receyued the knowledge of the truthe, there remayneth no more sacrifyce for synnes, but a fearefull lokynge for iudgement, and violent fyre, whiche shall deuoure the aduersaries. He that dispyseth Moises lawe, dyeth without mercy vnder two or three witnesses.

How moche sore punyshment suppose ye, shall he be counted worthye, whiche treadeth vnder fote the sonne of God: and counteth the bloude of the testament as an vnholy thinge wherewith he was sanctified, and hath dishonoure to the spirite of grace. For we knowe hym that hath sayde: * Vengeaunce belongeth vnto me, I will recompence sayethe the Lorde. And agayne: the Lorde shall iudge his people. It is a fearfull thinge to fal into the handes of the liuynge God.

Call to remembraunce the dayes that are passed, in whyche after ye had receyued light, ye endured a great fyght in aduersities, partly whyle all men wondred and gased at you for the shame and tribulacion that was done vnto you, and partly, whyle ye became companions of them whych so passed their tyme. For ye suffered also with my bondes, and toke in good worthe the spoylynge of your goodes, and that with gladnesse: knowinge in youre selues that ye hadde in heauen a better and an enduringe substaunce. Cast not awaye therfore youre confidence whiche hath greate rewarde to recompence. * For ye haue nede of pacience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye myght receyue the promyse. For yet a verye litell whyle, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tarye. But the iuste shall lyue by faith. And yf he withdrawe hym selfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him. We are not they whiche withdrawe our selues vnto damnation, but we appertayne to faith, to the wynnynge of the soule.

¶ What faith is, and a commendacion of the same. The olde fathers in olde tyme.

CAPI. XI.

FAith is a sure confydence of thynges whiche are hoped for, and a certaynte of thinges whiche are not seene. By it the elders were well reported. * Thorowe faith we vnderstande that the worlde was ordeyned by the worde of God, and that thinges whiche are seene, were made of thinges which are not seene.

* By faith Abell offered vnto God a more plenteous sacrifice then Cayn: by whiche he obteyned wytnesse that he was righteous, God testifienge of his giftes: by whiche also he beynge dead, yet speaketh.

* By faith was Enoch translated that he shoulde not se deathe: neyther was he founde: for God hadde taken hym awaye. Before he was taken awaye, he was reported, that he hadde pleased God: wherout without faith it is impossible to please hym. For he that commeth to God, muste beleue that God is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seke hym.

* By faith, Noe honoured God, after he was warned of thynges which were not seene and prepared the arcke to the sauynge of his housholde, thorow which, he condemned the worlde, and became heyre of the righteousnes of faith.

* By faith, Abraham, when he was called, obeyed, to go out into a place, whiche he shoulde afterwarde receyue to inheritaunce, and he went out, not knowynge whether he shulde go.

By faythe, he remoued into the lande that was promysed hym, as into a straunge countrey, and dwelte in tentes: and so dyd Isaac and Jacob, heyres with hym of the same promyse. For he looked for a cyte hauynge a foundacion, whose buylder, and maker, is God.

* Thorowe faythe, Sara also receyued strength to be with chylde, and was deliuered of a chylde, when she was paste age, because she iudged hym faythfull whiche hadde promysed.

And therfore sprange there, of one whyche was as good as dead, so many in multytude, as the starres of the skye, and as the sonde of the see shore which is innumerable.

And they all dyed in faythe, and receyued not the promyses: but sawe them a farre of, and beleued theym, and saluted theym: and confessed that they were straungers and pylgrymes on the earthe. They that saye suche thynges, declare that they seke a countrey. Also yf they hadde bene myndefull of that countrey, frome whence they came out, they hadde leasure to haue returned agayne: but now they desyre a better, that is to saye an heauenly. Wherfore God is not ashamed of them, but to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a cyte.

By faith, Abraham offered vp Isaac, whe he was tempted, and he offered hym beynge his onely begotten sonne, whyche hadde receyued the promyses of whome it was sayde, * In Isaac shall thy seed be called: for he consydered that God was able, to raise vp agayne frome deathe. Therfore receyued he hym, for an exemple.

* In faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau, concernynge thynges to come.

* By faythe, Jacob when he was a dyenge, blessed bothe the sonnes of Joseph, and bowed hym selfe towarde the toppe of his scepter.

* By faythe, Joseph when he dyed, remembred the departynge of the chyldren of Israel, and gaue commaundement of his bones.

* By faith, Moises when he was borne, was hyd three monethes of his father and mother, because they sawe he was a proper chylde: neyther feared they the kynges commaundement.

By faith, Moises when he was great, refused to be called the son of Pharaos daughter, and chose rather to suffre aduersite with the people of God, than to enioye the pleasures of synne for a season, and esteemed the rebuke of Christe, greater ryches then the treasure of Egypte. For he had respect vnto the rewarde.

By faith

By faythe, he forsoke Egypte, and feared not the fearcenesse of the kynge. For he endured euen as he hadde sene him whiche is inuisible.

* Thorowe faythe, he ordeyned the easter lambe, and the effusion of bloud, least he that destroyed the fyrste borne, shoulde touche theym.

* By faythe, they passed thorowe the reed see, as by dyre lande, whyche when the Egyptians hadde assayed to do, they were drowned.

* By faythe, the walles of Jerico fell downe after they were compased about seuen dayes.

* By faythe, the harlot Raab perysshed not with the vnbeleuers, when she had receyued the spyes to lodgynge peasably.

And what shal I more say, the tyme wold fayle me to tell of Gedeon, of Barach, and of Sampson, and of Jephthae: also of Dauid and Samuel, and of the Prophetes: + Whiche thorowe faythe subdued kyngdomes wrought rygh teousnes, obteyned the promysses, stopped the mouthes of lyons, quenched the violence of fyre, escaped the edge of the swerde, of weake were made stronge, waxed valiaunt in fight, turned to flight the armyes of the aliantes. And the women receyued their dead raysed to lyfe agayne.

Other were racked, and wolde not be delyuered, that they myght receyue a better resurrection. Other tasted of mockynges and scourgynges, moreouer of bondes and pryson-ment: were stoned, were hewe a sonder, were tempted, were slayne with swerdes, walked vp and downe, in shepes shynnes, in gootes shynnes, in nede, tribulation, and veration, which the worlde was not worthye of: they wandred in wyldernes, in mountaynes, in dennes and caues of the earthe.

And these all, thorowe faythe, obtayned good reporte, + and receyued not the promes, God prouydynge a better thynge for vs, that they without vs shoulde not be made perfecte.

¶ An exhortation to be patient and stedfast in trouble and aduersite, vpon hope of euerlasting reward. A commendation of the newe Testament aboue the olde.

CAPI. XII.

Wherfore let vs also (seynge we are compased with so great a multitude of witnesses,) laye awaye all that pressyth downe, and the synne that hangeth on, and let vs runne with patience vnto the battayle that is set before vs, lokynge vnto Jesus the auctor and fynysher of oure faythe, whiche for the ioye that was set before hym, abode the crosse, and despysed the shame, and is set downe on the ryghthonde of the trone of god. Consyder therfore, howe he endured suche speakynge agaynste hym of synners, least ye shoulde be weryed and faynte in youre myndes. For ye haue not yet resysted vnto bloudsheddynge, stryuynge agaynste synne. And haue forgotten the consolacion, whyche speaketh vnto you, as vnto chyldren: my sonne despyse not the chastenynge of the Lorde, neyther faynte when thou arte rebuked of him: for whome the Lorde loueth, hym he chastyseth: yea, and he scourgeth euery sonne that he receyueth.

Yf ye endure chastenynge, God offreth him selfe vnto you as vnto sonnes. What sonne is that whome the father chastyseth not? Yf ye be not vnder correction (whereof all are partetakers) then are ye bastardes and not sonnes. Wherfore seynge we had fathers of oure flesshe whiche corrected vs, and we gaue them reuerence: shulde we not moche rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirituall gyftes that we myght lyue? And they verely for a fewe dayes, nurtred vs after their owne pleasure: but he learneth vs vnto that which is profytable, that we myghte receyue of his holynesse. No manor chastysynge for the present tyme semeth to be ioyous, but greuous: but afterwarde it bringeth the quyet fruite of righewysnes, vnto them which are exercised in the same.

Stretche forthe therfore agayne the handes whiche were let downe, and the weake knees, and se ye haue strayghte steppes vnto your fete, least any halteynge turne you out of the waye: yea let it rather be healed. Embrace peace with all men and holynes: without whiche no man shall se the Lorde. And loke, that no man be destitute of the grace of God, and that no rote of bitternes sprynge vp and trouble, and therby many be defyled: and that there be no fornicator, or vncleane person, as Esau, which for one breakfast sold his byrthrighte. Ye knowe howe that afterwarde when he wolde haue inherited the blessyng, he was put by, and he founde no meanes to come therby agayne: no though he desyred it with teares.

For ye are not come vnto the mounte that can be touched, and vnto burnynge fyre nor yet to myst and darkenes and tempest of weder, neyther vnto the sounde of a trompe and the voyce of wordes: whiche they that herde it, wysshed awaye: that the communication shulde not be spoken to them. For they were not able to abyde, that was spoken. Yf a beast hadde touched the mountayne, it muste haue bene stoned, or thruste thorowe with a darte: euen so terrible was the sight whiche appeared. Moses sayde, I feare and quake. But ye are come vnto the mount Syon, and to the cytie of the lyuynge God, the heauenly Jerusalem: and to an innumerable syghte of aungels, and vnto the congregacion of the first borne sonnes, whiche are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spyrites of iust and perfect men, and to Jesus the mediator of the newe Testament, and to the sprynklynge of bloude that speaketh better, then the bloude of Abel.

See ye despyse not hym that speaketh. For yf they escape not whiche refused hym that spake on earthe: moche more shall we not es-

CAPI. I.

1 IAmes seruaunt of God, and of the Lorde Iesu Christ, sendeth greetyng to the twelue tribes which are scattered abrode. ✣ My brethren, count it exceadynge ioye, when ye fall in to diuers temptacions, knowynge that the tryinge of your fayth bryngeth pacience, 3 let pacience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect and sounde, lackynge nothynge.

☞ If any of you lacke wysdome, let hym aske of God, which giueth to al men indifferently and casteth no man in the teeth: and it shalbe giuen him. But let him aske in fayth and wauer not. For he that doubteth is like the waues of the see, toss of the wynde, & caryed with violence. Neither let that man thynke he shal receyue any thynge of the Lorde. 8 A wauerynge mynded man, is vnstable in all his wayes.

9 Let the brother of low degre, reioyce in that he is exalted, and the ryche, in that he is made low. For euen as the flower of the grasse shal he vanysshe awaye. The sonne ryseth with heate, and the grasse wydereth, and his floure falleth awaye, and the beautie of the fashion of it perysheth: euen so shall the ryche man perysshe with his abundaunce.

Iames.i.c Mayt.5.d

12 Happy is the man that endureth in temptacion, for when he is tryed, he shall receyue the crowne of lyfe, whiche the Lorde hathe promysed to them that loue hym. ✣

13 Let no man say when he is temted, that he is temted of God. For God is not temted of euyls, neither temteth he any man. But euery man is temted, whyle he is drawne awaye
☾ and allured of his owne lust: 15 Then whē lust hath conceyued, she bringeth forth synne and synne whē it is fynished, bringeth forth deth.

16 Be not deceiued my dere brethren. ✣ Euery good gyft, and euery perfect gift, is frō aboue, and commeth downe from the father of lyghtes, with whome is no variablenes, neither is he chaunged vnto darkenes. 18 Of his owne wil begat he vs w the worde of truth, that we shold be the first frutes of his creatures.

Prou.xvii.d. ☞ D

19 Wherfore (dere brethren) let euery man be swyfte to heare, slowe to speake, and slowe to wrathe. For the wrathe of man worketh not that which is righteous before God.

21 Wherfore laye aparte all fylthynes, al superfluitie of malicyousnes, and receyue with mekenes the worde that is graffed in you, whiche is able to saue your soules. ✣ ✣ 22 And be ye the doers of the worde, and not hearers only, deceiuyng your owne selues with sophestry. For yf any heare the worde, and do it not, be is lyke vnto a man that beholdeth his bodyly face in a glasse. 24 For as soone as he hath beheld him selfe, he goeth his awaye, and forgetteth forthwith what his facion was. But who so looketh in the perfect lawe of libertye, and continueth therin (yf he be not a forgetful heaerer but a doer of the worke) the same shall be happy in his dede.

Religyon or deuocion.

26 If any man amonges you seme deuoute, & refrayne not his tonge, but deceyue his owne hert, this mans deuocion is in vayne. 27 Pure deuocion and vndefyled before God the father, is this: to vysyte the fatherlesse and wydowes in their aduersitie, and to kepe hym selfe vnspotted of the worlde. ✣

¶ He forbiddeth to haue respecte of persons, but to regarde the poore as well as the ryche, to be louyng and mercyfull, and not to bosse of fayth where no workes are: for it is but a dead fayth, where good workes followe not.

CAPI. II. ✣

1 BRethren, se ye haue not the fayth of our Lorde Iesu Christ the Lorde of glorye in respect of persons. Yf there come in to your company a man with a golden ryng, and in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vyle rayment, and ye haue a respect to him that weareth the gaye clothyng, and saye vnto him. Syt thou here in a good place: and saye vnto the poore, Stande thou there or syt here vnder my fotestole: are ye not partiall in your selues, and haue iudged after cuyll thoughtes.

Leuitic.xix.c Deutero.i.d Prouer.xxiiii.c Eccle.xiii.a

5 Harken (my dere beloued brethren.) Hathe not God chosen the poore of the worlde, whiche are ryche in fayth, and heyres in the kyngdome whiche he promysed to them that loue him? 6 But ye haue despysed the poore. Are not the ryche they whiche oppresse you, and they whiche drawe you before iudges? 7 Do not they speake cuyll of that good name after whiche ye be named?

Le.xix.d.18 Deute.vi.d.5

8 Yf ye fulfyll the royall lawe accordyng to the scripture whiche sayth. Thou shalte loue thyne neighbour as thy selfe, ye do well. 9 But if ye regarde one person more then an other, ye commit synne, and are rebuked of the lawe, as trāsgressours. 10 Who so euer shal kepe the hole lawe, and fayle in one poynt, is gylty in all. 11 For he that sayd thou shalt not commit aduoutrey, sayd also: thou shalt not kyll. Thoughe thou do none aduoutrye, yet if thou kyll, thou arte a breaker of the lawe. 12 So speake ye, and so do, as they that shall be iudged by the law of libertie. 13 For mercyles iudgement shall be to hym that sheweth no mercy, and mercy reioyseth agaynst iudgement. ✣

14 What auayleth it (my brethren) thoughe a man say he hath fayth, when he hath no workes? Can fayth saue him? 15 Yf a brother or a syster be naked, or destitute of dayly fode, 16 and one of you saye vnto them: departe in peace, God strengthen you, warmeth and fode: notwithstandynge ye geue them not tho thynges which are needful to the body: what helpeth it? 17 Euen so, fayth, yf it haue no dedes is dead in it selfe.

But

But a man wyl saye: thou hast fayth, and I haue dedes: shewe me thy fayth by thy dedes, and I wil shewe the my fayth by my dedes. Beleuest thou that there is one God? Thou dost well. The deuyls also beleue and tremble.

Gene. xxii. b. God workes proceedyng of a feythfull harte declare our iustifica- tion before god.

Wilt thou vnderstande, o thou vayne man that fayth without dedes is dede? Was not Abraham our father iustified thorow workes, when he offered Isaac his sonne vpon the aulter? Thou seest that fayth wrought with his dedes, and thorough the dedes was the fayth made perfect, and the scripture was fulfylled whiche sayth: Abraham beleued God, and it was reputed vnto hym for ryghtousnes, and he was called the frende of God. ✣ Se then that of dedes a man is iustified, and not of fayth onely. Lykewyse also was not Raab the harlot iustified thorow workes, when she receyued the messengers, and sente them oute an other waye? For as the body without the spirite is dede, euen so fayth without dedes is dede. ✣

¶ What good and euyll commeth thorow the tonge. The nature of it may be learned. The difference betwene the wisdome of the Scripture and of the worlde

CAPI. III.

My brethren, let not euery man be a maister, remembryng that we shall receyue the more damnation: for in many thinges we offende all. Yf a man offende not in worde the same is a perfecte man, and able to tame all the body. Beholde we put bittes in to the horses mouthes, that they shold obeye vs, and we turne about all the body. Beholde also the shippes, whiche though they be so greate, and are dryuen of fearce wyndes, yet are they turned about with a very small helme, whyther so euer the violence of the gouernour wil: Euen so the tonge is a lytle membre, and boasteth great thynges.

The tonge.

Beholde, how great a thynge a lytle fyre kyndleth, and the tonge is fyre and a worlde of wickednes. So is the tonge set among our membres, that it defyleth the hole body, and setteth a fyre all that we haue of nature, and is it selfe set a fyre euen of hell.

All the natures of beastes and of byrdes, and of serpentes, and thynges of the see are meked and tamed of the nature of man. But the tong can no man tame. It is an vnruly euyll, full of deedly poyson. Therwith blesse we God the father, and therwith curse we men, which are made after the lykenesse of God. Out of one mouth commeth blessing and cursing. My brethren these thynges ought not so to be. Doth a fountayn send forth at one place, swete water and bytter also? Can ꝑ sygge tree (my brethren) beare olyue beries, or a vyne beare figes? So can no fountayn gyue bothe salt water and freshe also. Yf any man be wyse and endued with lernynge amonges you, let hym shew the workes of his good conuersation in meknes that is coupled with ꝓ wysdome.

Submyt your selues to God, and resyste the deuyll, and he wyll flee from you. Drawe nye to God, and he wyll drawe nye to you. Cleanse youre handes ye synners, and pourge youre hertes ye wauerynge mynded. Suffer afflictions: sorowe ye and wepe. Lette youre laughter be turned to mournynge, and youre ioye to heuynes. Cast downe youre selues before the Lorde, and he shal lyft you vp. Backbyte not one an other, brethre. He that ꝓ backbyteth his brother, and he that mdgeth his brother, backbyteth the lawe, and mdgeth the lawe. But yf thou mdge the lawe, thou arte not a doer of the lawe, but a mdger. There is one lawe gyuer which is able to saue and to destroye. What arte thou that mdgest an other man?

ꝓ He that backbyteth or mdgeth his brother, doth mdge the lawe. Be cause the lawe forbydeth to do so.

Go to now ye that saye: to day and to morow let vs go in to suche a cite, and continue there a yere and by and sell, and wynne: and yet can not tell what shall happen to morow. For what thyng is your lyfe? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a lytle tyme, and then vanysheth away: for that ye ought to saye: yf the Lorde wyll and yf we lyue, let vs doo this or that. But nowe ye reioyce in your bosynges. All suche reioysynge is euyll. Therfore to hym that knoweth how to do good, & doth it not, to hym it is synne.

¶ He threatneth the wicked ryche men, exhorteth vnto patience, to beware of swearing, one to knowledge his faultes to another, one to pray for another and one to laboure to bryng another to the trueth.

CAPI. V.

Go

Ryches. GO to now ye ryche men. Wepe & howle on youre wretchednes that shall come vpon you. Your ryches is corrupt, your garmentes are motheaten. Your golde & youre syluer are cancred, and the rust of them shall be a wytnes vnto you, & shall eate your flesshe
as it were fyre. Ye haue heaped treasure together in your last days: Beholde the hyre of the labourers which haue reped downe youre fel-des (whiche hyre is of you kept backe by gyle)
B crieth: and the cryes of them which haue reped, are entred in to ꝭ eares of the Lorde Sabbaoth. Ye haue lyued in pleasure on the erth, and in wantonnes. Ye haue nourysshed youre hertes, as in a daye of slaughter. Ye haue condemned and haue kylled the iust, and he hath not resysted you.

✝ Be patient therfore (brethren) vnto the commyng of the Lorde. Beholde the husbande man wayteth for the precious frute of the erth,
and hath longe patience therupon, tyll he receyue therely and the latter rayne. Be ye also patient therfore and stable your hertes, for the commyng of the Lorde draweth nye. C Iudge not one agaynst an other (brethren) lest ye be damned. Beholde the iudge standeth before the dore. Take (my brethren) the prophetes for an exemple of suffering aduersite, and of long pa-cience, which spake in the name of the Lord. ✝
Beholde we count them happy which endure.
Ye haue herd of the patience of Job, and haue knowen what ende the Lorde made. For the Lorde is very pitefull and mercifull.

But aboue all thynges my brethren, sweare
D not, neither by heuen, neither by erth, neither by any other othe. Let youre ye be ye, and your naye naye, lest ye fall in to hypocrisye. ✝ any of you be euyll vsed, let him praye. ✝ any of you be merry, let him synge psalmes. ✝ any be diseased among you, let him cal for the elders
of the congregacion, & let them praye ouer him, and anoynt him with oyle in the name of the Lorde, & the prayer of fayth shal saue the sicke, and the Lord shal raise him vp, and if he haue committed synnes, they shalbe forgiuen him.

✝ Knowlege youre faultes one to an other,
and praye one for an other, that ye may be healed. The prayer of a ryghtous man auayleth mooche, yf it be feruent. Helyas was a man subiect vnto like passions as we are, and he prayed in his prayer that it myght not rayne, and it rayned not on the erthe by the space of thre yeres and sixe monethes. And he prayed agayne, and the heuen gaue rayne, and the earthe brought forthe her frute.

Brethren, if any of you stray from the truth
and an other conuert him, let the same know that he which conuerteth the synner from goynge astraye out of his waye, shall saue a soule from death,
and shall hyde the multitude of synnes.

I Johñ youre brother and compaignion in tribulacion, and in the kyngdome and pacyence whiche is in Iesu Christe, was in the yle of Pathmos for the worde of God, and for the wytnesse of Iesu Christe. I was in the spirite on a sondaye, and herde behynde me a great voyce, as it hadde ben of a trompe, sayinge: I am Alpha and Omega, the fyrste and the laste. I knowe thy workes, and thy labour and thy pacience, and how thou canst not forbeare them which are cupll, and examinest them which saye they are Apostles, and are not: and hast founde them lyars, and hatest walcke thy selfe. And hast pacience: and for my names sake hast laboured and hast not fayntcd. Neuertheselle, I haue somwhat agaynst the, for thou hast lefte thy fyrste loue. After this I loked, and beholde a doore was open in heuen, and the fyrst voyce whiche I herde, was as it were of a trompet talkyng with me, which sayd: come vp hyther, and I wyl shewe the thynges whiche must be fulfilled hereafter. And forthwith I was in the spirite: and beholde a seate was put in heuen, and one sate on the seate. And he that sate, was to loke vpon like vnto a iasper stone, and a sardyne stone. And one of the elders sayd vnto me: wepe not: Beholde a lyon of the tryde of Iuda, the roote of Dauid, hathe obteyned to open the boke, and to loose the seuen seales therof. And I beheld, and lo in the myddes of the trone, and of the foure beestes, and in the myddes of the elders stode a lambe as thoughe he hadde ben kylled, whiche had seuen hornes, and seuen eyes, whiche are the spirites of God, sent in to all the worlde. C And when he had taken the boke, the foure beestes and xxiiij. elders fell downe before the lambe, hauynge harpes, and golden vyals full of odours, whiche are the prayers of sayntes, and they songe a new songe, sayng: thou art worthy to take the boke, and to open the seales therof: for thou wast kylled, and hast redemed vs by thy bloude out of all kynredes, and tonges, and people, and nacions, and hast made vs vnto our God, kynges and prestes, and we shall raygne on the erth.

Exay. xxvii.a

B Blake horse.

And when he opened the thyrd seale, I herd the thyrde beest saye: come and se. And I beholde, and lo, a blacke horse: and he that sate on him had a payre of balaunces in his hande. And I herde a voyce in the myddes of the foure beestes saye: a measure of whete for a penye and thre measures of barlye for a penye: a oyle and wyne se thou hurt not. And when he opened the fourth seale, I herde the voyce of the fourthe beest saye: come and se: and I loked.

Greene horse.

And beholde a greene horse, and his name that sate on him was deth, and hell folowed after hym, and power was gyuen vnto them ouer the fourth parte of the erthe to kyll with swerde, and with honger, and with erth that commeth of vermen of the erth.

C Soules vnder the aulter

And when he opened the fyfte seale, I sawe vnder the aulter, the soules of them that were kylled for the worde of God, and for the testimony whiche they had, and they cryed with a loude voyce sayenge: Howe longe tarryest thou Lorde, holy and true, to iudge, and to auenge our bloude on them that dwell on the erth? And long whyte garmētes were gyuē vnto euery one of them. And it was sayd vnto thē that they sholde rest for a lytle season, tyl the nombre of their felowes and brethren, and of them that sholde be kylled as they were, were fulfylled.

Exay.xiii.b Dani.v.b and Luke.xxiii.

D And I beheld when he opened the fyrst seale, and lo there was a greate erthquake, and the sunne was as blacke as sacke clothe made of heere. And the mone wexed euen as bloude, & the sterres of heuen fell vnto the erth euen as a rygge tree castyth from her her tygges, when she is shaken of a myghty wynde. And heuen vanished awaye, as a scroll when it is rolled togyther. And all mountaynes and yles, were moued out of their places. And the kynges of the erth, and the great men, and the ryche men, and the chefe captaynes, and the mighty men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hyd them selues in dennes, and in rockes of the hilles: * and sayd to the hylles and rockes: fall on vs, and hyde vs frome the presence of hym that sytteth on the seate, and from the wrathe of the lambe: for the great daye of his wrath is come, and who can endure it.

* Clare.i.b Dure.i.b Luke.xxiii.b,

¶ The seyth the seruauntes of God sealed in their foreheades out of al nacions and people, which though they suffre trouble, yet the lambe fedeth them, leadeth them to the fountaynes of lyuynge water, and God shall wype awaye all teares frome their eyes.

CAPI. VII.

A AND after that, I sawe foure aungelles stande on the foure corners of the erth, holdynge the foure wyndes of the erth that the wyndes sholde not blow on the erth, neyther on the se, neyther on any tree.

+ And I sawe an other aungell ascende from the sysynge of the sunne, whiche had the seale of the lyuyng God, and he cryed with a loude

boyce to the foure aungels (to whom power was gyuen to hurt the erth and the see) sayeng hurt not the erth, neyther the see, neither the trees, tyll we haue sealed the seruaunces of our God in theyr foreheedes.

And I herd the nombre of them which were sealed, and there were sealed an hundred and xliiij. thousande, of all the tribes of the chyldren of Israel. Of the tribe of Juda were sealed xij. thousande. Of the tribe of Ruben were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Aser were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Nephtalim were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Symeon were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Leuy were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Isacar were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed twelue thousande. Of the tribe of Joseph were sealed twelue. M. Of the tribe of Beniamin were sealed twelue thousande.

After this I beheelde, and lo a great multitude (whiche no man coulde nombre) of all nations and people, and tonges, stode before the seate, and before the lambe clothed with longe white garmentes, and palmes in theyr handes, and cryed with a loude voyce, sayeng: Helth to hym that sytteth upon the seat of our God, and vnto the lambe. And all the aungels stode in the compace of the seate, and of the elders, and of the foure beestes, and fell before the seate on theyr faces, and worshypped God, sayenge: Amen. Blessynge and glory, wysdome and thankes, and honour, and power, and myght be vnto our God for euermore. Amen.

And one of the elders answered, saying vnto me: what are these which are arayed in long white garmentes, & whence came they? And I sayd vnto him: Lorde thou wotest. And he sayd to me: these are they whiche came out of great tribulacion, and made theyr garmentes large, and made them white in the bloude of the lambe: therfore are they in the presence of the seat of God, and serue him day and night in his temple, and he that sytteth in the seate wyll dwell amonge them. They shall honger no more, neither thurst, neither shall the sunne lyght on them, neither any heate. For the lambe Esay. xlix. c. whiche is in the myddes of the seate, shal rule them, and shall leade them vnto fountaynes Esay. xxv. c. of lyuynge water, and God shall wype away all teares from theyr eyes.

¶ The seuenth seale is opened, there sylence in heauen, the foure aungels blowe theyr trompettes, and greate plagues followe vpon the earth.

CAPI. VIII.

AND when he hadde opened the seuenth seale, there was sylence in heuen about the space of halfe an houre. And I sawe aungels standynge before God, and to them were gyuen seuen trompettes. And an other aungell came and stode before the aulter hauynge a golden senser, and moche of odoures was gyuen vnto him, that he shulde offre of the prayers of al sayntes vpon the golden aulter, which was before the seate. And the smoke of the odours which came of the prayers of al sayntes, ascended vp before god out of the aungels handes. And the aungell toke the senser, & fylled it with fyre of the aulter, and caste it in to the erth, and voyces were made, and thonderynges and lyghtnynges, and erthquake.

And the seuen aungels which had the seuen trompettes prepared them selues to blowe.

The fyrst aungell blewe, and there was made hayle and fyre, whiche were myngled with bloude, and they were cast in to the erth: and the thyrde parte of trees was burnt, and all grene grasse was brent. And the seconde aungell blew: and as it were a great mountayne burnynge with fyre was cast in to the see, and the third part of the see was turned to bloud, and the thyrde parte of the creatures whiche had lyfe, dyed, and the thyrde part of shippes were destroyed.

And the thyrde aungell blewe, and there fell a great sterre frome heuen burnynge as it were a lampe, and it fell in to the thyrde parte of the ryuers, and in to fountaynes of waters, and the name of the sterre is called wormewod. And the thyrde parte was tourned to wormewod. And many men dyed of the waters, because they were made bytter. And the fourth aungell blewe, and the thyrde parte of the sunne was smytten, and the thyrde parte of the mone, and the thyrde parte of sterres, so that the thyrde part of them was darkned. And the daye was smytten, that the thyrde parte of it shulde not shyne, and lykewyse the nyght. And I beheelde and herde an aungell flyenge thorowe the myddes of heuen, sayenge with a loude voyce: Wo, wo to the inhabyters of the erth, because of the voyces to come of the trompe of the thre aungels which were yet to blowe.

¶ The fyrth and fyfth aungell blowe theyr trompettes: the sterre falleth frome heauen: the locustes come out of the smoke: The fyrste wo is paste: the foure aungels that were bounde are lowsed, and the thyrde parte of men is slayne.

CAPI. IX.

AND the fyfte aungell blewe, and I sawe a sterre fall from heuen vnto the erthe. And to hym was gyuen the keye of the bottomelesse pyt. And he opened the bottomelesse pyt, and there arose the smoke of a great fornace. And the sunne and the ayre were darkned by the reason of the smoke of the pit. And there came oute of the smoke locustes vpon the erth: and vnto them was gyuen power as the scorpyons of the erth haue power. And it was commaunded them that they shulde not hurte the grasse of the erth: ne any grene thyng: neither any tree: but onely those men whiche haue not the seale in theyr foreheedes. And to them was commaunded that they shuld not kyll them, but that they shulde be vexed fyue monethes, and theyr payne was as the payne that commeth of a scorpion, when he hath stonge a man. ✱ And in those dayes shall men seke deathe, and shall not fynde it, and shal desyre to dye, and deth shal flee from them.

✱ And the symilitude of the locustes was lyke vnto horses prepared vnto batayle, and on theyr heedes were as it were crownes, like vnto golde: and theyr faces were as it hadde ben the faces of men. And they hadde heere as the heere of women. And theyr tethe were as the tethe of lyons. And they hadde habbergyons, as it were habbergyons of yron. And the sounde of theyr wynges, was as the sounde of charettes when many horses runne togyther to batayle. And they had tayles lyke vnto scorpyons: and there were stynges in theyr tayles. And theyr power was to hurte men fyue monethes. And they hadde a kynge ouer them, whiche is the aungell of the bottomlesse pytte, whose name in the Hebrue tonge is ✱ Abadon, and in the Greke tong, Apollion. One woo is paſt, & beholde two woos come after this.

And the fyfte aungell blewe, and I herde a voyce from the foure corners of the golden aulter whiche is before God, sayinge to the fyfte aungell, whiche had the trompe: Loose the foure aungelles, whiche are bounde in the great ryuer Euphrates. And the foure aungelles were loosed whiche were prepared for an houre, for a daye, for a moneth, and for a yere, to slee the thyrde parte of men. And the nombre of horsemen of warre, were twentye tymes ten thousande. And I herde the nombre of them: and thus I sawe the horses in a vysion, and them that sate on them, hauynge fyrye habbergyons of a Jacinct colloure, and brymstone, and the heades of the horses were as the heedes of lyons. And oute of theyr mouthes went forth fyre and smoke, and brymstone. And of these thre was ✱ the thirde parte of men kylled: that is to saye, of fyre, of smoke, and brymstone, which proceded out of the mouthes of them: for theyr power was in theyr mouthes and in theyr tayles: for theyr tayles were lyke vnto serpentes, and hadde heedes, and with them they dyd hurte. And the residue of the men whiche were not kylled by these plages, repented not of the workes of theyr handes, that they sholde not worshyp deuyles, and ymages of golde, and syluer, and braſſe, and stone, and of wode, whiche neyther can se, neyther heare, neyther go. Also they repented not of theyr murther, and of theyr sorcery, neither of theyr fornication, neyther of theyr theefte.

¶ The Aungell hathe the boke open: he sweareth there shalbe no more tyme: he giueth the boke vnto Johñ, whiche eateth it vp.

CAPI. X.

AND I sawe an other myghtye aungell come downe from heuen clothed with a cloude, and the rayne bowe vpon his heed. And his face as it were the sunne, and his feete as it were pyllers of fyre, and he had in his hande a lytle boke open: and he put his ryght foote vpon the see, and his lefte foote on the erth. And cryed with a loude voyce, as when a lyon roareth. And when he had cryed, seuen thondres spake theyr voyces. And when the seuen thondres had spoken theyr voyces, I was aboute to wryte. And I herde a voyce from heuen sayinge vnto me: seale vp those thynges whiche the seuen thondres spake, and wryte them not.

✱ And the aungell whiche I sawe stande vpon the see, and vpon the earthe lyfte vp his hande to heauen, and sware by hym that lyueth for euermore, whiche created heuen, and the thynges that therin are, and the see, and the thynges which therin are: that there sholde be no longer tyme, but in the dayes of the voyce of the seuenth aungell, whē he shal begyn to blowe, euen the mysteryе of God shall be fynyshed as he preached by his seruauntes the prophetes.

And the voyce whiche I herde frome heuen, spake vnto me agayne, and sayd: ✱ go and, take the lytle boke whiche is open in the hande of the aungell whiche standeth vpon the see and vpon the earthe. And I went vnto the aungell, and sayde to hym: Gyue me the lytle boke, and he sayde vnto me: take it, and eate it vp, and it shall make thy belye bytter, but it shall be in thy mouth as swete as hony. ✱ And I toke the lytle boke out of his hande and eate it vp, and it was in my mouthe as swete as honye: and as soone as I hadde eaten it, my belye was bytter. And he sayd vnto me: thou muſte prophesye agayne amonge the people and nacions, and tonges, and to many kynges.

¶ The Temple is measured. The seconde woo is paſte.

CAPI. XI.

AND then was gyuen me a rede, lyke vnto a rodde, and it was sayde vnto me: Aryse and mete the temple of god, and the aulter, and them that worshyp therin, and the quere whiche is without in the temple, caste out and mete it not: for it is gyuen vnto the Gentyles, and the holy cyte shal they treade vnder fote. xlij. monethes. And I will gyue power vnto my two wytnesses, and they shall prophesye a thowsande, two hundrede and threscore dayes, clothed in sacke clothe. These are two olyue trees, and two candelsticches, standynge before the God of the erthe.

And yf any man wyl hurte them, fyre shall proceede oute of theyr mouthes, and consume theyr enemyes. And yf any man wyll hurte them this wyse muste he be kylled. These haue power to shut heauen, that it rayne not in the dayes of theyr prophesynge: and haue power ouer waters to turne them to blonde, and to smyte the erth, with all maner plages as often as they wyll.

And when they haue fynyshed theyr testimony, the beest that came out of the bottomlesse pyt, shall make warre agaynst them, and shall overcome them and kyll them. And their bodyes shall lye in the stretes of the greate cytye, whiche spiritually is called Sodom and Egypte, where our Lorde was crucifyed. And they of the people and kynredes, and tonges, and they of the nacions, shall se theyr bodyes thre dayes and an halfe, and shall not suffre theyr bodyes to be put in graues. And they that dwell vpon the erthe, shall reioyce ouer them and be glad, and shall sende gyftes one to an other, for these two Prophetes vexed them that dwelt on the erth.

And after thre dayes and an halfe the spirite of lyfe from God, entred in to them. And they stode vp on theyr fete: and greate feare came on them whiche sawe them. And they herde a great voyce from heuen, sayinge vnto them. Come vp hyther. And they ascended vp in to heuen in a cloude, and theyr aduersaryes sawe them. And the same houre was there a great erthquake, and the tenth parte of the cyte fell, and in the erthquake were slayne names of men seuen thousande, and the residue were feared, and gaue glory to God of heuen The seconde wo is past, and beholde the third wo wyll come anone.

And the seuenth aungell blewe, and there were made greate voyces in heuen, sayinge: the kyngdomes of this worlde are our Lordes and his Christes, and he shall raygne for euer more. And the xxiiij elders whiche syt before God on theyr seates, fell vpon theyr faces, and worshypped God, sayinge: we gyue the thankes Lorde God almighty: whiche arte, and wast, and art to come, for thou hast receyued thy greate myghte, and hast reygned. And the nacions were angry, and thy wrathe is come, and the tyme of the dead, that they shulde be iudged, and that thou shuldest gyue rewarde vnto thy seruauntes the prophetes and saintes and to them that feare thy name small and great, and shuldest destroy them which destroy the erth. And the temple of God was opened in heuen, and there was seene in his temple, the Arche of his Testament: and there folowed lyghtenynges, and voyces, and thonderynges, and erthquake, and moche hayle.

¶ The seuenth Aungell bloweth his trompet. There appeareth in heuen a woman clothed with the sonne: Michael fyghteth with the dragon, whiche persecuteth the woman.

CAPI. XII.

AND there appered a grete wonder in heuen: A woman clothed with the sunne and the mone vnder her fete, and vpon her heed, a crowne of twelue sterres. And she was with chylde, and cryed trauaylynge in byrth, and payned redy to be delyuered. And there appered an other wonder in heuen, for beholde a great red dragon hauyng .vii. heedes and ten hornes and crownes vpon his heedes: and his tayle drue the thyrde parte of the sterres, and cast them to the erth.

And the dragon stode before the woman, whiche was redye to be delyuered: for to deuoure her chylde as sone as it were borne. And she brought forth a manchylde, which shulde rule all nacions with a rodde of yron. And her sonne was taken vp vnto god, and to his seate. And the woman fledde into wyldernes where she had a place prepared of God, that they shulde fede her there a thousande. .ij. hundred and sixty dayes.

And there was a great batayle in heuē, Michael and his angels fought with the dragon and the dragon fought and his aungels, and preuayled not: neither was their place found any more in heuen. And the great dragon that olde serpent called the deuyll, and Sathanas was cast out, which deceyueth all the worlde. And he was caste in to the erthe, and his aungels were cast out also.

And I herde a loude voyce, sayinge: in heuen is nowe made saluacion, and strengthe and the kyngdom of our God, and the power of his annoynted. For he is cast downe which accused them before God daye and nyght. And they ouercame him by the bloud of the lambe and by the worde of their witnes, and they loued not theyr lyues vnto the dethe. Therfore reioyce heuens, and ye that dwell in them. Woo to the inhabitauntes of the erth, and of the see: for the deuyl is come downe vnto you which hath great wrath, because he knoweth he hath but a shorte tyme.

And when the dragon sawe, that he was caste vnto the erthe, he pursued the woman, whiche broughte forthe the man chylde. And to the woman were gyuen two wynges of a great egle, that she myght flee in to the wyldernes, in to her place, where she is norysshed for a tyme, tymes, and halfe a tyme, from the presence of the serpent. And the dragon caste out of his mouthe water after the woman as it had ben a ryuer, because she shulde haue ben caught of the floode. And the erthe holpe the woman, and the erth opened her mouthe and swalowed vp the ryuer, which the dragon cast out of his mouth. And the dragon was wroth with the woman: and went and made warre with the remnaunt of her seed, whiche kepe the commaundementes of God, and haue the testimonye of Jesu Christ. And I stode on the see sande.

¶ The beaste ryseth oute of the see with seuen heades and ten hornes. An other beaste commeth out of the earth with two hornes.

CAPI. XIII.

AND I sawe a beest ryse out of the see, hauynge seuen heedes, and tenne hornes, and vpon his hornes tene crownes, and vpon his heed, the name of blasphemye. And the beest which I sawe, was lyke a cat of the mountayne, and his fete was as the fete of a beare, and his mouth as the mouthe of a lyon. And the dragon gaue hym his power & his seate, and greate auctorite: and I sawe one of his heedes as it were wounded to deth and his deedly wounde was healed. And all the worlde wondred at the beest, & they worshypped shypped the dragon whiche gaue power vnto the beest, and they worshypped the beest, saynge who is lyke vnto the beest? who is able to warre with him?

And there was gyuen vnto him a mouthe, that spake great thynges and blasphemyes, and power was gyuen vnto him to doo.xlij. monethes. And he opened his mouthe vnto blasphemye agaynste God, to blaspheme his name and his tabernacle, and them that dwel in heuen. And it was giuen vnto him to make warre with the saynctes, & to ouercome them. And power was gyuen hym ouer all kynredes tonge and nacion, and all that dwel vpon the erth worshipt him, whose names are not writ ten in the boke of life of the lambe, which was kylled from the begynnynge of the worlde. If any mā haue an eare, let him heare. * He that leadeth in to captiuite, shal go in to captiuitie: * he that kylleth with the swerde, must be killed with a swerde. Here is the patience and the fayth of the saynctes.

And I beheld an other beest commyng vp out of the erth, and he had two hornes lyke a lambe, and he spake as did the dragon. And he dyd all that the fyrst beest could in his presence, and he caused the erth, and them which dwell therin, to worshyp the first beest, whose deedly wounde was healed. And he dyd great wonders, so that he made fyre come downe from heuen in the syght of men. And deceyued them that dwelte on the erthe by the meanes of those signes whiche he had power to do in the syghte of the beest, sayinge to them that dwelte on the erth: that they shulde make an ymage vnto the beest, whiche had the wounde of a swerde, and dyd lyue.

And he had power to gyue a spirite vnto the ymage of the beest, and that the ymage of the beest shulde speake, and shulde cause that as many as wolde not worshyp the ymage of the beest shulde be kylled. And he made all bothe small and greate, ryche and poore, free and bonde, to receyue a marke in their ryght handes, or in their foreheedes. And that no man might bye or sell, saue he that had the marke or the name of the beest, either the nombre of his name. Here is wysdom. Let him that hath wytte count the nombre of the beest. For it is the nombre of a man, and his nombre is syxe hondred, thre score and sixe.

¶ The lambe standeth vpon the mounte Sion, and the vndefyled congregacion with him: The aungell exhorteth to the feare of God and telleth of the fall of Babylon.

CAPI. XIIII.

AND I loked, and lo a lambe stode on the mount Sion, and with him an. C. and xliij. thousande hauynge his fathers name wrytten in their foreheedes. And I herde a voyce frome heuen as the sounde of manye waters, and as the voyce of a great thonder. And I herde the voyce of harpers harpynge with their harpes. And they songe as it were a newe songe, before the seate, and before the four beestes, and the elders, and no man could learne that songe, but the houdred and fourte and fortye thousande, whiche were redemed frome the erthe. These are they whiche were not defyled with women, for they are virgyns. These folowe the lambe whyther so euer he goeth. These were redemed from men, beinge the fyrst frutes vnto God, and to the lambe, and in their mouthes was founde no gyle. For they are without spotte before the trone of God.

And I sawe an aungell flee in the myddes of heuen, hauynge an euerlastyng Gospell, to preache vnto them that dwell on the earthe, and to all nations, kynredes, and tonges and people, saynge with a loude voyce: Feare God, and gyue honour to hym, for the houre of his iudgement is come: and worshyp him, that made heuen and earthe, and the see, and fountaynes of water. And there folowed an other aungell, sayinge: * Babylon is fallen is fallen that greate cyte, * for she made all nations drynke of the wyne of her fornicacion.

And the thyrd aungel folowed them saying with a loude voyce: If any man worshyp the beest and his ymage, and receyue his marke in his forhed, or on his hande, the same shall drynke the wyne of the wrath of God, which is poured in the cup of his wrath. And he shall be punysshed in fyre and brymstone, before the holy aungels, and before the lambe.

And the smoke of their torment ascended vp euermore. And they haue no rest day nor nyght which worshyp the beest and his ymage and and who so euer receyueth the print of his name. Here is the patience of saynctes. Here are they that kepe the commaundementes and the fayth of Iesu.

And I herd a voyce from heuen, saying vnto me: write. Blessed are the dead, which dye in the Lorde, euen so sayth the spirite that they maye rest from their laboures, but their workes shall folowe them.

And I loked, and beholde a white cloude, and vpon the cloude one sittynge lyke vnto the sonne of man, hauynge on his head a golden crowne, and in his hande a sharpe sickle. And an other aungell came out of the temple cryinge with a loude voyce to him that sate on the cloude. * Thrust in thy sickle and repe, for the tyme is come to repe, for the corne of the earthe is rype. And he that sate on the cloude, thrust in his sickle on the erth, and the erth was reped.

And an other aungell came out of the temple, which is in heuen, hauynge also a sharpe sickle. And an other aungell came out frome the aulter, which had power ouer fyre, and cryed with a loude cry to him that had the sharpe sickle, and sayd: thrust in thy sharpe sickle, and gather the clusters of the erth, for her grapes are rype. And the aungell thrust in his sickle on the erth, and cut downe the grapes of the vyneyarde of erth, & cast in to them in to the great wynefat of the wrath of God, and the wynefat was troden without the cyte, and bloude came out of the fat, euen vnto the holie bridles by the space of a thousande and syxe hundred furlonges.

¶ The seuen seuen Angels, hauynge seuen vyals full of wrath.

CAPI. XV.

A And I sawe an other signe in heauen, great and meruaylous, seuen aungels hauynge the seuen laste plages, for in them is fulfylled the wrathe of God. And I sawe as it were a glassye see, mengled with fyre, and them that had gotten victory of the beest, and of his ymage, and of his marke, and of the nombre of his name, stande on the glassye see, hauyng the harpes of God, and they song the songe of Moses the seruaunt of God, and the songe of the lambe: sayinge: Great and meruaylous are thy woorkes, ✣ Lorde God almyghty, iust and true are thy wayes kynge of saynctes. B Who shall not feare o Lorde, and glorify thy name? For thou only art holy, and all gentiles shal come and worship before the, for thy iudgementes are made manifest.

a Deut. 32. Apoc. 16. b

And after that I loked, and beholde the C temple of the tabernacle of testimonye was open in heuen, and the seuen aungelles came out of the temple, whiche had the seuen plages, clothed in pure and bright lynnen, and hauynge theyr breestes gyrded with golden gyrdels. And one of the foure beestes gaue vnto D the seuen aungelles seuen golden vyalles full of the wrathe of God, whiche liueth for euer more. And the temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God, and of his power, and no man was able to entre in to the temple, tyll the seuen plages of the seuen aungels were fulfylled.

¶ The Aungelles poure oute theyr vyalles full of wrath.

CAPI. XVI.

A And I herd a great voyce out of the temple sayinge to the seuen aungels: Go your wayes, poure out your vyalles of wrathe vpon the erth. And the fyrst went and poured out his vyall vpon the erth, and there fel a noysome and a sore botche vpon the men whiche had the marke of the beest, and vpon them whiche worshypped his ymage. And the seconde aungell shed out his vyall vpon the see, and it turned as it were in to the bloud of a dead man: and euery lyuynge thyng dyed in the see. And the thyrde aungell shed oute his vyall vpon the ryuers and fountaynes of waters, and they turned to bloude. And I herde B an aungel saye: Lorde whiche art and waste, thou art ryghtous and holy, because thou hast gruen such iudgementes, for they shed out the bloud of saynctes and prophetes, and therfore hast thou giuen them bloud to drinke, for they are worthye. And I herde an other out of the aulter say: euen so Lorde God almighty true and ryghteous are thy iudgementes.

And the fourth aungel poured out his vyall on the sunne, and power was giuen vnto him to burne men with heate of fyre. And the men rage d in great heat, & spake euyll of the name of god, whiche hath power ouer those plages, and they repented not, to giue him glory. And the fyfte aungell poured oute his vyall vpon the seat of the beest, and his kyngdome were darke, and they gnewe theyr tonges for sorow and blasphemed the God of heuen for sorow and payne of theyr sores, and repented not of theyr dedes.

And the syxte aungell poured out his vyall C vpon the great ryuer Euphrates, and the water dryed vp, that the wayes of the kynges of the East holde be prepared. And I sawe three vncleane spirites, lyke frogges come out of the mouthe of the dragon, and out of the mouthe of the beest, and out of the mouth of the false Prophete. For they are the spirites of deuyls woorkynge myracles, to go out vnto the kynges of the erth, and of the hole worlde, to gather them to the batayle of that great daye of God almighty. ✣ Beholde I come as a theefe. Happye is he that watcheth and keepeth his garmentes, leest he be founde naked, and men se his fylthynes. And he gathered them togyther in to a place called in the Hebrue tonge Armagedon.

Mat. 24. 1. Petri. 4. 1. Thess. 5.

And the seuenth aungell poured out his vyall in to the ayre. And there came a voyce oute of heuen frome the seate, sayinge: it is done. And there folowed voyces, thonderynges, and lyghtenynges, and there was a greate erthquake, suche as was not sythens men were vpon the erthe, so mighty an erthquake and so greate. And the greate cytye was deuyded in to three partyes, and the cityes of all nations fell. And greate Babylon came in remembraunce before God, to giue vnto her the cup of the wyne of the fearcenes of his wrathe. Euery yle fled awaye, and the mountaynes were not founde. And there fell a great hayle as it had ben talentes out of heuen vpon the men, and the men blasphemed God: because of the plage of the hayle, for it was great and the plage of it sore.

¶ He declareth the woman sytting vpon the beast with ten hornes.

CAPI. XVII.

A And there came one of the seuen aungelles, whiche had the seuen vyalles: and talked with me, saynge vnto me: come, I wyll shewe the the iudgement of the great hoore that sytteth vpon many waters, with whom haue committed fornication, the kynges of the erthe, so that the inhabiters of the earthe are dronken with the wyne of her fornication. And he caried me awaye in to the wyldernes in the spirite. And I sawe a woma syt vpon a rose coloured beest, ful of names of blasphemye, whiche had ten hornes. And the woman was araied in purple and rose colour and decked with golde, precyous stone, and pearles, and had cup of golde in her hande ful of abominations and fylthynesse of her fornication. And in her forhed was a name written B a mysterye, greate Babylon the mother of

hordome and abhominacions of the erth. And I sawe the woman dronken with the blonde of saynctes, and with the blonde of the wytnesses of Jesu. And when I sawe her, I wondred with great meruayle.

And the aungell sayd vnto me: Wherfore meruaylest thou? I wyl shewe the, the mysterye of the woman, and of the beest that beareth her, whiche hath seuen heedes, and tenne hornes. The beest that thou sawest, was, and is not, and shall ascende oute of the botomlesse pyt, and shal go in to perdicion, and they that dwell on the erth shal wonder, whose names are not wrytten in the boke of lyfe from the begynnyng of the worlde, when they beholde the beest, that was and is not, and here is a mynde that hathe wysdome.

L The seuen heedes are seuen mountaynes, on whiche the woman sytteth: they are also seuen kynges. Fyue are fallen, and one is, and an other is not yet come. When he commeth he muste continue a space. And the beest that was and is not, is euen the eyght, and is one of the seuen, and shal go in to destruction. And the ten hornes whiche thou sawest, are ten kynges, whiche haue receyued no kyngdome, but shall receyue power as kynges at one houre with the beest. These haue one mynde, and shall gyue their power and strength vnto the beest. These shall fyght with the lambe, and the lambe shall ouercome them: * For he is Lorde of Lordes, and kynge of kynges, & they that are on his syde, are called, and chosen, and faythfull.

* 1. Tim. vi.

And he sayd vnto me: the waters whiche thou sawest where the hoore sytteth, are people, and folke, and nations, and tonges. And the ten hornes, whiche thou sawest vpon the beest, are they that shall hate the hoore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eate her fleshe, and burne her with fyre. For God hathe put in their hertes to fulfyll his wyll, and to do with one consent, for to gyue her kyngdome vnto the beest, tyll the wordes of God be fulfylled. And the woman whiche thou sawest, is that great cyty, which reigneth ouer the kynges of the erth.

¶ The louers of the worlde are sory for the fall of Babylon, but they that be of God haue cause to reioyce for her destruction.

CAPI. XVIII.

A Nd after that, I sawe an other aungell come from heuen, hauynge greate power, and the earthe, was lyghtened with his bryghtnes. And he cryed myghtyly with a stronge voyce, sayenge: * Great Babylon is fallen, is fallen: and is become the habitacion of deuyls, and the hold of al foule spirites, and a cage of all vncleane and hatefull byrdes, for all nations haue dronken of the wyne of the wrathe of her fornicacyon. And the kynges of the earthe haue committed fornicacion with her, and her merchaunts are waxed ryche, of the abundaunce of her pleasures.

* Esay. xxi. f Jeremye. li. a

And I herde an other voyce from heuen, saye: come awaye from her (my people) that ye be not partakers in her synnes, that ye receyue not of her plages. For her synnes are gone vp to heuen, and God hath not remembred her wyckednes. Rewarde her euen as she rewarded you, and gyue her double accordynge to her workes. and powre in double to her in the same cuppe whiche she fylled vnto you. And as moche as she glorifyed her selfe, and lyued wantonly, so moche powre ye in for her of punyshement and sorowe, for she sayde in her selfe: * I sytte beynge a quene, and am no wydowe, and shall se no sorowe. Therfore shall her plages come at one daye, deth, and sorowe, and honger, and she shall be brent with fyre: for stronge is the Lorde God whiche iudgeth her. B * Es. xlvii. g L

And the kynges of the earthe shall bewepe her and waile ouer her, whiche haue committed fornication with her, and haue lyued wantonly with her, when they shall se the smoke of her burnyng, and shall stande afarre of for feare of her punyshement, sayenge: * Alas, alas that greate cyty Babylon, that myghty cyty: for at one houre is her iudgement come. And the merchaunts of the erth shall wepe and waile in them selues, for no man wyll buye their ware any more, the ware of golde and syluer, and precious stones, nether of pearle, and raynes, and purple, and scarlet, and all thynne wodde, and all maner vesselles of yuorye, and all maner vesselles of most precyous wodde, and of brasse, and yron, and cynamon, and odours, and oyntmentes, and frankencense, and wyne, and oyle and fyne flour, and whete, beestes, and shepe, and horses and charettes, and bodyes and soules of men. * Jerem. li. g

And the apples that thy soule lusted after are departed from the. And all thynges which were delycate, and gaddant in pryce are departed from the, and thou shalte fynde them no more. The marchauntes of these thynges whiche were waxed ryche, shall stande afarre of from her, for feare of her punyshement of her, weppynge and waylynge, and sayenge: * Alas, alas, that greate cyty, that was clothed in raynes and purple, and scarlet, and decked with golde, and precious stones, and pearles: for at one houre so greate ryches is come to nought. * Jerem. li. h L

And euery shyppe gouernour, and all they that occupyed shyppes, and shypmen which worke in the see, stode afarre of, & cryed, when they sawe the smoke of her burnynge, sayenge: what cyte is lyke vnto this great cyte? And they caste dust on their heedes, and cryed weppynge, and waylynge, and sayde: * Alas, alas, that great cyte, wherin were made ryche all that had shyppes in the see, by the reason of her costlynes, for at one houre is she made desolate. * Jer. li. d L

Reioyce ouer her thou heuen, and ye holy Apostles and prophetes: for God hath gyuen your iudgement on her. And a mighty aungel toke vp a stone like a great mylstone, and cast it in to the see, sayenge: with suche violence

And the sounde of of a mylle shal be herde no more in the,and the voyce of the brydgrome and of the bryde shall be herde no more in the, for thy marchauntes were the greate men of the erth. And with thyne enchauntement were disceyued all nacions: and in her was founde the bloude of the prophetes,and of the sayntes, and of all that were slayne vpon the erth.

¶ Prayse or thankes are gyuen vnto God for iudgynge the whore,and for auengynge the bloude of his seruauntes. The Angell will not be worshipped. The foules and bydes are called to the slaughter.

CAPI. XIX.

A Nd after that I herd the voyce of moch people in heauen, sayinge: Alleluya. Helthe and glory and honour and power to the Lorde our God,for true and rightous are his iudgementes,for he hath iudged the great hoore whiche dyd corrupt the erathe with her fornication, and hathe auenged the bloude of his seruauntes of her hande.And agayn they sayd: Alleluya.And smoke rose vp for euermore. And the xxiiij elders, and the foure beestes fell downe,and worshipped God that sate on the seate, sayinge: Amen, Alleluya.And a voyce came forth of the seate,saynge: prayse oure Lorde God all ye that are his seruauntes, and ye that feare hym bothe small and great.

And I herd the voyce of moche people,euen as the voyce of many waters, & as the voyce of strong thonderynges, sayinge: Alleluya, for God omnipotent raygneth. Let vs be glad & reioyce and gyue honour to him: for the mariage of the lambe is come,and his wife made her selfe redye.And to her was graunted,that she shoulde be arayed with pure and goodly raynes. For the raynes is the ryghteousnes of sayntes. And he sayde vnto me, * happye are they whiche are called to the lambes supper. And he sayd vnto me: these are the true sayinges of God.And I fell at his fete,to worshyp him. And he sayde vnto me, se thou do it not. For I am thy felowe seruaunt,and one of thy brethren, and of them that haue the testimonye of Jesu. Worshyp God. For the testimony of Jesu is the spirite of the prophesye.

And I sawe heuen open,and beholde a white horse,and he that sate vpon him was faithful and true, and in ryghteousnes dyd iudge and make batayle. His eyes were as a flambe of fyre: and on his heed were manye crownes: and he habde a name wrytten, that no man knewe but he hym selfe. * And was clothed with a vesture dypte in bloude, and his name is called the worde of god.And the soudiours whiche were in heauen, folowed hym vpon whyte horses, clothed with whyte and pure raynes: & out of his mouth went out a sharpe swerde, that with it he sholde smyte the heithen. * And he shall rule them with a rod of yron,and he trode the wynefat of fearfulnes and wrath of almyghty God.And hath on his vesture and on his thygh a name wrytten: kynge of kynges,and Lorde of Lordes.

And I sawe an aungell stande in the sunne, and he cryed with a loude voyce, sayinge to all the foules that flee by the myddes of heuen, come and gather youre selues togyther vnto the supper of the greate God, that ye maye eate the flesshe of kynges and of bygge captaynes,and the flesshe of myghty men,and the flesshe of horses, and of them that sytte on them,and the flesshe of all free men and bond men,and of small and great. And I sawe the beest and the kynges of the earthe, and their warryours gathered togyther to make batayl agaynste hym that sate on the horse, and agaynst his souldyours.

And the beest was taken & with him that false prophete that wrought myracles before him, with which he disceyued them that receyued the beestes marke, and them that worshipped his ymage. These bothe were caste in to a ponde of fyre burnynge with brymstone: and the reste were slayne with the swerde of hym that sate vpon the horse,whiche proceded out of his mouthe,and all the foules were stuffed with their flesshe.

¶ The dragon is bounde for a thousande yeres & the dede aryse,and receyue iudgement.

CAPI. XX.

A Nd I sawe an aungel come downe frō heuen,hauynge the keye of the botomlesse pytte, and a greate chayne in his hande. And he toke the dragon that olde serpent which is the deuyl and Satanas,and he bounde him a thousande yeres, and caste hym in to ỹ botomlesse pyt, and he bound him, and set a seale on hym, that he sholde disceyue the people no more,tyll the thousande yeres were fulfylled. And after that he muste be loosed for a tyme a season.

And I saw seates and they sate vpon them, and iudgement was gyuen vnto them: and I sawe the soules of them that were beheeded for the wytnes of Jesu, and for the worde of God,which had not worshipped the beest,neyther his ymage, neyther had taken his marke vpon their foreheedes,or on their handes, and they lyued,and reygned with Christe a thousande yeres: but the other of the dede men lyued not agayne, tyll the thousande yeres were fynished. This is that fyrst resurrection. Blessed and holy is he that hath parte in the fyrst resurrection. For on suche shall the second dethe haue no power, for they shall be the preestes of God and of Christ, and shall raygne with hym a thousande yeres.

And when the thousande yeres are expyred, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison, and shall go out to disceyue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the erth Gog and Magog, to gather them togyther to battayle, whose

And fyre came downe from God, out of heauen, and deuoured them: and the deuyll that deceyued them, was cast into a lake of fyre and brymstone, where the beast and the false Prophete were, and shalbe tormented daye and nyght for euermore.

And I sawe a great whyte seate, and hym that sate on it, fro whose face fled awaye bothe the earthe and heauen, and their place was no more founde. And I sawe the ded, both great and small stonde before God: And the bokes were opened, And an other booke was opened, which is the boke of lyfe, and the ded were iuged of those thinges which were wrytten in the bookes accordinge to their dedes: and the see gaue vp her ded, which were in her, and deathe and hell deliuered vp the ded, whiche were in them: and they were iudged euery man accordynge to his dedes. And deathe and hell were cast into the lake of fyre. This is the seconde deathe. And who so euer was not founde wrytten in the boke of lyfe, was cast into the lake of fyre.

¶ In this Chapter is described the newe and spirituall Jerusalem.

CAPI. XXI.

A And I sawe a newe heauen, and a newe earthe. For the fyrste heauen, and the fyrst earthe were vanyshed awaye, and there was no more see. ✣ And I Johñ sawe that holy cytie newe Jerusalem come downe from God out of heauen prepared as a bryde garnyshed for her husbande. And I herde a great voyce out of heauen, sayenge: beholde the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them. And they shall be his people, and God him selfe shalbe with them and be their God. ✣ And God shall wype awaye all teares from their eyes, And there shalbe no more death, neyther sorowe, neyther crienge, neyther shall there be any more payne, for the olde thinges, are gone. And he that sate vpon the seate, sayde. ✣ Beholde I make all thinges newe. ✣ And he sayde vnto me: wryte, for these wordes are faythfull and true.

And he sayde vnto me: it is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the begynnynge and ende I will gyue to hym that is a thrust of the well of the water of lyfe, freely. He that ouercommeth, shall inherite all thinges, and I will be his God, and he shalbe my sonne. But the fearefull and vnbeleuinge, and the abhominable, and murtherers, and horemongers, & sorcerers, and ydolaters, and all lyars shall haue their parte in the lake whiche burneth with fyre and brymstone, which is the seconde death.

And there came vnto me one of the. vii. Angels whiche hadde the. vii. vyals full of the. vii. last plages: and talked with me, sayenge: come hyther, I will shewe the the bryde, the lambes wyfe. And he caryed me away in the spirite to a great and hyghe mountayne, and he shewed me the great cytie, holy Jerusalem descendynge oute of heauen from God, hauyng the brightnes of God. And her shyning was lyke vnto a stone moste precious, euen a Jaspar cleare as Crystall: and hadde walles great and hyghe, and had. xii. gates, and at the gates. xii. Aungels: and names wrytten, which are the. xii. trybes of Israel: on ✣ east parte, iii. gates: and on the Northsyde. iii. gates and towardes the South. iii. gates, & from the west. iii. gates: and the wall of ✣ cytie had. xii. foundations, and in them the names of the lambes. xii. Apostles.

And he that talked with me, had a golden rede to measure the cytie with, and the gates therof and the wall. And the citie was buylt iuj. square and the length was as large as ✣ bredth of it, and he measured the cytie with the rede. xii. M. furlonges: and the lenght & the bredth, and the heygth of it, were equal. And he measured the wall therof, an. cxliiij. cubytes: the measure that the aungell hadde was after the measure that man vseth. And the buyldinge of the wall of it was of Jaspar. And the cytie was pure golde lyke vnto cleare glasse, and the foundations of the wal of the cytie were garnyshed with all maner of precious stones. The fyrst foundacion was Jaspar, the seconde Saphyre, the third a Calcedony, the fourth an Emeralde: the fyfte Sardonix: the sixte Sardeos: the. vii. Crysolyte: the eyght Berall: the. ix. a Topas: the. x. a Crysoprasos: the. xi. a Jacynte: the. xii. an Amatist.

The. xii. gates, were. xii. pearles, euery gate was of one pearle, and the strete of the cytie was pure golde, as thorowe shyninge glasse. And there was no temple therin. For the Lorde God almyghtye and the lambe are the temple of it. ✣ And the cytie hath no nede of the sonne neyther of the mone to lyghten it. For the brightnes of God dyd lyght it: & the lambe was the lyght of it. And the people which are saued shal walke in the lyght of it: and the kynges of the earth shall bryng their glorye vnto it. ✣ And the gates of it are not shut by day. For there shalbe no nyght there. And there shall entre into it none vncleane thynge: neyther what so euer worketh abhommacion or maketh lyes: but they only whiche are wrytten in the lambes boke of lyfe.

¶ The ryuer of the water of lyfe, the fruytefulnes and lyght of the cytye of God. The Lorde gyueth ere his seruauntes warnynge of thynges to come, the angell will not be worshypped. To the worde of God maye nothyng be added nor taken there from.

CAPI. XXII.

A And he shewed me a pure ryuer of water of lyfe cleere as Crystall: proceedyng out of the seate of God & of the lambe. In the myddes of the strete of it, and of eyther syde of the ryuer was there wode of lyfe: whiche bare. xii. maner of frutes: and gaue frute euery moneth: and the leues of the wod serued
